LAST EDITION. ANNA'S SUIT LOST

Miss Dickinson's Claim Thrown Out on a Technicality. She Sued the Republican National Committee for an Unpaid Bill.

Anna Dickinson's suit against the Republican National Committee of 1888 for $1,250, the balance alleged to be due her for speeches made in behalf of Harrison's candidacy, was dismissed by Justice Truax today in Part II. of the Supreme Court.

The complaint was dismissed—not on the merits of the case, but on legal technicalities. After Miss Dickinson had told in her most dramatic manner how James S. Clarkson, W. W. Dudley, M. S. Quay and Samuel Fessenden had engaged her to deliver the country and had promised her $125 each, and agreed to their honor as gentlemen, that if Harrison, who had specially asked for her as a leader of his cause, was elected, she should receive $1,250 more, and Col. Dudley had done impressively that there was any such contract, and that she had moved the deactivation of the complaint on the ground that Miss Dickinson had sued the committee, while her testimony clearly showed that it she had any claim of action at all it was against the members of the committee, and because she alleged that she was not a party to the contract, which forbids the expenditure of money for any election purposes save printing, carriage hire and the like.

Justice Truax, in his opinion, said that the contract was void because it was made for an illegal purpose, and that the committee was not bound to pay it. He also said that the contract was void because it was made for an illegal purpose, and that the committee was not bound to pay it.

LORD SALISBURY'S PERIL. His Carriage Wrecked in a Runaway, but He Escapes Unhurt.

M. Raymond Reappears in Paris—General Cable News.

London, May 26.—Lord Salisbury, the Prime Minister, was proceeding through St. James street this afternoon, when the spirited team of horses attached to his carriage took fright at something in the street and, taking the bits in their teeth, bolted.

The carriage came in collision with another in the middle of the roadway and was overturned. A crowd quickly assembled and Lord Salisbury was assisted out of the carriage through a window. He was severely shaken up but was quite cool.

In response to anxious inquiries from the bystanders he declared that he was hurt in no way.

The coachman was thrown heavily from the box and sustained severe injuries. Lord Salisbury appeared to be more concerned about him than about himself. He asked after him repeatedly, and, after giving directions as to his proper attendance, proceeded to his destination in a cab. His carriage was completely wrecked.

M. REYMOND REAPPEARS. He Bought His Mother's Home After the Paris Murder.

Paris, May 26.—M. Raymond, who disappeared immediately after the shooting of Mme. Delaporte-Lassimonne by Mme. Raymond last Saturday night, has been found.

It transpires that immediately after the terrible scene in the apartment in the Rue du Rocher, where Mme. Raymond had found her husband and Mme. Delaporte-Lassimonne, M. Raymond went to the home of his mother, where he remained in seclusion until yesterday.

The police had made inquiries at the house of the elder Mme. Raymond, but had accepted her assurances that she had not seen her son for several days.

Yesterday M. Raymond went before a magistrate and narrated all the incidents of the tragedy. He was confronted with his wife, and the scene between them was most affecting.

It is very evident that Mme. Raymond is deeply in love with her husband, and that the latter, though he has treated her shamefully, has much affection for her.

BARONDESS IN THE TOMBS. Strikers Hear Good News. They Believe the Granite Manufacturers Will Capitulate.

They Believe the Granite Manufacturers Will Capitulate. Relaying of Old Paying Blocks by Non-Union Workmen.

Joseph Barondess, ex-convict of the Cloakmakers' Union, whose conviction for extorting $100 from Popkins & Marks, cloak manufacturers at Broadway and Bow, was on Tuesday affirmed by the court of Appeals, surrendered himself to the District-Attorney this forenoon and was committed by Justice Ingraham in the court of over and Term, to serve his sentence of one year and nine months in State prison.

Barondess has for some months been running a restaurant at 111 Fulton street, Boston. He came to New York last yesterday afternoon, and last night addressed a meeting of cloakmakers at 125 Livingston street.

Accompanied by Lawyer Joseph Moss, his counsel, he went to the District-Attorney's office in the city, where several friends including James P. Archibald, of the central Labor Union, were waiting for him. Barondess talked testily of his sentence.

"I am going to prison for a good cause," he said to an EVENING WORLD reporter, "and I am satisfied. I am the victim of a conspiracy, but I don't see why my wife and the little children should be made to suffer. I was unjustly convicted, though I am not the first man to go to jail in the course of labor."

At noon Detective Trainer arraigned Barondess before Justice Ingraham, who formally committed him to the Tombs. Barondess was tried and convicted of extortion before Justice Van Brunt, in May, 1894, and was sentenced as stated. The general term of the Supreme Court reversed the judgment, but the District-Attorney appealed to the court of Appeals with the result that Barondess is in the Tombs.

The Democratic Convention of the State of Washington adjourned Mr. Cleveland, but retaining the right to elect Blaine.

IN LARRUBIO'S DEFENSE. Evidence that the Man He Killed Had Threatened Him.

The trial of Leonardo Larrubio for the murder of Vincenzo Rivetto in a Baxter street tenement Nov. 18 last was resumed today before Justice Ingraham and a jury in the Court of Over and Term.

Lawyer Stephen S. Blake opened the case for the defense. He acknowledged the killing of Rivetto, but declared that the man he killed was justifiable in view of the fact that Larrubio was lying upon the ground at the time he was shot, and that he was being kicked and stamped upon by Rivetto.

Police Sergeant Welch testified to the appearance of Rivetto at the time he was shot. He declared that Rivetto had been engaged in a struggle.

A half dozen Italians testified that Rivetto had declared that he would bring the blood out of the skull of Larrubio, thinking that he meant to kill him.
