WOMAN'S RIGHTS HAPPY.

They Meet and Exchange Reminiscences of Their Beautiful Parade.

The Executive Committee of the Woman's Industrial League met at 103 West Fourteenth street last night, and swapped "yarns" on the tally-ho parade about eighteen of the members made on Election Day.

Charlotte Smith, the President of the League, and Miss Miller, a Hoosier lady who knows how to "speak right out in meetin'," told how beautiful some of the girls were, and were therefore not able to blow their horns as they had been instructed, while others littered so much that they couldn't blow.

Miss Smith said she got so nervous that she was afraid the coach would tip over and spill all the girls out and make a scene in the street. But she blew her horn just as hard as the younger girls.

Miss Miller blew frequent blasts on a fish horn, but held it tightly between her teeth that she wrecked the instrument. She said it was great fun, and nowhere did the men insult the party.

She said it was a parade to show that the women of the League did not approve of President Cleveland's and Secretary Fairchild's treatment of their sisters at Washington in discharging union scrub women and giving washing to Chinese laundries instead of to American washerwomen.

Miss Smith declared that Matt Quay did not pay the expenses of any of the League's campaign literature, nor did he pay $15 for the tally-ho. A Democrat who keeps a livery stable, and who voted for Cleveland, refused to let the girls have a coach because they were going to use it against the President.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a girl, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

HIS RESIGNATION ACCEPTED. School Commissioner Wood Will Be Missed by His Late Colleagues. The resignation of School Commissioner William Wood, the venerable octogenarian member of the Board, was accepted at yesterday's meeting. President Simmons expressed his regret, and the members of the Board passed resolutions expressing their respect and tendering to Mr. Wood the freedom of the floor in the Board room during his life.

Mr. Wood is a Scotchman, having been born in Glasgow, in 1805, and educated at the Glasgow College and St. Andrew's University. He visited the United States in 1830, and came to this country to reside in 1844. Mr. Wood was appointed a School Commissioner in 1869, and for twenty years has been one of its most energetic and influential members. He was constant in his attendance, and his manly voice and the tall figure, covered by its snow-white hair, will be much missed in the chamber of the Board.
