

IS HIS MOTHER A PRISONER?

IT IS SAID EMPEROR WILLIAM KEEPS HER VIRTUALLY UNDER ARREST.

THIS IS THE RUMOR AT BERLIN, AND MANY FACTS LEND COLOR TO IT.

The Moment the Late Emperor Died the Exits from the Castle Were All Guarded—No One Could Leave Without Giving Up Whatever Paper He Had in the Emperor's Handwriting—One Doctor's Trunk Seized at the Front—No Doubt that Empress Victoria Is Receiving Severe Consideration—The German Doctor's History of the Late Emperor's Disease Creates a Sensation in Germany.

SPECIAL CABLE DISPATCH TO THE WORLD.

LONDON, July 12.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes to-night the following sensational story from Berlin, which, although it has been denied by other papers, appears to have some basis of truth: "Very hateful rumors are flying about in Berlin which I hesitate to send without confirmation, but which I equally hesitate to withhold lest they prove to be true. It is well known that, as I saw with my own eyes, the moment Emperor Frederick's breath was out of his body there was a rush of soldiers to all the exits from the Castle of Friedrichsruh. No one was allowed to leave and no one to enter for hours after the death. What was the object of this headlong and indecent blockade. It was more than hinted at the time that the intention was to secure any papers which the dead emperor had left behind him, and above all the diary of the Emperor, which he kept, recording his opinions on matters of state. Not a scrap of paper on which the deceased had written the commonest request or remark (he was for a long time reduced to remain in the possession of its recipients. It is even said that the trunks of one doctor were seized at the front and sent back to Berlin to be overhauled by the Chancery. It is a special report, that of Prince Bismarck, in his knees turning out the contents of Dr. Hovel's trunk. "But it would be a very different feeling if it were true, as is not unsparingly asserted in Berlin, that a high personage is near and dear to England, and who was nearest and dearest to the illustrious dead is keeping to-night at Friedrichsruh in a palace which is all but a prison. Of course, every one must hope that the story is an abominable fiction. But wherever I go I hear on all sides that the Empress Victoria is virtually under arrest in her present residence. I fear that there is little doubt that Her Majesty is receiving very scant consideration at the hands of the men now in power.

"We append some further notes bearing upon the same subject from our correspondent:

"It is well that England, and for that matter, Europe, should know the petrioleous nonsense which is being printed from day to day in the reptile press, so that England and Europe may know whence the rubbish is shot and estimate it at its true value.

"The situation then is this. The reptile press insinuates daily that the Emperor Frederick was deceived by Sir Morell Mackenzie as to the real nature of his malady; that he had known he was suffering from cancer; that he would have accepted the throne, but would have agreed to a regency.

"Secondly, the reptiles who cannot get over the dismissal of Herr von Puttkamer from the Ministry of the Interior for his improper interference with the Parliamentary elections, assert that the late Emperor was unfit to rule during the last month of his reign; that he was a mere instrument in the hands of those around him, and was used by them to further the petrioleous party, namely, the so-called 'Frelsiniger.' It is asserted in the same infamous quarter that the letter which was the cause of Herr von Puttkamer's resignation was not written by the Emperor; that it was the work of the 'Frelsiniger' deputy, Herr von Schrader; that it was handed by Herr von Schrader's wife to a high personage in the Emperor's confidence, copied by that personage and signed by the Emperor without further consideration than could be bestowed by a man already almost in articulo mortis.

"This 'reptile' product is worthy to rank even above the recent epistolary achievements of the Times. No one who has lovingly studied the tragic life story of the hero of the battle-field and death-chamber needs to be informed that he was a lover of freedom and justice from his youth up, and that it was the most natural thing in the world that he should dismiss from his service a politician who had distinguished himself, as his own supporters admit, by a long course of intimidation and of corrupt practices at the elections throughout the whole country."

DEMOGRAPHIC BISMARCK. The Pall Mall Gazette denounces Prince Bismarck for allowing the reports of the German doctors on the case of the late Emperor Frederick to be published. The reports, the Gazette says, scandalize Europe. None of the doctors would have dared to publish his report unless he had been previously assured that it was approved at headquarters. Proof that the reports were so approved the Gazette cites the fact that two of the doctors have since been decorated. It therefore concludes that Emperor William and Prince Bismarck sanctioned the attack on Sir Morell Mackenzie, and through him on Empress Victoria.

The Gazette further says that the Arbeits Zeitung, of Berlin, doubtless disapproves of the prevention by Sir Morell Mackenzie of a fatal operation and the prolongation of Frederick's life, thus enabling a liberal-minded monarch to ascend the throne. This, however, the Gazette declares, hardly justifies the savage execration of a physician who prevented a professional execution of Frederick when he was Crown Prince.

EXCITEMENT IN GERMANY. BERLIN, July 12.—The excitement created throughout Germany by the reports of the German doctors who attended the late Emperor Frederick, is intense, and their criticism of Dr. Mackenzie's conduct of the case forms the sole topic of conversation. The Kreuz Zeitung, in its comments on the reports, overwhelms Dr. Mackenzie with invective.

To the question why the German doctors did not attempt to save the royal patient from Dr. Mackenzie, the National Zeitung responds that, according to Prussian principles, their official position in the tragedy prevented them from making an appeal to the public, but they did appeal to Emperor William while the sick man was at San Remo, and one of their number stated the case to him without reserve. His Majesty was deeply distressed by the recital of the circumstances, but answered: "My son is fifty-six years of age, and the right of final decision regarding his medical treatment cannot be taken from him."

The Progressist journals, which are inclined to defend Dr. Mackenzie, point to the fact that there

HE DIED BY HIS OWN HAND.

AN AUTOPSY PROVES THAT GUILFORD PHINNEY SHOT HIMSELF.

He Died with a Lie on His Lips, and Before Firing the Fatal Bullet Made His Valise to Waltham—No One Can Tell Whether His Life Was Heavily Insured or Not—Coroner Rooney Rebukes the Police.

The missing link in the chain of mysteries surrounding the shooting of Guilford S. Phinney at his home, No. 11 Kaddo place, Brooklyn, on Wednesday morning, and which was to establish in the minds of the public the correctness of their theory of suicide, has been supplied. It was the whereabouts of the missing valise which he carried with him to his home, an hour before his retiring for the night, which he had packed several articles, including a revolver, which he had about twenty minutes on his errand, was absent on the night he died.

Yesterday morning, however, on a tour being made of the express offices and an examination of the books, it was discovered that on Tuesday night Phinney had checked a package at the office of the Grand Central Express, No. 117th Street Station, half a dozen blocks from his home. Its contents, as shown by the address it bore, was Waltham, Mass., and the person to whom it was sent was Stanford W. Phinney, the suicide's brother. Mr. Litgate, who was acquainted with Phinney, was present when the latter left the bag, and he showed the police the receipt given by the express agent of Adams' Express, to whom he had transferred it. Supt. Campbell immediately telegraphed the police officials of Boston and Waltham to intercept the package and forward it to Mrs. Campbell Carpenter.

It was found that the package was in the hands of Mrs. O. Sullivan, a widow, who lives at No. 117th Street Station, and who had been holding it for the morning and held an autopsy, which clearly demonstrated that Phinney had died by his own hand. The ball that had done the fatal work had entered the left breast half an inch below and three-quarters of an inch to the right of the nipple, and had passed through the lungs, lodging in the left lung, and had caused a fatal hemorrhage, which fact, taken with the nature of the wound, proved that it had not been inflicted by any other person.

It was learned from Dr. Whittman that Phinney's death was the result of the various secret and benevolent societies of which he was an alleged member were missing from among his effects were his paraphernalia and his private statement had been found in his valise. It was known to have carried a revolver, because, it is alleged, she had been insulted by a tramp in the woods near the house, and she had fired a shot at the murderer theory by the strange conduct of an unknown young man who was seen in the neighborhood of the house on the night of the murder. Judge Littlefield decided that Beane shot herself with a pistol and died from the wound.

THE BOBTAIL CAR TO BLAME.

MRS. LEVY MIGHT BE ALIVE NOW IF THERE WERE NO SUCH VEHICLES.

Driver Duffy Again in Court, Where a Witness Says He Was Making Change When the Accident Occurred—How Attempts to Abolish This Evil by Legislation Are Frustrated—One Who Knows Talks.

James Duffy, the driver of the Twenty-third street cross-town car which ran over and killed Mrs. John J. Levy Tuesday last, was again arraigned at Jefferson Market yesterday, and Lawyer House appeared for him. The driver was charged with homicide. Dr. E. D. Costley, a doctor of No. 1 West Street, who was called as a witness, said he was near the scene and saw Mrs. Levy standing upon the curbstone upon the north side of the street waiting for a car going east. She halted one car and thought it stopped and left the sidewalk to get it. The car did not stop. Car No. 6, which was driven by Duffy, then approached, going west. Duffy hit her back to the horse and was giving change to a passenger at the time. Mrs. Levy turned to go back to the curb, but found herself between a coal cart and the car. As she stepped back the horse's collar struck her and knocked her down. Duffy did not know she was knocked down until he heard her scream. The witness said:

"The car was going slow; the horse was walking; there was no reckless driving. The driver could have avoided the accident if he had not been making change. The car was stopped as quickly as possible."

"Could the prisoner have prevented the accident?" Justice Wilde asked.

"He could, if he had been looking ahead." William Schmitt, a confectioner at No. 201 Eighth avenue, testified that he turned into Twenty-third street as the driver jumped over the end of the car; he did not see the lady knocked down.
