THE CHILDREN'S FRIEND.

Kind action is the truest measure of the heart. No man or woman who is moved to deeds of mercy towards a brother mortal can be very bad. The Free Doctors' Fund has passed the $1,000 mile-stone. This shows that the work has appealed to many a warm-hearted soul.

But it should go on. Only a tithe of those who should help to push this blessed undertaking on has contributed yet. Let the others come forward and imitate the good example which has been shown.

Chief Engineer Feley's Description of the New Aqueduct.

Chief Engineer Feley furnishes a complete story of the new Croton Aqueduct today. It starts, he says, in his report from the present Croton Lake 350 feet above the dam, and follows a general southerly course through Westchester County and the Twenty-fourth Ward of New York, to a point 7,000 feet north of Jerome Park.

Its general form is that of a horseshoe with curved invert, 13.53 feet high and 13.6 feet wide, and the estimated capacity is 31,000,000 gallons each twenty-four hours.

From that point, where it is contemplated to build a large distributing reservoir for the supply of the annexed district, to the end at One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street and south avenue, the capacity is 250,000,000 gallons for twenty-four hours.

The aqueduct, which is to work under pressure, is circular in form, with various inclinations and with a diameter of 12 feet 3 inches, the portion under Harlem River being 10.5 feet.

From One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street start twelve 48-inch pipes. Four of them are to be connected with the old aqueduct, four are connected with the present city distribution at various points, and four are laid along Convent, Ninth and Eighth avenues and through Central Park, with their ends at the large reservoir in the park.

The working capacity of the pipes, like the lower part of the aqueduct, is 250,000,000 gallons in twenty-four hours. The capacity of the aqueduct was calculated from the results of careful experiments made by Chief Engineer Feley on a siphon of similar construction nine feet in diameter.

The aqueduct is mostly in tunnel, except at four points where it comes to the surface and can be emptied through cast-iron pipes. The flow in the aqueduct is controlled by batteries of gates protected by substantial gate-locks at Convent Dam, at One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, at the Convent Dam, at the Convent Dam, at the Convent Dam.

The tunnel under Harlem River is 307 feet below tide. The length of the aqueduct, exclusive of the length of the Aqueduct, is 34.75 miles. The capacity of the large reservoir at Central Park is reported to be 1,000,000,000 gallons.

The total number of shafts excavated for the construction of the aqueduct is forty-two, the depth varying from 25 to 350 feet. The shafts are used for the purpose of excavation and repair.

The flow in the aqueduct is controlled by batteries of gates protected by substantial gate-locks at Convent Dam, at One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, at the Convent Dam, at the Convent Dam.

Two Pretty Brooklyn Misses Canvass for the Sick Babies.

Just as Chief of Staff Dr. M. L. Foster was marshaling out THE EVENING WORLD'S corps of Free Physicians for the Summer campaign in came a couple of little Brooklyn beauties with a whole lot of money for the sick babies!

These demure little damsels, Elise Car. dozo, age thirteen, of 418 Degraw street, and Emma Pearson, two years her junior, of 294 Hoyt street, came as representatives of Public School No. 32 to beg the collection of $8.50, which they had collected in a canvass among the girls.

Eighty-nine cents contributed by the graduating class formed the nucleus of the fund, and the whole sum is one of the most grateful that has been brought to the office, for the reason that every penny of the $8.50 represents a sacrifice.

An everybody knows, the allowance of schoolgirls is not large. Because they are demure and modest, wise and good, true, beautiful and unselfish, the omission reveals that they do not need any money and no regular sum is allowed them. Now and then pennies or half dimes are bestowed for pencils, lunches or car fare and it is from this source of supply that the $8.50 comes.

This means that two hundred or three hundred warm-hearted little maidens have denied themselves a cookie, a lady-finger, a square of chocolate, a banana, an apple, a nut, a stick of gum, a stick of candy, a pinwheel, a paper doll or rubber ball; it means that the convenience of a new pencil, a fresh pad, a soft sponge, a fine pen, a clean eraser, or a blank book has been dispensed with; it means that some tender-hearted girl has gone without her luncheon or that another has walked home in the hot sun in order to help a little the mission of mercy among the poor, helpless babies of the metropolis.

It will, dear little maidens, it was good of you to forego the luxury of a seed cake, a street-car ride or a dish of ice cream, and in the sacrifice you have learned the sweet lesson of giving. Eight dollars and fifty cents from School No. 32 is not a vast amount of money, but if the girls of thirty-two schools make a canvass at recess we should have the magnificent sum of $274 to add to the Sick Babies' Fund.

The school year is drawing to a close. Only a few days remain before the term is over. If there is time, dear little maidens, please come to the rescue by doing your share. If you make the collection your services will be accepted in lieu of a contribution.

FOUND IN THE EAST RIVER.

Pretty Annie Einhorn's Body Identified at the Morgue.

None Knows Whether Her Death Was by Suicide or Accident.

Excitement over the ice-cream poisoning epidemic, which broke out yesterday morning among the families living in the vicinity of Third Avenue and Seventy-fourth street, is quieting down today.

As far as can be ascertained, between thirty and forty persons were made ill by the poisonous cream. They are all convalescent from the effects of the deleterious substance.

Her unaccountable disappearance had alarmed her friends terribly, and after vainly searching for her themselves they notified the police, and an alarm was sent out for her to every precinct in the city.

A crowd of ragged youths was playing on the wharf at the foot of Jackson street yesterday afternoon. One of them discovered a curious object near the dock that looked up and down in the water in a very strange way.

The boys approached and saw that it was the body of a woman. A policeman was called by an affrighted lad, and when he peered down into the murky waters he saw a sweet face framed with hair that waved about the cheeks like threads of tarnished gold.

It was a common enough occurrence in the daily life of a policeman who patrols the river, but the very fact that he had found the body of a woman who had been missing for several days, and who had been identified as Annie Einhorn, was a matter of some interest.
