

EXTRA. FIVE HAVE GONE.

That Many Notorious Dives Are Permanently Closed.

There Will Be None Left When the Crusade Is Ended.

The Excise Board Preparing to Revoke Other Licenses.

What a Tour of the Outlaw Infested Districts Revealed Last Night.

Each succeeding day brings an increase of good results growing out of the warfare THE EVENING WORLD has been waging in the public service against the outlaws of New York. The situation of affairs in the dive-infested districts to-day as contrasted with that of a few weeks ago tells the whole story. The results of the crusade so far, briefly told, are these: One outlaw sent to prison for a year, twelve others awaiting trial on indictments, five dives permanently closed and the liquor licenses under which three of them were conducted revoked by the Board of Excise; the police engaged in collecting evidence upon which other licenses are certain to be revoked, and the grand jury still busy flinging true bills of indictment against those of the outlaws who have so far escaped arrest.

FIVE PERMANENTLY CLOSED.

And Times Are Awfully Dull in the Surviving Dives.

The little blizzard that is sweeping over Manhattan Island to-day is of no significance compared with the cold wave of justice that is blowing from the East. The Evening World's anti-dive crusade, and in the midst of clothes, their pockets jingling with coin, the outlaw dive-keepers care little for the condition of the elements.

When the moral barometer, however, began to indicate a storm, the like of which they had not get under cover. The storm has struck them, and their dens, figuratively speaking, are being tumbled about by their heads.

This is what causes New York's outlaws to shiver and shake, and this is what has sent so icy chill through the thoroughfares where vice and debauchery were wont to hold carnival.

Last night saw no signs of returning life in the more than half-dozen monster, outlawry. Indeed, each day brings it end nearer, and the feeble struggles for life in some instances are like the despairing gasps that precede the outlaws' death-rattle.

Their conditions were especially deplorable in the Bowery and adjacent thoroughfares, where another outlaw made a quick retreat before the storm. THE EVENING WORLD has stirred up.

Simon Buttner, whose den at 304 Bowery, was exposed in the columns yesterday, read the truth in motion by the Evening World's denunciation, and he made a quick retreat before the storm. THE EVENING WORLD has stirred up.

These two dives were open. Ignatz Buttner, who is said to be the real proprietor of the dives at 304, kept his certificate at 204 Bowery, the "Orpheum," as wide open for business as usual. So did Louis Stajer at 255 Bowery. The former patrons of the now abandoned dives in the same neighborhood thronged into both these places in search of victims last night.

There were ten dives to one lamb, however, and the thugs soon turned to the street again, preferring to risk their chances for a "strike" when there was less opposition. The dives along the east side of the Bowery generally presented dark and cheerless interiors. Especially was this the case in Smith's, at 197; McGuirk's, at 233; the Lenox, at 371; Waltham's, at 285; McAleer's, at 290, and McCarthy's, at 327, all of whose dive-keepers were closed and deserted and the bars down a legitimate, and consequently not very extensive business.

The same state of affairs existed at John J. Murphy's Metropolitan dance hall, at 34 Bond street, where only the bar and pool-room were open.

The back rooms of Jim Sullivan's "Farley's Hotel" at 78 Third avenue, John Wulter's "Enterprise" at 78 University place, and Frank Stevenson's, at West Third and Thompson street, were also dark, dismal and unoccupied.

FIVE THAT ARE NO LONGER IN IT. Last night, too, for the first time, witnessed there was New York's worst dive, together tightly and permanently closed. They were Carey Welch's "Hole in the Wall," at 117 Fourth avenue; Manager Alfred Davis's Excise Exchange, at 330 Bowery; August Guidon's "French Hotel," or "Black and Tan," at 235 Sullivan street; Frank Stevenson's "Slide," at 219 Bleecker street, and Tom Gould's basement dive, at Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street.

The licenses of the first three of these resorts were revoked by the Board of Excise yesterday. The death of John J. Wogan, Tom Gould's "dummy," who was killed by gambler Joe Sellon, revoked the license to Mr. Gould's "cat," as he was pleased to call it.

Frank Stevenson's prompt flight has saved him so far from arrest, and the license held by his "dummy," John McCreu, will very likely be taken away by the Excise Board next Monday.

There was absolutely nothing of interest to be seen about any of these deserted and defunct dives last night, with the exception of the Excise Exchange. At Carey Welch's "Hole in the Wall," the big placard "Closed" had been removed from the window, but its presence there had been superfluous any way.

THE DESERTED EXCISE EXCHANGE. But the condition of the Excise Exchange was slightly humorous as well as pathetic. It was fun for sight-seers, but a funeral for Davis.

The single, dimly-burning gas jet over the bar cast sombre, melancholy rays through the deserted establishment, where less than two weeks ago an unnumbered number of vice had reigned from midnight until day-break, Sunday not excepted.

As if to emphasize the general gloom, a huge bouquet of choice cut flowers, doubtless the gift of some voracious former frequenter of the place, nestled in the middle of the bar.

Not a soul was to be seen in the place, both entrances were tightly locked, and the sidewalk near the sepulchral spot five females stood silently in a semicircle in the attitude of chief mourners, while further down the street, in front of the "Orpheum," a disreputable Manager DAVIS apparently dressed in black, received the condolences and sympathy of a coterie of toughs and thugs.

IS AFRAID OF WELCH'S PATRON. There was, too, a significant fact in connection with Carey Welch's dive that deserves passing notice.

Since the "Hole in the Wall" has been closed, the frequenters have been in the habit of dropping into the "rummer garden" of Chris Hink, just around the corner in the rear of Hink's saloon.

Although an entire absence of revelry has characterized these gatherings, Hink last night evidently became fearful and closed his garden light as a drum.

The grand jury still busy flinging true bills of indictment against those of the outlaws who have so far escaped arrest.

All these things have resulted from THE EVENING WORLD'S crusade, and the end is not yet. All of the outlaws must go.

The error that has set upon the dive-keepers may be illustrated by citing a single case. Outlaw Buttner, whose resort for robbers on the Bowery is known as a concert hall, closed his dive-avenue last night when the article in yesterday's EVENING WORLD, calling attention to his den was pointed out to him. Mr. Buttner simply follows the example set for him by "Honest" John Kelly and others.

The night is still on.

MORE LICENSES TO BE REVOKED.

Reputable Liquor Dealers Pleaded at the Excise Board's Action.

The action of the Excise Board at its meeting yesterday afternoon in revoking three licenses for the sale of liquor in three of the dives kept by as many of New York's outlaws meets with the hearty approval of all the reputable liquor dealers in the city.

The three dives affected by the Board's action were the "Orpheum," at 371 University place, the Excise Exchange, at 330 Bowery; Carey Welch's "Hole in the Wall," at 117 Fourth avenue, and August Guidon's "French Hotel," at 235 Sullivan street.

It did not take the board very long after hearing the testimony to reach the conclusion that the three dives were dives, and in an imperative necessity. The evidence produced against these places by the police was a revelation to the three commissioners, and especially to Commissioner Fitzpatrick, who declared that during nearly fifty years' residence in this city he had never before heard of such a place.

Of the three dive-keepers who were summoned to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked Al Davis alone appeared. In company with his counsel, Jos. Meas, of the firm of Howe & Hummel, and his bartender, Edward Livingston, he entered the examination room just as the charge of keeping a dive has been formally established against him. He did not take the stand, however, but allowed bartender Livingston to shoulder the burden of giving the Excise Exchange a good character, an impossible task. Mr. Livingston grew much confused while trying to answer the many pertinent questions put him, and made many rather worse for Mr. Davis. Livingston was glad to get away from the investigation.

The Excise Board will have another meeting next Monday at which the matter of revoking the liquor licenses held by or for the proprietors of other dives exposed by THE EVENING WORLD will be called up and the same consideration will be given to the places which the Board asked the police to investigate and report upon as the following:

- "Honest" John Kelly's, 320 Sixth avenue. James McCormick's (licensed to John Gleason), 328 Sixth avenue. Frank Stevenson's (licensed to John McGuirk), 219 Bleecker street.

Jim Sullivan's Farley's Hotel (licensed to Peter F. Matthews, 78 Third avenue. The saloon at 72 University place (licensed to John Wulter). The saloon at 78 West Third street (licensed to John Maher). The saloon at 253 Bowery (licensed to John H. McGuirk). The saloon at 134 and 136 East Fourteenth street (licensed to Charles A. Berthold). 285 Bowery, Louis Waltham. 290 Bowery, John J. McAleer. 327 Bowery, Paul McCarthy. 243 Seventh, Louis Loeber. 1347 Broadway, Daniel Scitner. 34 Bond street, John J. Murphy. Louis Stajer, 255 Bowery. Ignatz Buttner, 204 Bowery. Josephine Smith, 107 Bowery.

TO-MORROW AT GUTTENBURG

An Improved Programme of Racing to Be Run Off.

The severe snow storm which prevailed this morning caused the Hudson county Jockey Club to postpone the races scheduled to be run off at North Bergen.

They have decided to let to-day's entries stand for to-morrow which are given below.

The feature of the programme is the race for two-year-olds. The distance is only three furlongs. Some of the youngsters were very contestants in the Innovation stakes and are well known. The others have never been to the post before.

Prince Howard, Xenophon, Marie Lovell and others meet at six and a half furlongs, and Text, Birdseye, Sandstone, Joe Courtney and Glenloch will try conclusions at a mile. The track will probably be heavy. The entries for the different events are as follows:

First Race—Purse $400, for beaten horses, three-quarters of a mile. 119 Defiant, 119. 118 Berrado, 118. 117 Village Time, 117. 116 St. Patrick, 116. 115 St. Mary, 115. 114 St. Patrick, 114. 113 St. Mary, 113. 112 St. Patrick, 112. 111 St. Mary, 111. 110 St. Patrick, 110. 109 St. Mary, 109. 108 St. Patrick, 108. 107 St. Mary, 107. 106 St. Patrick, 106. 105 St. Mary, 105. 104 St. Patrick, 104. 103 St. Mary, 103. 102 St. Patrick, 102. 101 St. Mary, 101. 100 St. Patrick, 100. 99 St. Mary, 99. 98 St. Patrick, 98. 97 St. Mary, 97. 96 St. Patrick, 96. 95 St. Mary, 95. 94 St. Patrick, 94. 93 St. Mary, 93. 92 St. Patrick, 92. 91 St. Mary, 91. 90 St. Patrick, 90. 89 St. Mary, 89. 88 St. Patrick, 88. 87 St. Mary, 87. 86 St. Patrick, 86. 85 St. Mary, 85. 84 St. Patrick, 84. 83 St. Mary, 83. 82 St. Patrick, 82. 81 St. Mary, 81. 80 St. Patrick, 80. 79 St. Mary, 79. 78 St. Patrick, 78. 77 St. Mary, 77. 76 St. Patrick, 76. 75 St. Mary, 75. 74 St. Patrick, 74. 73 St. Mary, 73. 72 St. Patrick, 72. 71 St. Mary, 71. 70 St. Patrick, 70. 69 St. Mary, 69. 68 St. Patrick, 68. 67 St. Mary, 67. 66 St. Patrick, 66. 65 St. Mary, 65. 64 St. Patrick, 64. 63 St. Mary, 63. 62 St. Patrick, 62. 61 St. Mary, 61. 60 St. Patrick, 60. 59 St. Mary, 59. 58 St. Patrick, 58. 57 St. Mary, 57. 56 St. Patrick, 56. 55 St. Mary, 55. 54 St. Patrick, 54. 53 St. Mary, 53. 52 St. Patrick, 52. 51 St. Mary, 51. 50 St. Patrick, 50. 49 St. Mary, 49. 48 St. Patrick, 48. 47 St. Mary, 47. 46 St. Patrick, 46. 45 St. Mary, 45. 44 St. Patrick, 44. 43 St. Mary, 43. 42 St. Patrick, 42. 41 St. Mary, 41. 40 St. Patrick, 40. 39 St. Mary, 39. 38 St. Patrick, 38. 37 St. Mary, 37. 36 St. Patrick, 36. 35 St. Mary, 35. 34 St. Patrick, 34. 33 St. Mary, 33. 32 St. Patrick, 32. 31 St. Mary, 31. 30 St. Patrick, 30. 29 St. Mary, 29. 28 St. Patrick, 28. 27 St. Mary, 27. 26 St. Patrick, 26. 25 St. Mary, 25. 24 St. Patrick, 24. 23 St. Mary, 23. 22 St. Patrick, 22. 21 St. Mary, 21. 20 St. Patrick, 20. 19 St. Mary, 19. 18 St. Patrick, 18. 17 St. Mary, 17. 16 St. Patrick, 16. 15 St. Mary, 15. 14 St. Patrick, 14. 13 St. Mary, 13. 12 St. Patrick, 12. 11 St. Mary, 11. 10 St. Patrick, 10. 9 St. Mary, 9. 8 St. Patrick, 8. 7 St. Mary, 7. 6 St. Patrick, 6. 5 St. Mary, 5. 4 St. Patrick, 4. 3 St. Mary, 3. 2 St. Patrick, 2. 1 St. Mary, 1.
