

THEY'RE READY FOR 8 HOURS.

The New Labor Movement Gaining Ground Rapidly.

New York Carpenters Will Open the Ball Monday, May 5.

As the 1st of May draws nearer interest in the eight-hour movement intensifies. The demand for eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for what they will be constantly growing upon the working masses, and there is every prospect that another week will see the beginning of a new era in the history of organized labor.

Already the movement is under way, having been started by the carpenters of Chicago. The situation in that city is unchanged, save that the strikers themselves are more confident than ever of ultimate and complete victory.

The trial of Jeremiah O'Donovan Rossa, on the charge of criminal libel for calling Patrick Sarsfield a British spy in his newspaper, the United Irishman, was continued to-day before Judge Andrews in the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

William S. Hendrickson, the publisher, who is jointly charged with Rossa, was present at the trial. He was cross-examined by Col. Dawson. He was asked to give a short history of his life and tell the jury how he happened to get the name Rossa.

The witness said that the name was derived from the O'Donovan estates in the County of Wick, where they were situated in a town by the name of Rossa or Rosser. There were lots of O'Donovans in the county, who belonged to different families, and Jeremiah O'Donovan had the name Rossa to his cognomen to distinguish him from the others.

Mr. Rossa went on to say that he was born in 1825 and came to this country first in 1847, and after spending several years in prison he returned in 1871 to the United States. He was then in the employ of the New York and Erie Railroad, and was in charge of the work on the Erie and Delaware and Hudson Canal.

Col. Dawson tried to get in some evidence that Lawyer Howe objected to, and a long and heated argument followed. The witness testified that he had been in the employ of the Erie and Delaware and Hudson Canal, and was in charge of the work on the Erie and Delaware and Hudson Canal.

HOW ROSSA GOT HIS NAME.

JACKSON STILL AT LARGE.

Mamie Murphy's Murderer Lajbis at New York's Police.

He Has Been Frequently Seen, but Not by Detectives.

Charles E. Jackson, the printer who so coolly stabbed Mamie Murphy to death Tuesday morning, has so far effectually concealed himself from the police.

Detectives Serets, Heidelberg and Dolan, of Inspector Byrnes's staff, and Reynolds and Sullivan, of the Mercer street station, have searched since they were detailed to find Jackson, a few hours after he killed the girl, but they have been unable to locate him.

Various theories are advanced to account for his success in keeping out of the way. It is said that he is a cunning fellow, and that he has a good knowledge of the city.

It is also said that he has a good knowledge of the city, and that he has a good knowledge of the city. It is also said that he has a good knowledge of the city, and that he has a good knowledge of the city.

Pete Daley Badly Knocked Out by Frank White.

Bloody Battle Under Prize Ring Rules.

A Few Sports Witness the Game Fight in New Jersey.

There were just forty-seven people at the ring-side when Frank White and Pete Daley fought this morning.

The striking workmen, to the number of four thousand, paraded the streets, and on the way smashed windows and wrecked saloons.

They were finally met by the troops, and refusing to disperse, were fired upon with terrible effect.

The mob scattered, leaving several dead and dying and many wounded on the ground.

Both men are well known. White, who is a nephew of John Geoghegan, has fought all the prominent light-weights, among them George Fullam, Jimmy Kelly, Benny Green, Jimmy Murray and Denny Costigan.

He is thirty-four years of age, 5 feet 3 inches tall, and weighed this morning 124 pounds.

Daley, his antagonist, has also good record, made among the blue-nosed pugilists of St. John, N. H., and came here to gain added honors.

He is twenty-four years of age, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighed 131 pounds.

The match being for $1,000 in stakes, pure money was a secondary consideration, and hence a big crowd was not present.

With the first gray streak of dawn the fighters and spectators proceeded to level piece of ground back of the hotel, where a ring was erected.

There was a discussion about the referee which ended in an agreement on "Fritz" White, who was chosen to referee.

White was attended by Jack Quinn, the Scotch light-weight, and Johnny Murray, his timekeeper being Jim Brown.
