

PRICE ONE CENT.

EXTRA AT LINDEN.

Opening Day of the Fall Meeting's Last Half.

THE RAIN MARS THE SPORT.

Senorita Surprisingly Beaten Out in the Third Race.

NEW BASEBALL CONFERENCE.

Another Players' League Committee on the Way to New York.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

SIX FURLONGS.

FIVE AND A HALF FURLONGS.

THIRD RACE.

SEVEN FURLONGS.

FIVE FURLONGS.

THIRD RACE.

SEVEN FURLONGS.

PRIZE HORSES. WALL ST.

Shetlands, Stallions and Hunters To-Day's Stars at the Show.

Park Police Competition and Prize Winners' Parade To-Night.

Nashville Racing.

Gloucester Race-Winners.

NEW BASEBALL CONFERENCE.

Another Players' League Committee on the Way to New York.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

SIX FURLONGS.

FIVE AND A HALF FURLONGS.

THIRD RACE.

SEVEN FURLONGS.

FIVE FURLONGS.

THIRD RACE.

EXTRA BANK GONE.

The North River Bank Announces Its Suspension.

Its Doors Closed to Depositors at 2.30 This Afternoon.

The State Bank Examiner in Charge of Its Books.

Bankers J. C. Walcott & Co. and Benjamin K. True Also Go Under.

Clearing-House Assurances That Other City Banks Are Safe.

THE NORTH RIVER BANK.

THE STATE BANK EXAMINER.

BANKERS J. C. WALCOTT & CO.

BENJAMIN K. TRUE.

CLEARING-HOUSE ASSURANCES.

OTHER CITY BANKS ARE SAFE.

THE NORTH RIVER BANK.

THE STATE BANK EXAMINER.

BANKERS J. C. WALCOTT & CO.

BENJAMIN K. TRUE.

CLEARING-HOUSE ASSURANCES.

OTHER CITY BANKS ARE SAFE.

THE NORTH RIVER BANK.

THE STATE BANK EXAMINER.

BANKERS J. C. WALCOTT & CO.

BENJAMIN K. TRUE.

CLEARING-HOUSE ASSURANCES.

OTHER CITY BANKS ARE SAFE.

THE NORTH RIVER BANK.

THE STATE BANK EXAMINER.

BANKERS J. C. WALCOTT & CO.

BENJAMIN K. TRUE.

CLEARING-HOUSE ASSURANCES.

ALL IN FLAMES.

A Pearl Street Block Totally Destroyed Late This Afternoon.

The United States Hotel Narrowly Escapes Destruction.

At the time this edition of THE EVENING WORLD was going to press the whole block in rear of the United States Hotel, corner of Pearl and Fulton, was a ruin.

Three alarms were rung in but, as seen from the top of the Pulitzer Building, it was evident that there was no hope of saving the block, while the hotel itself was in momentary danger of ignition.

The wind was from the southeast, and blowing the flames directly toward the hotel.

The doomed building is numbered 254 and 256 Pearl street. The building is occupied by Lester Iron, printers; Strass & Co., printers; Vanter Hoagland & Co., printers; G. K. Estes & Son, manufacturers of boxes, and wood turners.

The block is three stories high and of brick. At No. 254 were Berry Bros., varnishers, and Cypress Chemical Company.

At 4.5 the building No. 256 is completely destroyed, and there is no hope of saving either of the others or their contents.

At 4.40 the fire was under control, and the danger to the hotel was averted.

It is estimated that the loss will be close to $500,000.

THE PUCK CARTOONIST KILLED.

James S. Godwin Struck Down by a New Haven Train.

At the time this edition of THE EVENING WORLD was going to press the whole block in rear of the United States Hotel, corner of Pearl and Fulton, was a ruin.

Three alarms were rung in but, as seen from the top of the Pulitzer Building, it was evident that there was no hope of saving the block, while the hotel itself was in momentary danger of ignition.

The wind was from the southeast, and blowing the flames directly toward the hotel.

The doomed building is numbered 254 and 256 Pearl street. The building is occupied by Lester Iron, printers; Strass & Co., printers; Vanter Hoagland & Co., printers; G. K. Estes & Son, manufacturers of boxes, and wood turners.

The block is three stories high and of brick. At No. 254 were Berry Bros., varnishers, and Cypress Chemical Company.

At 4.5 the building No. 256 is completely destroyed, and there is no hope of saving either of the others or their contents.

At 4.40 the fire was under control, and the danger to the hotel was averted.

It is estimated that the loss will be close to $500,000.

THE PUCK CARTOONIST KILLED.

James S. Godwin Struck Down by a New Haven Train.

At the time this edition of THE EVENING WORLD was going to press the whole block in rear of the United States Hotel, corner of Pearl and Fulton, was a ruin.

Three alarms were rung in but, as seen from the top of the Pulitzer Building, it was evident that there was no hope of saving the block, while the hotel itself was in momentary danger of ignition.

The wind was from the southeast, and blowing the flames directly toward the hotel.

The doomed building is numbered 254 and 256 Pearl street. The building is occupied by Lester Iron, printers; Strass & Co., printers; Vanter Hoagland & Co., printers; G. K. Estes & Son, manufacturers of boxes, and wood turners.

The block is three stories high and of brick. At No. 254 were Berry Bros., varnishers, and Cypress Chemical Company.

At 4.5 the building No. 256 is completely destroyed, and there is no hope of saving either of the others or their contents.

EXTRA THE TURE.

A Week More and Guttenburg's Winter Sport Begins.

YOUNG GRACE'S FINE RACE.

Fred Taral and Jockey Taylor Both Temporarily Disabled.

Elizabeth closed a very successful meeting under disagreeable circumstances yesterday, and another six months must roll around before the familiar scenes will be repeated. The season opens today for a week's racing, and then, on Nov. 30, the pioneer of the winter racing association, Guttenburg, will commence and alternate with Clifton until the balmy Spring breezes blow once more.

The talent were not in the best of spirits after the races were over yesterday. It was hard work picking winners, for mud sprang all calculations in a most bewildering way. Three winners only could be selected, and these they played so heavily that against two as good as even money could not be laid.

John J. Burke was a visitor at Elizabeth yesterday. He looks well after his sojourn at Washington, and his cheerful face made a most pleasing contrast to the gloomy cast of countenance every one else wore because of the heavy weather.

Meriden posted yesterday that she doesn't care to sport her dainty heels with mud. She ran well for half a mile, and then quit with a address that was startling. Theodorus came very near being her but for a hair.

Father Bill Dill's horses are always well prepared for a day when the track is heavy. This is because Lambie has the mounds and always gets two or three months the best of the start before the others know they are off.

Theodorus, by the way, is very good just now. A stable boy rode him yesterday and the horse came so fast at the finish that he came very near running Meriden down. If the boy could have taken him out from the race he would have been a fortune. He will do to watch when he again starts in heavy going.

Kasper Fröstedt Walburn, of Guttenburg, judge Adolph Lockman and the celebrated jockey, Macky, after returning from the races yesterday, were in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Young Grace ran a very fine race yesterday, and her victory was well deserved. Her speed was in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Meriden posted yesterday that she doesn't care to sport her dainty heels with mud. She ran well for half a mile, and then quit with a address that was startling. Theodorus came very near being her but for a hair.

Father Bill Dill's horses are always well prepared for a day when the track is heavy. This is because Lambie has the mounds and always gets two or three months the best of the start before the others know they are off.

Theodorus, by the way, is very good just now. A stable boy rode him yesterday and the horse came so fast at the finish that he came very near running Meriden down. If the boy could have taken him out from the race he would have been a fortune. He will do to watch when he again starts in heavy going.

Kasper Fröstedt Walburn, of Guttenburg, judge Adolph Lockman and the celebrated jockey, Macky, after returning from the races yesterday, were in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Young Grace ran a very fine race yesterday, and her victory was well deserved. Her speed was in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Meriden posted yesterday that she doesn't care to sport her dainty heels with mud. She ran well for half a mile, and then quit with a address that was startling. Theodorus came very near being her but for a hair.

Father Bill Dill's horses are always well prepared for a day when the track is heavy. This is because Lambie has the mounds and always gets two or three months the best of the start before the others know they are off.

Theodorus, by the way, is very good just now. A stable boy rode him yesterday and the horse came so fast at the finish that he came very near running Meriden down. If the boy could have taken him out from the race he would have been a fortune. He will do to watch when he again starts in heavy going.

Kasper Fröstedt Walburn, of Guttenburg, judge Adolph Lockman and the celebrated jockey, Macky, after returning from the races yesterday, were in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Young Grace ran a very fine race yesterday, and her victory was well deserved. Her speed was in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Meriden posted yesterday that she doesn't care to sport her dainty heels with mud. She ran well for half a mile, and then quit with a address that was startling. Theodorus came very near being her but for a hair.

Father Bill Dill's horses are always well prepared for a day when the track is heavy. This is because Lambie has the mounds and always gets two or three months the best of the start before the others know they are off.

Theodorus, by the way, is very good just now. A stable boy rode him yesterday and the horse came so fast at the finish that he came very near running Meriden down. If the boy could have taken him out from the race he would have been a fortune. He will do to watch when he again starts in heavy going.

Kasper Fröstedt Walburn, of Guttenburg, judge Adolph Lockman and the celebrated jockey, Macky, after returning from the races yesterday, were in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Young Grace ran a very fine race yesterday, and her victory was well deserved. Her speed was in the city. The jockey's horse, a fine bay, was in the city.

Meriden posted yesterday that she doesn't care to sport her dainty heels with mud. She ran well for half a mile, and then quit with a address that was startling. Theodorus came very near being her but for a hair.

Father Bill Dill's horses are always well prepared for a day when the track is heavy. This is because Lambie has the mounds and always gets two or three months the best of the start before the others know they are off.

Theodorus, by the way, is very good just now. A stable boy rode him yesterday and the horse came so fast at the finish that he came very near running Meriden down. If the boy could have taken him out from the race he would have been a fortune. He will do to watch when he again starts in heavy going.

THE HOFFMAN HOUSE BOUQUET CIGAR

THE HOFFMAN HOUSE BOUQUET CIGAR

THE HOFFMAN HOUSE BOUQUET CIGAR