

YOU'LL MISS SOMETHING RICH IF YOU DON'T READ *BILL DYE'S CHAPTER* OF THE GREAT COMPOSITE NOVEL IN THE EVENING WORLD TO-DAY.

PRICE ONE CENT.

LAST EDITION THE NEW AQUEDUCT OPENED.

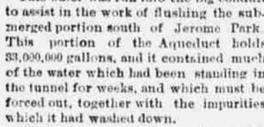

Water Flowing Its Full Length from Croton Lake To-Day.

No Ceremony at the Raising of the Gates at Central Park To-Morrow.

New York's new Aqueduct, the greatest engineering work of the age, is completed and is ready to begin serving the purpose for which it was constructed.

While the actual opening of the aqueduct does not occur until tomorrow, 50,000 gallons of water were let into it from Croton Lake yesterday.

The gates were opened by Division Engineer Gowen yesterday morning, and at 3 p. m. the water had reached South Yonkers.

CENTRAL PARK GATE HOUSE.

This water was run into the big conduit to assist in the work of flushing the submerged portion south of Jerome Park.

At 5.30 o'clock last evening the water began running pure and fresh at the One Hundred and Seventy-eighth street blow-off, when the gates were shut down and the column of water allowed to proceed on its way through the section of tunnel already flushed and tested to the gate-house at One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street.

It had not reached the "goose neck," which rises from the tunnel ninety feet to supply the pipe line at 7 o'clock, but it was reported to have filled in this portion of the great subterranean waterway during the night.

Assistant Chief Engineer George S. Rice went up to Croton Lake to superintend the letting in of the water to-day to complete the flow from that point to the gate-house.

The pipe line to the Park, which is on an up grade, is filled with pure water and the gates at the reservoir were tested and found to be in good working order yesterday.

A special meeting of the Aqueduct Commission has been called for 10.30 o'clock to-morrow, when the Commissioners will determine at what hour to admit the water to the reservoir, and whether to do it by opening the gates at the reservoir or at the One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street gate-house.

The peculiar feature of this opening of a great work is the lack of fuss and ceremony attending it.

When the windlass was turned in the gate-house at the Croton Lake to-day, and the first flood of water which is to reach Central Park through this new conduit gushed into the Aqueduct, there were present only a few of the Aqueduct employees.

and required but little more time in the building. Over 50,000,000 gallons had been soaking the masonry of the aqueduct for several weeks down to South Yonkers until Friday last, when this great flood was allowed to enter the lower tunnel for the purpose of flushing out thoroughly cleansing the aqueduct to its end at the One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street gate-house.

IT MAY BE ENDED TO-DAY. Striking Cloakmakers Expect a Settlement This Afternoon.

The Clothing Manufacturers' Lock-Out Skillfully Avoided.

Notwithstanding the general impression that the cloakmakers' strike would end on Saturday, and that the several thousand locked-out cutters, contractors and operatives would return to work, the situation this morning is unchanged, though the leaders of the men say with a great deal of emphasis that four of their demands having been acceded to the remaining two, which caused an adjournment of the Saturday conference with the manufacturers, will be likewise granted by the bosses this afternoon.

Reimbursement of all the locked-out men and a general discharge of all non-union men engaged since the strike was inaugurated are the two demands which the men laid before the conference, but the Manufacturers' Committee declined to acquiesce until the general opinion of their Association had been canvassed on the subject.

FOREIGN NEWS BY CABLE. An Incipient Fourteenth of July Riot in Paris.

PARIS, July 14.—The city is crowded as usual for Bastille Day, the Fourteenth of July.

At 9 o'clock the day's ceremonies began with a review of school children, who were divided into regiments and battalions, and made a pretty sight.

During the afternoon there was a diversity of entertainments, including a review of the Paris garrison, a children's fête in the Jardin de Paris and an aquatic fête on the Seine, between the Ile Saint Louis and l'Assy.

Two other disorderly Boulangists were locked up before the affair was over.

His Bride Scolded and He Killed Himself. BERLIN, July 14.—One of the Saxons competitors at the Schuetzenfest, who failed to win a prize, was so severely blamed by his bride, that he retired to his room and shot himself.

News of the Sudan Revolt and the Mahdi's Pein Confirmed.

Table with columns for various commodities and their prices, including items like American Cable, London Cable, and various types of flour and sugar.

IN LA BELLE FRANCE'S HONOR. The French Colony Is in Holiday Attire To-Day.

Celebrating the Centennial of the Fall of the Bastille.

"Vive la Republique!" The tributor is flying today from the flag of the French Republic and from the peaks of every French ship in the harbor.

On retiring the visitors shouted "Vive la France! Vive la Republique! Vive Carnot!" Among those present were M. Barrot, Le Grand, Charand, Schmitzer, Hubert, Heit, Capt. Pierre Balle and Sergt. Francois Eger, of the Rochambeau Grenadiers, and Bernard Schwarz.

NEARLY CUT HIS HEAD OFF. Determined Suicide of the Noordland's Cabin Passenger.

When the steamer Noordland, from Pantele, came in to-day, Capt. Carter reported to the English Consul the most determined suicide of his only cabin passenger at sea, three days off.

The passenger was Herbert Dobson, brother of Dr. Dobson, of the Kirkcaldy Hydropathic Institution, Leeds, England.

Shower and Warner Weather. WASHINGTON, July 14.—Weather indications: For Eastern New York: Threatening weather and light showers.

Baseball To-Day. Regularly scheduled games: PLAINFIELD vs. NATIONAL LEAGUE, CHICAGO vs. NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Club Standings This Morning. Presenting this morning of clubs in the following order: NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Baseball To-Day. Regularly scheduled games: PLAINFIELD vs. NATIONAL LEAGUE, CHICAGO vs. NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Table showing baseball club standings for the National League and American League, including teams like Boston, New York, and Philadelphia.

200 DEAD. Drowned When the Sea Wing Capsized in Pepin Lake.

AN APPALLING DISASTER. Part of a Terrible Cyclone's Fatal Work.

50 MORE DEAD AT LAKE GEVAIS. Agonizing Story of a Pleasure Excursion's Awful End.

Terrible disasters, brought by a death-dealing, devastating cyclone, accompanied by a terrific electric storm, came upon portions of the States of Minnesota and Wisconsin last evening.

The loss of life was fearful, mounting into the hundreds. Most of the dead met their fate upon the waters of the numerous lakes, which are ordinarily favorite resorts of fishers and pleasure-seekers, but which were stirred by the storm into raging haunts of death.

Story of the Sea Wing Horror. MINNEAPOLIS, July 14.—Further reports from Lake City indicate that nearly 200 people were drowned in the disaster which overtook the excursion steamer Sea Wing in last night's cyclone on Lake Pepin.

The Journal's special gives the following names of persons whose bodies have been recovered and taken to their homes at Red Wing:

JOHN REFFER, wife and two children. PETER GYLVEN, wife and five children. MRS. HENRIETTA and three children. MRS. SCHLEIBER and daughter. MINNIE FISHER. MARIE F. SKOGLUND. KATIE DALY.

Pepin Lake is an expansion of the Mississippi River, and separates Pierce and Pepin counties, Wis., from Goodhue and Wabasha counties, Minn.

FIFTY DEAD AT LAKE GEVAIS. Unknown Parties Who Went Out in Boats Before the Storm.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 14.—It is now feared that the dead at Lake Gervais through last night's storm, first reported at eleven, now reach nearly fifty.

Compounding of a Syndicate. Assistant District Attorney Hartman is in receipt of many complaints against the United States Building and Loan N. B. Co., of 117 Broadway.

What Proved Her to Suicide? At 10.15 this morning a reduced looking woman, apparently about fifty years of age, attempted suicide by jumping into the North River from the foot of Fortieth street.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

NEW USE FOR OUR SUBWAYS. HORSE-CARS IN THE SUBWAY. Peculiar Mishap by Which Transit Was Interrupted.

A new phase of the dangers attending the digging of New York's streets is presented to our citizens.

When all within reach had been pulled up or had climbed upon the overturned boat they huddled there shudderingly watching the angry waters and praying for rescue.

Flashes of lightning would at times afford glimpses of awful scenes about them. There would appear the white dress of a struggling drowning woman or child, or the equally white face of a departing man, already sinking into death's clutches.

Police Protection Peddlers. Col. Fellow's Office Takes Up Their Cases—The Hearing To-Morrow. Ward Detective Logan, Rondsman Taylor, Lawyer Gibbons, William Maginnis, ex-Ward Detective Flanagan, Frank Welsh and ex-Alderman Alexander B. Smith, all charged by a World reporter with having taken money from him under the promise of securing police "protection" for a gambling room to be opened by a supposed gambler, Charles Wetourt, were arraigned before Justice Hogan in the private examination-room at Jefferson Market Court to-day.

Work of Masked Robbers. Rids were opened to-day by the Gas Commissioners for furnishing electric street lights to the city.

Electric Light Combine. Rids were opened to-day by the Gas Commissioners for furnishing electric street lights to the city.

Another Canteen in Camp. PRESIDENT, July 14.—When terrible winds raged this morning a warty man, who had been drinking at a canteen in the camp, was seen to be in a very bad state of mind.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

How Hot Are the Sewers? President Andrews of the New York Steam Company made application to Commissioner J. J. Day for permission to take the temperature at sewer manholes in the streets where his company's main has been completed by the Board of Health.

LAST EDITION SAYS HE THREW NO BRICK. Custom-House Messenger Stimms Charged with Assaulting an Officer.

Riotous Scene at the Arrest of Colored Men on Seventh Avenue.

There was quite a stir in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning, when Custom House and brother-in-law Jacob Stimms, the colored Republican leader of the Eleventh Assembly District, was arraigned before Justice Hogan, charged with acting in a disorderly manner and throwing a brick at Policeman Bradley, of the Thirtieth street station-house.

The alleged assault grew out of the policeman's arresting three colored men who were creating a disturbance. The three men were Robert Dorcer, Richard Peeden and James Duckie.

The story told by the officer to the Justice this morning was that he was walking through West Twenty-seventh street last night when he was called to disperse a crowd of young loafers who were "craging indecent songs in the street, and acting in a boisterous manner."

He ordered the crowd to move on and they started on a run, one of the three running on the pavement twenty feet from the street. They also used vile language. The policeman grabbed the men whose names are given above and with the assistance of other officers started for the station-house.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman. He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

LAST EDITION SAYS HE THREW NO BRICK. Custom-House Messenger Stimms Charged with Assaulting an Officer.

Riotous Scene at the Arrest of Colored Men on Seventh Avenue.

There was quite a stir in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning, when Custom House and brother-in-law Jacob Stimms, the colored Republican leader of the Eleventh Assembly District, was arraigned before Justice Hogan, charged with acting in a disorderly manner and throwing a brick at Policeman Bradley, of the Thirtieth street station-house.

The alleged assault grew out of the policeman's arresting three colored men who were creating a disturbance. The three men were Robert Dorcer, Richard Peeden and James Duckie.

The story told by the officer to the Justice this morning was that he was walking through West Twenty-seventh street last night when he was called to disperse a crowd of young loafers who were "craging indecent songs in the street, and acting in a boisterous manner."

He ordered the crowd to move on and they started on a run, one of the three running on the pavement twenty feet from the street. They also used vile language. The policeman grabbed the men whose names are given above and with the assistance of other officers started for the station-house.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

LAST EDITION SAYS HE THREW NO BRICK. Custom-House Messenger Stimms Charged with Assaulting an Officer.

Riotous Scene at the Arrest of Colored Men on Seventh Avenue.

There was quite a stir in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning, when Custom House and brother-in-law Jacob Stimms, the colored Republican leader of the Eleventh Assembly District, was arraigned before Justice Hogan, charged with acting in a disorderly manner and throwing a brick at Policeman Bradley, of the Thirtieth street station-house.

The alleged assault grew out of the policeman's arresting three colored men who were creating a disturbance. The three men were Robert Dorcer, Richard Peeden and James Duckie.

The story told by the officer to the Justice this morning was that he was walking through West Twenty-seventh street last night when he was called to disperse a crowd of young loafers who were "craging indecent songs in the street, and acting in a boisterous manner."

He ordered the crowd to move on and they started on a run, one of the three running on the pavement twenty feet from the street. They also used vile language. The policeman grabbed the men whose names are given above and with the assistance of other officers started for the station-house.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.

Bradley turned to look back and he saw that he saw Stimms' arm in the air and that at the same time a brick went whizzing past his head.

After getting his prisoner safely in the station-house he started out again and overtook the pavement twenty feet from the station-house and arrested him.

The three men who were arraigned on this morning were taken to the station-house and held until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Stimms was called out to answer the charge of throwing a brick at the policeman.

He is tall, well-built negro, very black, and with a slight growth of side-whiskers. His brother, the "consoler," appeared in his behalf and asked that he be discharged.

Officer Bradley was walking in the rear of the party, and as he was crossing Seventh avenue a Hogan came up and warned him that a man was following him with a brick in his hand.