

PRICE ONE CENT.

8 PAGES.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1890.

8 PAGES.

PRICE ONE CENT.

LAST EDITION NOW THE CAMPAIGN.

All the County Tickets to be in the Field Before Midnight.

Francis M. Scott Accepts the Mayoralty Nomination.

Counties Take the Lion's Share and Many Republicans Kick.

The People's Municipal League bomb created a great stir among the politicians today, and proved a big surprise to them.

The ticket, which it took the managers of the P. M. L., the G. O. P., and the County Democracy forty-eight hours to build, was a disappointment to the Tammany Hall leaders.

Francis M. Scott, the nominee for Mayor, is a native of this city.

Francis M. Scott.

HE TARRED HIMSELF.

Ludicrous Ending of What Appeared to be a High-Handed Outrage.

A Man Found Tarred and Feathered in a Brooklyn Street.

He Wanted to Be a Museum Freak—His Accomplices Jailed.

John Rushmyer, a truckman, living at 50 Ross street, Brooklyn, reached his home shortly after midnight this morning.

Mr. Rushmyer summoned Policeman McGlynn, of the Lee avenue station, and between them they carried the man to the sidewalk and laid him under the glare of a searchlight.

Then they were not so sure that it was a man they were handling, although their burden wore a coat and trousers.

His body, from head to foot, was coated with tar and feathers, and his feet were tightly bound together with a stout piece of rope.

"What in heaven's name is this?" asked the startled copper as he peeled the coat off of his discovery, and then a weak voice piped out through the dab of tar and feathers over the mouth:

"On, God! I am dying! Send for a priest and a doctor."

McGlynn, now satisfied that he had found the victim of some one's vengeance, sent in a "hurry call" for an ambulance, and while waiting for its arrival questioned the apparently dying man.

The latter gave his name as William Pryor, age nineteen, residence 74 South Fourth street, Brooklyn.

"Tell me," said the officer, "before it may be too late, who fixed you this way?"

"I don't know," returned the man on the sidewalk in weak accents. "I went to Miner's Theatre in New York last night. I was on my way home. Just as I passed the truck when you found me, a crowd of men, suddenly, dashed up the street behind me."

"As it passed me the driver hollered 'Whoa!' pulled his horses back so quick that they reared on their hind feet, and then two men with masks jumped out and rushed at me."

"I started to run. A stunning blow in the back of the neck felled me, and then one of the men placed a handkerchief saturated with chloroform to my nose, and I felt consciousness leaving me. The last thing I remember was biting a piece out of the hand of one of the men, and I awoke in the morning in the way you see me now."

"Did they speak to you at all?" asked the policeman.

"No. One of them remarked to the other: 'I tell you, it is best to kill him. Give me the knife. It will make no noise.' To which the other replied: 'Pray, pray, pray, no, I tell you. Tarring and feathering is good enough. No woman will ever want him again.'"

"That was all the information McGlynn could get from him.

Meanwhile Rushmyer had come to the station house and returned with Capt. Gorman and Detectives Dolan and Holland, who arrived just as an ambulance from the Brooklyn Homoeopathic Hospital, got there to take the man to the hospital.

The ambulance surgeon made a hasty examination of Pryor, who was found to have a few feathers, which he looked like some strange, wild animal.

"He is not a human being," he said. "He may not live until daylight, but the opinion expressed by the doctor, and the queer-looking fellow who came with him, is that he was taken to the hospital, while Capt. Gorman and his detectives scattered in all directions to look for the man who had tarred and feathered him."

On the floor where Pryor was found Detective Dolan and Holland discovered a small can of tar, nearly emptied, and a tin of feathers, with a few feathers remaining in it.

Further on, in the middle of the street, a more or less complete set of men's clothing, including a hat, white shirt and vest.

Tar and feathers were liberally sprinkled over the paving stones, and it was evident that Pryor's assailants had worked in reckless haste.

Capt. Gorman notified Capt. Short, of the 113 North Fifth street, and Capt. Short hurried out with his detectives to the scene of the outrage.

When they arrived they found a man in a dark coat and hat, who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital.

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"Now, you suckers, I'll never have to work with you again," said the man, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"Now, you suckers, I'll never have to work with you again," said the man, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"Now, you suckers, I'll never have to work with you again," said the man, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"Now, you suckers, I'll never have to work with you again," said the man, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"Now, you suckers, I'll never have to work with you again," said the man, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

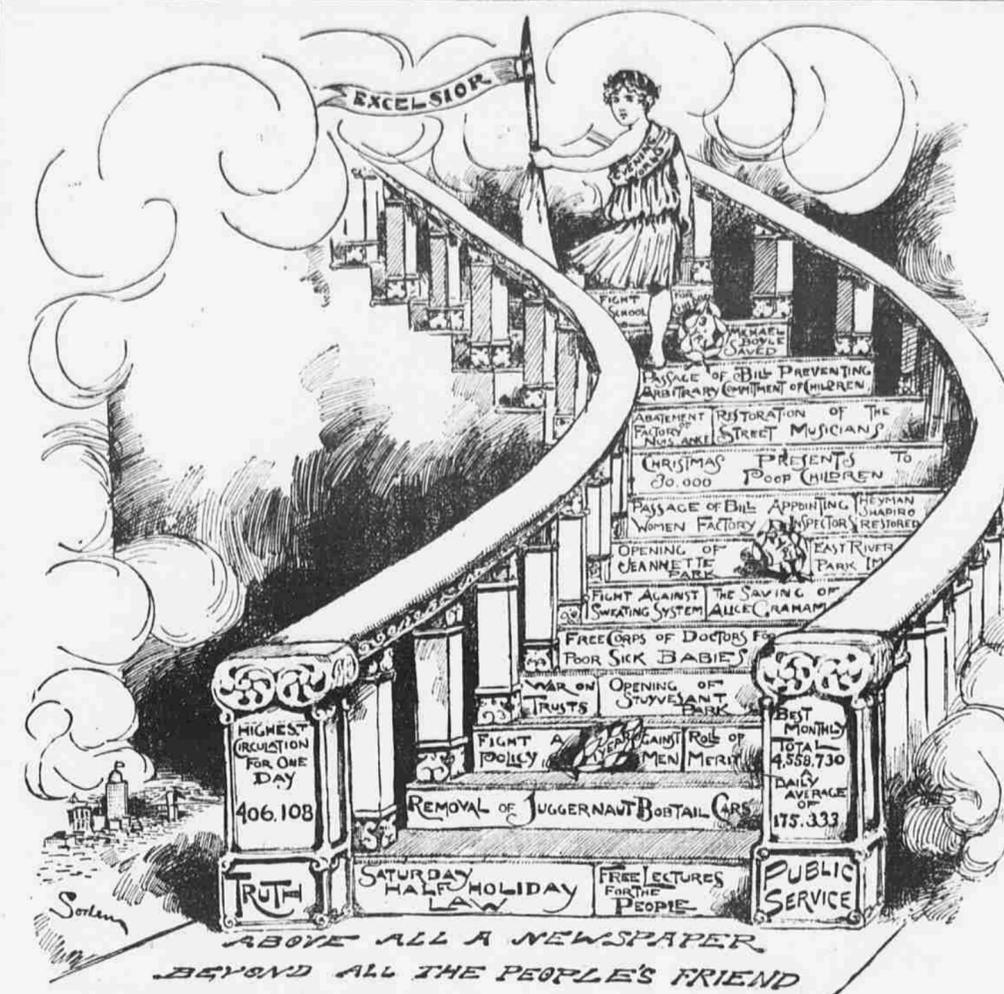

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"Now, you suckers, I'll never have to work with you again," said the man, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"Now, you suckers, I'll never have to work with you again," said the man, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

"He got out, dressed some feathers around his neck, and he was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital, and who was being taken to the hospital."

LAST EDITION 3 YEARS OLD

The "Evening World" Celebrates Its Third Birthday.

Another Year of Labor in the Cause of the Down-trodden.

A Great Record in News Gathering, Features and Contests.

Above All, a Newspaper; Beyond All, the People's Friend.

IN THE career of THE EVENING WORLD it has been found a fitting illustration of the old maxim that "Nothing succeeds like success." For during the three years of its existence it has piled success upon success, victory upon victory and triumph upon triumph.

Three years ago to-day Mr. Joseph Pulitzer started THE EVENING WORLD. There was no one else at that time to print all the news and fearlessly take up the cause of the down-trodden, and to meet this want came THE EVENING WORLD. The people promptly recognized it as their champion and defender, indorsed its battles and encouraged its triumphs.

Within a few weeks THE EVENING WORLD has become the most popular newspaper in the city. Its circulation has increased from 100,000 to 4,558,730. Its success is due to its manly and fearless editorials, its accurate and timely news, its interesting and varied features, and its beautiful illustrations.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

THE EVENING WORLD has been successful in its efforts to improve the condition of the down-trodden. It has exposed the wrongs of the rich and the powerful, and it has given a voice to the poor and the oppressed. It has been a champion of the cause of justice and equity.

MR. SIMMONS SURRENDERS

He Walks Into Court, but His $25,000 Bail Is Still Forfeited.

Two of United States Marshal Jacobus's deputies spent yesterday afternoon and last night looking for Hank Wheeler James A. Simmons, for whom a fresh warrant was issued yesterday by Judge Benedict in Circuit Court.

They didn't find the man who is charged on six counts with being Gen. Peter J. Cassidy's henchman in the Sixth National Bank, but this morning he walked into the Marshal's office, accompanied by Lewis M. Miller, a builder and real estate dealer, living at 241 Union street, Brooklyn, and Jacob Raiche, of Amsterdam avenue and One Hundred and Forty-fifth street.

Ex-Judge Donohue was with the trio and Simmons announced that his only reason for not appearing to plead to the indictment yesterday was that he didn't know he was wanted. He offered Messrs. Raiche and Miller as bondsmen.

Miller was the old hand, which was forgotten yesterday by Judge Benedict. Judge Laconie fired a new ball at the old hands, and Simmons, with a condition that Simmons appear to plead Monday next, was released.

The forfeiture of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

The forfeitures of the old bond will probably be remitted Monday by Judge Benedict.

DILLON AND O'BRIEN FLEE.

The Irish Leaders Reported En Route to America.

THEIR FLEEING NEWS SPECIAL. DILLON AND O'BRIEN, the two Irish leaders who have been reported to be en route for America, were not seen in New York yesterday.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

They did not put in an appearance when the Court reassembled, this morning, and it is thought they went to France early last evening.

FOREIGN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Report That the Czar Was Hurt by Dynamite While Hunting.

WARSZAWA, Oct. 10.—A rumor has been current here for several days that appears to be well founded. It is to the effect that the Czar was badly wounded in the foot by the explosion of a dynamite shell, while hunting in the forests of Sibirsk, some forty-two miles from here.

The Emperor evidently stepped into a trap.

The account added that Gen. von Warden, an aide-de-camp of the German Emperor, who accompanied the Czar, was also wounded by the explosion.

After the above story had obtained general credence, the official organ came out on Oct. 7 with the following statement:

"On Oct. 4 the Adjutant-General of the German Emperor was wounded above the knee by a cartridge, fired by the Czar's physician, Dr. Hirsch, Prof. Kosinski, on being called to Suda, where the General was lying recuperated, the wound not dangerous. The Emperor was not present when the accident happened."

In spite of this denial, it is believed that the Czar was present, and that the original version is correct.

The Pope Calls an Important Conference at the Vatican.

ROME, Oct. 10.—A despatch from Rome says that the Pope has summoned the Archbishops and Senior Suffragan Bishops of each province in Ireland to a conference to be held at the Vatican on Nov. 1.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

The Pope calls an important conference at the Vatican.

Table with multiple columns containing market data, including 'The Quotations', 'American Cattle Trade Report', 'The President at St. Joe', 'No Rise in Prices', and 'On Account of the Tariff'. It includes various prices for commodities like wheat, corn, and sugar, and mentions the President's visit to St. Joseph, Mo.

THEODORE W. MYERS.

Democrat and his name has been prominently mentioned in connection with the Tammany nomination for the same office.

Mr. Myers, a candidate for the office of District Attorney, is another County Democrat, for instance, who has been mentioned as the elements of real strength in the ticket.

Superior Court Judge John J. Freshman.

</