Pinkertons and Workmen Fight at Homestead.

Five Detectives Reported to Have Been Killed.

Three of the Mill Hands Killed and Seven Wounded.

300 Detectives Sent from Pittsburg to Invest the Works.

Refused Permission to Land They Began Shooting.

The Workmen Returned Their Fire and Held Them at Bay.

At 8.10 o'clock the detectives began firing again at some of the workmen still on the river bank, and it is supposed that they are preparing to make another attempt to land.

The workmen have secured arms and ammunition, and a desperate fight is in prospect.

LATER.—The fighting was renewed shortly after 8 o'clock, and the battle continued for fully half an hour. It was precipitated by the Pinkerton men making an effort to effect a landing.

The wildest excitement prevails in the town. Thousands of workmen from all the surrounding places are reported to be marching towards Homestead to reinforce the strikers.

In the second engagement Henry Streguel was killed and some wounded. William Foy was shot and killed in the first engagement. The bodies of both men were taken home.

A workman named Wallace was fatally shot at Ninth street. He was removed to his home.

The workmen have built a fortification of steel bars on the river bank and over 1,000 men are within.

The crowd on shore is constantly increasing, and it is more determined than ever to prevent any one from the boat landing.

All the trains are carefully watched and all means of entrance to the works are guarded by the men, and a desperate struggle is promised.

Pittsburg, July 6, 9.55 A. M.—A despatch from Homestead says the Model barge, with the Pinkerton men on board, is on fire.

STORY OF THE BATTLE.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 6.—A bloody battle between Pinkerton detectives and the locked-out employees at Homestead occurred at 4.30 o'clock this morning.

Twelve men were shot and a number will probably die. Among the wounded, it is reported, were five Pinkerton men.

At an early hour this morning 300 Pinkerton detectives arrived in Pittsburg from the East. They were quietly marched to the Monongahela river, where they were loaded on barges and shipped to Homestead at 3.15.

The news of their arrival spread rapidly, and when the steam tug Tide towing the barges arrived at Homestead there were 5,000 people waiting to meet them.

As soon as the Pinkertons attempted to land they were resisted by the men and a battle followed.

PINKERTON MEN BEGAN THE SHOOTING. The Pinkertons opened fire, and at the first volley two workmen fell. This enraged the crowd and they bore down upon the Pinkertons with resistless force.

Nobody stopped to inquire whether the newcomers were deputy sheriffs, Pinkerton detectives or non-union laborers.

After the exchange of shots the crowd grouped on the bank fell back, climbed over the heap of rubbish and rushed towards the big trestle leading to the Penick Railroad bridge.

Probably 300 of the men stood their ground and returned a desultory fire with their revolvers at the invaders. These shots did little or no apparent damage, and the locked-out men, finding their weapons ineffective, slowly fell back before the withering fire of the Winchester.

THE FIRST SHOT OF THE ENGAGEMENT.

The first shot of the engagement came from the barge. It was aimed at a big Hungarian who stood at the water's edge. The ball went wide of the human target, but it was the signal to the Pinkerton men to begin, and for a full ten minutes they continued to fire.

LABORER MARTIN MERRY THE FIRST TO FALL. The first to fall was Martin Merry, a heater in one of the mills. He was shot in the left side and fell face downward on a pile of ashes.

Close beside Merry stood a big Hungarian. He stooped over Merry's prostrate body, and as he was in the act of raising him he staggered, and an instant later fell by the side of his comrade.

This bloody spectacle aroused the ire of the crowd, and with a hoarse cheer half a dozen cheer rifle and each rifle was loaded to kill.

Slowly the boat edged towards the landing, and when the keels of the barges grated on the sand the grim faces of the invaders were

Before the arrival of the boats the men, fearing that the detectives would succeed in getting inside the works, made an onslaught on the fence and 100 feet of the inclosure was torn down.

these half-dressed men and women made the journey in record-breaking time.

HAD DETERMINED TO FIGHT THEIR WAY THROUGH.

Slowly the tide brought her silent consort down the channel. Just below the Penick bridge she partly turned her prow towards the shore and then, amid the shrieks of steam whistles and the angry groans and hisses from those gathered on the banks, the occupants of the boats stripped for action.

POINTERS ON THE RACES.

Excellent Racing Promised at Brighton Beach To-Day.

Potomac, Badge, Willie L. and Others Meet in the Fourth.

The programme at Brighton is an excellent one. While there are no very high class horses, the quality is very good and bound to furnish interesting racing.

Potomac is a starter in the fourth race, with Badge, Willie L., Huey, English Lady and others as contestants.

Prince George, Courtship, Magician, Lisben Maid and other good two-year-olds start in the third race. The opening event should be interesting, as a good class of sprinters come together at six furlongs. The track will be dry and fast. The selections are as follows:

First Race—Purse $200, of which $75 to second and $25 to third; for three-year-olds and upwards the winner to be sold at auction, three-quarters of a mile.

P. J. Dwyer & Son's Kingbridge..... 12 1/2
W. H. Jones's Busted..... 11 1/2
J. H. Lewis's Busted..... 11 1/2
E. Leigh's Mollie..... 11 1/2
W. L. Moore's Kingbridge..... 11 1/2

The opening event ought to be won by Lord Dunsley, with Early Blossom second and Little Fred third.

Second Race—Purse $200, of which $75 to second and $25 to third; for three-year-olds and upwards, 1 1/4 mile.

W. L. Moore's Kingbridge..... 11 1/2
