

the United States, as well as from far-off England. To all inquiries it may be stated by one who is entirely disinterested that contributions of any and every kind will be thankfully accepted. The special need, however, will be money, as homes for the homeless must be secured as soon as new bridges be built to take the place of those swept away. The money received will be judiciously expended, as the members of the various committees embrace the best-known citizens, whose honesty and business capacity has never been questioned.

The loss sustained will approximate at least $2,000,000. This includes the buildings destroyed, bridges swept away and the damage done to the various streets throughout the city. The telegraph operators here have worked hard and faithfully, some of them never leaving their chairs since early Sunday morning. In addition to the vast amount of food and other matter sent out they have handled an unusually large number of messages from friends and relatives, as well as the telegrams of inquiry and contributions. Though tired and weary with their long hours and loss of sleep they continue at their work uncomplainingly, realizing that a terrible disaster has befallen their city and that they must do their part to aid in its restoration.

The coroner's jury this morning made a trip over the ground where the lives were lost, picking up information. The men on the jury have no doubt that the disaster could not have been averted.

Mayor Grant Will Receive Funds. Mayor Grant said this morning that he had received no request, either from the authorities of Titusville or Old City, or from the Corporation of Pennsylvania for subscriptions in aid of the sufferers by the fire and flood at those cities, but that he was willing to receive and forward any contributions that the people of New York might make for this purpose, and would see that such funds were forwarded to the proper authorities.

SCOTCH VERDICT FOR LISSNER. His Accuser Failed to Prove that He Had Defrauded Any One. Mayor's Marshal English rendered a Scotch verdict this morning in the case of Cecil Lissner, of 1972 Broadway, who was before him on a very serious charge preferred by Pawnbroker W. A. Glover, of 102 West Thirty-ninth street. Lissner had opened a pawnshop in the place formerly occupied by Glover, and the latter alleges that customers of his who paid at his old place to renew pledges and pay interest have been defrauded. He says that Lissner accepted interest and granted attention on pledges left with him, and when the owners finally learned that he (Glover) had moved and called on him to return their pledges they found they had been swindled. Lissner did not produce his witnesses, because, he said, the witness desired publicity in the matter. The Mayor's Marshal left Lissner off with a caution, threatening to revoke his license if the offense alleged was repeated by him.

An Old Fellow's Home Deducted. (Special to the Evening World.) Hollis, L. I., June 7.—The large and handsome building at this place recently purchased and improved for an old fellow's home, was dedicated this afternoon with imposing ceremonies. Dedications from many lodges were present.

TWO WEDDINGS, ONE DIVORCE. Mrs. Allen No. 1 Claims Both Marriages Preceded the Decree. Sues Her Husband for Abandonment and His Parents for Damages. A suit brought by Mrs. Margaret D. Allen, of 23 Columbus avenue, New York, against Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Johnson, lessees and managers of the Getty House, Yonkers, on the charge of abducting her husband's affections, is pending before Judge Barnard in White Plains. The suit involves the sensational features of a young man's secret marriage against his parents' wishes, the desertion of the bride, the alleged second marriage of the husband before having obtained a divorce from his first wife, and finally one of the legal separations furnished by a judicial nuptial in the slot machine in Dakota.

Mrs. Allen's young husband was a stepson of Mrs. Johnson. She was Miss Margaret Kennedy, Allen and she met in 1883 while the Johnsons were running the Rhode Island House at Westbury, N. Y. They became engaged and were secretly married on Nov. 27 of that year by Rev. S. R. Hodge, of New York. They returned to Westbury and kept the marriage secret. On Jan. 31, 1884, Allen left his bride, saying that he wanted to be independent and would go out West and make a fortune. That was the last Mrs. Allen heard of her husband until 1890. In the meantime the Johnsons leased the Getty House, in Yonkers. In the summer of 1890 Allen suddenly appeared as manager of the Getty House. He was wearing a dark suit and a heavy black veil. She recognized him as her husband and he refused to have anything to do with her. Mrs. Allen, who claims to have found out about Allen's second marriage and to have discovered that Allen was living with the second Mrs. Allen at the Getty House, before proceedings were commenced against her, it is now an open fact that he went to Dakota and secured a divorce from Mrs. Allen No. 1 on the claim that he was drunk when he married her. After Allen went away the Johnsons took charge of the Getty House. The second Mrs. Allen lives with them. The first Mrs. Allen has sued Mr. and Mrs. Johnson for abducting her husband's affections. She has also sued Mr. Allen for abandoning her. The latter case will come up June 17.

MR. MYERS'S LATEST DISCOVERY. More Than Two Charitable Institutions Overpaid by the City. Comptroller Myers has discovered discrepancies in the accounts of other charitable institutions besides the two previously reported to him, which receive aid from the city at the rate of $2 a week for each child under their care. As in the other instances, the Comptroller declines to make public the names of the institutions.

PERCY CRANE ARRESTED. Accused of Misappropriating Money of His Jewelry Firm. Percy D. Crane, the former agent for the jewelry firm of Hancock & Becker, was arrested today on an order of arrest issued by Judge Beach of the Supreme Court. In a suit brought by the firm against Crane to recover $418, the amount said to be misappropriated by him while employed by the firm.

BUCHANAN IN COURT. The Alleged Wife-Murderer Obtains a Delay of One Day. Suspected of Poisoning a Woman He Had Married for Money. His Arrest Due to Statements Made by Her Former Lover. Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, of 507 West Eleventh street, appeared at the District Attorney's office at 10 o'clock this morning for arraignment on the charge of having killed his wife, Anne B. Buchanan, by the administration of poison. It was the intention to have Dr. Buchanan arraigned before Judge Martin in Part I. of the court of General Sessions at 11 o'clock today, but at the request of the accused's attorneys, Charles E. Davidson and Charles Brooks, a postponement was granted until 11 o'clock tomorrow. The doctor was accompanied by the woman whom he remarried a month after his second wife's death. They were conducted into the District Attorney's private room, in which a long consultation was held by the doctor and his counsel.

Mrs. Buchanan had evidently been suffering more than her husband over the accusations. She wore a figure black satin dress, a black bonnet and a heavy black veil. She looked so badly that her husband's eyes were turned into the District Attorney's office, and kept her face turned from the view of others. When inside the office she lifted her veil and it was seen she had been crying. Her hair was tangled and disheveled, and her face was very pale. Mrs. Buchanan looked pale and careworn, and would speak to no one but his attorney. The latter stated that the course of disease had not yet been decided on. If the autopsy shows that death was due to poisoning, it is probable the claim will be made that the second Mrs. Buchanan took an overdose of morphine.

Dr. Robert W. Buchanan married Mrs. Becker, the woman he is accused of having murdered, in November, 1890. Previous to that he had been divorced from his first wife, Anne B. Buchanan, by Judge Martin in Part I. of the court of General Sessions at 11 o'clock today, but at the request of the accused's attorneys, Charles E. Davidson and Charles Brooks, a postponement was granted until 11 o'clock tomorrow. The doctor was accompanied by the woman whom he remarried a month after his second wife's death. They were conducted into the District Attorney's private room, in which a long consultation was held by the doctor and his counsel.

A helping hand to lift up weak, tired, overworked women—that's what you'll find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives you just the help that you need. It's a medicine that's made especially to build up women's strength and cure women's ailments—an invigorating, restorative tonic, perfectly cordial, and having no harmful, purely vegetable, and perfectly harmless. It regulates and promotes all the functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels acids and pain, is especially and nervously, brings rest, induces sleep, and restores health and strength. What's the use of "trying" this and "trying" that? When here is a remedy that's guaranteed. In all the 1700s, treatments, irregularities, and weakness peculiar to the sex, periodical pains, irregular menstruation, and all the "female troubles" fail to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It has been alleged that she acquired a small fortune as the keeper of a disorderly house, which she gave to her husband, Dr. Buchanan, after his death. After his death she married Dr. Buchanan. A woman who had provided for her and she moved to Newark, where she married Dr. Buchanan six months before her death.

Dr. Buchanan and she moved to 217 West Eleventh street, a house said to have been purchased by Mrs. Buchanan's father. Mrs. Buchanan died April 25. She was 40 years of age. Her husband, Dr. Buchanan, was 54 years of age. He died of a disease of the lungs, and his death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, and Dr. Buchanan signed a certificate to that effect.

About a month after Mrs. Buchanan's death Dr. Buchanan returned to Holland and married Dr. Buchanan's daughter. He returned with her to his home in West Eleventh street, Newark, N. J., where he lived with her until about three weeks ago. Dr. Buchanan, who is said to have been a former lawyer and at one time the reputed husband of Mrs. Buchanan, called upon Dr. Buchanan and suggested that an inquiry into Mrs. Buchanan's death be made. He stated that Mrs. Buchanan had been suffering from a disease of the lungs, and that she had been treated by Dr. Buchanan. On Their Imperial Yachts They Enter the Harbor at Kiel. Kiel, June 7.—At 9 o'clock this morning Emperor William boarded the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern and started for Friedrichsruh to meet the Czar. The Hohenzollern was escorted by a dispatch boat and another yacht. The yard of the vessels were manned and the Russian colors were hoisted. An hour later the Hohenzollern returned in company with the Russian Imperial yacht Polar Star, on board of which was the Czar. Following closely in the wake of the Imperial yachts came the Russian war-ships Tsarova and Admiral Korniloff. The Russian Imperial fleet was joyfully cheered upon entering the harbor by the crews of the German warships and merchantmen lying there in honor of the Imperial visitor.

WAY OFF COLOR. The hue of health! Who can mistake it? The white brow, the deepened tint of the cheek, these associated with brightness and animation of the eye, a cheery expression of the countenance, are infallible indices that the liver is performing its functions actively, and that consequent digestion and the bowels are unobstructed. However, the complexion and eyeballs have a sallow tint, or the face is drawn and void of brightness and animation, the bilious gland is almost certain to be out of order. Keely's discovery, speedily, thoroughly, with the permanent, antiseptic, specific, Howells' Stomach Bitters, which promptly remedies not only the above outward and visible signs of biliousness, but also the sick headache, constipation, vertigo, air upon the tongue, nausea, and all the other ailments which characterize it. The liver is always seriously injured in matters, for which the Bitters is a sovereign specific. The medicine remedies with equal promptness, rheumatism, kidney complaint, dyspepsia, rheumatism and nervousness.
