

EXTRA EXTRA

2 O'CLOCK. 2 O'CLOCK.

New York City Crowded in Honor of the Great Centennial.

Hundreds of Thousands Pack Streets, Grand Stands and Windows.

The Military Parade a Gorgeous Sight to See.

Impressive Services Held in Old St. Paul's Church.

Chauncey Depew Delivers the Oration of the Day.

Literary Exercises on the Steps of the Sub-Treasury.

Flags and Streamers Fluttering in a Cool Breeze.

United States Soldiers, Marines, Cadets and State Militia.

Centennial Day, set apart for the supreme expression of the nation's jubilee anniversary, passed brightly on the great metropolis.

Every citizen seemed to be for the nonce a soldier and patriot took on a warlike aspect.

The day's proceedings opened with the firing of the great artillery salute.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

THE MILITARY PARADE.

A Bird's-Eye View of the Columns of Soldierly Passing the Post-Office.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

President Harrison recognized by lifting his silk hat repeatedly.

The carriage rolled rapidly down Pine street, through which they went into Pine street from Broadway.

He defied the vigilance of the climbed in the trees in City Hall.

He stood on top of covers clambered up on the big signs of the big firms along the line of the small boy saw the elephant.

It speaks well for the courtesy that as a rule those from out of the preference of position from the pageant.

Long before the marching started the reviewing stand at the Aldermanic stand on the second street, and the big stands, were surrounded by the

When the party left the church, the streets, except immediately in front of St. Paul's, which the police kept clear, were hidden under thousands of people.

The windows in the houses as far as eye could reach were choked with people, and for the moment while the President of the United States walked to his carriage there was a silence and quiet that could scarcely be comprehended when the multitude that was there is considered.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

THE MILITARY PARADE.

A Bird's-Eye View of the Columns of Soldierly Passing the Post-Office.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

President Harrison recognized by lifting his silk hat repeatedly.

The carriage rolled rapidly down Pine street, through which they went into Pine street from Broadway.

He defied the vigilance of the climbed in the trees in City Hall.

He stood on top of covers clambered up on the big signs of the big firms along the line of the small boy saw the elephant.

It speaks well for the courtesy that as a rule those from out of the preference of position from the pageant.

Long before the marching started the reviewing stand at the Aldermanic stand on the second street, and the big stands, were surrounded by the

When the party left the church, the streets, except immediately in front of St. Paul's, which the police kept clear, were hidden under thousands of people.

The windows in the houses as far as eye could reach were choked with people, and for the moment while the President of the United States walked to his carriage there was a silence and quiet that could scarcely be comprehended when the multitude that was there is considered.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

THE MILITARY PARADE.

A Bird's-Eye View of the Columns of Soldierly Passing the Post-Office.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

President Harrison recognized by lifting his silk hat repeatedly.

The carriage rolled rapidly down Pine street, through which they went into Pine street from Broadway.

He defied the vigilance of the climbed in the trees in City Hall.

He stood on top of covers clambered up on the big signs of the big firms along the line of the small boy saw the elephant.

It speaks well for the courtesy that as a rule those from out of the preference of position from the pageant.

Long before the marching started the reviewing stand at the Aldermanic stand on the second street, and the big stands, were surrounded by the

When the party left the church, the streets, except immediately in front of St. Paul's, which the police kept clear, were hidden under thousands of people.

The windows in the houses as far as eye could reach were choked with people, and for the moment while the President of the United States walked to his carriage there was a silence and quiet that could scarcely be comprehended when the multitude that was there is considered.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

THE MILITARY PARADE.

A Bird's-Eye View of the Columns of Soldierly Passing the Post-Office.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

President Harrison recognized by lifting his silk hat repeatedly.

The carriage rolled rapidly down Pine street, through which they went into Pine street from Broadway.

He defied the vigilance of the climbed in the trees in City Hall.

He stood on top of covers clambered up on the big signs of the big firms along the line of the small boy saw the elephant.

It speaks well for the courtesy that as a rule those from out of the preference of position from the pageant.

Long before the marching started the reviewing stand at the Aldermanic stand on the second street, and the big stands, were surrounded by the

When the party left the church, the streets, except immediately in front of St. Paul's, which the police kept clear, were hidden under thousands of people.

The windows in the houses as far as eye could reach were choked with people, and for the moment while the President of the United States walked to his carriage there was a silence and quiet that could scarcely be comprehended when the multitude that was there is considered.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

THE MILITARY PARADE.

A Bird's-Eye View of the Columns of Soldierly Passing the Post-Office.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

until the torrent of applause met in his rest in his carriage and edgments.

President Harrison recognized by lifting his silk hat repeatedly.

The carriage rolled rapidly down Pine street, through which they went into Pine street from Broadway.

He defied the vigilance of the climbed in the trees in City Hall.

He stood on top of covers clambered up on the big signs of the big firms along the line of the small boy saw the elephant.

It speaks well for the courtesy that as a rule those from out of the preference of position from the pageant.

Long before the marching started the reviewing stand at the Aldermanic stand on the second street, and the big stands, were surrounded by the

When the party left the church, the streets, except immediately in front of St. Paul's, which the police kept clear, were hidden under thousands of people.

The windows in the houses as far as eye could reach were choked with people, and for the moment while the President of the United States walked to his carriage there was a silence and quiet that could scarcely be comprehended when the multitude that was there is considered.

Then it broke into a mountainous wave of applause, which seemed to roll along the shore of living beings as far as Fifty-ninth street.

Gov. E. E. Jackson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

THE GREAT PARADE.

More than 50,000 Military Men Marching on Broadway.

The military parade, which is the feature of the celebration, is absorbing the attention of one in town.

The column of 50,000 men marching up Broadway is no easy matter, and Marshal Schofield and his aides were on hand at an early hour getting ready for the parade.

The North Carolina troops formed in accordance with Gen. Schofield's orders. The troops are all to march with not more than twenty nor less than sixteen files front.

As the word was given to march the column moved up Broadway in the following order after Gen. Schofield and his staff:

WEST DIVISION. West Point Cadets, 400 strong.

REGULAR ARMY. The troops will consist of Light Batteries F and H, and the band, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Hamilton; Batteries K and M, Second Artillery, and Battery B, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Wadsworth; Batteries A, C and L, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Columbus; Batteries N and O, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Schuyler; Troop B, Fourth Cavalry, and Troop B, Sixth Cavalry, from Fort Myer, Va.; headquarters band, Light Battery E, and Batteries G, H and I, Fourth Artillery from Fort Adams, R. I.; Batteries D, J and K, Third Artillery from Fort McHenry, Md.; headquarters band, Light Battery C, and Batteries A, E, H, K and L, Third Artillery, from Washington barracks; Batteries A and C, Fourth Artillery, from Fort Trumbull, Conn.; Battery L, Fourth Artillery, from Fort Warren, Mass.; headquarters band and Companies A, D, G, H and I, Eleventh Infantry, from Madison barracks, New York.

THE GREAT PARADE.

More than 50,000 Military Men Marching on Broadway.

The military parade, which is the feature of the celebration, is absorbing the attention of one in town.

The column of 50,000 men marching up Broadway is no easy matter, and Marshal Schofield and his aides were on hand at an early hour getting ready for the parade.

The North Carolina troops formed in accordance with Gen. Schofield's orders. The troops are all to march with not more than twenty nor less than sixteen files front.

As the word was given to march the column moved up Broadway in the following order after Gen. Schofield and his staff:

WEST DIVISION. West Point Cadets, 400 strong.

REGULAR ARMY. The troops will consist of Light Batteries F and H, and the band, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Hamilton; Batteries K and M, Second Artillery, and Battery B, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Wadsworth; Batteries A, C and L, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Columbus; Batteries N and O, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Schuyler; Troop B, Fourth Cavalry, and Troop B, Sixth Cavalry, from Fort Myer, Va.; headquarters band, Light Battery E, and Batteries G, H and I, Fourth Artillery from Fort Adams, R. I.; Batteries D, J and K, Third Artillery from Fort McHenry, Md.; headquarters band, Light Battery C, and Batteries A, E, H, K and L, Third Artillery, from Washington barracks; Batteries A and C, Fourth Artillery, from Fort Trumbull, Conn.; Battery L, Fourth Artillery, from Fort Warren, Mass.; headquarters band and Companies A, D, G, H and I, Eleventh Infantry, from Madison barracks, New York.

THE GREAT PARADE.

More than 50,000 Military Men Marching on Broadway.

The military parade, which is the feature of the celebration, is absorbing the attention of one in town.

The column of 50,000 men marching up Broadway is no easy matter, and Marshal Schofield and his aides were on hand at an early hour getting ready for the parade.

The North Carolina troops formed in accordance with Gen. Schofield's orders. The troops are all to march with not more than twenty nor less than sixteen files front.

As the word was given to march the column moved up Broadway in the following order after Gen. Schofield and his staff:

WEST DIVISION. West Point Cadets, 400 strong.

REGULAR ARMY. The troops will consist of Light Batteries F and H, and the band, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Hamilton; Batteries K and M, Second Artillery, and Battery B, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Wadsworth; Batteries A, C and L, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Columbus; Batteries N and O, Fifth Artillery, from Fort Schuyler; Troop B, Fourth Cavalry, and Troop B, Sixth Cavalry, from Fort Myer, Va.; headquarters band, Light Battery E, and Batteries G, H and I, Fourth Artillery from Fort Adams, R. I.; Batteries D, J and K, Third Artillery from Fort McHenry, Md.; headquarters band, Light Battery C, and Batteries A, E, H, K and L, Third Artillery, from Washington barracks; Batteries A and C, Fourth Artillery, from Fort Trumbull, Conn.; Battery L, Fourth Artillery, from Fort Warren, Mass.; headquarters band and Companies A, D, G, H and I, Eleventh Infantry, from Madison barracks, New York.

Gov. E. E. Jackson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. John P. Richardson, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Charles H. Sawyer, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.

Gov. Fitz Hugh Lee, commanding the column, consisting of the First and Second Regiments, Col. George W. Patterson.