

5 O'CLOCK SPECIAL.

MONDAY—THE WORLD'S HALF-RATE SITUATION DAYS—SATURDAY. NEW YORK, TUESDAY, JULY 14, 1891.

5 O'CLOCK SPECIAL.

PRICE ONE CENT.

PRICE ONE CENT.

RACING. IN A WALK.

Riley Had Only Demuth to Beat in the Monmouth Cup Stakes.

GOOD DAY FOR MUD LARKS.

Merry Monarch Won the Atlantic Stakes Quite Handily.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

RACING UNDER HARNESS.

The Grand Circuit Opened at Pittsburg To-Day.

the flag and was headed again, winning easily by two lengths. ...

Mutuels paid: Straight, $4.00; place, $3.20; show, $2.40.

SECOND RACE. Purse $500, for two-year-olds, selling at low prices; five furlongs.

After a long delay at the post the field broke away, with Avon, Even Weight, Azrael and Tonia in the front ranks.

Even Weight quickly rushed out and made all the running, crossing the line one-half a length in front of Tonia, who beat Azrael a length. Time—1:04 1/2.

Third Race—Three-quarters of a mile—Woodcuter won, Kingston second and Maggie K. third. Time—1:10 1/2.

WOODCUTTER. ...

BLOWN TO DEATH. SUICIDE AT LAST.

Dynamite Explodes on the Steamer C. R. Booth.

Two Men Killed and Four Others Injured.

The Vessel Now Sinking Off the Foot of Richards Street, Brooklyn.

A loud report, followed by a shock that was perceptible for nearly a quarter of a mile, was heard in the section known as Red Hook, South Brooklyn, at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

It was caused by an explosion of a case of dynamite cartridges in the hold, under the after deck of the steamer C. R. Booth, lying at the foot of Richards street.

Two men were instantly killed and four were injured. The victims were:

KILLED. CORNELIUS HAYES, forty years old, of 130 William street, Brooklyn.

WILLIAM WILLIAMS, first mate, suffering with a sprained ankle and punctured foot of right leg.

JOHN GRAYMAN, ship's carpenter, suffering from shock, also badly treated.

Immediately after the shock the other men aboard the vessel ran to the spot where the explosion occurred and peered into the hold of the vessel.

A horrible sight met their gaze. Reagin, had been blown to bits and his flesh and bones were scattered in all parts of the little compartment.

An alarm of fire was immediately sent out, followed by a call for four ambulances.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

The fire department, the 33rd, 34th and 35th, were sent to Richards street, where the explosion took place.

SHOT MAN AND WIFE.

Policeman Ryerson's Deadly Affray With Jersey City Toughs.

William Brennan Is Dead, Mrs. Brennan Is Dying.

The Policeman Claims He Was Attacked and Fired in Self-Defense.

"Jack" Ryerson, Jersey City's "boy policeman," is Chief Murphy's prisoner to-day, charged with homicide.

William Brennan, a notorious member of Jersey City Heights, lies dead in Spoor's morgue, Grand street, with a bullet in his bowels, and his wife, Lizzie Brennan, is dying at the Jersey City Hospital with another bullet in her abdomen.

Ryerson is twenty-nine years old. He has been a policeman since Nov. 1, 1888, and has a good record.

He declares that he shot the Brennans in self-defense, and his appearance seems to justify the statement. His head and face are cut open in a dozen places and his body is one mass of bruises.

The shooting occurred in the first hour of this morning.

There was a wedding celebration on Jersey City Heights, a horn serenade of a popular young express driver and his bride.

The bride party became noisy and quarreling because of the bride's dress.

At 11 o'clock, a guest occupying the room adjoining Brennan's heard two pistol shots, followed by the sound of a heavy fall.

He at once reported the fact to the clerk, and Porter Mounahan was sent upstairs to the wedding. He found Brennan in his room locked, and it was forced open.

Brennan, who was known as "Bum" at the hotel, was lying on the floor, half dead, with a bullet wound in his right temple and another in the side just over the heart.

He was still alive, but died before a doctor could be summoned. He was not able to say a word after he was found.

From the table was found an envelope addressed to George T. Gorman, his manager and confidential clerk in the jewelry business.

It contained three letters, one written in pencil and the other two in ink, and that it was Brennan's intention to end his life at the time he took his room at the Grand Union Hotel, June 24.

Previous to that he had been for two days at the Hotel Royal, sixth avenue and Fortieth street.

The letters are as follows: "JUNE 24, 1891. "FRIEND GORMAN: This is the only way I can see out of my trouble. I have had too many friends in the business. All encouraged me to do so, hence my going it so big. When I started I had the promise of any amount of money, but when it came to call for it there was no money, but no go. I am sorry for some of the people, for they cannot afford it."

"DICK & KOLBERG'S claim will go in first I hope. Some of my insurance papers are in a box in the Pennsylvania Insurance Company on Church street, Philadelphia. If possible send my body to Hammoncton, N. J. What appeared to me to be the start of my life has brought me to the end. "Pardon me for the trouble I am giving you. It is the last request I shall make. "GOOD-BYE. "JUNE 25, 1891. "FRIEND GORMAN: I wrote you an inclosed letter yesterday, not thinking I would be here to write this to-day. "I stayed at the Hotel Royal since Monday, and yesterday came here. "I have to pay the penalty for what wrong I have done. "Do not think harshly of me, but see what you can do to straighten matters out, for old friendship's sake. "P. S.—I registered here under the name of George Bowen."

"JUNE 27, 1891. "FRIEND GORMAN: You see by this I am still living, but God knows how long. I did not expect an ending. "If I should have received the money promised me everything would have been O. K. "But when I found out some time ago that I could not get it, I lost all my nerve and got sick. "You remember that then my trouble began. I did most everything to rally, but it was no use. "Please don't think too hard of me, but do all you can for my poor wife and boy. "I see in the Herald to-day that the Sheriff has possession of the store. You may know how I feel. "REPLY."

Another letter addressed to Mr. Harris, the bookkeeper of Brennan's store, gave some further particulars about the settlement of accounts.

Corner Schultz came to the hotel about noon and took charge of Brennan's body. Mr. Gorman will take charge of the body, and the coroner gave a permit for its removal to an undertaker's establishment.

Mr. Gorman, who is an old gentleman, with gray hair and white mustache, was very much affected when he saw the body of his late employer.

He went in a little too heavy, and when he found that he could not meet his obligations when they became due he went all the way to home, three blocks of merchandise last night at 10:30 o'clock.

The men claim that this was only an entering wedge of a plan that would eventually bring about overtime for all.

A committee from the strikers, headed by Louis Hoffman, waited on the Collector at 2 o'clock this afternoon and asked that the twelve men be reinstated. The Collector told the men to return to work and he would reinstate them.

Collector Erhardt said: "If these men do not return to work they will be discharged from the strike, and their places will be filled."

The reason which he killed himself was a small 22-calibre revolver. The bullet which penetrated the brain was fatal.

Wicked clubs of the Thirtieth District, Frank Raymond, of the Twenty-third District, and the coroner gave a permit for its removal to an undertaker's establishment.

ESOP ON CURRENT EVENTS.

IX.

BRASS CORNER. EARTHENWARE. SECRET ELECTROCUTIONER.

A River carried down in its stream two Pots, one made of earthenware and the other of brass. As they floated along on the surface of the stream the Earthen Pot said to the Brass Pot: "Pray keep at a distance and do not come near me, for if you touch me ever so slightly I may be broken, and, besides, I by no means wish to come near you."

He who is doubtful of himself does well to keep out of danger.

confronted with the woman. She failed to recognize him, but she knew it was Ryerson who had shot her and her husband, she showed him Ryerson's revolver with a stick, and accused the policeman of being drunk and shooting her through the side.

He had not a grudge against us all for a long time," she said.

Warden Osborne of the City Hospital, says that Mrs. Brennan did not seem to be seriously hurt when she arrived there. It was only after she had been put into the hospital that she was found to be so badly injured.

The bullet from Ryerson's revolver had entered her abdomen a little to the left of the navel, and had ploughed its way almost through her body. She was attended by Dr. Quimby and the hospital staff.

Brennan was also shot in the abdomen, but the bullet in his case caused almost instant death. He never spoke after receiving his death wound. His body was removed to Spoor's morgue.

Brennan leaves five children, four of whom are girls. The eldest is Mary Ellen, four years old, supported by her mother as she tottered in the hospital. The children are being cared for by neighbors.

Policeman Ryerson is held at the Fore place station-house to answer a charge of manslaughter. He was appointed to the force in November, 1880, and has a good record. He is a man of slight build, and to match physically for the night he killed.

Supl. Smith has ordered the detention of the dead man's nephew, Lawlor, upon charges of atrocious assault preferred by Gorman. The other witnesses were paroled.

Ryerson was arraigned before Justice Kimberly this morning, but the hearing was postponed until Thursday.

Robert McNulty, one of the serenaders, says: "I heard Brennan say, when he had told of Ryerson, 'I'll kill you, you. You clubbed me once.'"

John H. Hughes says: "I saw Brennan hold Ryerson while the woman hit him three or four times with a club."

Brennan was forty-two years old, tall, big-boned and powerful. He was killed instantly by Ryerson's bullet.

Mrs. Brennan's weapon was a piece of stove-wood, eighteen inches long and four inches thick. She is a thin, ill-dressed woman of thirty-five, with red hair and a freckled face almost as red as the hair. She walked four blocks to the hospital.

Laparotomy was performed upon her this morning by Drs. H. A. Watson, G. K. Jackson, W. W. Varick, E. P. Shelby, F. Hobbs, Huppert and Quimby. There is no chance for her recovery.

The five children were cared for last night by Mrs. Convey.

Ryerson has a young wife and four pretty children living at No. 128 St. Paul's avenue. He was but twenty-three when appointed to the police force and was known as the "boy policeman."

There were fifteen witnesses of the shooting, whose statements were taken by Chief Murphy, and the chief says: "I can't see what else Ryerson could do. He was down, he was being beaten and kicked into insensibility by these furious people, and so help came to him."

THE CLOSING QUOTATIONS.

Table with columns: Amer. Sugar Ref., Amer. Cotton Oil, etc. and values.

Table with columns: Mining Stocks, etc. and values.

Table with columns: RAILROAD ADVISORY BOARD, etc. and values.

Table with columns: L. and N.'s New Eastern Agent, etc. and values.

Table with columns: Concord Railroad's First Engineer, etc. and values.

Table with columns: IS IT MAGIC OR WHAT?, etc. and values.

THE TURF.

More Echoes from the Hackensack Handicap Trouble.

CHICAGO RECORD-BREAKING.

Brighton Beach's Big Match Between Riley and Longstreet.

The disagreeable incidents attendant on the running of the Hackensack Handicap on Saturday still form the subject for discussion among turfmen. The case is without a parallel, and it will go down into turf history as one of the notable events of this year.

The writer has received many letters from various persons, each containing a different line of argument. In one of these, which is signed "An owner of horses," the writer wants to know what influenced the stewards to render such a decision. He says that if all bets are to be declared off because horses are pulled, letting was soon cease. He claims that it was an injustice to the people who played the race, and that the stewards were wrong.

One part of his communication reads as follows: "The San Juan bookers cry: 'What chance had we to win?' The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then."

As far as the injustice of the decision on Saturday is concerned the writer fails to see where any harm has been done. The backers of San Juan have been paid, the backers of other horses have not, but the money has been paid to the San Juan backers. The San Juan backers cry: "What chance had we to win?" The same chance as they would have had had they backed any other horse that was not trying. The only other prompt decision that could be arrived at would have been to pull San Juan. McLeese stable off the turf. No bets would have been declared off then