

OUR THEATRES NEXT WEEK.

Millocke's "Vice-Admiral" to Be Sung at the Casino.

The Programme for Summer-Night Concerts at Lenox Lyceum.

The last performance of the "Child of Fortune" will be given at the Casino Tuesday night, and on Wednesday Carl Millocke's comic opera, "The Vice-Admiral," will be sung for the first time in this city in English.

The Summer-night concerts at the Lenox Lyceum will undoubtedly become popular. Beginning Monday night the programmes will be arranged as follows: Mondays, miscellaneous music; Tuesdays, American songs; Wednesdays, vocal nights, with well-known artists; Thursdays, classic compositions; Fridays, instrumental solo nights; Saturdays, operatic music, and Sundays, request programmes.

At Palmer's Theatre "Juniper" reigns in a high and mighty way. The play is a story of the warm weather. Dicky Bell works as hard as ever, and it is said that he never complains even when he thinks of his brother artists, enjoying themselves in Europe. The fifth performance will shortly be celebrated by the distribution of souvenirs.

Miss Ada Gray, who never grows weary, will begin an engagement Monday night at the Windsor Theatre, when she will present "East Lynne," the play with which she has been successfully associated for so many years. The piece will have a good cast and will be handsomely staged. After this engagement the Windsor will close until Aug. 15.

The reunion of Lester and Allen will be celebrated at Tony Pastor's Theatre next week. These artists will appear after a two-year separation. Other attractions will be John and James Russell, Lottie Thorton, Martin and Rose Julian, Little Bonnie Thorton, Katie Rooney, Miss Minkoff, Saturday Brown and Harrison, Laura Bennett and Houcifer.

The Eden Musee is a delightful resort these warm days. Its sliding ring is used with excellent results, and in July it will probably be even more effective. Powell continues to enliven the programme with new feats, and Monday, the Japanese juggler, is still there. The Hungarian band gives two concerts daily.

"The Golden Giant" will be next week's attraction at the Columbus Theatre, Harlem, and with its withdrawal Mr. Hammerstein's successful season will end. "The Golden Giant" was originally made known by George Hanks and his troupe, and the present cast will include Wright Huntington, Jessie West, Jennie Kennard, Harry Colton, E. L. Saunders and W. T. Melville.

At the Broadway Theatre, "The Golden Giant" will be next week's attraction. The programme is most interesting, musically, and the attendance this week has been exceedingly large.

"Old Joe Prouty" is still to be seen at Frederick's Twenty-third Street Theatre, with Richard Gordon as the star. The character of the old innkeeper is a delightfully quaint creation, and Mr. Gordon loses none of the many opportunities that it offers. This theatre is to be kept open through the summer months.

GOSSIP OF RING AND FIELD.

This afternoon the delegates to the K. of L. Shoe Worker's National Assembly, now in session at 52 Union square, will attend the picnic of the Shoe Workers at the Brooklyn Labor Lyceum.

The English-speaking Socialists of Chicago, in their declaration of independence, have taken action with the People's party; their German-speaking comrades are opposed to such a course.

The glass blower will soon be a person entirely superfluous, as in Europe machines are being used to blow glass. The work is replaced by compressed air, which does the blowing.

The Knights of Labor and Farmers' Alliance organizations of New England have established a People's Co-operative Publishing Company in Boston, for the purpose of disseminating reform literature through that section of the country.

The Cup-Operators' Union has assessed its members ten per cent of their wages to assist the strikers of Peckney & Heine's shop. A theatrical benefit will be given for the strike fund next Monday.

Fred R. Fortmeyer, Director of Athletics for the Manhattan Athletic Club, is very much gratified at the improved condition of the club's formation. Fred Hawkins, the cherry diamond track single-scurrier, is showing up in fine form, and his work on the Harlem and Passaic was of a pleasing nature.

Robert L. Cochran, Chairman of the Lottland Athletic Club, increases interest in the club by a winning team. His men will meet the Rolling Springs team, of Rutherford, this afternoon. Forney, Moore, Hanna, Kelly and other favorites will play on the Lottland team.

One of the amusing incidents connected with the opening of the National Athletic Club's new house at 115th Street, is the fact that Murray and his fellow, the 115-pound pugilist, Murray seemed anxious to meet Hogan, who was back from his fight with the Brighton Cyclone, and a match will be the outcome of their talk. Billy Reynolds is ready to back Hogan against any 110-pound man in the business.

Dominic McCaffrey, who has charge of the Lottland Athletic Club, has several surprises in store for those who attend. The Waup and Clara will meet again to-day in the regatta of the Marine and Field Club, off Bay Ridge.

John L. Sullivan did not arrive last night, as was expected. Phil Casey is looking for him to arrive in time to-morrow.

The friends of Charley Kanner, the middle-weight pugilist, are anxious to have him meet some good man. Kanner claims he is ready to meet any man in the country at 145 pounds.

BALZAC AND HIS COOK.

He does so. "I'll put on this porous plaster."

When Balzac, the famous French novelist, was actually engaged in the labor of composition he lived in the most frugal manner. Absorbed in work and neglectful of the table, rose, his cook, used to fall into despair when her master during these months of production neglected her daily dishes.

"How was he killed?" "He was shot by one of our company," came the unexpected reply. "The fact is we were frightened by the movements of the enemy. He was playing 'Dixie' and the 'Bonnie Blue Flag' so near to us that we could distinctly hear him, when suddenly there was an alarm and every man in my regiment shot off his gun."

"In the midst of my confusion I heard the voice of the Colonel of my regiment shouting, 'Cease firing, men!' Then, finally, when the firing had ceased, I discovered that one poor fellow was dead. He had been shot through the back by a rear-rank man, and the duty devolved on me of writing to his family and giving the particulars of his death."

"No," promptly responded the veteran. "I told them that he had been shot in the battle of the Wilderness, but I gave no particulars. It was better so."

A Diabolical Outrage. Mrs. Woman's Righter—If they refuse to pass the measure I desire, I'll cause the meeting to adjourn. Her friend—How can you do that? You are not President.

A WRONG RIGHTED. The Confession Which Brought Joy to Glencarron's Heiress. "Is little Willie better, mamma?" Beatrix Bolton parted the blue silk portieres that draped the archway of the sick chamber, and looked anxiously in.

HEIRESS. "I know now what you mean. I did say, when we were looking at the Carron Falls, that if Glencarron were mine I would put a rustic bridge just above them, but never dreamed of this." Mrs. Bolton gave a dry, spasmodic sob.
