

TUESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 11.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE EVENING WORLD

PER MONTH $3.00 PER YEAR $30.00

The Evening World Prints Associated Press News.

BRANCH OFFICES: WORLD TOWNSHIP OFFICE-1207 BROADWAY, between 51st and 52d sts., New York.

15. 25. 30 PER CENT. ARE THE DISCOUNTS FOR 1. 2. 3 SUCCESSIVE INSERTIONS OF "Want" Advertisements IN THE WORLD FROM AUG. 1 TO SEPT. 30

AGAIN MR. BEATTIE'S "MORE." There is no Oliver Twist meekness about Commissioner Beattie's demand for more.

The amount asked for, which is, in total, $7,658,393, is far too much to spend for street-cleaning in New York in a single year under anybody's direction.

DRATH AND THE AMBULANCES. CORNER LEVY is right in his determination to sift to the very bottom the circumstances connected with the death of SAMUEL DAVIS.

ALONG WITH THE HOT WAVE. Concurrent advice from various parts of the city indicate that at the same time with the hot wave there has come a wave also of mosquitoes and a tidal wave of flea.

Professor of History. What did the telegram say, papa? What did the telegram say, papa? You look so worried, so pale and ill-why should you look so?

Prized Policeman SMITH says he merely pushed McLEESBY aside out of his path over in Paterson. It has been demonstrated on a number of occasions that the bridge policeman has a pull.

is not likely to do anything this year. Indeed, she has done little since her three-year-old record was made, and if she does lower her figures some wise horsemen will be surprised.

Old traditions of the medicine men regarding the inevitable mortality of brain wounds are being wiped out. A New York boy has a split bullet in his gray matter, and up in Bellevue Hospital a patient with a hole clear through his brain has a chance of recovery.

The Ohio bank robber is still at large, and although $1,000 ryanpills offered for his capture nobody seems able to bag him. He has now a horse and buggy and boldly rides through the country, making farmers' wives feed him and amusing himself by shooting at stray farmers.

A resident of Pell street on returning home last evening found a Chinaman courting his wife on the house roof. Grasping him by the queue he threw him into the street. The Chinaman, now in the hospital, is suffering perhaps on the rights of brands, and that a pigtail is too good a handle to offer a punter.

Atlanta citizens have become enraged because some street-repairing work was done on Sunday. Up here in New York things have reached such a pitch that the average citizen would be glad to see the work done any way and wouldn't grumble about what day it was.

Formerly women were apt to faint when burglars came around. Nowadays things are different. A Texas girl, seeing a robber in her room, reached for a pistol and, notwithstanding that she first shot herself in the leg, killed the intruder on second fire.

A new record has been established in Columbia, S. C., where 906 Baptist converts were dipped in the river in ninety minutes. South Carolina now has the highest marks on baptisms and American earthquakes.

The dragging back to the Elmira Reformatory of released prisoners smacks somewhat of Siberia. That institution should be reformed.

Tra-la-la, White Squadron! Off you go to-day. And may the winds off the stern New England coasts be kind to you.

Few people would have believed Roosa Cowson capable of failing to make that hit in yesterday's sixth inning.

In addition to intense heat Connecticut is afflicted with drought and earthquake. New York might be worse off.

The breezy call of incense-breathing morn did not put in an appearance to-day.

Nothing is too insulting to say of such weather, even to its very face.

The retirement of the Hon. FREDERICK DONOLAN creates no surprise.

Owners of soda-water stands and fountains alone are happy.

There is comfort in knowing that the hot wave must go.

If you cannot keep cool, keep as cool as you can.

SOME PERTINENT QUESTIONS. Why are not unbalanced bids prohibited? What is the following of the County Democracy?

Why are the Coroners generally absent when needed? Who will succeed Justice Rogers in the annexed district?

Why will Pat's coming visit be really her last appearance in America? Why are inexperienced hospital doctors permitted to try laparotomy?

What has caused John H. Starin to refuse to be a candidate for Governor? What are Beattie's grounds for demanding another million for street cleaning?

Why did President MacLean, of the Police Board, desert his post without notice?

WORLDLINGS. A woman living in Portsmouth, O., was recently attacked and severely injured by an owl. It pounced upon her while she was in the kitchen and clawed her across the face, arms and shoulders before it could be driven away.

Miss Charlotte Nichols, of Empire City, Ore., can use a rifle in a way that would credit to any martial sportsman. She has a record of having slain several deer this season, and recently shot a bear that crossed her path while she was out horseback riding.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Russell, of Pindley, O., died recently on the day that he predicted would end his life. He selected the date he wished to be buried in, made other arrangements for his funeral, and at the appointed time lay back and expired.

A story is told in Louisville of a man, now poor and needy, who less than six years ago had as much money to squander that he took champagne bath, filling the tub to the brim with the costly fluid. Two years later he did not have a dollar to his name.

Jacob Kahn, a Philadelphian, recently acquired a horrible disease by reason of his thinness. A switch engine driving five freight cars knocked him down and passed over him, but by hanging the tire closely he came out of the ordeal without injury.

Taking No Risks. A woman who had a parrot in a cage got aboard a De Kalb avenue car at Court street, Brooklyn, but the car had scarcely started again when a man on the end of the seat got up and moved back to the conductor.

"The bird won't bite you," remarked the woman as she looked back at him. "Mebbe he won't," replied the man, "but I'm not going to take any risks on a parrot. One called me a liar over in New York a few days ago, and I've just got over the worst pair of black eyes you ever saw, poulticed with beefsteak."

He Complimented Her. A woman was sitting down on the sidewalk with her back to the wall of a store on Third avenue, and it was plain to see that she had taken too much drink. Some one carried the news of her presence into the store, and a clerk came out to see about getting her away. He was wondering how it could be done without a row, when she looked up and queried: "What'd'y take me for, young man?"

"A lady, ma'am—a lady who has been overcome by the heat and prudently sat down in the shade for a moment," he replied. "Are you in earnest?" "Of course." "A real lady?" "Certainly."

"Then I'll be moving on and save you trouble," she replied as she drew herself up. "Good-by to ye." "Good-by, ma'am." "Ye said a real lady who was overcome by the heat, didn't ye?" "Yes."

"That's beautiful, and I'll go back and smail in the windows of the grocer who said I was only a washwoman overcome by a pint of beer!"

What Happened to Mary. I saw a young woman crying in the waiting-room of the Pennsylvania Depot the other day, and by and by a man who appeared to be her father, sat down beside her and said: "It's no use crying about 'em, Mary. They've gone to the bottom of the river, and we can't do anything about it."

When he had moved away I ventured to ask him what had happened, and he replied: "Why, my gal and me were coming over from New York and she sneezed and blew her false teeth into the river. Jest got 'em about four weeks ago, and they cost me $36 in cash. Mighty careless in her to be sneezing with her head over the water, but she feels bad 'nuff without my saying anything."

"I wouldn't take long to get another set." "No, but you see the trouble is right here. She was going to be married to-night. Everything is all fixed for and the performance is to go off at 8 o'clock."

"That's embarrassing." "Very embarrassing, but we can't help it. The preacher is engaged, the cake all baked and the folks invited, and we can't stop. The feller is one of these mighty particular chaps, with his hair parted in the middle, and he may give back a little when he comes to find the teeth gone."

"He won't be better try!" grimly observed the old man. "I'm going to be right that when he comes in and I'm going to take him aside and say: 'Jim, thar's Mary, but her teeth are in the mud at the bottom of the Hudson. Are you goin' to gig or ahead? If it's ahead then, all right. If it's gig I want to see you out in the door-ya-jist long 'nuff to break you in two over my knee and send the pieces to chink up rat holes in the corn crib!'" M. Quad.

A MONEY-STEALING DOG. While on a Visit He Carried Off 250 Francs. A butcher in Berne was astonished one day recently at seeing his dog run into his shop and lay down at his feet the sum of 250 francs in the shape of a 100-franc note and one 50-franc note.

He carried the money immediately to the police office, but it was not until some hours later that the owner was discovered. Another butcher sent notice that he had suddenly lost 250 francs and could not discover the thief, as it had happened while he was alone in the shop, and had been in his hand a moment before he lost it.

The dog thief, according to the Berne Zeitung, had paid a visit to his colleague in the shop of the owner of the notes, and when the owner's back was turned had stolen the money and scampered off with it to his den.

It is possible that the dog had come to his own conclusion about the value of the bank notes.

A Shorn Lamb. [From Harper's Weekly.] "I never go into Wall street now." "How is that? Have you lost your interest in speculation?" "No, but I lost my principal."

VAGRANT VERSES. An Unpleasant Lesson. Burns rarely fails from his dress. Till that man, just like a lock, Needs assistance from the barber.

No Wonder He Looked Sad. What did the telegram say, papa? What did the telegram say, papa? You look so worried, so pale and ill-why should you look so?

My Best Girl. The girl I added to the list. They are no longer affianced. They are no longer affianced. They are no longer affianced.

DEATH IN THE HEAT.

Think How the Sick Babies Suffer in This Torrid Weather. Contribute to the Fund and Help Them to Live. You May Save Some Little One from Hours of Agony.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS. Previously acknowledged $5,448.77

Table listing names and amounts: Children's Law Party $5.00, Harison Fair $1.50, etc.

All contributions sent to "The Evening World" office for the Sick Baby Fund should be directed to Cashier, New York World, Fulton Building, New York City.

When people enjoying good health and sunny houses suffer during this hot spell, how much greater, then, must be the sufferings of sick babies confined in stuffy rooms in tenement-houses, gasping for breath, lacking even the bare necessities of life?

There is no ice to cool their parched throats; they cannot go to the seaside or mountains where refreshing breezes are found. Their parents are too poor to do anything for them beyond making their stinking toms as comfortable as their wretched surroundings will permit.

Now is the time to show your charity. Send in a contribution to the fund and enjoy the thought that you have helped to relieve the sufferings of some sick infant—perhaps saved its life. Send in your pennies at once. Better a dime in time than a dollar too late.

"A DOUBLE PAST." A Hint as to the Plot of Mrs. Newcomb's New Play.

The rehearsal of "A Double Past," the new play by Mrs. Richard Newcomb Norris, to be produced Aug. 17 at the Union Square Theatre for the benefit of THE EVENING WORLD'S SICK BABY FUND, is progressing finely.

But as there are a thousand and one motives in the human breast, so there are many sanctuaries in the human heart, and the many of holier refuge, than the one that is the shape of maternal love.

A Stout Woman Outwitted by an Observing Small Boy. A bright boy made a trip to the city yesterday, says an exchange, and as a result the cable company is just three cents ahead over and above the fare paid by the youngster.

At Oakland a very large lady boarded the car and sat down next to the boy. She immediately took a ticket from her pocket and handed it to the conductor. The conductor mused her.

He passed and repassed her several times, but did not demand her fare. "What do you mean, the boy would eye the conductor and then the lady." "As there seemed to be no inclination on the part of the conductor to collect the fare, the large lady, concluding the boy had freed her ticket in her purse. This was too good for the boy, and at the same time the conductor came along he exclaimed: "You didn't get her money, mister. I don't see how you missed her. She's the fattest lady on the car. Anybody could see her."

This complimentary allusion to the lady's corpulence induced her to play along her broad expanse of countenance. She quickly produced a ticket, while all the people in the car laughed at her discomfiture.

The boy would prove a first-class spotter and should be given an annual pass for his thoughtful regard for the company's interests.

THE CLEANER.

The "Lady or the Tiger" puzzle has been solved, according to a fair correspondent of the Detroit Free Press. She asserts that in conversation with Frank Stockton, its author, she said that she would herself much prefer to have the lower eaten by the tiger.

Betty Green's son announces a positive fact that he is going to have a big Chicago newspaper, with branches in this city and Boston. He also asserts that it will have the Associated Press franchise.

The Coroners of this town have from time to time taken very curious liberties with the law, but no act that I remember equals the serio-comic proceeding of the coroner Landing Coroner who impudently the jury that returned a verdict on Col. Ingersoll's wounded private secretary.

There is much complaint because there are no restaurants for the people in Central and Riverside Parks. The expensive dining resorts of which both places boast are far too high in price for the pockets of the masses.

Every one who knows anything about the Tombs Prison remembers Lawrence McDermond. He was kept there for twenty-two years, and no one thought he would ever want to leave. But he did, and at his own request the Commissioners of Charities and Correction have transferred him to Jefferson Market.

Sensations will be made on the alleged reappearance of Madame Blaise D'Arbut until her body is found. Since she announced that she would drown herself and vanished she is reported to have appeared in five places.

Arithmetic isn't popular with the Steamboat Squad. The other day a sloop sank in the North River. She was laden with railroad ties—30,000 feet of lumber. This was valued at $40 a thousand and the police estimated from this that the value of the cargo was $120,000 and so telegraphed to Police Headquarters.

Most of the Atlantic City hotel keepers deplore the fact that the resort is not closer to New York than to Philadelphia. Strange to say the Philadelphia folks are not popular. They bring plenty of money with them, but it is alleged, they generally manage to keep it.

I see that Robert Garrett is able to frequent his old resort once more. He was in New York last week and has now gone to Newport with his family. His friends predict that he will soon be in business and that the state of his health is so much improved as to justify hopes of a complete recovery.

In former years "Uncle Rufus Hatch was one of the most rampant bullies to be found anywhere within the limits of Wall street. Now he is a chronic bear, and if the whole town should fall out of the market it would not be enough to satisfy his pessimistic views.

An Amateur Detective. A rather shabby looking man applied to the chief of the New York police for a position. "Have you ever had any experience as a detective?" "Oh, yes," was the reply. "I once arrested a man who did some killing."

In Maulestiek's Studio. Mr. Leadbeater of Chicago—That there picture of a pig is splendid. The splendid—never say anything so true to life. I do believe you're the very man to paint a portrait of me.

Not Grand. Rustle (having ascended the steps of the Elevated for the first time)—Ain't this grand! Ticket chopper—Now—next station up town. This here's Canal.

An Article of Necessity. A Louisiana gentleman was discussing the tariff question with a gentleman from Kentucky. "Sugar," said the Louisiana, "is as much an article of necessity as flour and meat."

A Fearful Retribution. Miss Panny—That hideous old Mr. Jones had the impudence to propose to me. Miss Jennie—You gave him the mitten?

A Logical Inference. "Papa," said Willie, as they sailed down to Staten Island, "do sea-horses come from the sea?" "Yes, my son."

Legal Nomenclature. "What is the name of your law firm?" "Jones, Brown, Smith & Robinson." "That's a together too short. If you want to be in business, you must have a name that is more than a couple of words."

MURDERERS ARE VISITING THE DOCTORS. Five months free of charge. A group of unlearned physicians and surgeons have been visiting the patients of Dr. J. H. West 11th st., between 6th and 7th ave. All who are afflicted with any of the following diseases are invited to visit the patients of Dr. J. H. West.

THE WAYS OF WOMAN FAIR.

Fads, Fancies and Fashions That Delight the Gentler Sex. The Advantage of Being of a Pronounced Type—Simple Prints Trimmed with Lace—To Keep Skirt and Bodice Together—About Underwear.

Women of pronounced type find it far easier to dress themselves becomingly than do those who are neither blonde nor brunette. What the class referred to. Neutral shades often prove more becoming to women of unpronounced type than do striking tones.
