MAKE THEIR CHRISTMAS HAPPY.

If there is one word to which the Nation's heart gives great, sympathetic throbs it is that of Christmas. It is a day of joy. It is especially the glad day of children.

There should be no jarring note in the glad acclaim which arises from the little ones at the merry time of Yule. What a soothing picture to think of, one long, unbroken peal of laughter rippling over the land from ocean to ocean!

But there is one faint touch of sadness in the thought. In our grand boulevards, in narrow side streets, there are thousands of little ones, with all a child's passionate craving for delight, who come in meagrely for the rich mirth of the season.

They are the countless children of the poor. THE EVENING WORLD has determined to bring some measure of the season's joy to those empty little hearts.

With the co-operation of its warm patrons it will graft upon hardy Christmas trees a plentiful crop of poor little hands to gather. The doctors have looked after the babies during the summer. THE EVENING WORLD proposes to infuse a portion of the oil of gladness into their young souls so that they may be pleased that they have been preserved.

THE EVENING WORLD'S children's parties in the past have been enormous success. Let the good people, who like the idea, come forward and join hands with THE EVENING WORLD around the Children's Christmas Tree.

To know that small, underfed boys and girls are made happy by one's generosity is the merest way to let a flood of golden sunshine into our own Christmas.

Remember, then, THE EVENING WORLD'S Christmas Tree for the poor children, kind patrons.

OUR NAVY. The United States has always had to content itself whenever the subject of its navy came to the front with a complacent reflection on the nation's potentiality for anything it needed, and tried to think we hadn't anything to brag of in the matter of naval armament, because there was no great occasion for it and we didn't really want much, you know.

The American spine felt, nevertheless, a proud rigidity when four splendid cruisers coursed past the thunders of Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton on their way to Europe for naval practice.

The time should come when can look with untroubled mien on England's navy. We have begun.

GOOD EXAMPLE. The chief magistrate of the city which has every right to the World's Fair set a blooming example yesterday to tardy millionaires who have not yet contributed to the World's Fair Guarantee Fund, by putting down his name for half his yearly salary.

Hugh Grant, Mayor of New York..... $5,000 Good, Mayor Grant.

A young man of Italy sailed from Genoa for the New World. The voyage was unpleasant and the young Genovese unhappy. So he cut his throat and was buried at sea. Now just think if the late Mr. CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS, of Genoa, had acted like that when he was coming to America!

President HARRISON has distributed his ducks with great generosity, but has enough left to make next week's reduced grocery bill a thing of joy to Mrs. HARRISON. Now let the country hear how Baby McKee enjoys canvas-back and joy will be unconfined.

Now, if we can only make those good Europeans believe that we have a lot more of the same kind lying around in our waters at home! It would be too bad to have them regard the four new cruisers as the whole United States Navy.

Adulterated sausage has a jocular ring to it. There is a report that exotic matter is incorporated into the Bologna, the king of sausages. Too bad!

A Democratic club of bright young men has augmented its brightness by making Col. DAN LAMONT a member. Crowd on the lamont.

What an exciting life CHARLES GERLEN must lead! He is sentenced to be hanged every few weeks.

LA MODE. "If the little bolling be, seven minutes makes the tea," is one of the many pertinent couplets read by the comes of metal-worked civets that go to table with the tea service.

The cardinal table cloth of red linen are worked in three shades of pink, and to get the desired effect the border is by candle.

At afternoon tea they tie the spoons with narrow ribbons, and it is a trick to keep the ends out of the steamers' charge.

A very delightful tea may be had by mixing the fragrant pinks with orange or English breakfast.

POLITICAL ECHOES. For a special election, that for Congress in the Sixth District, which will occur Saturday, Nov. 30, promises to be unusually interesting. A burrah campaign is on and the political atmosphere is expected to be very torrid. Just the condition of affairs which carries joy to "The Iconian's" heart.

The official canvass of the vote cast at the late election has been completed and the result as announced in THE EVENING WORLD has not been changed.

Alex. Rutledge, ex-County Clerk of Channing County, is to be Bank Superintendent. Also, is been politician, and has been keeping the Democracy of Channing in line while Gov. Hill has been attending to the people's business in Albany.

Gen. James Without-Hisly Husted is to have it all his own way in the Assembly Speakership race. Farmer Archer, of Stillous, is scratched for the race.

HUNDREDS VOTING.

Don't Keep Your Favorites from Winning That Beautiful Sword.

Many National Guard Candidates for "The Evening World" Prize.

A Steady Stream of Votes Flowing Into the Ballot-Box.

Ladies Can Vote in This Election and Many Appreciate the Fact.

The balloting for the most popular field or line officer in New York or New Jersey's National Guard, inaugurated last week by THE EVENING WORLD, is constantly increasing.

Where voters formerly arrived by dozens, they are now being deposited by hundreds. And the "ballot-box" is being stuffed, either. An enjoyable feature about this election is the fact that there are no "blocks of Five" nor crooked work of any kind connected with it but, on the contrary, everything is conducted strictly on the square and the best man will win—"best," in this instance, meaning that he must have the largest number of votes.

The ladies, whose favorites all our dashing military officers are, can vote in this election as well as their brothers, and husbands, and many of the fair creatures are availing themselves of the privilege, esteeming it a pleasure to help gallant Col. So-and-so, or the charming Lieut. What-his-name obtain the beautiful prize THE EVENING WORLD will present to the winner of the contest.

As a fitting testimonial that by a popular vote he is considered the most popular officer in his State's militia, THE EVENING WORLD will present to the successful candidate a magnificent sword, made by order of THE EVENING WORLD expressly for the contest by L. M. Whitlock, of the military style to conform with the general elegance of the blade itself. Altogether it will be a model of the swordmaker's art and one of the finest ever made.

The contest is limited only to the field or line officers of the National Guard of New York State or New Jersey, including Gens., Hill and Green, who are the commanders-in-chief of the militia of their respective States.

All voters must be accompanied by the general clearance of the blade itself. Altogether it will be a model of the swordmaker's art and one of the finest ever made.

Conditions. THE EVENING WORLD will present to the most popular officer of the National Guard of the State of New York and New Jersey a beautiful sword of noble and appropriate design. The most popular officer to be determined by the ballots cast by readers of THE EVENING WORLD. Each reader may vote once only. Fill in the blank as prescribed and mail it to THE Editor.

Spotlets. There are sisters and sisters. One in Waterville, Me., is independent in a $2,000 note for abusing her weak-minded brother and imprisoning him in a dog kennel.

George Francis Train is to address the Yale students. Then they'll see what linguistic football is like.

A Chicago World's Fair hustler reports his surprise at New York's effectively arranged committees and plans. Come again in '92, old boy, and we'll surprise you more.

I am freeling, ugly, freeling. In this cold and chilly evening. And my speaking, my speaking. All this blasted, blooming time. Now I hate the dress, I'm a rebel. For, without a single groat, I've got to wear my coat. You, my uncle, have my coat. —Washington Post.

The barbed-wire manufacturers have put up a $12,000,000 combine. Their own barb may turn on them some day.

It is a fine thing to be the only heir of one's rich uncle. This circumstance brings $12,000,000 to the wife of a New York freeman.

Society circles on the Sibone Reservation will soon be stirred by the arrival of Little Bear, Mr. Bear and three lesser Bears, who have spent the Winter in Paris with Buffalo Bill.

Two Iowa college students were expelled for sleeping and sixteen St. Petersburg students have met a like rebuke for attending a Nihilist funeral. Is student life to be utterly without diversion?

Constant study of the news from abroad leads one to be ideas that a nobleman is not always the honestest word of God.

Boston has put a price on the merry fantan. Twenty-three Orientals paid $5 each in police court yesterday for indulging in the game.

Art is progressive in New England. Thankswriting turkeys are to be tattooed this year in colors and Christian notices.

From Gen. G. (From "Jenny's Weekly.") He—Will you marry me? She—Do you drink rum? He—No—do you chew gum?

SAVE THEM OFF.

Aldermen Shelve the Organ-Grinders' Petition with the Law Committee.

A Public Hearing of Their Grievances Fixed for Friday.

Outcome of the Mass-Meeting of the Banished Musicians.

It was a motley but pathetic gathering at Brooker's Assembly-room, in Broome street, last night.

There were the lame, the halt and the blind, the aged and the decrepit were there, and the young and the sturdy. Men who had but one leg each and men with none at all. One-armed men, one-eyed men and men with only half a complement of parts.

There were swarthy men from sunny Italy; men who talked Parisian French through their noses; Germans, Americans, Irish and Africans.

But all were men who had earned a scanty and precarious living as organ-grinders, and they sat there in a common cause—GOD OF THEM.

At a o'clock Rocco Bruno rapped on the little table and called the meeting to order. He named John Cavagnaro as Chairman, and the big, burly Centre-street musician pointed the platform for the first time. He called the people as good American citizens as any other Europeans, and that in the South and West Italian-Americans have been politically honored.

He said that one Italian, acting as Mayor of Memphis, Tenn., was the son of a man who says President Lincoln had American blood in the language and customs here and could compete with any workman.

He said that his auditors, that, acting together, they would be a power in the politics of the Second, Third and Fourth Assembly Districts, and that he would be a power in the politics of the organ-grinders.

At Tony Pastor's last night there was a long and very varied performance, including Harry and Vera Biele, the two best. Miss Mary Newman was the star of the evening. Her Frank and Annie Davis, Edwin French, Rose and Martin Julian, J. J. Farron, Charles Ross and Mabel Weston (Howe), in good costume, were to be seen in their respective parts.

CHANGES AT THE THEATRES.

NEW AND OLD ATTRACTIONS PRESENTED IN THE TWO CITIES.

Clara Morris at the Windsor—"A Dark Secret" at the Grand Opera-House—"The Tourists" at the Bijou—Roeth and Modjeska in "Macbeth"—Corn Tanner at the Brooklyn Park.

Wilson Barrett produced "Claudian" at the Fifth Avenue Theatre last night, and the friends and admirers of this always vigorous young actor were glad to see again this strong personality, given to the public by Henry Hermon, Miss Lillie Edmond at Edessa, and Miss Evelyn Howard as Caris. The scenery and costumes were faultless. "Claudian" will be heard from again in a few weeks. It will undoubtedly draw crowded houses.
