

ITS NEW HOME. FAST IN THE MOD.

Laying the Corner-Stone of "The World's" Great Building.

A Fitting Habitation for the People's Champion Newspaper.

To Be the Highest Office Building in New York.

Programme of This Afternoon's Ceremonies at the Park Row Site.

Speeches by Chauncey M. Depew and Col. Cockerill.

Dedicated to the Public Service and the Advocacy of Justice.

The ceremony of laying the corner-stone of Mr. Joseph Pulitzer's new building at the corner of Park Row and Frankfort street, the new home of The Evening World, takes place this afternoon.

The World office will be the highest office building in the universe. It will be the highest building of any description in America.

The new building is to be built of brick and iron. Five and a half millions of hard brick will be used in its construction.

The building will have a frontage of 135 feet on Park Row and 115 on Frankfort street.

The ground surface of the building will be in the middle of the Park Row front.

The roof of the building will be nearly 200 feet high.

The thirteenth story will be one floor and eight feet in the clear.

The main cornice of the Park Row facade will be supported by granite pilasters in galvano-plated iron feet in height.

There will be six elevators, giants in size and very fast.

Three others, in the centre of the building, will accommodate the tenants of the offices above.

Provision has been made for the accommodation of the typists who desire to see The Evening World.

The basins are of rockstone Quincy granite. Above the basins is a bed of beautiful Scotch Corsie Hill sandstone.

Take it all in all, the World Building will be an embellishment to the city.

TO START THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

M. Menocal, its projector, sails hence on the Aguano.

Eight Powerful Tugs Pull to Move the City of New York.

The End of Her Inglorious Race with the Teutonic.

The Passengers Will Reach This City This Afternoon.

The Inman liner City of New York, whose race across the ocean with the White Star steamer Fenic ended ingloriously upon a bank of mud in Gedyne's Channel last night, is still hard and fast aground.

Eight powerful sea tugs went to her assistance early this morning, and at 8.26 o'clock, high water, hooked on to the immense steamship and endeavored to yank her out of her sticky berth.

Not an inch could they move the huge hull, and after an hour's pulling and tugging they gave it up.

Word was sent to the office of the steamship company, at Bowling Green, and arrangements were immediately made to transfer the passengers to the city.

On the company's dock at the foot of Christopher street crowds of people who had friends on the steamer were impatiently waiting now.

At 10 o'clock word came that the steamer was still aground and that the passengers would be landed at 1 o'clock.

Among those on board the belated steamer are Wilson Barrett, the English tragedian; Mr. and Mrs. George W. White, of New York; Mr. August S. Seymour, Mr. Andrew W. White, Senator Funnakoshi, Rev. Father Hayden and Mrs. C. H. Hayden.

The steamer's mail and the log were brought to the city early this morning.

The oceanic voyage was 9 days 10 hours and 30 minutes. The weather encountered on the trip was bad, head seas and wind continuing during the greater part of the trip.

On Oct. 3 the port engines got out of order and were stopped for 1 hour and 15 minutes.

KNIGHTS ON THE FIELD. Templars at Washington Drill and Visit the White House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The feature of the second day of the Grand Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar was the exhibition drill. The first organization to put in its appearance at Washington Park was Apollo Commandery, No. 17, of Troy, N. Y.

The drill was in the nature of a review of the various evolutions of the order, and was executed with the highest order of merit.

ENDED HIS SAD LIFE.

Dr. Sutherland Takes Morphine in the Union Square Park.

And Died This Morning in the New York Hospital.

Drink and Dissipation Had Wrecked His Prospects.

Dr. Hugh M. Sutherland, a talented young physician, died in the New York Hospital at 2 o'clock this morning from the effects of a dose of morphine, taken with suicidal intent.

About 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon he walked into Union Square Park and sat on a bench.

A few minutes later he hailed Policeman Mann and said: "I want to give you my name and address, as I have taken morphine and will be dead in a few minutes."

The policeman, after some discussion, succeeded in persuading the physician to accompany him to the New York Hospital, where he died.

He graduated from the Eclectic Medical College last Spring, but could not control his appetite for strong drink, and this ruined his prospects.

He was a widower, his wife having died two years ago.

He was a Free Mason, and that association will probably bury him.

MR. BLAINE WILL NOT TALK. The Secretary Silent on His Ill-Treated Treaty with Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The State Department opened its eyes very wide and gave an astonished stare when confronted to-day with a copy of the Honolulu Standard-Breeze containing a dispatch from San Francisco, the text of the treaty between Secretary Blaine and Minister Carter are endeavoring to negotiate between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands.

Secretary Blaine, in accordance with the terms of the treaty, declined to be interviewed on the subject. He is evidently very anxious to prevent the publication of the details of the treaty.

The treaty of 1875 was concluded by Secretary Fish and Minister Carter, who is now a member of the Privy Council of Hawaii.

The treaty of 1875 contained a schedule of all the principal products and manufactures of Hawaii and of the United States and provided for mutual free trade between the two countries.

NEW YORK—A Lusty Builder, this two-year-old.

WILL THEY MAKE UP? WILD WAS HER GRIEF, WHO'LL BE DIRECTOR?

Mike McDonald on His Way Here to Meet His Wife.

Little Maggie Miller, the fifteen-year-old girl, who under arrest for having caused the death of her father, Julia O'Connor, by ignoring her in a fight last July, was released from the Catholic Orphan Asylum and brought to the Coroner's office this morning to attend the inquest.

The girl is short and frail, and does not look to be over twelve years old.

While awaiting for the Coroner to arrive the spectators were suddenly startled by a piercing shriek, and little Maggie burst out in a fit of hysterics.

It seems that the little girl had not been told of Julia's death. She has been in the Orphan Asylum since August, and she did not know why she was being brought downtown.

While on the platform she asked one of the other assistants how Julia was getting along.

"She's dead and buried," he answered.

"Oh, my God! Is Julia dead? Oh, Julia, forgive me! Forgive me!" the little one cried.

The witnesses are Nellie Benzen, sixteen years old, 414 East Eighteenth street; Maggie McMillan, sixteen, 401 East Seventeenth street; Julia Kelly, sixteen, 414 East Eighteenth street; Maggie Quinn, fifteen, 378 Avenue H; Maggie Roche, fifteen, 614 East Eighteenth street; Maggie Mulgrew, fourteen, 514 East Eighteenth street.

The girl's fight with Maggie Miller occurred on July 17. Five weeks later the case was reported to the police, and the girl was removed to the New York Hospital, where she died on Saturday last.

President Day Explains. BOTH THESE BASEBALL INCORPORATIONS WERE FOR THE GIANTS, HE SAYS.

President Day, of the New York Club, when asked this morning concerning the dual incorporation of "The New York Baseball Club," said:

"I was fully aware of the first incorporation, but was not named as one of the directors, because I was not here to sign the papers."

The race terminated in quite a surprise, being won by the four-year-old Primrose Day, a 20 to 1 shot, trotting but 85 minutes.

Stanton, Kimball and Goshorn Rivals for Head of the World's Fair.

A new impetus is expected to be given to the World's Fair project at the meeting of the General Committee of Three Hundred, to be held late this afternoon in the Common Council Chamber at the City Hall.

To this General Committee the reports of the several committees appointed by Mayor Grant will be made, and it is expected that there will be some lively contests over the adoption of some of them.

Notably will this be the case with the report of the Finance Committee, which may be amended in very material particulars, so that Congress will be notified that New York City is thoroughly in earnest in this matter, and is not retreating its liberality about with a fence of words.

The Committee last to be organized—that on Permanent Organization—has settled into harness, and proposes to proceed with rapidity.

Already it has determined that a director-general, on whom will devolve much of the success of the enterprise, shall be appointed at an early day, so that he can be familiar with every detail of the progress of the work and lend his ideas to its progress in all particulars, that the completed show shall proceed without halt or hitch.

For this important position E. C. Stanton, Director of the Metropolitan Opera House; H. J. Kimball, who was the Director-General of the Atlanta Cotton Exposition, and Gen. A. T. Goshorn, Director-General of the Philadelphia Centennial, are candidates.

A resolution of the Common Council of Jacksonville, recommending that the Exposition of 1892 be held in the city of New York—the metropolis of the world.

E. A. Arnold offers the Site Committee two lots on One Hundred and Tenth street, near the Boulevard, on reasonable conditions, and T. Jennett two lots on One Hundred and Fourth street, near Riverside Drive, for 5 per cent. annual rental on their valuation.

TRYING TO SAVE LEONECY. The Indicted Man's Friends Working Hard to Save His Neck.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) CHALKLEY LEONECY, N. J., Oct. 10.—The friends of Chalkley Leonecy, the farmer accused of murdering his wife, Annie Leonecy, in his farmhouse near Merchantville, on the morning of Sept. 9, are working in earnest now to save his neck from the rope.

The evidence against him was submitted to the Grand Jury yesterday, and after a very short deliberation that body indicted him for murder in the first degree by a unanimous vote.

TWO YEARS OLD.

"The Evening World" Celebrates Its Second Birthday.

First in News, First in Public Service and First in Circulation.

The People's Champion and the Poor Man's Friend.

Some Remarkable Achievements in Gathering News.

A Long Series of Interesting Features and Contests.

Above All a Newspaper; Beyond All a Public Servant.

There is nothing surprising in this, but there is everything that is gratifying. Hundreds of thousands of readers approved and applauded the youngster when it made its bow as a yearling, and an increased number welcome the boy to-day when it dons its cap as a two-year-old to the Public, who so heartily acknowledged it as the People's Favorite from its first appearance.

Every mother will feel that it is a good thing that courtesy bars it from the contest for the best-looking baby of two years of age. If it had entered, there could be little doubt where the prize would fall.

It did so well in the first year of its existence that it had shown only as good a record for its second year of life everybody would have felt that no more could have been expected of it. In fact, the majority supposed that it couldn't beat its own record, and hence that it had no higher possible goal than to maintain its sterling excellence.

You can't make a better shot than a "bull's-eye" can you? No! To drive the first bullet further in with a second one is showing a better record as a marksman.

That is what THE EVENING WORLD has done. THE EVENING WORLD'S second year has surpassed the brilliant success of its first. Its record shows an equally glorious list of achievements done for the public good, the same philanthropic effort, the same if not greater results in accomplished benefits.

The main point in this second year of THE EVENING WORLD'S success is the same that it was in the first year's, and the same that it will be in every year that is added to its honorable existence, namely, to give the news, the latest, the most, the best.

A newspaper is primarily intended to give the news to the public which depends upon it for that service. The public has not depended on THE EVENING WORLD in vain, and that is one reason why a canvass instituted on several crowded trains on the "L" roads showed that it simply distanced all its evening competitors.

The "L" stands still 6,000 EVENING WORLD'S to 2,000 of any other evening paper.

But it has not only told the people what was going on, and told them sooner and better than any other afternoon paper, but it has helped to make things go on when they were right things, and has helped them to go off when they weren't.

A brief and modest résumé of some of its features, each of which is a new claim to the admiration of the public, will show that it has been lynx-eyed and unwearied in suppressing vice, knocking out wrongs and conferring benefits.

PHENOMENAL CIRCULATION. Numbers tell a plain story, and the phenomenal circulation of THE EVENING WORLD shows whether people buy it or not.

The best paper is the one that the most people buy, for they are infallible judges of what they want and of what they get.

ABOVE ALL A NEWSPAPER. It would be long and also needless to enumerate the individual points in which THE EVENING WORLD has distanced every competitor in the field of news. But it will interest its readers to refresh their memory on a few of the salient features which, either as "exclusive," or notable, but brilliant career of the paper.

At the last election the returns were printed complete, with all the myriad details, in THE EVENING WORLD of the day following—enterprise which can be appreciated by any one.

The promptness with which the great car strike was chronicled from its very inception made it a "best" of THE EVENING WORLD.

At the Sullivan-Kilrain battle, which excited a breathless interest all over the country, THE EVENING WORLD was the only evening paper which gave a full and exhaustive story of the greatest modern "mills." This, too, when the fight was eighty miles from a telegraph station. The papers were gobbled up like hot cakes. The sale was unprecedented.

The ghastly murder which occurred in Brooklyn, when Isaac was knifed to death on a bench in a very low condition. An operator has been performed for the removal of pieces of bone from the brain.
