

CROWDS AT THE HORSE SHOW.

Society Turns Out Early to Admire Sleek-Coated Equines.

Engines drawing Sixth and Ninth Avenue Elevated trains to Harlem to-day carried on their bellies signs reading, "To the Horse Show." And every Harlem train on these roads carried an increased number of passengers, nearly all of whom were bound for Madison Field, at Eighth Avenue and One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Street, where the United States Horse and Cattle Show's outdoor exhibition is in progress.

The interest of the crowds that attended the show this morning was centered in the handsome animals who bore off prizes yesterday. None came in for so large a share of attention as the celebrated Foxhall, who was entered by William Easton, as agent for Lord Rosebery, his owner.

Foxhall himself took his thirty-fifth birthday very much as a matter of course, and today he seemed in a contented mood as he occasionally glanced towards the stall for his smartest rival for the prize of stations.

S. Russell's gray imported Kismet, who was declared the best Arabian stallion, was also much admired. George Pepper, of Toronto, smiled as he added to the mass of blue ribbons over his stall another won by his bay gelding Jumper Hammarck and a yellow one carried by his bay gelding Quenestery.

Freddie Gebhard carried languidly upon congratulation on the success of his chestnut gelding, His Highness, who captured the blue ribbon in class 46 for harness horses, and Harry Hamilton, of Buffalo, proudly pointed out his brown mare, Gladys and Queen, who won the first prize for best and best appointed tandem.

One of the most enjoyable features of the show is the jumping. The splendid greenward furnishes the field, and the spectators are the genuine article brought up from Long Island for the purpose. They consist of the regular horse holder, an orthodox rail fence, a double rail fence, a three-rail six-inch stone wall, a swinging hurdle and a barred gate.

The horses realize that these obstructions are real, and one rider yesterday took a header in a style that evoked a chorus of screams from the ladies in the grand stands. Fortunately there was no ditch full of water behind the stone wall that caused his fall.

An interesting feature of the show is the presence of the inner circle and the outer fringe of society. The fashionables decked to the grounds to-day in increased numbers and enlivened the boxes and aisles with their rich costumes. Many affect a "horse" style of dress, especially the men.

Cappa's band gives afternoon and evening concerts at the show, and the "horse" tendency crops out on the programme, which contains such numbers as "Bronze Horse" gallop, "Horse Show" gallop, "Post Horn" gallop, "Fox Hunting" scene fantasia, "Postilion" waltz, "The Old-Time Coach" fantasia and "Wild Chase" gallop.

Col. James J. Coogan, owner of the grounds, was early on hand this morning ready to assist the Society's officers by any means in his power. If the show is not a success it will not be Col. Coogan's fault.

Saddle and other horses for sale were shown in the ring this morning. This afternoon and evening the programme is as follows: 3 P. M.—Judging horses suitable for making harness, class 5.

3 P. M.—Judging trotters, classes 7, 8, 10 and 11. 3:30 P. M.—Judging harness horses, classes 42 and 43. 4 P. M.—Judging ponies under saddle, classes 68 and 69.

4:30 P. M.—Judging hackney stallions, classes 21 and 22. 5 P. M.—Judging high steppers exceeding 15.1, class 21. 8:30 P. M.—Judging horses showing the best performance over six consecutive jumps, not under 5 feet nor exceeding 5 feet 6 inches in height, class 37.

8:30 P. M.—Parade of all prize winners, to be led or ridden. 9:30 P. M.—Judging harness race, class 107. 9:30 P. M.—Judging harness horse, class 45.

FROM THE WORLD OF LABOR.

The cigar-makers of Peoria, Ill., are on strike for an advance of wages. The Frisco Painters' Union of Philadelphia has ordered a general strike for eight hours at 4:30 P. M.

The Horse-shoers' Union at Oakland, Cal., has gained the nine-hour day in every shop of that city. The journeymen stair-builders of Chicago have settled their differences with their bosses by means of arbitration.

The amalgamation of Builders' Unions in the United States is progressing. Last week several numbers of No. 10 joined No. 2. There is an agitation among the engravers of the printed-mills throughout the country towards a reduction of the hours of labor.

Four Boston cloth hat and cap manufacturers, going to the agitation of Joseph Lawrence, have conceded to their workmen the nine-hour day. The Brotherhood of Steam Printers at Danbury, Ill., upon solicitation on the part of their employers, have reduced their hours of labor to the ten-hour day.

The Frisco Painters' Union charges that anti-unionists are using "black" painters in Larrabee, finishing jobs for Limer & Co., the contractor, whose union painters went out for eight hours.

At the sixth annual session of the K. of L. S. of A. at Atlanta a resolution was adopted to call for a general strike in the State to support the platform and candidates of the People's party.

Cigar-Makers' Union No. 32 elected: L. J. Hill, President; William Herbert, Vice-President; Martin Metzger, Recording and Corresponding Secretary; John O'Lea, Financial Secretary; John S. Smith, Treasurer; Nelson McGruder, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Australian General Laborers' Union, at its present annual conference in Sydney, has determined the following demands: Forty-eight hours per week; overtime, one and one-half times; Sunday work, double pay; no boys under fourteen to be employed; standards wages not to be less than $0.25 per week.

The Strike Committee of Cabinet-Makers' Union No. 2 received a despatch yesterday from Chicago stating that the mosaic workers in that city cannot work because no material is coming from this city. The strikers were paid their weekly benefit.

Jacob Huber has been unanimously re-elected Secretary of Brewers' Union No. 1. The office of the organization was removed to 85 East Fourth Street. The union has no material coming from this city. The strikers were paid their weekly benefit.

At this evening's session of the Harmony convention the Organization Committee is to submit its plan of organization, which includes the main features of the constitution of the central Labor Union as it was in 1890, with some additions considered to be in keeping with the present condition of the labor movement.

The members of carpenters' Union No. 814, who went on strike to assist the cabinet-makers in their fight for eight hours, have not yet been recognized by the district council, but will march upon their rights at next Thursday's meeting of the Council.

The capmakers of Marx Brothers, 217 Allen Street, at a strike because three members of the union were, it is alleged, discharged without sufficient cause. The capmakers of Harris & Co., 107 Greene Street, struck against a reduction of wages amounting to 25 per cent. The headquarters of the strikers is at 91 Delancey Street.

The co-operative brewery established by saloon-keepers and consumers of San Francisco is turning out 200 barrels of beer per day. Only union men are employed, who work nine hours per day and receive double wages for work on Saturdays. About 65 per cent. of the men own their homes, and every one is a citizen, or has at least declared his intention to become such.

President Thompson addressed the locked-out furriers yesterday, encouraging them not to resume work unless the eight-hour day be related to them. He had the American Federation of Labor would assist them. One of the pickets, Miss Pasternak, reported to the strikers that the furriers intended that she had been assaulted by a boss when she was watching his shop on Mercer Street. The boss will be prosecuted. In the evening the Union paraded through several streets before assembling at Beethoven Hall, where the marching took place.

Street-car tie-ups were announced this morning from Cleveland, O., and Buffalo, N. Y. At Grand crossing, near Bridge, striking iron-workers employed on the World's Fair were clubbed by the police for interfering with the traffic.

Weak and Weary

Indigestion, Distress, Sour Stomach, Palpitation

The lady whose portrait we give above belongs to a sect noted for their fidelity, industry and piety. She writes us voluntarily as follows: "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

"I feel it an imperative duty to make known what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I have been troubled with indigestion for many years, and have suffered much distress, dizziness and sour stomach. At night I would have fainting fits, and would wake suddenly with an all-over feeling and palpitation of the heart. It was often necessary for some one to rub me to bring on a reaction of the heart. I had these symptoms frequently. With these troubles I also had scientific humors that kept me for at least 15 years, mostly in winter. At times I could hardly move. Work became such a burden I began to quit. But I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has helped me wonderfully. I was very much reduced when I began with it, but have been so much relieved that my looks are improved.

I am Growing Young. Instead of old, I am 52 years old, weigh more than I ever did, do all my own work, and can milk nine cows with more ease than I could milk one last winter. I can go to bed and sleep, and wake up as fresh as a daisy.

Hood's Sarsaparilla does not weaken, but aids digestion and tones the stomach. Try them.

with "scabs." A strike of furniture-workers at the American car works in St. Louis is in progress for the abolition of piece work. The St. Louis laborers went out to get ten hours. At Newburgh, N. Y., carpenters demand seven hours. In Fall River the weavers are uneasy over the employment of children. At Springfield, Mass., surface road laborers strike for more pay, and in St. Louis, Mo., Quincy, Mass., Concord, N. H., and other places of New England a general lock-out of quartermen has been threatened involving about 25,000 men.
