Possibilities of a Match Between Sunol and Nancy Hanks.

Corbett May Agree to Meet the Irish Champion To-Morrow Night.

Horsemen are talking about the possibility of a match race between Robert Bonner's great Billy Sunol and J. Malcolm Forbes's wonderful Billy Hanks. The latter has a record of 2.09, and there are those who think she is the superior of the sensational Eclipse mare. It is understood that Mr. Forbes is not unwilling to trot for charity, the entire race receipts to go to such charities as he and Mr. Bonner might agree upon. The meeting between these two would be the biggest trotting event the world has known, and it is considered by horsemen the only way to settle the question of superiority.

The annual report of the Manhattan Athletic Club is a voluminous document, and, while some obtuse members may complain that parts of it might have been made more intelligible, especially the reference to expenditures on the Manhattan field, the report is very interesting. It shows that the management is very sensitive about criticism, and it may serve as an excellent campaign document for the "reform" element. If judiciously analyzed it is not unlikely to add considerable voting strength to the opposition. For the election to be held Dec. 28 from 5 to 10 P. M. President Carr has appointed as tellers Messrs. W. B. Baggs, M. H. Eskin, A. E. Pressinger, A. H. Curtis and E. J. Kerr. Treasurer Henry Thompson has reported the profits of the various departments for the fiscal year were $33,680.83.

Billy Madden says the show at Madison Square Garden to-morrow night will be first class all the way through. It is just possible that Jim Corbett may meet Peter Maher after all. When Jim sees how much money he is in the house he may decide that it is worth his while to go on, as Madden has promised to give him half the receipts. Slavin and Mitchell may also be in the line of exhibition, and if they do some lively business may be expected. Billy Dacey, Mike Brennan, George Wright, and other good sparrers will be at the show.

Jim Pilkington, a well-known member of the Manhattan Athletic Club, has been elected to the position of president of the club. He will shoot at 100 King birds for a $150 trophy at Manhattan field on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 22, at 10 o'clock. The American Shooting Association will govern the contest, which will be an interesting one.

The annual boxing tournament of the Pastime Athletic Club is announced to take place about the middle of next month. The event will be held at the Madison Square Garden, and will undoubtedly be selected. The classes open to all amateurs: 108 pounds and under, 135 and under, 150 and under, 175 and under, and 200 and under. The tournament will be limited to eight men each weighing 135 pounds and under. The entries close Jan. 9, with A. J. Merrett, 327 East Twenty-third street.

The set-off between Pat Cahill, of the Scotch-Americans, and Tim Butler, of the Virginia Club, is the great card of the boxing entertainment at the Casino on Dec. 18 (to-night at the Clermont Avenue rink, Brooklyn). There are other well-matched pairs of boxers in the programme, but the Cahill-Butler go is the real attraction. Both men have done the finest training and each will try to make the most of his line. Cahill is the favorite at 100 to 80.

Andy Bowen, the light-weight champion of Louisiana, is training industriously in Louisiana, at West End, New Orleans, for his fight with Billy Moran at the Metropolitan Athletic Club, Dec. 20, for $1,500. Bowen now weighs 137 pounds and does not expect to train any more. He has had a few tests. Gibbons is training at Robertson's at 143, St. Louis, Miss., in company with Jimmy Carroll, Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Gibbons.

Frank Rupp, of 1448 Third avenue, says he will back John L. Sullivan in the world for any 100-pound fighter in the world for any amount.

The Produce Exchange bank will be the scene of a meeting at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow evening to organize the Produce Exchange Water Polo Club. The boys hope to get up a team that will give the Manhattan and New York Athletic clubs a hard fight.

Some of the 110-pound class fighters now have a chance to cover the deposit of $50 which Jack Lynch has made in the Amateur Athletic Union for a match with any one in his class. Lynch says he prefers Billy Murray or Jimmie Keenan, at St. Paul, Minn.

Too many "scrappers" were engaged for the New York Athletic Club's opening boxing bouts Dec. 21, and it is said that the engagements of Chapple Moran and Eddy Avery, George Wright and Billy Murray, Eddy Cahill and George Leland, and Eddie Moran and Tom Green, will have to be cancelled for the present. Eugene Horabacker and Pat Daly may do ten rounds.

There is a big list of entries for the annual boxing tournament of the Metropolitan Athletic Club at the Metropolitan Opera-House Tuesday and Friday evening. Harry E. Burroughs, the Olympic Bay State Oyster Bay Club, has decided to merge itself with the Seawanhaka, the resolution to that effect having been passed by the members. It will bring many enthusiastic members into the Seawanhaka club.

J. Hyder and Otto Ramer, both wrestlers and prominent members of the Star A. C., will not be allowed to take part in the A. C. championship contests to-morrow and Saturday nights. They were charged with having received money and the A. C. Committee found the charges sustained.

TALK OF THE STAGE WORLD.

Indisposition is Epidemic Among Theatrical People.

Will S. Rising's New Farce, "Tangled Up," Scores a Success.

Theatrical people just now seem to be suffering from an epidemic of indisposition. Thomas O. Scarborough, of "The Cad," is still laid up with his knee, and Manager Floyd said yesterday that he would not be able to appear until Saturday, when the plaster cast is to be removed from his leg. Monday night just before the curtain was to go up Mr. Floyd was notified that Miss Luth Carpenter, of "The Cad" company, was ill, threatened with pneumonia. He had to find a substitute, Charles Reed, of "Hess and Hines," who was seriously ill for a long time, and R.M. Shannon, of the Lyceum Theatre, has missed many performances of "Lady Bountiful."

Hart, of Hallett and Hart, as already told, has been victimized by a toe, and the sad case of young Decker, of Harrigan's, has been pretty widely discussed. Miss Alford has been under the weather for some time, Januschenko is ill and Modjeska has been seriously ailing. Fanny Davenport has successfully warded off a quinary sore throat, some of the symptoms of which prevented her playing some time ago. Langtry, in England, declares that she is laid up, and such nobody believes it, she is entitled to the benefit of the doubt. Lastly, a large number of managers feel sick—sick at heart with bad business and discouragement. It is really a case of wait-till-the-clouds-roll-by-Maegle.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons, who is to appear at Palmer's Theatre to-morrow afternoon in "What a Woman," is manager hunting. She says that "owing to unappreciated circumstances" her interest in the play is not so high as it was. She has been a good manager, but she has been unappreciated. Her interest in the play is not so high as it was. She has been a good manager, but she has been unappreciated.

Major Pond is to bring out a new lecturer called Paleologue. Paleologue is the artist who was discovered by Max O'Reilly and who executed the political cartoons that made him a name. He is now in the city and is expected to give a series of lectures. He is now in the city and is expected to give a series of lectures.

Ben Stern was in town yesterday. He says that Fanny Davenport is better and is playing as usual. She is still devoting herself entirely to "Cinderella." Her only engagement in New York this season will be in Harlem.

"Cinderella," it is said, will not go on the road when it ends its career at the Academy of Music, Dec. 27.

The Kendalls, when they open their new theatre in London, have announced their intention of presenting the play "The One-act Play" by Clyde Fitch that was produced here by one of the members of the Misses Vandegrift's company. The play is a comedy and is expected to be a success. The Kendalls are expected to be a success.

Miss Violet Vanbrugh, who was Mrs. Kendall's leading lady last season, before we got to the theatre, is now in the city. She is expected to be a success. She is expected to be a success.

Frank Dupree says that his opera, "King Calico," will positively be seen next May at the Metropolitan. It is expected to be a success. It is expected to be a success.

An English writer asserts that it takes a run of one hundred plays for the upholstery in a play to pay for the upholstery used in this city. It is expected to be a success. It is expected to be a success.

"Our business has been simply phenomenal through the entire West." Of course, if the contrary had been the case, correspondents please remember that your business has been simply phenomenal through the entire West. It is expected to be a success. It is expected to be a success.

The Christmas number of the Dramatic News is a year of beauty and a joy for all. It contains an awfully funny article by Bill Nye, entitled "Method and Mott in Play-Writing," and is illustrated by George S. Foster, John Templeton, Alfred Trimble, Clay M. Greene, Lew Rosen, ex-Judge Dittchen, Augustus Thomas, Gustave A. Kerner, Charles Alfred Byrne, Joseph Welch and number of others. The illustrations are capital.

Will S. Rising, the popular young tenor, formerly of the New York Casino Company, and who has been singing in the Metropolitan, has gone on the road with a new farce-comedy entitled "Tangled Up." It is expected to be a success. It is expected to be a success.

Why He Dressed Loud. "My son," said a New York merchant, "I should think Miss Fluttery would go back on you, and she's considered quite an heiress, too."

Will She Be Understood in Paris? Belle—That Prunty's French is atrocious, isn't it? Blanche—Yes, she has the Hoboken accent.

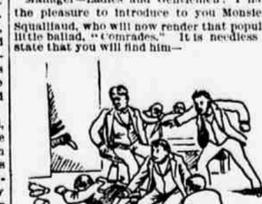

Hereditary. "Am-I wonder why Congressman Jugg Stinson won't wear socks?" "Maybe—Perhaps he was barefooted."

He sure and see Mrs. Winkler's Soothing Syrup. "He sure and see Mrs. Winkler's Soothing Syrup."

A BRILLIANT EXECUTION.

Manager—Ladies and Gentlemen: I have the pleasure to introduce to you Monsieur Squallid, who will now render that popular little ballad, "Tangled Up." It is needless to state that you will find him—

—A finished musician!

The Latest. (From Judge.)

Mr. Raymond Ilpe, who is an inveterate bicyclist, determines not to be deprived of the sport by the winter winds, and invents a bicycling box.

Tempered Toll. (From Judge.)

Roadside Hamlin—Say, Miley, this is d'arties' snap yet.

Miley—What is it? Roadside Hamlin—Oh, dame has piled her wood again 'd'arties' house, an' your uncle's been sawin' 'cheeses' for a quarter an hour.

An Accommodating Official. (From Judge.)

"Say, how do I get to the Grand Central Depot?" asked a Philadelphia man of a Third Avenue elevated gateman.

"Say what?"

"Say, how do I get to the Grand Central Depot?"

"How do I get to the Grand Central Depot? Anything else you want me to say?"

Good Cause for Complaint. (From Street & Smith's Good News.)

Major Murgatroyd—No, sir, I do not like the newspaper of today! Let me give you a little translation. Last week I met a reporter of the Moon—casually, you understand—and told him—casually—a good story about Judge Buncher's trial to my house, and the time we had. Made him promise he wouldn't publish it. See?

Major M.—He did. Then what do you suppose (wearily)—D'no.

Major M. (savagely)—He didn't publish it. Not a line, sir, not a line!

Not So Blind, &c. (From Judge.)

Vinley—Doctor, I believe I need a pair of eyeglasses. Last night I looked at my wife's dog and he seemed to have two tails.

Dr. Lens—Yes? Have you tried the gold cure?

Looking Both Ways. Mrs. Backup—Before we were married you called me your "black-eyed houri."

Backup—Yes; and my little blue-eyed, freckled, red-haired darling didn't murmur a word.

Why He Dressed Loud. "My son," said a New York merchant, "I should think Miss Fluttery would go back on you, and she's considered quite an heiress, too."

LAMBERT BROS., Cor. 58th St. and 3d Ave. BUTTON, NOT BULLET. NOT THE SAME CHAIR.

The Curious Missile Cut from a War Veteran. A curious missile was recently cut out of the limb of a prominent citizen of Mount Sterling, Pa., says the Philadelphia Times, who was wounded in the member in the first battle of Manassas.

The citizen, Major James Morrison, has suffered from periodical breaking out of the wound, which was situated in the calf, but, though probed for several times, all attempts to find the ball proved unsuccessful.

Friday, however, the doctors succeeded in recovering and removing the irritating body, when it was found to be no bullet, but a small iron nail, which had been driven into the calf by a horse.

The button is perfectly round and about the size of a buckshot, having a small link attached by which it was caught to a garment of the soldier's uniform. In all likelihood it was hastily crammed into the owner's musket when out of ammunition and in an emergency.
