

5 O'CLOCK STOCK REPORTS. What the Bulls and Bears Are Doing To-day.

A Report from Washington Buils Sugar Certificates.

Another Big Shipment of Gold to England To-morrow.

HE Suburban took one-half of the leading element away from the Street to-day, while the other half held chairs down in the various offices and discussed the situation. It can be imagined that orders were few and far between and that the commission broker's lot was not a happy one to-day.

The Street is waiting for Congress to decide the silver question one way or the other, and having its patience sorely tried.

Another thing that is causing more or less uneasiness is the attitude of the lines composing the Central Traffic Association.

Each day brings news of a fresh cut, brought about by the Canadian Pacific-Wash competition, and now the Nickel Plate, Lake Shore, Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley are all slashing away, apparently without regard to cost.

A little while ago everybody was jumping on the managers of the Northwestern roads for doing this very thing, and as soon as they were commended by the force of public opinion to abandon their piratical practices, the staid old Vanderbilt lines start off on a similar policy.

The Trunk Line people are trying to get the presidents to gether, but so far have been unable to do so on account of the absence of some and the engagements of others.

Everybody had the "tip" last night to buy Sugar Certificates on reports from Washington that the Conference Committee would recommend a protective policy on sugar of 3.10ths on all grades from 10 to 16 and 6-10ths on 16 and above. The saving to the Sugar interest, it was said, would be an additional $10,000,000 per annum.

As a result the room was bullish on the stuff at the opening, but was soon filled out and buying orders were cancelled. The stock sold at 70 1/2 and 80 1/2 and 78 1/2 ex-dividend.

Heidelberg, Ichelmeier & Co. will ship $500,000 gold to Europe to-morrow. It is another special transaction.

The stock market closed with a firmer tone on the announcement from Washington that the Senate had a free coinage bill. Chicago gas jumped from 52 1/2 to 64 1/2, and O. T. recovered from 47 1/2 to 48 1/2.

Total sales of listed stock, 95,000 shares. The Distilling and Cattle Feeding Company, otherwise the old Whiskey Trust, paid a monthly dividend of 1 per cent to-day. This is unusually high.

THE CLOSING QUOTATIONS.

Table with columns for various stocks and their closing prices, including Am. Cotton Oil, U. S. Steel, and others.

Mining Stocks.

Table with columns for mining stocks and their closing prices, including American, Canadian, and others.

SHAMROCK LEADS THE WAY.

The Atlantic Yacht Club Races Started in a Light Wind.

All the Cracks Entered in the First of the June Regattas.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) Day 10. June 17.—A fresh southerly breeze blew up the lower bay this morning and carried gladness with it to the hearts of the yachtsmen belonging to the Atlantic Yacht Club, the most distinguished yachting organization of Brooklyn.

It was the day of their twenty-fifth annual regatta, and they had good reason to hope for favorable yachting weather. The list of entries to the regatta comprised some of the best racing yachts in the country.

In the 70-foot class were entered J. Rogers Maxwell sloop Shamrock, known to the yachtsmen who make their headquarters from the club-house at the foot of Fifty-fifth street, South Brooklyn as the "Pride of Bay Ridge," and the Anichetos Brothers sloop Katrina, the well-known A. Cary Smith boat.

Both of these yachts were altered early in the season with a view to increasing their speed. It is their first meeting this year. Last year the Katrina beat the Shamrock in a series of three match races.

In the forty-foot class were entered the sloop cutter Minerva, designed by William Fife, Jr., and the Lira, designed by William Gardner, the New York naval architect, the best being the two sections, forty of last year.

Besides these were the new Burgess center board sloop Chocoma, built last fall by Lawrence, of Boston, for Arnold Thayer, of this city, and the sloop cutter Maritima, the best forty, designed last year by Burgess for A. J. Hunt, Belmont, Jr.

This is the first annual regatta of the year, and the opening of the June regatta was the Club was reorganized last "Winter and a new Commodore was elected, N. D. Lawrence, of New York, and a new cutter, the Club has built a new clubhouse, which when finished will cost about $20,000.

The big iron steamer Cygnus left the Brooklyn Bridge dock at 9:30 this morning to accompany the yachts on their race. There was a large party on board and a brass band played lively music all along the coast.

A small tug carried the Committee and press represent to the starting line. The start was from in front of the new clubhouse and the finishing line is at the foot of Fifty-fifth street.

Precisely at 10:30 o'clock the preparatory signal was given and the yachts rounded in. The start was given and the yachts began sailing toward the finish line.

The conditions were that any yacht which did not cross the line within the time allowed, there was a light wind blowing from the east at the time.

There was a fresh breeze blowing and the start was made as follows:

Table with columns for yacht names and their starting times, including Shamrock, Katrina, and others.

The course for the schooners and the sloops was around Scotland lightship, the start being at buoy 15. Classes 6 and 7 only round Scotland lightship and the remainder round the start buoy.

At 10:55 o'clock the yachts passed out with Katrina leading, followed by Shamrock, and the sloop cutter Maritima. Shamrock had closed up on Katrina, and at buoy No. 14 had gained a lead of about one hundred yards. There was a light wind blowing.

Shamrock maintained her slight lead, and at 1:30 P. M. passed out buoy No. 5, while Katrina was a little later, her time being 1:40 P. M.

Returning Shamrock passed in buoy No. 5, at Sandy Hook, at 2:40 P. M., Katrina at 3:00 P. M.

At 3:35 the yachts were near West Bank, the Katrina had passed Shamrock and led by about 100 yards.

BECAME BRIDE AND BARONESS

Miss Lina Caldwell Weds the Baron Von Zedwitz.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) Washington, June 17.—The marriage of Miss Lina Caldwell and Baron Zedwitz, German Minister to Mexico, took place at the Catholic university, three miles out of the city, at 11 o'clock this morning.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, Ill., a friend of the bride's family. The bridegroom had closed up on Katrina, and at buoy No. 14 had gained a lead of about one hundred yards.

After the ceremony the party attended a wedding breakfast at the Arlington Hotel, and later the newly wedded couple will leave for the City of Mexico, where Baron Zedwitz assumes his official duties.

The bridal party will go by way of Cincinnati, and will use the handsome private car in which Patti made her recent operatic tour.

Miss Caldwell and Baron von Zedwitz had been engaged over a year, having first met in Paris.

The bride's full name was Mary Elizabeth Beckwith Caldwell. Her husband is a well-known American, a native of Saxony and thirty-nine years of age.

BUNKER HILL BASEBALL.

Morning Games for the Hub's Celebrant Citizens.

New York Leaguers and Brooklyn Players Are the Visitors.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) NATIONAL LEAGUE GROUND, BOSTON, June 17.—The day is a beautiful one for ball playing and about 1,400 people gathered to see the morning game between Boston and New York.

The batting order: Boston (N. Y.)—Donovan, c. f.; Tucker, 1st b.; Sullivan, 1st b.; Long, c. s.; McFarlane, 3d b.; Bennett, c.; Smith, 2d b.; Gettings, 2d b.

Empire—Mr. Zacharias. In the first inning for New York, Tiernan hit the first run, while the second, and the third, were scored by the Yankees.

In the second inning, Boston hit first on Bennett's hit, and scored two runs. In the third, Boston hit first on Bennett's hit, and scored two runs.

In the fourth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the fifth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the sixth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the seventh, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the eighth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the ninth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the tenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the eleventh, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the twelfth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the thirteenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the fourteenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the fifteenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the sixteenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the seventeenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the eighteenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the nineteenth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the twentieth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the twenty-first, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the twenty-second, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the twenty-third, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the twenty-fourth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the twenty-fifth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the twenty-sixth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the twenty-seventh, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the twenty-eighth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the twenty-ninth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the thirtieth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the thirty-first, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the thirty-second, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the thirty-third, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the thirty-fourth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the thirty-fifth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the thirty-sixth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the thirty-seventh, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the thirty-eighth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the thirty-ninth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the fortieth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the forty-first, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the forty-second, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the forty-third, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the forty-fourth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the forty-fifth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the forty-sixth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the forty-seventh, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

In the forty-eighth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run. In the forty-ninth, Boston hit first on Long's base on balls, and scored one run.

OUR MARY A BRIDE.

Married Quietly at Noon at the Little Hempstead Chapel.

Only Ten People Present When the Ceremony Was Performed.

Unless Mr. Abbey Wins His Suit Mary Will Act No More.

(BY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION.) LONDON, June 17.—The wedding of Mr. Antonio de Navarro, of New York City, and Miss Mary Anderson took place at noon to-day at the little chapel of St. Mary, Hempstead, Canon Parsell, of Brompton Oratory, officiating. The ceremony was strictly private.

Three closed carriages containing all the guests were permitted to witness the nuptials. These favored individuals numbered but ten and included only members of the two families immediately interested in the ceremony.

Every possible precaution had been taken to keep the wedding a profound secret, and no cards were sent out. Large crowds assembled in the streets about the Brompton Oratory, where the newspapers had announced that the ceremony was to take place, and waited patiently until long past noon, when it became evident that some other place had been selected.

The wedding party left the cottage at Hempstead, the residence of Miss Anderson's stepfather, Dr. Hamilton Griffin, at 11:45 and proceeded to the church, only a short distance away.

A large crowd of residents of Hempstead, who had been gathered in front of the cottage from early in the morning, cheered the bride and groom as they passed.

The bride wore an elaborate gown of rich white satin, covered with embroidered lilies. Her flowing bridal veil was of tulle, trimmed with a profusion of orange blossoms. Superb diamond ornaments sparkled from every possible place.

The chapel was a veritable flower garden. The three altars were each a bed of white roses entwined with imperial and white lilies. Above them towered massive palms, while the columns and gables were festooned with evergreen and white flowers.

The guests included the bride's two sisters, who acted as bridesmaids, her mother and stepfather, Dr. Griffin, her brother, Joseph Anderson and his wife, the daughter of Lawrence Barrett, and the brothers of Mr. Navarro, who acted as groomsmen.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the early returned to the cottage, where a wedding breakfast was spread and at which the usual toasts and congratulations were offered.

Here the correspondent had an opportunity for a brief interview with the happy bride.

Mrs. Navarro said that she and her husband expected to pass their honeymoon in Switzerland, and that she had decided to retire from the stage in accordance with the wishes of Mr. Navarro, unless she loses the suit brought against her by Mr. Abbey.

In that event she will act one season to fill the contract which she claims.

"You see I am not strong," she said; "and it was purely my ill health which compelled me to forego my engagements. Even now my health is not sufficiently restored to justify my undertaking the strain of appearing on the stage."

In regard to the secrecy of the marriage arrangements and the quiet ceremony, Mrs. Navarro said:

"Mr. Navarro is in deep mourning for a relative and desired the utmost privacy. I willingly respected his wishes and ignored all my friends. No person outside the family was invited. I am sure my friends will appreciate the circumstances, and be as generous as they have always been."

For his services at the Chapel, Canon Parsell received from the happy bridegroom an honorarium of $500.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

ALWAYS read the latest news on page 10 of the Evening World.

EXTRA SALVATOR

TO-DAY. TO-MORROW.

TO THE SUBURBAN. TO THE SUBURBAN.

WON THE GREAT SUBURBAN HANDICAP AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

CASSIUS CAME SECOND.

THIRTY THOUSAND PEOPLE CHEER THE WINNER OF THE BIG STAKES.

FORTUNES LOST AND WON.

Russell Wins the First Half of the Double Event for the Morris Stable.

Reclaire Takes the Equinoctial Stakes.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY RACE TRACK, JUNE 17.—The great Suburban has run.

SALVATOR WON. CASSIUS SECOND. TENNY THIRD.

Suburban Candidates. The Suburban candidates with weights, jockeys and pools are as follows:

Table with columns for horse names, jockeys, and pool amounts, including Reclaire, Cassius, and others.

THE EVENT OF THE DAY. Now for the big race. As soon as the third race was over a grand and mighty rush was made for the betting ring.

The scene that ensued there baffles description. At first sight nothing could be seen but a confused mass of men, hats of all colors, shapes and sizes. Above all floated a crowd of greenbacks. Men, with money in their hands, were waving it frantically and they fairly seemed to have gone crazy. Coats were torn, hats crushed and boots and coats trampled upon. But the crowd cared nothing.

They were there to bet on their favorites for the Suburban and let their words. Occasionally a bookmaker would mark up exceptionally good odds. The rush that would be made for this particular bookmaker was appalling.

Bills of large denominations were thrust into his hands and fairly flew at him. They could not take the money in fast enough to suit the public; when one got within that seething mass of human beings there was no help but to go straight around the eddy until the outlet was reached.

[A full account of the great Suburban race, with illustrations showing the exact position of the horses at the finish will be found in "The Evening World's" Baseball Extra.]

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) SHEEPSHEAD BAY RACE TRACK, JUNE 17.—This is the seventh Suburban day in the history of the popular Ocean Island Jockey Club. It will be a day long to be remembered for it is doubtful if such an interest was ever taken in a race before.

Ever since last February, when the entries were announced, people have been talking about the entries and each one's chances of winning the great race. The hopes and fears and anxieties are doomed to be ended to-day.

In the short space of a little over two minutes the great spectators' event of the Winter is to be decided and hundreds of thousands of dollars in chance hands.

The news will be flashed over the whole world in such a hot hurry that the Suburban, in a week the whole thing will be forgotten.

Visitors will have other attractions on which to centre their minds, and all they will remember of the Suburban will be the confused flashing of colors past the judges' stand and the remembrance of how jockeys will be riding on the great race.

A hand played lively airs and entertained the great crowd with the music. The peculiar charms to the lovers, and they come and stand around the edges of the band stand.

The grand stand was crowded by 10,000, and after that time seats were hard to find. One man was seen to be simply harnessed with people. No seat was to be had and the rush was terrific.

Ladies sat on the steps of the grand stand, and the escorts of these less fortunate went looking for chairs. The latter were sold at high prices, and many of them were sold at 50 cents each. Many of the ladies were seen to be in a state of great excitement.

Such a crowd has never been seen at Sheepshead Bay before.

The sport commenced with a dash of five furlongs.

TO-DAY. TO-MORROW.

TO THE SUBURBAN. TO THE SUBURBAN.

PRINCE ROYAL.

Everything about it was bright and new and full of life. The lawns are like velvet and beds of beautiful flowers relieve the monotony of the green.

Very few improvements have been made at this popular course since last year, and, in fact, it is hard to find any room for improvement. Sheepshead Bay always seems perfect, and there is never room for fault to be found.

Of course, the main theme of conversation here this morning is the great Suburban. Inside of a few hours the question that has been asked is to be decided.

The grounds were crowded most uncomfortably, and it is roughly estimated that between twenty-five and thirty thousand people were present. Almost everybody was there, and the excitement was intense.

A hand played lively airs and entertained the great crowd with the music. The peculiar charms to the lovers, and they come and stand around the edges of the band stand.

The grand stand was crowded by 10,000, and after that time seats were hard to find. One man was seen to be simply harnessed with people. No seat was to be had and the rush was terrific.

Ladies sat on the steps of the grand stand, and the escorts of these less fortunate went looking for chairs. The latter were sold at high prices, and many of them were sold at 50 cents each. Many of the ladies were seen to be in a state of great excitement.

Such a crowd has never been seen at Sheepshead Bay before.

The sport commenced with a dash of five furlongs.

A good class of sprinters were entered, and lively betting ensued in the ring. The odds were in favor of Reclaire at 8 to 5. A pile of money floated in on Cassius, who was offered 5 to 1. Reclaire's price shot up to 11 to 5.

Civil Service received 3 to 1 under the prevailing odds, and the bookmakers' odds were 2 to 1. Next in public favor was Blue Lock and Tipstaff against as much as 8 to 1 could be had.

They started from the head of the Futurity course. A cloud of dust and a roar from thousands of throats announced that the race was on. The horses were off.

Nothing could be seen of the racers until they appeared at the head of the stretch, when a confused mass of colors was all that could be seen. The race was a close one, and the odds were 5 to 1 in favor of Reclaire.

He opened at 2 to 5 and even. At this short price he was backed so heavily that the race was cut off by the bookmakers. Reclaire's pair were installed strong second choice, and a pile of money went on Solers, who was offered 10 to 1.

They appeared at the head of the stretch, and the race was a close one. Reclaire was the favorite, and he was backed heavily. The race was a close one, and the odds were 5 to 1 in favor of Reclaire.

He opened at 2 to 5 and even. At this short price he was backed so heavily that the race was cut off by the bookmakers. Reclaire's pair were installed strong second choice, and a pile of money went on Solers, who was offered 10 to 1.

They appeared at the head of the stretch, and the race was a close one. Reclaire was the favorite, and he was backed heavily. The race was a close one, and the odds were 5 to 1 in favor of Reclaire.

He opened at 2 to 5 and even. At this short price he was backed so heavily that the race was cut off by the bookmakers. Reclaire's pair were installed strong second choice, and a pile of money went on Solers, who was offered 10 to 1.

They appeared at the head of the stretch, and the race was a close one. Reclaire was the favorite, and he was backed heavily. The race was a close one, and the odds were 5 to 1 in favor of Reclaire.

He opened at 2 to 5 and even. At this short price he was backed so heavily that the race was cut off by the bookmakers. Reclaire's pair were installed strong second choice, and a pile of money went on Solers, who was offered 10 to 1.

They appeared at the head of the stretch, and the race was a close one. Reclaire was the favorite, and he was backed heavily. The race was a close one, and the odds were 5 to 1 in favor of Reclaire.

He opened at 2 to 5 and even. At this short price he was backed so heavily that the race was cut off by the bookmakers. Reclaire's pair were installed strong second choice, and a pile of money went on Solers, who was offered 10 to 1.

They appeared at the head of the stretch, and the race was a close one. Reclaire was the favorite, and he was backed heavily. The race was a close one, and the odds were 5 to 1 in favor of Reclaire.

He opened at 2 to 5 and even. At this short price he was backed so heavily that the race was cut off by the bookmakers. Reclaire's pair were installed strong second choice, and a pile of money went on Solers, who was offered 10 to 1.

They appeared at the head of the stretch, and the race was a close one. Reclaire was the favorite, and he was backed heavily. The race was a close one, and the odds were 5 to 1 in favor of Reclaire.

TO-DAY. TO-MORROW.

TO THE SUBURBAN. TO THE SUBURBAN.

PRINCE ROYAL.

Everything about it was bright and new and full of life. The lawns are like velvet and beds of beautiful flowers relieve the monotony of the green.

Very few improvements have been made at this popular course since last year, and, in fact, it is hard to find any room for improvement. Sheepshead Bay always seems perfect, and there is never room for fault to be found.

Of course, the main theme of conversation here this morning is the great Suburban. Inside of a few hours the question that has been asked is to be decided.

The grounds were crowded most uncomfortably, and it is roughly estimated that between twenty-five and thirty thousand people were present. Almost everybody was there, and the excitement was intense.

A hand played lively airs and entertained the great crowd with the music. The peculiar charms to the lovers, and they come and stand around the edges of the band stand.

The grand stand was crowded by 10,000, and after that time seats were hard to find. One man was seen to be simply harnessed with people. No seat was to be had and the rush was terrific.

Ladies sat on the steps of the grand stand, and the escorts of these less fortunate went looking for chairs. The latter were sold at high prices, and many of them were sold at 50 cents each. Many of the ladies were seen to be in a state of great excitement.

Such a crowd has never been seen at Sheepshead Bay before.

The sport commenced with a dash of five furlongs.

A good class of sprinters were entered, and lively betting ensued in the ring. The odds were in favor of Reclaire at 8 to 5. A pile of money floated in on Cassius, who was offered 5 to 1. Reclaire's price shot up to 11 to 5.

Civil Service received 3 to 1 under the prevailing odds, and the bookmakers' odds were 2 to 1. Next in public favor was Blue Lock and Tipstaff against as much as 8 to 1 could be had.

They started from the head of the Futurity course. A cloud of dust and a roar from thousands of throats announced that the race was on. The horses were off.

Nothing could be seen