

WAS HE AN ANARCHIST

George H. Bean Doesn't Believe Norcross Was Insane.

Fresh Proofs in Support of 'The World's' Identification.

The Bomb-Thrower's Mother Tells of His Study of Explosives.

Stronger proofs are accumulating with every succeeding day of the correctness of the identification by THE WORLD reporters of the bomb-thrower who killed himself in his desperate attempt to assassinate Russell Sage on Friday, Dec. 4.

The chain of circumstantial evidence against Norcross was of itself sufficient to establish the fact, but the discovery of a letter which he wrote to his parents and left in his office desk before he disappeared furnishes direct and absolutely conclusive evidence of his identity with the bomb-thrower.

It was written on Thursday, the day before the attempt upon Mr. Sage's life. The opening sentences of the document are these: "I go to New York to-day to get $1,200,000. It I do not succeed I shall kill myself."

The parents of the young man, who live in Somerville, now have this letter in their possession. Although they have refused to make it public in its entirety, they declare that it shows beyond any doubt whatever that their son was the person who threw the dynamite bomb in the office of the New York millionaire on Friday, Dec. 4.

The remainder of the letter contains the details of a carefully and deliberately conceived and worked-out plan by which Norcross expected either to obtain money enough to carry out his pet railroad scheme or to perish in the attempt.

He not only planned his own destruction but that of others who might thwart him in his endeavors, and he displayed all the cunning of a madman of the most dangerous type.

NORCROSS HAD NO ACCOMPLICES. He had no accomplices is certain. He confided his plans to no one, and excepting occasional references to his ideas and inventions for the development of a perfect elevated railroad system and his vague allusions to capitalists who may be interested in his scheme, he never breathed a word regarding the manner in which he proposed to carry out his plan to secure his capital.

That he experimented secretly with explosives is now a well-established fact, and although none of his friends detected his real condition, it is probable that he had been insane for many months previous to his death. Mrs. Norcross, the mother of the young man, says in regard to the letter:

"My husband brought it home to me sealed. We shut ourselves in our room alone and opened it. What it contained none but we know. I will say that it removed from our minds any doubts that may have remained as to the identity of the bomb-thrower."

"It makes a fact of the theory that Henry dropped the bag of dynamite in Mr. Sage's office. He was insane and made a martyr of himself in the interest of his invention and what he believed to be the good of society."

HE HAD STUDIED UP ON NITRO-GLYCERINE. According to the mother, Henry Norcross had unusual fondness for unravelling the unknown. She remembers that several years ago he took an absorbing interest in the study of the manufacture of nitro-glycerine and its properties.

She says he read all the books he could get on the subject, and studied it until he learned all about it. Once he explained to his mother how the explosive was made, and what terrible force it possessed.

Mrs. Norcross says also that her son frequently talked to her about his inventions and his railroad plans, and said he had sent circulars to many capitalists and millionaires in the endeavor to interest them in his scheme.

He had particularly mentioned Russell Sage, for whom he seemed to have a great admiration, as he was the only man who had acquired his wealth honestly, and by sheer force and perseverance. He said he placed all his hopes on Sage's assistance.

HE WAS SOMETIMES UNCOMFORTATIVE. This was some time before he left Boston. Of late the mother had noticed that her son was becoming more reserved and less talkative. Sometimes he would sit brooding in a room full of people, and seem to see and hear nothing of what was going on about him.

He was not popular with the young women of Somerville, who, although they admired his handsome face and bearing, were rather afraid of him because he was so cold and unsympathetic.

The brown derby hat which Norcross was accustomed to wear and which he had on when he left his home Thursday, Dec. 4, has been found in his office. This explains how he happened to wear a silk hat in New York. He probably bought it in Boston just before he left that city.

George H. Bean, of Quincy, Mass., who knew Norcross well, has positively identified the woman's flashlight photograph of the bomb-thrower's head as that of Norcross.

Mrs. Norcross was an ANARCHIST. She says that Norcross was always bragging such Anarchist ideas of late, and always bragging of it in his office desk. He was an anarchist in his creed, and a pronounced atheist, with a strong aversion to Catholicism.

He believed that Norcross deliberately laid plans and schemes that when he had been determined upon a course of action, nothing would turn him from his purpose, and had a remarkably strong will. Bean does not believe that Norcross was crazy.

THE HEAD NO LONGER ON VIEW. The jar of alcohol containing the head of the man who was placed in an iron box at Bellevue Hospital to clean the head.

THE BOMB-THROWER'S BROTHER. As a result of his examination of the bomb-thrower's brain Coroner Messener said to-day that he was of the opinion that the man had been insane for years.

The brain was found to weigh 1,510 grains, three ounces above the average. The right hemisphere was much larger than the left, and the convolutions of the brain were extremely irregular in size.

AN INTERVIEW WITH HIS MOTHER. Boston, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Norcross, during the course of an interview with THE WORLD

WORLD correspondent, referred in language most tender to the note left by her son Henry, the bomb-thrower, and addressed to her.

"My poor boy," said she, "cherishing as he did the idea that bound of old, left in his office the means by which I, the companion of his youth and the adviser of his later years, might know beyond all doubt that he was the man who threw the bomb in Russell Sage's office."

"When he went to Mr. Sage's office he had not even a scrap of paper upon his person. The keys of his office he had even left behind so that identification might be made all the more difficult."

THE NOTE CONVINCED HER. "When we examined his desk last Saturday for the note addressed to me."

"He desired that he should not be identified in a certain event. I read that note and so did my husband, and I need not say that we are convinced."

"Poor boy, his last thought was that I should know what had become of him and that to the world he should remain unknown."

"I am very sorry for his fate, and for the innocent people who suffered through his mad act; yet I will say that had I been the only one who knew of his identity I would have published it to the whole world."

"TO THE PUBLIC BELONG THE PARTICULARS." "Henry ought to have known that I could not keep silent when others were unjustly suspected because of a mad act of his."

"Had he died without injuring others I would not have taken it so much to heart. I loved him as few mothers love their children, but his offense was against the public and to the public belonged the full particulars of his identity."

"I go to New York to-day to get $1,200,000. It I do not succeed I shall kill myself."

The parents of the young man, who live in Somerville, now have this letter in their possession. Although they have refused to make it public in its entirety, they declare that it shows beyond any doubt whatever that their son was the person who threw the dynamite bomb in the office of the New York millionaire on Friday, Dec. 4.

The remainder of the letter contains the details of a carefully and deliberately conceived and worked-out plan by which Norcross expected either to obtain money enough to carry out his pet railroad scheme or to perish in the attempt.

He not only planned his own destruction but that of others who might thwart him in his endeavors, and he displayed all the cunning of a madman of the most dangerous type.

NORCROSS HAD NO ACCOMPLICES. He had no accomplices is certain. He confided his plans to no one, and excepting occasional references to his ideas and inventions for the development of a perfect elevated railroad system and his vague allusions to capitalists who may be interested in his scheme, he never breathed a word regarding the manner in which he proposed to carry out his plan to secure his capital.

That he experimented secretly with explosives is now a well-established fact, and although none of his friends detected his real condition, it is probable that he had been insane for many months previous to his death.

Mrs. Norcross, the mother of the young man, says in regard to the letter: "My husband brought it home to me sealed. We shut ourselves in our room alone and opened it. What it contained none but we know. I will say that it removed from our minds any doubts that may have remained as to the identity of the bomb-thrower."

"It makes a fact of the theory that Henry dropped the bag of dynamite in Mr. Sage's office. He was insane and made a martyr of himself in the interest of his invention and what he believed to be the good of society."

HE HAD STUDIED UP ON NITRO-GLYCERINE. According to the mother, Henry Norcross had unusual fondness for unravelling the unknown. She remembers that several years ago he took an absorbing interest in the study of the manufacture of nitro-glycerine and its properties.

She says he read all the books he could get on the subject, and studied it until he learned all about it. Once he explained to his mother how the explosive was made, and what terrible force it possessed.

Mrs. Norcross says also that her son frequently talked to her about his inventions and his railroad plans, and said he had sent circulars to many capitalists and millionaires in the endeavor to interest them in his scheme.

He had particularly mentioned Russell Sage, for whom he seemed to have a great admiration, as he was the only man who had acquired his wealth honestly, and by sheer force and perseverance. He said he placed all his hopes on Sage's assistance.

HE WAS SOMETIMES UNCOMFORTATIVE. This was some time before he left Boston. Of late the mother had noticed that her son was becoming more reserved and less talkative. Sometimes he would sit brooding in a room full of people, and seem to see and hear nothing of what was going on about him.

He was not popular with the young women of Somerville, who, although they admired his handsome face and bearing, were rather afraid of him because he was so cold and unsympathetic.

The brown derby hat which Norcross was accustomed to wear and which he had on when he left his home Thursday, Dec. 4, has been found in his office. This explains how he happened to wear a silk hat in New York. He probably bought it in Boston just before he left that city.

George H. Bean, of Quincy, Mass., who knew Norcross well, has positively identified the woman's flashlight photograph of the bomb-thrower's head as that of Norcross.

Mrs. Norcross was an ANARCHIST. She says that Norcross was always bragging such Anarchist ideas of late, and always bragging of it in his office desk. He was an anarchist in his creed, and a pronounced atheist, with a strong aversion to Catholicism.

He believed that Norcross deliberately laid plans and schemes that when he had been determined upon a course of action, nothing would turn him from his purpose, and had a remarkably strong will. Bean does not believe that Norcross was crazy.

STILL NO TRACE OF COLE.

All Night Search Kept by Fire-light Among Nyack's Hills.

He Disappeared When an Expert Accountant Was Put On His Books.

Statements made to-day by Lawyer Merritt E. Sawyer, of 210 Broadway, counsel for James H. Blauvelt & Co., intimate that possibly the disappearance of Edward H. Cole was intentional on the part of the firm, consequent upon the fact that Blauvelt's illness, he said, had led to an expert examination of the firm's accounts, though there was no suspicion, till after Cole had vanished, of his integrity. The expert accountant began his work Saturday morning.

A statement of the result of the examination will be made late this afternoon.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. NYACK, Dec. 14.—Clouds of smoke hanging over the mountains which environ Nyack, between this morning one feature of the all-night search by hundreds of men and boys for missing Edward H. Cole, the partner for James H. Blauvelt & Co., who suddenly left his desk Saturday and has not been since seen.

Before nightfall the dried brush and leaves were set ablaze and all night lines of flames miles in extent illuminated the dark crevices of the mountains and aided the hunters in their efforts.

But when morning came the mystery of Cole's whereabouts remained unsolved. Then the night hunters sought needed repose, and this morning fresh men are on the trail.

The theory that Cole has committed suicide is strengthened by the statement of his wife that he always carried a revolver, a fact corroborated by many who know him.

Another rumor reached Nyack this morning that the missing cashier was seen alive near Orangeburg, seven miles from here, yesterday afternoon.

The shock to Cole's wife may prove serious, as the terrible effects of her suspense become hourly more apparent, and she is sorely endeared to her missing husband.

She says that she is positive that her husband is dead, and that he killed himself while temporarily insane from overwork. She will not believe that he could have been dishonest.

Mr. Dickinson, of the firm of James H. Blauvelt & Co., said this morning that the firm is no longer in the market for the story that Cole is $4,000 short in his office accounts.

"I really know no more than any one else," said Mr. Dickinson, "and will not until after a careful investigation by the firm's lawyers."

Nothing of the secretary's disappearance had been heard from the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

Another rumor current in the West was that Eddie Gould, representing the Western Stock Exchange, secretary of the latter body, had been in New York, and had been in contact with the "Ticker" Company since the exchange issued its ultimatum on Saturday.

FOREIGN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Thirty Lives Lost by the Wreck of the Enterkin.

Michael Davitt to Be McCarthyite Candidate for Waterford.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LONDON, Dec. 14.—The most serious of all disasters that have occurred during the present storm is the wreck of the British ship Enterkin, Captain Sinclair, which was bound from Hull for Brisbane.

She was caught in the storm while bound down the channel and was driven on the Galloper Sands off the port of Hantsgate, County of Kent.

Thirty lives were lost in this disaster, every person except an apprentice boy being drowned.

Reports from various points in South Wales state that the gale has been especially severe in that part of the country.

The Enterkin encountered the hurricane Saturday night.

She was standing on an inshore tack and the wind blew so furiously that it was impossible to carry sail enough to prevent her from making leeward, and she was driven ashore almost broadside.

After she had struck a part of the crew succeeded in launching a boat and got clear of the ship. They headed shoreward, but were almost immediately thrown into the sea by the swamping of their boat.

Every man who was in the boat was drowned almost in sight of his comrades on the wreck.

RECTOR AND VESTRYMEN FIGHT OVER AN ALTAR CLOTH IN A DUBLIN CHURCH. DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—St. Mary's Church, in Newry, Protestant place of worship, was yesterday the scene of a very disorderly occurrence.

While services were going on eleven vestrymen advanced to the altar and seized the communion cloth, on which were embroidered the letters "I. H. S." The rector of the church also seized hold of the cloth, and a struggle ensued for its possession.

The vestrymen were victorious. Having secured the cloth, they proceeded to cut and burn the lettering, "I. H. S." The vestry had long agitated the subject of the removal of this lettering, which was objectionable to certain of the parishioners.

After the vestrymen had attained their object, the priest appeared and took their names. They will be prosecuted.

HAVING BEEN appointed a Police Justice by a Democratic Mayor, Judge Smith can, by the law of his state, hold no office in the Republican organization of this city. Even membership of a district committee is denied him, and his only privilege as a Republican is to vote for the candidates of that party, if he so desires.

Under the constitution of the Republican organization of this city all votes cast for such a candidate as Judge Smith are null and void, so that while he appears on the face of the returns to be elected Executive Member of the Twentieth District, he is, in fact, in the same position as if no votes had been cast for him.

Judge Smith was set aside by the Republican party for the present, and it is considered probable that he will be returned to that position when the polls are held in the district to elect a leader.

Ex-City Marshal Michael Goode, a friend of Judge Smith, has declared today that he will not be a candidate for the office of Police Justice, and will not be a candidate for the office of Police Justice, and will not be a candidate for the office of Police Justice.

THE ABRAM BERNARD Association of the Eleventh Assembly District, one of the strongest political organizations in the city, has engaged several hundreds of seats for the performance of the Russell's comedians during the coming winter season.

On the same evening 400 members of the Stecker Association will constitute a theatre party at the performance of "Zig Zag" in the Windsor Theatre.

THE SHERIFF KEPT A SALOON. BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. KETTER, N. H., Dec. 14.—On the night Saturday the police raided the large house, kept by Deputy Sheriff Lillon. Large quantities of malt and spirituous liquors were seized.

In the room were found an Exeter policeman and a county officer, both in a room upstairs, who were playing a game of cards.

The players including an Exeter member of the Legislature and several citizens in the police court today.

SPECIAL NOTICES. WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

Lambert Bros. MANUFACTURING JEWELERS AND IMPORTERS.

COR. 58th ST. & 3d AVE. HOLIDAY PRESENTS.

WE QUOTE AS AN EXCELLENT AND APPROPRIATE HOLIDAY PRESENT:

WE ALSO PLACE ON GOLD AND SILVER ST.

EM-WINDING WATCHES.

SMITH'S ELECTION IS VOID.

HEARD A SPLASH AND A CRY.

These, with a Coat and Hat, Told of Mitchell's Fate.

Shortly before 7 o'clock this morning a splash in the water and a man crying at the foot of East Thirty-third street was heard by the captain of a canal boat lying alongside the dock. The man who went overboard drifted away with the tide.

Lying on the dock was found a coat and derby hat, which evidently belonged to the sailor.

In the pockets of the coat were some papers and a memorandum book with the name of Gottfried Mitchell, and a recommendation from Gustave A. Beck, who keeps a delicatessen store at 408 West 30th street.

Beck said today that the sailor was undoubtedly a young German named Gottfried Mitchell, who had worked for him. Mitchell came from Wurttemberg three years ago.

Boston's Immigrants of a Year. BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. BOSTON, Dec. 14.—The number of immigrants arriving at Boston from trans-Atlantic ports during the fiscal year just closed, was 31,596, or 35 less than for the same period last year.

THE ABRAM BERNARD Association of the Eleventh Assembly District, one of the strongest political organizations in the city, has engaged several hundreds of seats for the performance of the Russell's comedians during the coming winter season.

On the same evening 400 members of the Stecker Association will constitute a theatre party at the performance of "Zig Zag" in the Windsor Theatre.

THE SHERIFF KEPT A SALOON. BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. KETTER, N. H., Dec. 14.—On the night Saturday the police raided the large house, kept by Deputy Sheriff Lillon.

Large quantities of malt and spirituous liquors were seized. In the room were found an Exeter policeman and a county officer, both in a room upstairs, who were playing a game of cards.

The players including an Exeter member of the Legislature and several citizens in the police court today.

SPECIAL NOTICES. WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

WILMINGTON THE BEST BREAKFAST ROOM IN THE CITY. Health Food Co., 61 5th Ave.

Bloomingdale's OPEN EVENINGS.

BIG SALE OF RUGS.

Westminster. Handsome Reversible Westminster Rugs, size 24x48, at $1.00.

Smyrna. 36x72, $3.00. 16x36, 65c. 30x60, 2.25. 16x36, 50c. 26x54, 1.75. 16x30, 35c.

Moquette. 36x72, 4.50. 26x63, 3.50.

Brussels. Rugs with handsome border, size 9x12 ft., to close out at 8.79.

Velvet Carpets, 79c. Moquette Carpets, 79c. Tapestry Brussels, 39c.

Dolls, Toys, Games—by the hundred thousand.

OPEN EVENINGS. Bloomingdale Bros., 3 & 5 West 14th St. Third Ave., cor. 59th St.

Call for one of our Handsome Calendars, and at the same time look over our stock of desirable articles for Holiday Gifts, such as Push Rokers, $2.75; Ladies' Desks, $6.50; Parlor Tables, $2.00. Music Cabinets, Clocks, Lamps, Pictures, Silverware, &c., at equally low prices. Open evenings from Monday next until Christmas.

JOHN WILLIAMS, SUCCESSOR TO J. H. LITTLE & CO., FURNITURE, CARPETS, &c., 136, 138 and 140 West 23d Street.

AMUSEMENTS. GRAND OPERA HOUSE. RESERVED SEATS, 50c. WEDNESDAY, MATINEE, SATURDAY.

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE. 11th Street, between 3d and 4th Avenues. Matinee Tuesday and Friday.

HUBER'S 14TH ST. PALACE MUSEUM. Week of Dec. 14. All New Features.

WALLACE ROSS. P. J. RING, CHAMPION ALL-ROUND FENCING INSTRUCTOR.

MORRISSEY & LAMAR. Second eight songs and Marvellous Mind Readers.

NATION AGAINST NATION. INTERNATIONAL TUG-OF-WAR TOURNAMENT.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN. Dec. 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26. ADMISSION, 50 CENTS.

W. J. SCANLAN. In His Patriotic and Most Successful Play, "MAY HAVEN."

PALMER'S SATURDAY MATINEE. 13th St. Theatre. Broadway & 13th St.

ALABAMA. BROADWAY THEATRE. Cor. 41st & Broadway. 11th St. Theatre. Broadway & 11th St.

ROLLER SKATE. CHAMPION RACE. COLISEUM. 14th St. and 6th Ave.

EDEN MUSEE. THE WORLD IN WAX. HARRISMAN'S THEATRE. Broadway & 29th St.

MARK MURPHY O'DOWN'S NEIGHBORS. EDEN MUSEE. THE WORLD IN WAX.

AMPHION. DENMAN THOMPSON. THE OLD HANDED. COL. GINN'S NEW PARK THEATRE.

YOU WILL HAVE TO RISE EARLY

TO HEAT OUR STYLES AND PRICES. GO INTO ANY OF OUR DEPARTMENTS AND YOU WILL FIND THE GOODS TO BE FROM 10 TO 25 PER CENT LOWER THAN AT ANY OTHER FURNITURE HOUSE IN THIS CITY.

PARLOR SUITS OF EXCELLENT QUALITY AT $45.00, AND OUR SPECIALTY WILTON RUG SUIT, "THE BENNETT," AT $75.00, IS THE BEST THING FOR THE MONEY EVER OFFERED. A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF BROCADELLE SUITS FROM $90.00 TO $175.00.

BEDROOM SUITS IN OAK, WITH FRENCH-PLATE MIRRORS, AS LOW AS $16.50. LARGER SIZES AT $21 TO $25. OUR "TUXEDO" SUIT AT $29.00 LEADS THEM ALL.

CARPETS, RUGS, &c. SALE STILL ON. MOQUETTE, $1.00, VELVET, 90c.; BRUSSELS, 15c.; INGRAIN, 36c.; OIL-CLOTH, 25c.; MATTING, 12c.

BE CAREFUL TO SEE THAT THE SIGN IS J. H. LITTLE & CO. IS ON OUR SHOW-WINDOWS AND OVER OUR DOOR BEFORE ENTERING.

CREDIT IF DESIRED ON TERMS TO SUIT YOU.

J. H. LITTLE & CO., 136, 138 and 140 West 23d Street.

AMUSEMENTS. GRAND OPERA HOUSE. RESERVED SEATS, 50c. WEDNESDAY, MATINEE, SATURDAY.

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE. 11th Street, between 3d and 4th Avenues. Matinee Tuesday and Friday.

HUBER'S 14TH ST. PALACE MUSEUM. Week of Dec. 14. All New Features.

WALLACE ROSS. P. J. RING, CHAMPION ALL-ROUND FENCING INSTRUCTOR.

MORRISSEY & LAMAR. Second eight songs and Marvellous Mind Readers.

NATION AGAINST NATION. INTERNATIONAL TUG-OF-W