

"I WHISTLE AND WAIT FOR KATIE."

A NEW SONG, WORDS AND MUSIC BY THE COMPOSER OF "ANNIE ROONEY," IN "TO-MORROW'S EVENING WORLD."

A FIFTY-CENT SONG FOR ONE CENT.

PRICE ONE CENT.

THE EVENING WORLD

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, JULY 15, 1890.

Wenn Sie Deutsches Dienstpersonal suchen, lesen Sie die deutschen Annoncen, die täglich auf der sechsten Seite erscheinen.

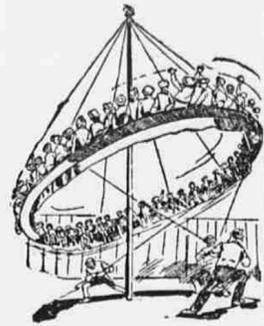

PRICE ONE CENT.

LAST EDITION BROKEN BY A STOUT LADY.

Very Hard Lot of a Gallant South Beach Razzle-Dazzler.

An Unfortunate Occurrence That Spoiled a Ride and Snapped a Leg.

Amid the storm-clouds of tragic events is sometimes heard the faint clear tinkle of the jester's cap and bells. Such is the case in a thrilling tale of woe which is told of the gay sandy stretch of South Beach.

THE RAZZLE-DAZZLER. It goes like the devil. This is one of the few instances where that expression is orthodox, true and necessary, and should be admitted into any family circle.

The razzle-dazzle is something like a carousel. It goes round. But it also goes up and down as if it were constantly climbing over hills.

It is the mechanical function of Peter Brooks to assist the ladies, bless 'em! into this infernal gyrator, and then leave them to the care of Providence.

Peter looked at the lady, and then looked at the machine. Then he reflected hastily that it wasn't his machine anyhow.

So he advanced with his seductive professional smile, which has no much to do with the success of the razzle-dazzle, and prepared to lift the lady.

She assisted in the process by putting her hands on Peter's shoulders. Alas, and alack a day! The razzle-dazzler went down like a poppy before the whetted scythes and horrors of the devil.

Peter looked at the lady, and then looked at the machine. Then he reflected hastily that it wasn't his machine anyhow.

So he advanced with his seductive professional smile, which has no much to do with the success of the razzle-dazzle, and prepared to lift the lady.

She assisted in the process by putting her hands on Peter's shoulders. Alas, and alack a day! The razzle-dazzler went down like a poppy before the whetted scythes and horrors of the devil.

Peter looked at the lady, and then looked at the machine. Then he reflected hastily that it wasn't his machine anyhow.

So he advanced with his seductive professional smile, which has no much to do with the success of the razzle-dazzle, and prepared to lift the lady.

She assisted in the process by putting her hands on Peter's shoulders. Alas, and alack a day! The razzle-dazzler went down like a poppy before the whetted scythes and horrors of the devil.

FOREIGN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Continued War Enthusiasm and Excitement in Salvador.

Russia's New Dispatch Boat Make 26 Knots an Hour.

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD. LA LIGERETA, Salvador, July 15 (via Calcutta).—Excitement and enthusiasm over the prospective war with Guatemala continue.

Flery addresses were made at impromptu gatherings last night over the Government proclamation of yesterday, declaring the country in a state of siege.

Russia's New Dispatch Boat Makes 26 Knots an Hour. ST. PETERSBURG, July 15.—The completion of a new fast ship intended for the Russian fleet in the Black Sea is announced.

A Child Fatally Hurt by a Mad Rooster. ST. PETERSBURG, July 15.—A rooster that had been bitten by a mad dog attacked a child, aged three, named Marie Herford, knocked her down, picked out her eyes and mutilated her body.

The Count of Paris Holds Court at Folkestone. FOLKESTONE, July 15.—The Comte de Paris is holding a court here for his adherents. Hundreds of royalists from France visit him daily.

Disastrous and Perhaps Fatal Fires in Turkey and Russia. ST. PETERSBURG, July 15.—The towns of Schwabach and Ustyan have been nearly destroyed by recent incendiary fires.

Ten Lives Lost Through the Floods in Hungary. BUDAPEST, July 15.—A thousand houses were destroyed and 125 timber merchants were ruined by the recent fire in the Stamboul quarter. It is believed several lives were lost.

Patti's Farewell Concerts for the Season. LONDON, July 15.—Mrs. Patti arrived from Paris yesterday to give her farewell concerts for the season.

Won by the Cheap Ballots. BOSTON, July 15.—The Democratic party has surprised the old factions by nominating a middle-aged court clerk, it is early in the field with its candidates, and proposes to inaugurate and maintain a lively canvass.

Prohibitionists Hope to Get Their New County Ticket Printed Free. The prohibition party has surprised the old factions by nominating a middle-aged court clerk, it is early in the field with its candidates, and proposes to inaugurate and maintain a lively canvass.

Pool-Selling at Louisville. SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. LOUISVILLE, July 15.—Pools were sold at the Turf Exchange last night on the Monthmouth Park race as follows:

First Race—Ham, $20; Pinner, $27; Bradford, $30; Ham, $35; Pinner, $42; Bradford, $45.

THEY ARE STILL FAR APART.

No Agreement Yet Reached by Cloakmakers and Bosses.

The Committees Meet in Conference Again To-Day.

The hitch between the striking cloakmakers and the Cloak Manufacturers Association was not broken, as was generally conceded last yesterday, and another effort was made this morning to settle the strike.

The proposition that the bosses would re-engage all the locked-out men and pay off the non-union men for a week for the purpose of settling the strike, was strenuously objected to by the body of strikers, who insisted that the "scabs" be first discharged before they go back to work.

The conference this morning did not get together until after 10 o'clock. The manufacturers on the one hand contended that it involved strongly a principle of honor for them to discharge the men they engaged since the lock-out, while the men, on the other hand, claimed that they would sacrifice the most vital principle of their organization if they were to go back to the same shop where "scabs" were being employed.

Chairman Dale reported that the Amalgamated Board had been advised of the proposition and that the Board would not go to work under any consideration until the "scabs" had been discharged.

Mr. Dale remarked that there were only two ways of settling the strike, and he could not understand how the bosses allowed them to stand in the way of several thousand workers going to work.

When the two committees were brought together again Chairman Schwab wanted to know before making his report whether the "cats" would agree to drop any and all question of reimbursement for the present, and also to be secured upon a some future date.

Chairman Schwab then reported that concerning the sixth demand the manufacturers would only agree to restate all hands out of the lock-out, and that the Amalgamated Board would take the present employees into the Union.

Mr. Dale jumped to his feet and said that the men would not under any consideration agree to go to work until the "scabs" were discharged.

Was It Suicide or Accident? Mrs. Ada O'Brien, twenty-four years old, of 222 West Sixteenth street, died in the New York Hospital early this morning from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid.

Simmons Examination Adjourned. James A. Simmons, charged with aiding and abetting Peter Claassen in the embezzlement of $252,000, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields this morning and an adjournment granted for six weeks.

The "Hammond" Typewriter Wins the "Mercury" Prize. The "Mercury" prize was awarded a gold medal and two cash prizes—$100 and $50—for the best specimen of typewriting, open to all who would send in a specimen of their work.

The "Hammond" Typewriter Wins the "Mercury" Prize. The "Mercury" prize was awarded a gold medal and two cash prizes—$100 and $50—for the best specimen of typewriting, open to all who would send in a specimen of their work.

PRESIDENT MORTON IN JAIL.

Charged by the Western National Bank with Fraud.

Trouble for the New York Export Lumber Company.

Edward Morton, President of the New York Export Lumber Company, is in Ludlow Street Jail, where he was quietly taken yesterday afternoon after being arrested in a suit brought by the Western National Bank charging him with wrongfully converting to his own use or the use of the Company goods worth $12,000.

Mr. Morton was arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Young, but the fact of his arrest was guarded very carefully, as the days of Fick.

At Ludlow Street Jail he was comfortably ensconced in the cell formerly occupied by ex-Napoleon Henry S. Ives, who was one of the star prisoners before the exposure of the manner in which private banking was allowed special privileges.

Morton is an Englishman, and has only been in the country about three years. He is married and has a family of five children, in which he employs several hundred men. He lives with his wife and three children at 1928 Lexington avenue.

The trouble of the New York Export Lumber Company is the result of a rupture in a series of transactions which began when Morton was President of the Western National Bank.

Mr. Jordan, it will be remembered, was the means of bringing up the affairs of the First Hill Bank, which concern was drawn under by the syndicate of bank wreckers.

An Evening World reporter called at the bank this morning to learn the grounds on which the claim for $12,000 is made.

President Snyder, who was seen, refused to say anything about it. Police Commissioner Charles F. MacLean, the bank's lawyer, also declined to speak of the matter.

The suit is based on the Company's indebtedness to the bank, said Mr. MacLean. The bank holds judgments against the bank for several hundred dollars, and the present suit is against Mr. Morton, the Company's president.

The bank's opinion of the matter is that Mr. Morton is guilty of several offenses, and the bank, as trustee for many stockholders, among whom are widows and orphans, had to bring suit against him.

Mr. Morton was more outspoken in regard to the matter. "His arrest is an outrage," said he. "It grows out of an attempt on the part of the bank to make Morton responsible for the bank's transactions."

Mr. Morton was more outspoken in regard to the matter. "His arrest is an outrage," said he. "It grows out of an attempt on the part of the bank to make Morton responsible for the bank's transactions."

FROM GROTON LAKE.

Arrival of the Water at Central Park Reservoir.

Thousands of Gallons Poured in on the Trial Trip.

An "Evening World" Reporter One of the First Spectators.

There was but one solitary individual at the new Aqueduct gate on the northern end of the Eastern half of the huge double reservoir in Central Park this morning.

CENTRAL PARK GATE HOUSE.

Thomas D. Hankinson to keep small boys and such of their elders with an inquisitive turn of mind from fooling with the machinery and other paraphernalia necessary to a gate-house.

At 10 o'clock Mr. Dwyer was standing on the little stone balcony that overlooks the reservoir, positively watching the sunbeams straggling through the whiskers of a catfish below him.

The catfish amused him. He was suddenly aroused from his reverie, however, by a roaring, rumbling sound that seemed to come from the very bowels of the earth.

Then one or two drops of muddy water spurted from one of the great iron pipes at his feet, and Dwyer suddenly awoke to the fact that the water had arrived.

"By George, it's here!" quoth Mr. Dwyer, and then he looked at his watch. It marked 6, 10 o'clock. There was no one else present, so this time must be official.

The little drops of water tumbled along one after another until they had resolved themselves into a little stream of what resembled a solution of iron rust.

Faster and faster they came and finally the full stream burst out upon the surface of the half-filled reservoir with a rush and a roar.

The four pipes were in full blast by 7 o'clock, and the glistening yellow bubbles tumbled over each other as if glad to escape from the dark embrace of the iron pipes.

Beautiful streams of water they were, thick and strong, betokening a great supply for years to come.

FIRST IN THE FIELD.

Decision Against the City and for Insurance Companies.

By a recent decision of the Court of Appeals the Fire and Marine Insurance Companies of this city are not obliged to pay taxes on $25,000,000 of capital stock assessed against them, and are entitled to sue the city and recover for taxes on such stock paid since 1880.

Representatives of the companies and the Tax Commissioners are in consultation this afternoon on this serious situation.

In 1880 an act was passed by the Legislature ostensibly to relieve the companies of an onerous burden of taxation.

President Coleman of the Tax Commission, contended that it relieved the companies from paying any local taxes.

The representative of the insurance companies said this was not intended, and that they would pay their tax on capital stock as usual.

President Coleman asked Gov. Hill not to sign the bill, but he took the advice of Attorney-General O'Brien, and the bill became a law.

The companies all kept faith and paid the tax until last year, when the Commonwealth Insurance Company brought action to prevent payment.

June 17 the Court of Appeals handed down a decision in the Company's favor, Judge O'Brien not voting because of his previous action as Attorney-General.

Should the other companies not keep their agreement and pay this year, the city will lose about $25,000 in taxes, besides having to pay the State tax on the assessment, which was made before the decision of the Court of Appeals was handed down.

While the amount of the assessment is $25,000,000, this is scaled down to about $3,000,000 by investment in Government bonds, Ac.

Commissioner Coleman said that the law will be amended at the next session of the Legislature.

SOON TIRED OF AN HONEST LIFE. An Ex-Convict Who Was Given a Chance Arrested for Forgery.

Charles A. Loser, alias Halpin, an ex-convict who had been given a chance to lead an honest life and soon tired of it, was a prisoner in Jefferson Market Court this morning.

LAST EDITION DEMPSEY BACK.

The Last of the Boodlers Gives Himself Up To-Day.

He Furnishes a $25,000 Bond and Goes Free.

All the Boodlers have returned. Ex-Alderman Charles Dempsey gave himself up at the District Attorney's office at 11, 30 this morning, gave bail in $25,000 and departed.

Ex-Senator George W. Plunkitt, the Tammany Hall leader of the Seventeenth Assembly District, is the single surety on his bond.

Judge Martine fixed the amount of the bond, which is $15,000 lower than that of any other of the boodlers.

Dempsey is apparently broken down. He walks with a bad limp and has to use a cane.

He has been very ill lately or he would have presented himself before.

His absence was the subject of the reporter's observation, and the matter of his bail was conducted very quietly.

It soon became known about the building that he had returned, and crowds collected in the corridors to get a peep at the last of the exiles.

Col. Fellows declined to say anything about Dempsey's case, but it is thought that his "little difficulty" will be attended to at the time when Moloney and DeLacey are called to the bar.

GOL FELLOWS HOME AGAIN. He Says Moloney and De Laacy Won't Be Tried in September.

Billy Moloney and Robert E. De Laacy, the returned boodlers, will not be tried in September, as has been expected.

District Attorney John B. Fellows returned from his outing at Fire Island this morning to say so.

He says the witnesses cannot be secured in time for a trial in September, and the October term of General Sessions is the earliest time when the indictments against Moloney and De Laacy can be moved.

LAST EDITION DEMPSEY BACK.

The Last of the Boodlers Gives Himself Up To-Day.

He Furnishes a $25,000 Bond and Goes Free.

All the Boodlers have returned. Ex-Alderman Charles Dempsey gave himself up at the District Attorney's office at 11, 30 this morning, gave bail in $25,000 and departed.

Ex-Senator George W. Plunkitt, the Tammany Hall leader of the Seventeenth Assembly District, is the single surety on his bond.

Judge Martine fixed the amount of the bond, which is $15,000 lower than that of any other of the boodlers.

Dempsey is apparently broken down. He walks with a bad limp and has to use a cane.

He has been very ill lately or he would have presented himself before.

His absence was the subject of the reporter's observation, and the matter of his bail was conducted very quietly.

It soon became known about the building that he had returned, and crowds collected in the corridors to get a peep at the last of the exiles.

Col. Fellows declined to say anything about Dempsey's case, but it is thought that his "little difficulty" will be attended to at the time when Moloney and DeLacey are called to the bar.

GOL FELLOWS HOME AGAIN. He Says Moloney and De Laacy Won't Be Tried in September.

Billy Moloney and Robert E. De Laacy, the returned boodlers, will not be tried in September, as has been expected.

District Attorney John B. Fellows returned from his outing at Fire Island this morning to say so.

He says the witnesses cannot be secured in time for a trial in September, and the October term of General Sessions is the earliest time when the indictments against Moloney and De Laacy can be moved.

Advertisement for Michael Nolan, composer of "Annie Rooney." Includes text: "Words and Music Will Appear in To-Morrow's EVENING WORLD. A FIFTY-CENT SONG FOR ONE CENT. DON'T FAIL TO GET IT."

Advertisement for "Annie Rooney" song, including lyrics and composer information.

Advertisement for "Annie Rooney" song, including lyrics and composer information.

Advertisement for "Annie Rooney" song, including lyrics and composer information.

Advertisement for "Annie Rooney" song, including lyrics and composer information.

Advertisement for "Annie Rooney" song, including lyrics and composer information.

Advertisement for "Annie Rooney" song, including lyrics and composer information.

Advertisement for "Annie Rooney" song, including lyrics and composer information.