The removal of the Methodist Book Concern has enabled us to alter the premises occupied by them into well-appointed salesrooms, greatly increasing our facilities for accommodating customers.

In what was formerly the bookstore, we shall begin to sell, on Wednesday, March 5, large lines of Silks, Dress Goods and Cloths, of thoroughly reliable make; lines of goods we have never, until now, been able adequately to place before our customers.

We invite attention to the peculiar advantages in price and quality of goods which will always be afforded in this department; it may be reached from either floor of the old store or directly through the upper entrance on Broadway.

On the same day, all the new salesrooms on the second floor will be thrown open for inspection.

VERDICT WAS FOR LEGONEY.

Declared by the Jury to Be Innocent of His Niece's Murder.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. CAMDEN, N. J., March 4.—Public Prosecutor Richard H. Jenkins, who was prostrated by an attack of heart failure during the final stage of his conduct of the Leoney murder trial yesterday, was reported to have died at his home this morning. This tragic end of a wonderfully dramatic trial created a profound sensation in this city.

Through the city's main streets this morning a drove of a spanking team of bay mares, yesterday morning he was in the shadow of the gallows. Men and women stopped on the sidewalks to look at him; some hooted while others cheered him as he drove by.

The subject of all this attention was Chalkley Leoney, the farmer who was yesterday afternoon, as announced in THE EVENING WORLD'S Sporting Extra, acquitted of the charge of murdering his niece, Annie Leoney, on Sept. 9 last. He looked neither to the right nor left, and never drew rein until he reached the Post-Office, where he stopped to ask for letters. When he entered the building he was at once surrounded by a number of friends, who congratulated him again and again on his narrow escape from the hangman's noose.

No case of late years in New Jersey has excited more widespread attention than the cruel butchery of Miss Annie Leoney, of which crime her uncle Chalkley was accused. The resources of the authorities of Camden were exhausted in the search for a solution of the terrible tragedy, with the result that it must go down in criminal history as an unsolved mystery, another foul blot on the fair fame of the goodly State of New Jersey.

Annie Leoney was her uncle's housekeeper in the quaint old farm-house on the Colestown road near Merchantsville, in which generations of Leoneys have been born, lived and died. A neighbor's daughter, going to borrow George Francis Train Starts to Girdle the Globe in 60 Days.

A patient, loving, faithful young woman sat on a settee at the Grand Central Station this morning, watching with apprehensive eyes the stalwart figure of a man with a dash of white hair cropping out about a derby hat, a yellow-brown face and bright, keen, alert gray eyes.

He was a tall, broad-shouldered man, as straight as an Indian. He fitted about with an air that was as graceful as that of a young bravo, and the tails of his fur-collared overcoat fairly stood out behind him.

Women Found Drowned. The body of a woman was found floating in the North River at the foot of Morton street this morning. She was about forty years old, brown hair mixed with gray, white striped dress, white underclothing, new felt hat and canvas shoes.

Drop a Nickel in your grocer's hand and get a package of PYLE'S PEARLINE—the original and best Washing Compound. It will save you time, trouble, health, wear and tear, which cannot be computed in dollars.

It's better—easier—quicker than soap for washing clothes and housecleaning; if that's not true, what becomes of the many, many millions of packages sold annually? What induces the hundreds of imitations? Did it ever occur to you as strange that almost every imitation of Pearline is given a name ending in INE? A "wolf in sheep's clothing" trick; depend upon it, their tricks don't stop there. Peddlers and unscrupulous or misinformed grocers will tell you this (an imitation) is as "good as Pearline," "same as Pearline," etc., etc. It's false—there's nothing like Pearline—nothing as good as Pearline. Why?—that's our secret—but you will recognize and share the benefits of that secret when you use Pearline.

IRONED, NOT FLOGGED.

The Bolivia's Officers Deny That Their Crew Were Maltreated.

The Anchor Line steamer Bolivia, now lying at Prentice's Stores, Brooklyn, will sail for Mediterranean ports to-morrow. She will leave behind Michel Antinisch, an Austrian, twenty years old, who has shipped with the Bolivia on her last three voyages as a coal trimmer.

Antinisch, in conversation with an EVENING WORLD reporter to-day, told sorrowful tales about the treatment of an Italian sailor on the Bolivia on her last voyage. He was chained to a stanchion in the fore-cabin, and was flogged with a rawhide whip by the light of a lantern. The ship was a few days out from Naples, and Antinisch was all the while being cruelly when they were repeated to him by the reporter. He did not know who Antinisch was, he said, but supposed he was an Austrian on his ship who had a sore foot.

Col. Fellows Tells a Queer Story Apropos of Miller's Release. The indictment against William H. Miller, a Republican Alderman who voted for the Broadway franchise in 1884, has been dismissed by Recorder Smith on the motion of James M. Smith, counsel for Miller, and the statement of Col. Fellows that "at no time has there been evidence sufficient to convict Miller."

DIED GOING TO A BALL. Mrs. Schmidt Dropped Dead on the Broadway Sidewalk.

Mrs. Eliza Schmidt, aged thirty-four years, and her friend, Lillie Lewis, were on their way to a ball in Brooklyn last night about 11.30 o'clock, and while passing along Broadway, opposite 600, Mrs. Schmidt suddenly staggered, placing her hand on the sidewalk, and exclaimed: "My God! I've dropped to the sidewalk." Mrs. Schmidt was a married woman and occupied a room with Miss Lewis at 28 White Street.
