

PRICE ONE CENT.

PRICE ONE CENT.

WALL ST. STOCK REPORTS.

Another Inept Panic Owing to Tightness of Money.

A Heavy Decline All Along the Stock Line.

Mercantile Interests Affected by the Financial Stringency.

ETWEEN ten and eleven o'clock to-day prices at the New York Stock Exchange suffered a loss of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent in addition to the shrinkage made on previous days of the week.

It is not necessary to look further than the money market for the cause of this decline. Money is not obtainable except from the Government, which to-day has a $100,031,141 looked on in its vaults.

Now, nobody wastes any sympathy on Wall street speculators, for, as a rule, they are able to take care of themselves; but the trouble to-day is that the great mercantile interests are affected and a time when they stand more in need of ample accommodations than at any other season of the year.

Some business houses have found it impossible to get their paper discounted at bank, and it is stated on good authority that a leading dry-goods firm has found it necessary to have its maturing notes re-credited in Paris, France.

Still another case. A first-class stock commission house having a loan coming due on Monday applied to have it renewed.

The President of the bank concerned stated that it was simply impossible to do so, as the institution's commercial customers would have to be accommodated first, and, therefore, the stock house would have to go somewhere else.

No wonder then that financiers are alarmed at the condition of things, and a feeling of anxiety prevails in downtown circles. The West and South continue to draw heavily upon this centre for currency, and this adds to the perplexities of the situation.

During the afternoon there were reports that Secretary Windom was in the city, and that he was in good authority in regard to the money situation, but subsequently it was stated that he had not left Williams-town, Mass., where he is rusticating with his family.

Another story was then put about that the First National Bank of this city had offered $25,000,000 to the Treasury, but this also met with a denial.

There is, nevertheless, a disposition to look for some further action by the Department before Monday next.

When the gong sounded at 10 o'clock this morning the Stock Exchange resembled pandemonium in a way, and a more excited lot of men has rarely been gathered together.

The bears, to use a common expression, jumped on the market with both feet. Money was first to break, and in less than five minutes it was down to 116, a decline of 1/4 from yesterday's closing.

Other stocks sold off 1/4 to 3/8 per cent. Later on, however, a general advance of 1/4 to 3/8 ensued and during the afternoon speculation was firmer all around.

The excitement subsided in a marked degree and holders of stocks felt easier than for many days.

Money at one time lent at 1/4 and interest; that is, a commission of 1/4 per cent. was paid for the three days until Monday next to secure accommodations at a 6 per cent. per annum.

In the afternoon loans were made at 1 1/2 to 20 per cent. per annum, and finally, after pretty much everything had supplied their wants, money was offered at 6.

The Government receipts yesterday from custom, internal revenue and miscellaneous sources aggregated $1,006,799.

To-day the Treasury bought 321,000 ounces of silver at 1.153 and 1.1075 and $15,000 4/8 at Washington.

In Philadelphia interest was prepared on $200,000 4/8 and $70,000 4/8 were redeemed.

At the Sub-Treasury here interest was paid on $74,409,800 4/8 and $200,000 4/8 were redeemed.

The sales at the New York Stock Exchange were 749,900 shares of listed stocks, 351,000 ounces of silver, 5,000 barrels of Bureau eye oil and 52,000 barrels of Pennsylvania.

Table with columns for various stock categories and prices, including Manhattan Central, Michigan Central, etc.

MINING STOCKS. The following were the closing quotations for mining stocks at the Consolidated Exchange to-day:

FOREIGN NEWS OF THE DAY. The Swiss Revolt Confined to the Canton of Ticino.

THE SWISS REVOLT. BY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION. GENEVA, Sept. 12.—A supplement to the Journal de Geneve, issued this morning, says all is chaos in the Canton of Ticino.

THE KENNINGTON BID FOR A DIXON-WILKINSON MATCH. LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Kennington Social Club has offered a purse of £400 ($2,000), if Dixon and Arthur Wilkinson will make a match to box at eight stone four (110 pounds).

CHOLERA REPORTED RAGING IN A SIBERIAN PORT. BY CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION. LONDON, Sept. 12.—It is reported from Siberia that the cholera is raging at Vladivostok, and the Russian fleet has been ordered out of the harbor to a safe station.

A CREEPY AMERICAN STABS AN ENGLISH POLICEMAN. LONDON, Sept. 12.—An American named Thomas Jackson, who has been staying at the Star and Garter Hotel at Richmond, was to-day arrested for being drunk and disorderly and stabbing a policeman with a sword-cane.

THE WYOMING ELECTION. Both Parties Claiming Victory—Nothing Definite Known. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 12.—Not much returns are yet to tell anything definite concerning the result of yesterday's election.

WILLIAM LOY, A TRACKWALKER FOR THE NEW YORK CENTRAL ROAD, WAS STRUCK AND INSTANTLY KILLED BY A TRAIN IN THE TUNNEL NEAR EIGHTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, THIS MORNING AT 1:04 P.M.

STRIKE AT THE BURT PRINTING WORKS. Eighteen press-feeders employed by the Burt Printing Company, at 14 Jacob street, struck this morning for higher wages.

RAIN AND SOUTHWEST WINDS. WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Weather Outlook: For Eastern New York: Rain, southerly winds.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF. Thomas Jones and William Parkman were held at the Tombs this morning, charged with second degree larceny.

PATSY'S BARK AND BABIES.

All of Garden Row at War Over a Dog with a Misfit Name.

Plots and Counterplots Involving the Life of "Two Cur Dogs."

There is no nicer or more homelike block in New York, to appearances, than the row of houses, with broad lawns and gardens in front, that stands back from the street twice the usual distance on the south side of Eleventh street just west of Sixth avenue.

It should be said, in justice to Patsy, that her—or she—is not alone the cause of the tumult. She—or he—has a "pal," and in the official complaint they appear together as "two cur dogs," charged with breaking the peace of the block; but Patsy's villainy in piling up prospective agency, in defiance of all rules of civilized nomenclature, has singled him—or her—out as the victim whose sacrifice is demanded.

At the time Sullivan was appearing in "The Paymaster" at the Grand Opera House Reardon put the statue on exhibition there.

When he was getting up the raffie for the statue of Sullivan and Kilrain he gave Duncan H. Harrison fifty tickets to sell to friends.

Two weeks ago Reardon came in with a number of his friends and said he was going to raffie the statue off. I asked him if he wasn't going to give Harrison and his friends any chance for the money.

When he was getting up the raffie for the statue of Sullivan and Kilrain he gave Duncan H. Harrison fifty tickets to sell to friends.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

Reardon's friend went for a cab and I asked Reardon to pay me the $30 for which I held his receipts. He said that Sullivan had had left at my table on the bar, ought to stand as payment.

FIGHT OVER JOHN L. AND JAKE.

The Marble Statue of the Pugilist Starts a Legal Contest.

Cusick's Story of the Trouble with Sculptor Reardon.

There is an interesting fight over the piece of statuary which has adorned the bar of John H. Cusick's saloon, 15 Broadway, the greater part of the Summer.

The statue represents John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain in fighting costume and attitude.

James H. Reardon, the sculptor, yesterday sued Cusick in Civil Justice Reardon's Court for the alleged wrongful placement of the statue, claiming that he placed it in care of Cusick until it should be raffled.

The raffie was not pushed, and two weeks ago Reardon entered the saloon with a lot of his friends and held a private raffie of their own, the winner turning the statue over to Reardon.

Yesterday in court Cusick testified that he had lent Reardon $20, and was merely holding the statue as security.

Cusick said to an EVENING WORLD reporter this morning:

The only reason I refused to let Reardon have the statue is that I hold his receipt for it, besides which he owes a bar bill of $5.

I lent him the $20 five at a time, taking him 10 U. S. gold pieces, and Reardon only an acquaintance and I consented to exhibit the statue in my place only as a favor to him. I didn't want it particularly because Sullivan didn't fancy it.

Reardon can have it whenever he pays the money he owes me.

At the time Sullivan was appearing in "The Paymaster" at the Grand Opera House Reardon put the statue on exhibition there.

Sullivan said that if Reardon would make him a statue of himself in ring costume, in white marble, four feet high, he would pay him $200 for it.

Reardon said that if he would make him a statue of himself in ring costume, in white marble, four feet high, he would pay him $200 for it.

Reardon said that if he would make him a statue of himself in ring costume, in white marble, four feet high, he would pay him $200 for it.

Reardon said that if he would make him a statue of himself in ring costume, in white marble, four feet high, he would pay him $200 for it.

GEN. GRANT'S MAUSOLEUM.

Architect Duncan's Explanation of the Design Officially Chosen.

All the Competing Designs Open to Public View This Week.

In accordance with the announcement of the Grant Monument Association, the designs recently submitted by the five architects, John H. Duncan, Carrere & Hastings, C. W. Clinton, N. Le Brun & Son, of New York, and John Ord, of Philadelphia, were on exhibition this morning in Origie's art galleries in Fifth avenue.

The only drawing missing was the elevation of Mr. Duncan's design, which had been accepted by the Committee, and which Col. Shepard had spirited away to some photographer's.

The illustration which is given in THE EVENING WORLD today represents only the lower portion or base of the monument, and was drawn by the architect to show how much of the structure could be completed with the money now in the hands of the Committee.

In his letter to the Committee, Mr. Duncan's design, which had been accepted by the Committee, and which Col. Shepard had spirited away to some photographer's.

As I conceive it, the problem is to produce an edifice which shall be unmistakably a memorial tomb, no matter from what point of view it may be seen; while the accessories, such as the memorial hall and a depressed mortuary chamber, with a crypt, and a place for the repose of the mortal remains of Gen. Grant and his beloved wife.

It is provided for certain portions of the main structure to be built from time to time with the amount of money in hand, and the whole to be completed as the money should give the appearance of a completed structure so far as it is possible.

The great size of the Memorial Hall, which has been designed to be both instructive and beautiful, has led me to leave level construction and adopt the tall, thin form of a classical Roman temple.

My main object is to present, in the present design, the form of the proposed mausoleum and, therefore, the equestrian statue of Grant's general of the four years' war, which is the central feature of the full relief panels on the front of the mausoleum.

The general dimensions are given as follows: Square base, 100 by 100 feet, and a height of 150 feet, exclusive of the projections of porticos and the apex. Total height, 180 feet from the base line.

The height from the centre of the Memorial Hall floor to the dome is 160 feet, and the height from the water level of the Hudson River.

The support of the house consists of four vaulted arches, with galleries under each, and a central gallery, which is the ground line, from which a complete view of the country for fifty miles around is to be obtained.

Above the pendentives are thirteen openings to the inner gallery. In the panels above them might be placed the names of the great men of the country, and the names of all the States reunited by Grant's victories.

The crypt, says Mr. Duncan, "I have designed the name of Daniel L. Craft, of the Sixth Infantry, who was the senior lieutenant of his regiment on permanent leave of absence and awaiting retirement."

The crypt, says Mr. Duncan, "I have designed the name of Daniel L. Craft, of the Sixth Infantry, who was the senior lieutenant of his regiment on permanent leave of absence and awaiting retirement."

GRANT MONUMENT DESIGN.

Architect Duncan's Explanation of the Design Officially Chosen.

All the Competing Designs Open to Public View This Week.

In accordance with the announcement of the Grant Monument Association, the designs recently submitted by the five architects, John H. Duncan, Carrere & Hastings, C. W. Clinton, N. Le Brun & Son, of New York, and John Ord, of Philadelphia, were on exhibition this morning in Origie's art galleries in Fifth avenue.

The only drawing missing was the elevation of Mr. Duncan's design, which had been accepted by the Committee, and which Col. Shepard had spirited away to some photographer's.

The illustration which is given in THE EVENING WORLD today represents only the lower portion or base of the monument, and was drawn by the architect to show how much of the structure could be completed with the money now in the hands of the Committee.

In his letter to the Committee, Mr. Duncan's design, which had been accepted by the Committee, and which Col. Shepard had spirited away to some photographer's.

As I conceive it, the problem is to produce an edifice which shall be unmistakably a memorial tomb, no matter from what point of view it may be seen; while the accessories, such as the memorial hall and a depressed mortuary chamber, with a crypt, and a place for the repose of the mortal remains of Gen. Grant and his beloved wife.

It is provided for certain portions of the main structure to be built from time to time with the amount of money in hand, and the whole to be completed as the money should give the appearance of a completed structure so far as it is possible.

The great size of the Memorial Hall, which has been designed to be both instructive and beautiful, has led me to leave level construction and adopt the tall, thin form of a classical Roman temple.

My main object is to present, in the present design, the form of the proposed mausoleum and, therefore, the equestrian statue of Grant's general of the four years' war, which is the central feature of the full relief panels on the front of the mausoleum.

The general dimensions are given as follows: Square base, 100 by 100 feet, and a height of 150 feet, exclusive of the projections of porticos and the apex. Total height, 180 feet from the base line.

The height from the centre of the Memorial Hall floor to the dome is 160 feet, and the height from the water level of the Hudson River.

The support of the house consists of four vaulted arches, with galleries under each, and a central gallery, which is the ground line, from which a complete view of the country for fifty miles around is to be obtained.

Above the pendentives are thirteen openings to the inner gallery. In the panels above them might be placed the names of the great men of the country, and the names of all the States reunited by Grant's victories.

The crypt, says Mr. Duncan, "I have designed the name of Daniel L. Craft, of the Sixth Infantry, who was the senior lieutenant of his regiment on permanent leave of absence and awaiting retirement."

The crypt, says Mr. Duncan, "I have designed the name of Daniel L. Craft, of the Sixth Infantry, who was the senior lieutenant of his regiment on permanent leave of absence and awaiting retirement."

LIEUT. DANIEL CRAFT, U.S.A.

This Name Is Given by an Insane Man at Bellevue.

A tall, military-looking man, fifty-one years old, with gray hair and beard and a commanding presence, as a patient to-day in the insane pavilion at Bellevue Hospital.

He claims to be a Lieutenant in the United States Army, and says that his name is Daniel L. Craft, and that his home is at Uniontown, Pa.

His talk and actions before and after his arrival at the hospital have led Dr. Douglas to believe him insane, and the man will be detained at Bellevue for a few days in the hope that the whereabouts of his relatives can be ascertained.

Craft was discovered on First avenue, near Nineteenth street, last evening, wandering aimlessly about in the rain. He was neatly dressed, but had lost his hat, and in lieu of a head protector had taken off his vest and was wearing it on his head. His attire was otherwise neat and correct.

Policemen Grady and Boyle, of the East Twenty-second street station, approached him and asked him where his hat was. He replied with a vacant stare that he didn't know.

Further questioning he replied that he was a "United States Army officer, but was 'not now in active service,' a statement that was borne out by the absence of any part of a uniform in his attire.

He said that he came from Uniontown, Pa., yesterday morning, and had been stopping at the Hoffman House, in the city, but that he had been completely ignorant of persons and places in the city as he had the policeman concluded that he must be irrational, and as there was no sign or name of liquor about him, they took him to Bellevue.

There he told Dr. Douglas practically the same story, but would not tell anything about the Hoffman House or the people there, or where it was located.

He said his only friend was his sister, Caroline, who lived somewhere in Pennsylvania, just where he couldn't say, only that it was not at Uniontown.

He said he hadn't touched a drop of liquor in eleven years, and that he had a $12 in currency, a pair of spectacles and a cigar-holder were found in his pockets.

Nothing is known of him at the Hoffman House, where he claims to have stopped, and Dr. Douglas is of the opinion that he has never been there, but had heard of the hotel and a sudden fancy led him to claim that as his stopping-place.

He doesn't apparently know a single person in New York, and the hospital authorities are anxious to know who he is, whether he is or has been an army officer and where his friends are.

On the official roll of the United States Army appears the name of Daniel L. Craft, a First Lieutenant and brevet Captain in the Sixth Infantry.

His place of birth is given as Pennsylvania, and his last address as Miller's Hotel, this city.

In July last he was at Saratoga Springs on leave.

RACING.

WINS THE SPEED STAKES IN A COMMON CARTER FROM FITZJAMES.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

WOODCUTTER GOT THE AUTUMN TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING STAKES. The race was run at 1:20 1/2, with Woodcutter winning by a length from Fitzjames.

FIRE DESTROYING A CITY.

St. Marie, Ontario, the Scene of a Raging Conflagration.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Despatches received here tell of a disastrous conflagration which was raging early this morning at St. Marie, Ont.

The fire started at about 11 o'clock last night, and soon passed beyond control, the local fire department being small and the water supply limited.

The destruction of the entire city was threatened at last reports.

INJURED CONDUCTOR DEAD.

One Fatality Through the Freight Wreck at Schodack.

ALBANY, Sept. 12.—One fatality has resulted from last night's freight wreck near Schodack, on the Hudson River road.

The engine of the second engine observing the signal of the first train stopped.

The two trains had been standing there only a few minutes when another freight train came along under full speed and crashed into the lighter engine and caboose, on which it is said, no signals were displayed, and forced them into the first train.

The higher engine was derailed, the caboose of the freight train was reduced to kindling, as well as the one behind the lighted engine, and both cabooses and two freight cars of the first train caught fire from live coals and were destroyed.

The company claims that the engineer of the last engine lost control of his engine. It is believed, however, that the accident was due to the neglect of one of the new train hands to display the proper signals.

The boat from the burning cars was so intense that the rails for nearly two hundred feet were warped out of shape, necessitating the laying of new track.

Traffic was resumed early this morning.

Traffic was resumed early this morning.

STEAMER THIEVES IN LIMBO.

Two Caught on the Draw and One Held for Trial.

Complaints of robberies on the river steamer have been frequent of late, and this morning Detectives Mallon and Tail of the Steamboat Squad, arrested two alleged thieves on board the steamer Draw on its arrival from Albany.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

STEAMER THIEVES IN LIMBO.

Two Caught on the Draw and One Held for Trial.

Complaints of robberies on the river steamer have been frequent of late, and this morning Detectives Mallon and Tail of the Steamboat Squad, arrested two alleged thieves on board the steamer Draw on its arrival from Albany.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.

John Church, of Schuylerville, N. Y., was seized on a box on the lower deck about 1 o'clock, when he fell some one hundred feet into the water.

He was taken to the hospital, but died there this morning.