

EDISON'S NEWEST WONDER.

The Kinetograph, a Surprising Invention for Reproducing Motion.

Brother to the Phonograph, It Telegraphs 2,400 Photographs per Minute.

The Kinetograph! Wizard Thomas A. Edison, of Llewellyn Park, waves his wand and the world marvels...

Should the Wizard's voice be heard over all sayings? My next invention will be one that shall reproduce your innermost thoughts...

The world will not dare to laugh in derision as it did four years ago, when Edison first revealed to the world his invention...

It is a compound electrical contrivance that, set in motion before a lecturer, produces forty-six pictures of him every second...

When he is done, by a twist of the wrist and a turn of the slow Edison makes his kinetograph reproduce the words of the lecturer...

The photograph has already demonstrated the Wizard's power in the reproduction of finest scenes, so that one may sit in his parlor with this instrument and listen to Patting...

Edison has through long experimentation found that forty-six photographs in a second, each separate and distinct, reproduced before the eye in exacting order...

"Kinetograph" is a new word that will be used in ten years. It comes from two Greek words, meaning "to move" and "to write."

The machine was shown by Mr. Edison to a reporter in his laboratory. It is a photograph and a photographic camera combined...

In a small box camera is placed a roll of sensitive film a mile long. It is only three quarters of an inch wide. The interior of the camera is quite like that of an ordinary photographer's camera...

It was before the lens of the camera from one spindle to the other, and the shutters of the camera are so arranged that by electrical agencies they are opened and closed with a snap forty-six times a second...

The action is done by a shaft that is attached to the spindle and also to the spindle of the phonograph. When the shutters open the spindles stop and the negative is taken...

With it a prize-fight, with the comments of the spectators and every minute motion of those engaged can be faithfully reproduced to the eye and the ear simultaneously...

THE BERKELEY OVAL GAMES.

Intercollegiate Sports Expected to Call a Vast Crowd.

The annual games of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association, which are to take place Saturday at Berkeley Oval, are attracting considerable attention.

Commissioners' Estimate of the Cost of the Underground Road.

Difficulties in the Way of the Desired Relief for the Congested City.

In formulating a plan for rapid transit on the west side of the city, from the factory to the city limits, as set forth in the report one adopted at yesterday's meeting...

It will probably be several weeks, if not months, before the engineers of the Board will be able to complete their surveys and prepare in detail the plans and specifications for the proposed underground railway...

It is doubtful if they will arrive at a conclusion in this matter before the engineers have finished the work already assigned to them.

In many respects they have followed the plan proposed by the old Arcade Company, especially in the matter of the location of the roadway.

The Association's annual meeting is really one of the greatest events of the season, and thousands of admirers of athletic sports always turn out to see these games.

The entry list is much larger than it has ever been before. There will be close to six hundred competitors.

There are forty-six entries for the 100-yard dash, but it is generally believed that not over two or three of that large field have any license to be in it with a fair show.

In the 200-yard dash there are forty-seven entries and among them are such cranks as Lee, Cook and Hawn, of Harvard; Jones, Lussell and Day, of Yale; while Princeton will have Carey and Vredenburg.

Seventy-six men aspire for the honors in the quarter-mile run. Harvard's best men in this race will be Wright, Maline and Black.

Eighty-four men will attempt to lower Dohm's record of 1m. 51/4 in the half-mile run. The University of Pennsylvania feels that it will be likely represented by West, while Amherst is depending largely on Wells, Roddy and Woodbridge.

The mile run will have forty-five entries, and it is thought that some good runners will be in it. Williams, of Yale, does not only expect to win the 150-yard hurdle race over his thirty-two opponents, but he feels confident that he will beat the record.

Twenty men will compete for the running high jump, twenty-two for the pole vault and twenty-seven in the bicycle race.

Columbia College is looked upon as the most likely of the seven colleges in the tug-of-war. It is likely that about the same number were by Amherst athletes at Hampden Park, in New England intercollegiate games, yesterday will have a bearing on Saturday's events.

AFTER 48 BAGS OF COFFEE.

John Wilson Charged with Attempting a Wholesale Theft.

John Wilson, of 48 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, was arrested at 5 o'clock this morning at South Ferry, charged with grand larceny in attempting to steal forty-eight bags of coffee.

Wilson could not produce any authority for taking the coffee, which is valued at $1,900, and he was taken to the police station.

THAT MORPHINE KILLED HIM.

A New Allegation in the Case of Congressman Houck.

It is said here to-day that his death was caused by a dose of morphine administered by an attending physician after the effect of the arsenic had been overcome.

Bookkeeper Forfeited Held.

William H. Forrest, bookkeeper for Malloy Brothers, 41 Lafayette place, was held at Jefferson Market to-day charged with falsifying accounts and destroying vouchers.

Fourteen-Year-Old Burglar Held. Fourteen-year-old Thomas O'Brien, of 181 Greenwood street, who was caught last night in the act of burglarizing the East Eleventh street, the door of which he had picked open, was held this morning at Essex Market.

RAPID TRANSIT, $40,000,000.

Commissioners' Estimate of the Cost of the Underground Road.

Difficulties in the Way of the Desired Relief for the Congested City.

In formulating a plan for rapid transit on the west side of the city, from the factory to the city limits, as set forth in the report one adopted at yesterday's meeting...

It will probably be several weeks, if not months, before the engineers of the Board will be able to complete their surveys and prepare in detail the plans and specifications for the proposed underground railway...

It is doubtful if they will arrive at a conclusion in this matter before the engineers have finished the work already assigned to them.

In many respects they have followed the plan proposed by the old Arcade Company, especially in the matter of the location of the roadway.

The Association's annual meeting is really one of the greatest events of the season, and thousands of admirers of athletic sports always turn out to see these games.

The entry list is much larger than it has ever been before. There will be close to six hundred competitors.

There are forty-six entries for the 100-yard dash, but it is generally believed that not over two or three of that large field have any license to be in it with a fair show.

In the 200-yard dash there are forty-seven entries and among them are such cranks as Lee, Cook and Hawn, of Harvard; Jones, Lussell and Day, of Yale; while Princeton will have Carey and Vredenburg.

Seventy-six men aspire for the honors in the quarter-mile run. Harvard's best men in this race will be Wright, Maline and Black.

Eighty-four men will attempt to lower Dohm's record of 1m. 51/4 in the half-mile run. The University of Pennsylvania feels that it will be likely represented by West, while Amherst is depending largely on Wells, Roddy and Woodbridge.

The mile run will have forty-five entries, and it is thought that some good runners will be in it. Williams, of Yale, does not only expect to win the 150-yard hurdle race over his thirty-two opponents, but he feels confident that he will beat the record.

Twenty men will compete for the running high jump, twenty-two for the pole vault and twenty-seven in the bicycle race.

Columbia College is looked upon as the most likely of the seven colleges in the tug-of-war. It is likely that about the same number were by Amherst athletes at Hampden Park, in New England intercollegiate games, yesterday will have a bearing on Saturday's events.

SHE IS WIDOWED AT EIGHTEEN.

Death Ends the Romance of Tommy Diver and Annie Murphy.

The death of Thomas Charles Diver, the nineteen-year-old son of Police Justice Patrick Diver, leaves gentle Annie Murphy a widow at eighteen, after a happy married life of less than a year.

The romance of these two young people appeared to every heart in the Fourth and Sixth Wards. They had been lovers since their days of babyhood, the houses of their parents almost adjoining at Nos. 1 and 2 Madison street.

Tommy Diver was popular among the boys of the ward. His father was a member of the police force, and he was a fine athlete.

Justice Ryan held the prisoners for examination. The damage was nearly $10,000. The building, which was destroyed, was valued at $7,500.

CAUGHT AFTER FOUR YEARS.

Sailor Johnson Arrested for Highway Robbery May 4, 1887.

Detectives Sergeant Kelly and Traher, of the District Attorney's office, to-day arrested George Johnson, a sailor, on a bench warrant charging him with highway robbery.

The crime was committed on the night of May 4, 1887. That night Frank F. Rogers, steward of the steamship City of Pueblo, was walking along Tenth avenue at Fortieth street, when he was set upon by three men, and robbed him of jewelry and a watch.

London Drivers Preparing to Strike as Paris Cabmen Did.

GASOLINE LAMP EXPLODES.

Two Italian Fruit Vendors Very Badly Burned.

Emmanuelo Barbarino Will Probably Die—Their Stand Wrecked.

Emmanuelo Barbarino and Francesco Falla, Italian fruit vendors, were brought to the Presbyterian Hospital shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, suffering from extensive burns about the face and body received by the explosion of a gasoline lamp on their fruit stand on the northwest corner of Fifty-ninth street and First avenue.

The stand is located over the iron railway of the corner building and immediately alongside the street window of James Finnegans liquor store.

The two Italians kept the stand open last night later than usual, for they expected to dispose of a good portion of their wares to the "knickers," who were holding a misnomer-signal's festival in Washington Park, a block away.

Barbarino, who is Falla's assistant, went into the shanty a few minutes after 1 o'clock for the purpose of lighting the gasoline lamp which is used only after the lights in Finnegans's store, which during the early part of the night illuminate the stand, are extinguished.

Just as Barbarino applied the match to the burner the lamp exploded with a shock that was heard two blocks away.

Barbarino was one of those who were badly burned, and his face and hands were badly scorched.

Falla, who was doing on a booth-like stand, was also badly burned, and his face and hands were badly scorched.

The flames in the meanwhile played havoc with the framework of the big window. The glass had been cracked by the shock.

A crowd of people living in the neighborhood gathered around the two burned Italians and three other standholders over them.

Some one went out an alarm and the firemen of Engine No. 20 put out the fire.

When Barbarino and Falla arrived at the hospital the surgeons found that Barbarino's burns were very serious and he will probably die.

Falla, who is also severely burned, will be transferred to Bellevue hospital to-day.

Barbarino is forty-five years old. He is a widower and lives at 260 Elizabeth street. Falla is twenty-eight years old. He is married and lives at 330 East Sixty-ninth street.

CHLOROFORM AND ROBBERY.

Wilson Tells a Queer Story Against Two Other Men.

James Wilson, of 284 Columbia street, appeared in Essex Market Court to-day as complainant against Frank Stephens and Frank Lewis, whom he charges with having chloroformed and robbed an unknown man.

He stated that he saw both men follow the man in Tenth street last night, and when they were near Second avenue he claims they put a handkerchief in the face; that the man fell down and that Lewis and Stephens took a gold watch and a sum of money out of their victim's pocket.

Although it was dark and Wilson was quite a distance away he said he could see that the watch was a gold one, and that it was money the man took out of the man's pocket.

Wilson said that Barrett received $5 as a bribe, but as luck would have it, the bill was counterfeited.

Later on Wilson saw a policeman and caused him to arrest the men. In the possession of the men were found two gold watches. Lewis had $16 in cash, while Stephens had $6.

Justice Ryan held the prisoners for examination. The damage was nearly $10,000. The building, which was destroyed, was valued at $7,500.

OIL BLAZE IN JERSEY CITY.

Standard Oil Company's Storage Yards in Peril.

A Batch of "Shovers of the Queer" Put Away.

SUMNER'S LATEST MYSTERY.

Now It Is a Tale of the Robbery of Edgar Farnum in Philadelphia.

"Uncle" James H. Edgar Had Given Him $2,000 for Our Own Perils.

Perin Nunchhausen Sumner, the accomplished story-teller and actor, is out with a brand-new chapter of the Edgar mystery, introducing several new characters in that never-ending tale.

This time Uncle Edgar after having died several times and once in Montreal, suddenly appears in Philadelphia.

Likewise does one Edgar Farnum, who is said to live at 70 Willoughby street, Brooklyn. Farnum is brought to Philadelphia by a letter, at the depot he meets a man who calls himself Cavanaugh, and James H. Edgar himself, alive.

These two friends appear to be confiding and generous as ever, for without a word of inquiry he hands to Mr. Farnum, who is an entire stranger, a package containing $2,000 and asks him to give it to Mr. Sumner, of New York.

Then Mr. Edgar leaves and Messrs. Farnum and Cavanaugh go to a hotel together. There they drink ale and occupy the same room, and next morning Cavanaugh and Farnum's valuables, including Sumner's $2,000, are missing.

Farnum reports the matter to the Philadelphia authorities and an unsympathetic Chief of Police promptly denounces the scheme as an attempt to defraud an insurance company.

A reporter called at 70 Willoughby street this morning. The servant who opened the door said no person of the name of Farnum lived there, but a man who had been standing at the head of the stairs came rushing down four steps at a time, and said:

"Mr. Farnum just went out."
"I thought he didn't live here."
"He does temporarily with me."
"And who are you?"
"Colt, Colt, Lawyer Colt."
"You are acquainted with Farnum?"
"I am."
"What is his business?"
"He's a speculator."
"In what?"
"In everything."
"Was he robbed lately?"
"He said he was robbed in Philadelphia, but I don't know the particulars."
"Did he mention anything about P. H. Sumner?"

"Great heavens no, Mr. Farnum wouldn't have anything to do with that man."
Mr. Colt acted as if he didn't feel well after that. He became restless and began to back towards the stairs, which he finally descended as he came down, shouting to the reporter:

"You can see Farnum at 11 o'clock in front of the Equitable Building."
"Is that his office?"
"No, but I am to meet him there."
Mr. Sumner was his usual smile this morning, but the moment Farnum and the Edgar mystery were mentioned he became serious, or apparently so.

"Yes, I know this man Farnum," said he. "He came to me last week and said he had seen Edgar in Philadelphia. The moment he said that I shut him off. I told him I didn't want to hear any more."
"You see, I don't talk Edgar mystery any more to any one I don't know. I've got enough of that. I wouldn't talk to you if I saw you."
"I told Mr. Farnum he had better see my lawyer, Ambrose H. Purdy. I went with him to Purdy's office, but he wasn't in. Then he went to another lawyer, and that lawyer has since been here to see me. No, I couldn't tell you his name. I am not at liberty to do so. I don't know what Farnum told the lawyer or how he knew Edgar."
"Then you believe that James H. Edgar is alive?"
"I do, and that the man who committed suicide at the City House in New York was after all his nephew, George R. Edgar."
"I don't see why they mix me up in this. I have nothing to do with it, or with Mr. Farnum," continued the versatile Mr. Sumner.

A reporter waited to see Mr. Farnum in front of the Equitable Building, but neither he nor his friend Colt made his appearance.

ON SATURDAY, MAY 30, "THE EVENING WORLD" WILL BE PRINTED ON BLUE PAPER. DON'T FAIL TO SECURE A COPY.

COUNTERFEITERS SENTENCED.

A Batch of "Shovers of the Queer" Put Away. In the United States Circuit Court to-day Judge B. H. Loring sentenced Vincenzo Perrotta, charged with having in his possession and passing counterfeit money, to two years' hard labor in the Erie Penitentiary, and a fine of $1,000.

William Meyster, who pleaded guilty to several counts of an indictment for dealing in counterfeit money, was sentenced to thirteen months' hard labor in the Erie Penitentiary. In the trial of the counterfeiters, James J. Dwyer, Frank L. Neaver, he gave testimony for the Government.

Assaulted a Customs Inspector. Hugh McEwen, clerk in a Customs House broker's office, was found guilty in the United States Court, to-day, of assaulting on Nov. 25, 1890, Frank G. Howell, a Customs Inspector, while in the discharge of his official duties at Pier 25, North River.

ONE MONTH FOR REVENUE.

Henry Glendon, a hawker employed by Henry Kegan, at 166 Ridge street, was sent to the Island for a month, at Essex Market this morning, for burning a paving stone through a large plate glass window in the shop because he had been ejected for being drunk.

DOCHARTY'S SALARY RAISED.

At the meeting of the Dock Commissioners held at Pier A, to-day, the salary of Secretary Augustus T. Docharty was raised from $8,000 to $10,000 a year, to take effect June 1.

Fair and Slightly Warmer. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—Weather indications: For Eastern New York: Generally fair; slightly warmer; variable winds.

The following record shows the change in temperature during the past twenty-four hours, in comparison with the corresponding date of last year, as indicated by the thermometer at Perry's pharmacy:

Table with 2 columns: Year (1890, 1891) and Temperature (High, Low, Mean).

WILD ANIMALS HER FREIGHT.

Tigers, Monkeys and Kangaroos from London to Central Park.

The brand new steamship Europe, of the National Line, arrived from London this morning, laden with joy for the young people of New York.

It brought more than 300 cubs for the people's menagerie at Central Park, and among them were no less than 206 monkeys.

Cute little monkeys, with blinking eyes and tails a yard long to swing on; big, sober-faced monkeys that look as if they might be the grandfathers of the little monkeys; chattering monkeys, and monkeys too dignified to chatter.

They'll all take up their residence in the big monkey house at the park in a day or two, and the children needn't wait to receive their carous of invitation, but may call at once.

There were five of those queer fellows, the kangaroos from Australia. Kangaroos don't grow anywhere else save on that big continent in the Southern Pacific.

These fellows are just as ugly to look at as ever a kangaroo could be, and that's ugly enough. They have long noses, like big rats.

They have short front legs that don't seem to do any thing, and long hind legs with muscles like Indian rubber, that help them to jump thirty or forty feet, and they'll receive calves' right away.

There are two great yellow and black striped tigers from the jungles of East India and Bengal, and there is a beautiful brown-coated and graceful panther.

There are also two long-necked giraffes, no less than two dozen cockatoos in the most gorgeous colors, and they will take up their residence in the bird house.

The last of all is that curious creature, the horned-owl bird straight from Persia. There's only one of him, but he's worth going to see.

The steamship Europe will not usually carry such distinguished passengers, though she is a handsome ship. She is 433 feet long, 35 feet 11 inches deep and 46 feet across the beam.

She has a displacement of 5,300 tons and will carry cattle and freight. She left London May 16, for this her first trip, and came over in ten days, without hurrying, under command of Captain George Cochrane, formerly captain of the Heiwa.

JUDGE LAWRENCE'S REBUKE.

He Will Not Permit Any More Trifling With the Law.

Justice Lawrence, sitting in the Supreme Court, Chambers, to-day, was very indignant over the conduct of counsel in the application for a stay in the case of John M. D. Fanshawe, convicted of arson and sentenced by Recorder Smith to twelve and a half years' imprisonment.

Immediately after the sentence T. C. Egan and Charles W. Brooks, counsel for Fanshawe, asked Judge Lawrence to grant a stay pending an appeal to the General Term. The judge declined to give even a temporary stay unless he was satisfied from the papers that there was a reasonable doubt.

Late Tuesday afternoon he granted an order requiring counsel to show why there should not be a stay. He made the order returnable yesterday morning, and counsel by consent then adjourned the matter until to-day.

The judge discovered the character of the order as to adjournment, and sent word to them that they must appear before him immediately.

Mr. Brooks is out of town and a representative appeared for him. Assistant District Attorney Wellman stated that Mr. Egan was anxious to be present to-day at the confirmation of his daughter, and Mr. Nicoll had signed a consent to adjournment.

Justice Lawrence said: "I stated the other day that I would not grant a stay for over twenty-four hours, and I don't propose that a stay shall be procured by indirection which I will not grant directly."

"My order is being evaded, and I wish it to be distinctly understood that I think it should be obeyed. When a man is regularly tried and convicted it is presumed that he is properly convicted, and if I am to be called upon to sit in review at Chambers of the learned Recorder I want to know something about what I am doing."

ABOUT SIR JOHN MACDONALD.

He Has a Cold and Is Weak, but Is Not Dangerously Ill.

Special to the Evening World. Ottawa, May 28.—Inquiry to-day at Earlcliffe, Sir John Macdonald's residence, elicited the information that the reports of his serious illness have been greatly exaggerated.

He has a cold and is weak on account of his extreme age, but he has no congestion of the lungs, as reported, and he is attending to public business as usual.

A REAL NEWSPAPER'S REAL SPORTING EXTRA!

THE EVENING WORLD

Baseball Edition.

IN THE EVENING WORLD'S Baseball Extra you will find

The best daily baseball reports;

The best daily racing accounts;

The best daily column of sporting gossip;

The most timely cartoons;

The best Wall Street summary and tables;

The best general news of each day;

The best Evening Paper that ONE CENT can buy.

IT COVERS THE WHOLE FIELD

SOME OF ITS FEATURES:

BASEBALL REPORTS.—Complete stories daily in THE EVENING WORLD Baseball Extra of the New York and Brooklyn Clubs' baseball games, at home or abroad, on the same day the games are played.

RACING ACCOUNTS, daily, in THE EVENING WORLD Baseball Extra. The most complete stories of events on the track put into type the same day they occur. The only accounts in which the exact order of finishing of all the competing horses is given.

"THE TURF" is a daily column in THE EVENING WORLD Baseball Extra. It is a most interesting department to all followers of racing events, presenting, as it does, general racing news, notes and commentaries, information as to the condition of horses named for coming events and timely tips on racers whose form makes them worthy the attention of speculators. Prepared by a special writer.

SPORTING GOSSIP, attractively presented, is a daily feature of THE EVENING WORLD Baseball Extra. Summaries of current baseball events and championship standings, the general news and announcements of the athletic clubs, the latest developments and promised events in pugilism, aquatics and all general sports are found in this department, which is always up to the times and up to the readers' demand. All prepared by a special writer.

SPORTING DATES.—A calendar printed daily in THE EVENING WORLD Baseball Extra, giving times and places of coming athletic and general sporting events, of local bearing.

Our Store will be open late Friday evening, and remain closed on Decoration Day.

HACKETT, CARHART & CO.

Clothing and Hats. B'way & Canal St.

It knocks out Time; It distances competition; It always makes a hit.

WHAT IT DOES NOT:

It never strikes over; It never "hits"; It is never caught napping.

BROOKLYN JOCKEY CLUB RACES.

RACING EVERY DAY. FROM MAY 15 TO MAY 29, BOTH INCLUSIVE.

FIRST RACE AT 2 P. M. NEW YORK. HOW TO REACH THIS TRACK. From New York: Leave from 7th Street at 10th Street, (Carter Hotel), at 10 A. M., 11 A. M., 12 P. M., 1 P. M., 2 P. M., 3 P. M., 4 P. M., 5 P. M., 6 P. M., 7 P. M., 8 P. M., 9 P. M., 10 P. M., 11 P. M., 12 M. For special rates of train, apply to the J. R. R. Co.

Second race at 3 P. M. Third race at 4 P. M. Fourth race at 5 P. M. Fifth race at 6 P. M. Sixth race at 7 P. M. Seventh race at 8 P. M. Eighth race at 9 P. M. Ninth race at 10 P. M. Tenth race at 11 P. M. Eleventh race at 12 M.

Admission: 50 cents. Ladies 25 cents. Children 10 cents. Free for those under 10 years of age.

Refreshments: 10 cents. Beer 5 cents. Soda water 5 cents. Ice cream 10 cents. Concessions 10 cents.

Stables: 10 cents. Carriage 10 cents. Driver 10 cents. Saddle 10 cents. Bridle 10 cents. Girth 10 cents. Saddle blanket 10 cents. Saddle pad 10 cents. Saddle pad 10 cents. Saddle pad 10 cents.

Stables: 10 cents. Carriage 10 cents. Driver 10 cents. Saddle 10 cents. Bridle 10 cents. Girth 10 cents. Saddle blanket 10 cents. Saddle pad 10 cents. Saddle pad 10 cents. Saddle pad 10 cents.