LAST EDITION CALLED A THIEF. Arrest of the Daughter of a Prominent City Physician.

Mrs. Lewis Accused of Stealing in O'Neill's Store. Both Sides of a Most Remarkable and Very Puzzling Case.

An extremely puzzling case is that of Mrs. Emma Lewis, a married daughter of Dr. James C. Bingham, of 25 East Forty-sixth street, who is charged with shoplifting by Edward Fredericks, a floorwalker in the big dry-goods house of O'Neill & Co., of Sixth avenue.

Mrs. Lewis is visiting her relatives in this city. She came on from Idaho several months ago, and it was her intention to start for home some time next week.

In his affidavit, on file in the Jefferson Market Police Court, floorwalker Fredericks charges Mrs. Lewis with stealing a fancy candle worth 25 cents.

He swears that he saw her carry it away, and that when searched it was found in her possession and identified as the firm's property.

Mrs. Lewis denies the charge, and demands a trial by jury. She was arrested in the store yesterday afternoon and taken to the Third street police station, and when searched the police found on her a flannel shirt, valued at 35 cents, several articles said to have been obtained at Stern's, two cuffs and a cap and a handkerchief.

According to her own story Mrs. Lewis entered Best & Co.'s store to exchange a child's undergarment for one of smaller size, and after receiving the article proceeded to wrap it up in the paper in which she had brought the other.

John P. O'Connor, a floorwalker in the store, saw Mrs. Lewis wrap up the garment, and he followed her to Stern's and then to O'Neill's. At the latter place she was arrested.

Floorwalker Fredericks, in speaking of the case this morning, said: "I saw Mrs. Lewis enter the store yesterday afternoon and walk up to the counter on which the fancy candles were displayed."

After dallying with several articles, she picked up a candle, held it in her hand a moment, and then, it seems to me, she looked around.

SHE HAD A LOVER. Inlinkings of the Tragedy of the Fair Sleeper at the Morgue.

Supposed to Be Pretty Laura Wilder, of South Easton. A Man of Fashion and a Woman Mysterious Viewers of the Body.

A dozen men and women called at the Morgue this morning to see the body of the young woman which was picked up in the water off the Battery, as related in THE EVENING WORLD yesterday.

Each visitor claimed to have lost some female friend or relative, but none of them identified the body at the Morgue.

Assistant Keeper Joe Fogarty expected a man and wife named Wilder from South Easton, Pa., at 3 o'clock this morning, as a young lady who called at the Morgue yesterday afternoon partially recognized the dead woman as Miss Laura Wilder.

The young lady refused to give her name, but claimed to be Miss Wilder's cousin.

She said that the dead girl was engaged to be married, but quarreled with her fiance a week ago and last Monday week left South Easton for this city, saying she was tired of life.

The young woman went away promising to telegraph for Miss Wilder's parents and assuring him that they would be here at 8 o'clock this morning, but they failed to arrive.

A despatch from Easton, Pa., says that Laura Wilder, with her friends Fred Bowman and Miss Linda Garis, arrived there from her home in Cincinnati May 18 and went to board with Miss Garis.

Bowman went to Hackettstown after a quarrel with Laura, taking their child with him.

He afterwards gave the child in charge of some friends in Washington, N. J.

RD OF MR. CYCLONE. His Demonic Majesty May Do Much Damage at Sea, Though.

Prof. Devoe Beating Uncle Sam's Weather Sharps at Prophecy. He Gives Some More Points on Next Week's Sunshine and Storm.

Sergt. Dunn, of the Weather Bureau, says that the cyclone has gone so far out to sea off the coast of Hatteras that it has no effect on the weather here.

It may get into the track of the European steamers in a day or two, but just now the high barometer area which prevails all over the North Atlantic is keeping the cyclonic wanderer to the south.

Storm signals have been lowered all along the coast to the south and will be taken down here and in New England to-day.

All outward-bound vessels should take precautions against the cyclone, for there is no telling when it may work its way northward.

The lowest point reached in temperature last night in New York was 54 degrees. It was 58 at 7 o'clock this morning and has been rising ever since.

The probabilities indicate light rains and warmer weather. A small storm is working its way east in the lake region.

Prof. A. J. De Voë, the Hackensack weather prophet, has been stirring up the Signal Service people down at Washington by the accuracy of his predictions.

He hit the recent gully spell exactly, and the Southern cyclone came on the very day, the 18th, which he predicted for it two weeks ago in THE EVENING WORLD, only later than the weather of Washington.

It was several degrees farther south in the Gulf of Mexico.

ONE GRAVE. Diphtheria Carries Off Mr. Harper's Two Little Daughters.

The Bereaved Father's Lonely Ride to the Grave. If Allowed to Do So, He Will Waive the Extradition.

MEANWHILE HIS INDICTMENT IS BROUGHT IN AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, June 19.—(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) WINNIPEG, Man., June 19.—The prisoner, Martin Burke, who is held here for the Chicago authorities, who want him for complicity in the Cronin murder, has entirely broken down and is said to have made a full confession to the police.

He has also expressed his willingness to waive the extradition formalities and return to Chicago providing that he be allowed to turn State's evidence.

Chicago officers are on their way here, and Burke has been remanded until Saturday to await their arrival.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Martin Burke was indicted in the Criminal Court to-day for the murder of Dr. Cronin and for conspiracy.

The police are very active in the matter and are confident that they have now obtained a clue by which the whole mystery of the murder can be unraveled and the conspiracy fully exposed.

They are now sending off people to Manitoba to fully identify Burke and to head off the fugitive from custody on habeas corpus proceedings, which he has already instituted by his counsel.

Hanak Martinson, the expressman who has just returned from New York, was sent off to-day to Winnipeg with a detective and a constable to identify Burke.

He is one of those who identified the photograph of Burke, now in the possession of the police as the man who hired him to move the furniture to the Carson cottage.

There is a mysterious prisoner in one of the North Side stations who was arrested by Capt. Schuttler, it is said, as a direct outcome of the Burke arrest in Manitoba.

LIFE'S WEAL AND WOE. A Heart Broken by False Accusation in Bridgeport.

The Good Fortune Awaiting a Tramping Veteran at Allentown.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—George Dwyer, the fifteen-month-old grandson of Septimus Turner, a farmer living near Bristol, was found in a wash-boiler which was filled with buttermilk.

His feet sticking up above the surface led to the discovery of his body.

The child had been playing by the boiler, and plunged over the edge head first.

A HOLBROOK CANINE RAMPAGE.

HOLBROOK, Mass., June 19.—There is great excitement in town to-day on account of a mad dog which made a circuit of nearly six miles, biting forty dogs, besides attacking Mrs. Eva F. Moore.

Mrs. Moore was not bitten, but had a very narrow escape.

The animal was shot by George W. Whitcomb.

The selectmen will post a warrant to-day ordering all dogs in Holbrook to be muzzled or chained up.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 19.—If John J. Gohr, tramp, will turn up at Pension Agent Schock's office he will find his tramping days are over.

LAST EDITION LIKE YELLOW JACK. Brooklyn Health Officers Fear They Have the Dread Visitor.

Suspicious Arrivals by the Pacific Mail Steamer Colon.

Ship's Surgeon Duncan's Home in Brooklyn Quarantined.

According to the statement of two officers of the Brooklyn Board of Health what appears like a case of yellow fever has been located in Brooklyn in one of the most fashionable and aristocratic neighborhoods of the city.

The supposed victim is Dr. R. W. H. Duncan, who resides at 173 Hancock street with his family.

Mr. Duncan is the surgeon of the Pacific Mail Company's steamer Colon, which plies between New York and Aspinwall.

Dr. Young, of the Brooklyn Health Board, was notified about midnight last night by Dr. A. Bogart, of 225 Green street, that a man was lying ill at 173 Hancock street with pronounced symptoms of yellow fever.

Dr. Bogart said to Dr. Young that the man's condition was critical.

His tongue is soft, and is coated with a brownish-yellow slime, and his pulse is beating 101. He is also vomiting blood.

This morning, Health Commissioner Convery went to the house, and after a careful examination pronounced the case very much like yellow fever.

He at once ordered the house quarantined, and placed guards in the front and rear of the house.

THE STRANDED CONSTELLATION.

No Lives Lost and Every Prospect that the Ship Will Soon Be Off.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Navy Department has received only a brief despatch from the Commandant of the Navy Yard at Norfolk announcing the perilous position of the practice ship Constellation and the efforts which have been taken to insure her safety.

Constellation was called by the Commandant of the ship as secure as possible by means of additional anchors and cables, but no lives have been lost, and that it is believed vessel and crew will be saved.

Secretary of the Navy has telegraphed the Commandant of the ship in his judgment may seem to be proper.

It is the opinion of Department officials that the vessel will be got off all right.

THE EVENING WORLD will print to-morrow the first installment of 'Adeline Serjeant's new novel, etc., "A Fatal Choice." Don't fail to read it.

MRS. WELCH IN THE WITNESS-CHAIR.

Her Story of Her Relations with Insurance Agent Burch.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Mrs. Ida Welch, the pretty plaintiff in the $50,000 damage suit against Thomas B. Burch, William Pinkerton and Supt. Robertson, possesses much dramatic talent, and she did not fail to use her powers to the best possible advantage when telling her story to a jury in Judge Anthony's court.

In a cool and unobtrusive manner Mrs. Welch told her story of her relations with Thomas B. Burch, the general agent of the Phoenix Insurance Co., and who had induced her to invest her money in a life insurance policy.

She was induced to consent to those relations in return for employment given to her husband, who was a member of the firm of Burch, Burch and Robertson, and who had been induced to do so by the promise of a large sum of money.

She said that she had been induced to do so by the promise of a large sum of money, and that she had been induced to do so by the promise of a large sum of money.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S "PISTERS."

UNFAVORABLE CONDITIONS FOR THE CORINTHIAN REGATTA.

SANDY HOOK, June 19.—The first annual regatta of the New Corinthian Yacht Club, which was held here at the Seawanhaka Corinthians, is being called to-day with a good class of yachts, but under not very favorable wind and weather.

The heavy northeast gale of yesterday partially died away, but left as a reminder of its visit a thick heavy mist which threatened to turn into rain.

A nasty sea was tumbling about on the bar, but the huge, foam-crested waves of yesterday had disappeared.

The Corinthians open their race to all boats of any recognized yacht club, and it departs from the usual regatta in that the boats are of various classes, ranging in length from the lead water line, adopting instead the system of classification by the volume of the hull.

Following is a complete list of entries: Class 1—Measuring 50 feet and less than 60 feet, including the cutter Dr. J. G. Barton, Anconia, John G. Prudden, etc.

THE TICKET FOR LIVERPOOL WAS MADE OUT IN THE NAME OF W. J. COOPER. He held not only would explain why this should have been done.

BRING BACK THE BOSTON.

Surprising Order Received To-day by Commandant Ramsay from Washington.

A message was received to-day from Washington by Commandant Ramsay of the Brooklyn Navy-Yard, to stop the United States man-of-war Boston, on her way out to sea, and send her back.

Winegar's Battery 31's Monument.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 19.—The monument erected to Winegar's Battery M, of the First New York Light Artillery, was dedicated yesterday. It stands on Powers Hill, near the site of Gen. Sigoum's headquarters during the battle. Commodore Frank Elliott, President of the Veteran Association of the battery, presided. Prayer was offered by Rev. T. R. Stratton. After singing by the Glee Club the presentation of the monument was made by the battery. An oration was delivered by Richard Crowley.

NEW YORK CENTRAL FREIGHT SHEDS BURNED.

BUFFALO, June 19.—The New York Central freight sheds in Ohio street were burned this morning, involving a loss of about $15,000. The employees, numbering nearly one hundred and fifty, all escaped from the buildings.

IT GAVE HIM TOO MUCH WORK.

Mayor Grant Resigns as President of the Board of Quarantine Commissioners.

The Board of Commissioners of Quarantine reorganized at its meeting to-day.

Mayor Grant resigned as President, and Charles F. Allen was elected in his stead.

Commissioner John A. Nichols was elected Treasurer.

This step was taken because of an opinion of the Attorney-General to the effect that the duties of the old Quarantine Commission were merged with those of the new Commission by the law of 1887.

This devolved all the minor detail of the Commission's work upon the whole Board, and Mayor Grant did not feel that he was able to attend to these.
