

The Evening World
Published by The Press Publishing Company
85 to 88 Park Row, New York.

MONDAY EVENING, JULY 11.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE EVENING WORLD
(Including Postage)
PER MONTH $1.00
PER YEAR $10.00

BRANCH OFFICES:
WORLD OFFICE: 1507 BROADWAY
WORLD OFFICE: 1507 BROADWAY

From June to June.
A GAIN OF 76,948
"WORLDS" PER DAY.

The Most Remarkable Showing in the History of Journalism.

A STEADY AND HEALTHY GROWTH.

Total number of Worlds printed during June, 1892... 11,657,516

During June, 1891... 9,349,040

Increase... 2,308,476

Average number of Worlds printed per day in June, 1892... 388,583

Average number of Worlds printed per day in June, 1891... 311,635

TOTAL GAIN PER DAY IN ONE YEAR... 76,948

THE WORLD will not, under any circumstances, hold itself responsible for the return or non-return of any rejected manuscript or picture, of whatever character or value. No exceptions will be made to this rule with regard to either letters or illustrations. Nor will the editor enter into correspondence concerning unsatisfactory manuscripts.

The Evening World Prints Associated Press News.

RAYACHOL has died for the good of a country for whose good he never did anything before.

Really, the Rev. Thomas Dixon is in the greatest need of an adviser who can teach him the first principles of pulpit prudence, good taste and moderation.

The fatal umbrella thrust is again heard from, this time at Lynn, Mass. Will it presently be necessary to put umbrella carriers under bonds to keep the peace?

It must be painful consolation which the Tory papers of Great Britain draw from the likelihood that the Liberal majority in Parliament will be "small and unruly."

BISMARCK is indeed powerful with the people of Germany. But love of country is more powerful. The ex-Chancellor must take care not to try his strength to a reckless extent.

Even fools' luck does sometimes seem to discriminate between fools. Else why should one bridge jumper at St. Louis yesterday have perished at once, while the other escaped injury?

Politics and bad blood caused a treble fatal affray on an Alabama excursion steamer. When a man buys a round-trip ticket for a day's pleasure jaunt in miscellaneous company he will do well to leave his politics at home.

In the loss of the schooner Tilton, for which Uncle Sam will have to pay, the Government gun-provers at Sandy Hook may read an expensive lesson on the necessity of taking absolute care in their practice work with the big shells.

That same general ignorance which has produced conditions favoring the spread of cholera in the affected provinces of Russia has led to cholera riots in Astrakhan, the people not understanding the meaning of the sanitary measures which the authorities sought to enforce. Ignorance and superstition are great allies to a pestilence.

Brooklyn's trolley cars made a fine day of it yesterday. There was a collision, which incomprehensibly failed to kill anybody, and there was the killing of an eight-year-old boy, who couldn't dodge a car under full headway. The lengthening of the list of trolley accidents is phenomenal and full of warning to crowded cities in which the idea of introducing the dangerous overhead system has been broached but not yet carried out.

THE SITUATION AT HOMESTEAD.

Gov. PATTISON has ordered out the entire National Guard of the State of Pennsylvania, on the requisition of Sheriff McCLEARY, to restore law and order at Homestead. This was the first official call for aid made on the Governor by the Sheriff of Allegheny County, and the response has been commendably prompt. Every indication warrants the hope that the locked-out workmen will receive the State troops, not only without resistance, but with a glad welcome. The confident belief that another armed force of Pinkertons was gathering for a raid on Homestead has kept the men in a state of dangerous excitement for some days. The appearance of the Pinkertons would doubtless have been the signal for more bloodshed and slaughter, and hence the advent of the militia may well be looked upon as a protection to the lives of the workmen as well as a movement for the enforcement of law.

The presence of the troops is intended to prevent and not induce bloodshed. A gratifying report represents that at a secret meeting of the leaders of the Homestead workmen held at 3 o'clock this morning a resolution was adopted to receive the troops without any show of opposition and to give them a friendly welcome. While this report lacks confirmation, it is believed to be authentic. Resistance to the State authorities should not be even thought of. Besides, the workmen have at all times declared that they would not attempt to use force against the regular authorities. There is good hope, therefore, that with the arrival of the regulars at Homestead all danger of further violence will be removed and the way made easier to compromise or arbitration.

"NOTIFICATION DAY."

It is a good idea to make the ceremony of notifying the President and Vice-President of their nomination a public affair. The notification is a mere formality. Mr. HARRISON knew very well that he had been nominated at Minneapolis before a crowd of highly respectable gentlemen stood in a semicircle before him in a parlor at the White House and gave him official information of the fact. Mr. HARRISON was also aware that his name was on the Republican ticket as the candidate for Vice-President before the committee told him so in the gilded halls of his Ophir palace. The speeches made on such occasions are of no importance or significance, inasmuch as the candidates always write a letter of acceptance subsequently, in which their devotion to the interests of the country and of their party, and their warm indorsement of the platform are elaborately set forth.

But if the formality is to be observed, it is well that it should be made as interesting as possible. If fifteen thousand people choose to crowd into Madison Square Garden to witness the ceremony of officially assuring Mr. CLEVELAND and Mr. STEVENSON that they were actually nominated at Chicago and that they have not been in a contracted dream since the adjournment of the Convention, it may reasonably be supposed that they will be pleased by taking a certain share in the proceedings. It is at all times pleasant to gratify 15,000 people. Then, again, the notification business will be politically useful if it can be made the occasion of drawing together a large number of prominent politicians from all parts of the Union to give information as to the condition of politics in their several localities and to discuss the plan of the campaign. Besides everybody is anxious to see all the nominees for President and Vice-President, and they only have a chance of seeing one set at the inauguration.

If the new departure of the Democracy this year proves a success, it will doubtless be followed in future by all parties, and "Notification Day" will become a standard feature of Presidential campaigns.

BRIDES AND ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

There is a queer sort of person in Meiningen, Thuringia. He refused to marry a couple because the bride wore myrtle and orange blossoms. He called the floral garniture "heathen tomfoolery," and when the bride refused to remove it he went into a frenzy and violently tore the flowers from her costume. Then he performed the ceremony.

It may be that orange blossoms upset this clergyman's nerves. There are cases on record where the fragrance of violets has thrown persons into spasms and a certain case has taken hold of an individual's reason and pulled it from its throne. If orange blossoms affect the Meiningen parson in this way, he has an excuse for making a fool of himself. But if it wasn't a red-rag-and-bull episode merely, but a case of floricultural bigotry and supererogatory dress-giving, then the Hungarian gent is more powerful. The ex-Chancellor must take care not to try his strength to a reckless extent.

Even fools' luck does sometimes seem to discriminate between fools. Else why should one bridge jumper at St. Louis yesterday have perished at once, while the other escaped injury?

Politics and bad blood caused a treble fatal affray on an Alabama excursion steamer. When a man buys a round-trip ticket for a day's pleasure jaunt in miscellaneous company he will do well to leave his politics at home.

In the loss of the schooner Tilton, for which Uncle Sam will have to pay, the Government gun-provers at Sandy Hook may read an expensive lesson on the necessity of taking absolute care in their practice work with the big shells.

That same general ignorance which has produced conditions favoring the spread of cholera in the affected provinces of Russia has led to cholera riots in Astrakhan, the people not understanding the meaning of the sanitary measures which the authorities sought to enforce. Ignorance and superstition are great allies to a pestilence.

Brooklyn's trolley cars made a fine day of it yesterday. There was a collision, which incomprehensibly failed to kill anybody, and there was the killing of an eight-year-old boy, who couldn't dodge a car under full headway. The lengthening of the list of trolley accidents is phenomenal and full of warning to crowded cities in which the idea of introducing the dangerous overhead system has been broached but not yet carried out.

AGONY IN THE CRADLE.

The presence of the State troops at Homestead will doubtless restore law and order without further bloodshed. It will put the owners of the Carnegie mills in possession of their property, if, indeed, they have ever been deprived of it. But it will not settle the question of how much the wages of the workmen shall be reduced, and on what terms, if any, they will be allowed to resume work.

CONTRIBUTIONS RECEIVED FOR THE SICK BABIES' FUND.

All letters containing money for the Sick Babies Fund should be addressed to the Treasurer of the New York World, Pulitzer Building. Donations of clothing, &c., should be sent to Mrs. Hoberlin, 317 West Forty-ninth street.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

- Patrons acknowledged $1,509.38
Penny Club Paid 40.31
W. H. G. 12.40
Jefferson Avenue Laundry 46.45
E. E. P. 5.00
W. O. B. 5.00
South Eighth Street Girls 4.00
Robert L. Lohrman 2.00
Lillie Loebner 2.00
A. Stenographer 2.00
Soren Kinkor 2.00
Mary K. 2.00
A. G. 1.00
Edna K. H. 1.00
Mrs. H. 1.00
Agnes 1.00
Lottie O. 1.00
Stereotype Chapel, EVENING WORLD 1.00
A. D. Lee 1.00
H. H. G. 1.00
A Poor Woman 1.00
Rose Hill 1.00
Greenpoint 1.00
Arthur Stuehmer 1.00
Mark M. 1.00
Alvin Trotter 1.00
Bea Smith 1.00
Robbie H. H. 1.00
Leona 1.00
Pessie Donnelly 1.00

A STRAY LETTER.

It is singular how often letters of importance go astray. A letter of congratulation written by Mr. CLEVELAND to his associate on the Democratic ticket, Mr. ADLAI E. STEVENSON, on the evening of the day on which the latter received his nomination at Chicago, has just turned up, bearing the Bloomington (Ill.) delivery postmark of June 25. It appears that the interesting communication has been reposing peacefully for between two and three weeks in a pile of unopened letters and newspapers, which were thrown aside in Mr. STEVENSON'S office during his absence at the Chicago Convention.

To what serious consequences might this circumstance have led? The Vice-President might have been surprised—probably he was—at the President's seeming indifference to the other half of the ticket and might have imagined—probably he did—that Mr. CLEVELAND was not pleased with the Convention's choice.

Singularly enough the Rip Van Winkle communication came to life at the moment a younger and less ancient letter from Mr. CLEVELAND was delivered inviting Mr. STEVENSON to visit him at Gray Gables. Although the mislaid congratulatory letter was as gray as the Gables themselves, Mr. STEVENSON was very glad to welcome it.

Trust the progressive brute to invent new forms of cowardly revenge upon people who dare not attack openly. The latest act in this line is that of an Atlantic City omnibus driver, who, to gratify his spite, gave a live crab for a plaything to the baby of a neighbor. The little one lost a finger from the mutilation inflicted by the crab and had its under lip badly torn. The driver left town just in time to escape being a target for the revolver practice of his victim's father. It is to be trusted that his escape from all punishment will not be lasting.

Cashier JAXON, of the Rothschilds' Frankfurt establishment, has expressed the gratitude of the other employees of the great house. Alarmed by the ascending grade of that low-salaried accountant the bankers have increased the pay of other men, hoping to remove one source of temptation to dishonesty. More than likely the step will, as it is meant to do, yield profit both ways.

Gorlitz, in Prussian Silesia, sets an example to the world. A broker who failed for 1,500,000 marks, the failure chiefly affecting small depositors, has been sentenced to six years in prison for fraudulent bankruptcy and embezzlement. A general following of this precept would largely reduce the list of bank failures among the commercial nations.

The Texans have decided to abandon the proposition to have Texas properly represented at the World's Fair at Chicago, and their Commission raised for that purpose is practically dead. What is the trouble? Was the experience of the Texas delegation to the Chicago Convention such as to disgust the whole State with the greedy and grimy city?

Queen VICTORIA should not allow herself to feel angry over the defeat of her son-in-law in his attempt to get into Parliament. On the contrary she should rejoice that the British voters are independent enough to express their real sentiments without being influenced by royal favor. The defeat of LOUISERIE is the triumph of the voter.

The Pratt estate can well afford a $200,000 manse, and the best kind of a monument is none too good for the man who gave the Pratt Institute to Brooklyn. But the best kind of a monument is not a pile of useless granite, and the memory of PRATT would be preserved quite as lastingly and more appropriately by a memorial charity.

Meutz will not permit, as in the World's Fair, the fact that for $12,000,000 marks to take part for forfeit on the Town Council could not overlook. The amount mentioned is about $1,800,000 American money. Meutz is immense in his economies.

There are thousands of charitable people who have subscribed to THE EVENING WORLD'S SICK BABIES' FUND, and they would feel good to know that the money they have given is applied daily in hundreds of cases to the relief of distress of the kind that has been here presented. They are assisting in the grand Christian work of diminishing some of the world's misery. They are helping to take the sting out of poverty and to give the mother of the baby born and struggling and want an equal strength and chance in the fight against disease with the mother of the child born and reared amid plenty.

There are thousands who have not yet contributed to the Sick Babies' Fund. Does not the doctor's story reach their hearts and teach them that they have an equal duty with those who have already given to the Fund? It is hoped that this moment will find them in a generous mood, that human love will conquer any doubts or any hesitation that may beset them, and that they will aid in what is a noble and something in aid of the child's health, and that they will do a fine—very small sum—will do good—and that sum can afford it may count their donations by the dollars if they like.

Wonderful

Joseph A. Knapp, a reliable farmer of Mt. Royal, York Co., Pa., says that a running snake broke out on the face of his neighbor, Milton A. Kunkel, who he was 5 years old. He could not walk. Two years ago Milton A. Knapp, they learn, was a short time the more leaved, but he was perfectly healed, and he is now a healthy, active man. Mr. Knapp says: "We had a snake bite little short of a miracle."

MOOD'S PILL'S cure habitual Constipation

Generous Employees.

Included please send subscription list together with check for $12.00, the amount subscribed in aid of THE EVENING WORLD'S SICK BABIES' FUND for the employees in our several departments. Willing you the best of success in the continuation of your noble work.

Why He Stole It.

Mamma (severely)—Johnny, what made you steal that cake? Johnny—My appetite.

Knapp's Root Beer.

Bottled sunshine, Sparkling, clear, "Here she goes!" It's Knapp's Root Beer.

GOOD CALIFORNIA WINES.

Table Wine, 75 cents a gallon. F. and S. Berry, 100 cents a gallon. Delivered free to any residence. Send for price list. F. and S. BERRY & CO., 1000 1/2 Ave., near 51st St.

AGONY IN THE CRADLE.

The Story of a Mulberry Street Baby's Awful Sufferings.

An "Evening World" Physician Striving to Save its Life.

Contributions Recently Received for the Sick Babies' Fund.

All letters containing money for the Sick Babies Fund should be addressed to the Treasurer of the New York World, Pulitzer Building. Donations of clothing, &c., should be sent to Mrs. Hoberlin, 317 West Forty-ninth street.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

- Patrons acknowledged $1,509.38
Penny Club Paid 40.31
W. H. G. 12.40
Jefferson Avenue Laundry 46.45
E. E. P. 5.00
W. O. B. 5.00
South Eighth Street Girls 4.00
Robert L. Lohrman 2.00
Lillie Loebner 2.00
A. Stenographer 2.00
Soren Kinkor 2.00
Mary K. 2.00
A. G. 1.00
Edna K. H. 1.00
Mrs. H. 1.00
Agnes 1.00
Lottie O. 1.00
Stereotype Chapel, EVENING WORLD 1.00
A. D. Lee 1.00
H. H. G. 1.00
A Poor Woman 1.00
Rose Hill 1.00
Greenpoint 1.00
Arthur Stuehmer 1.00
Mark M. 1.00
Alvin Trotter 1.00
Bea Smith 1.00
Robbie H. H. 1.00
Leona 1.00
Pessie Donnelly 1.00

A STRAY LETTER.

It is singular how often letters of importance go astray. A letter of congratulation written by Mr. CLEVELAND to his associate on the Democratic ticket, Mr. ADLAI E. STEVENSON, on the evening of the day on which the latter received his nomination at Chicago, has just turned up, bearing the Bloomington (Ill.) delivery postmark of June 25. It appears that the interesting communication has been reposing peacefully for between two and three weeks in a pile of unopened letters and newspapers, which were thrown aside in Mr. STEVENSON'S office during his absence at the Chicago Convention.

To what serious consequences might this circumstance have led? The Vice-President might have been surprised—probably he was—at the President's seeming indifference to the other half of the ticket and might have imagined—probably he did—that Mr. CLEVELAND was not pleased with the Convention's choice.

Singularly enough the Rip Van Winkle communication came to life at the moment a younger and less ancient letter from Mr. CLEVELAND was delivered inviting Mr. STEVENSON to visit him at Gray Gables. Although the mislaid congratulatory letter was as gray as the Gables themselves, Mr. STEVENSON was very glad to welcome it.

Trust the progressive brute to invent new forms of cowardly revenge upon people who dare not attack openly. The latest act in this line is that of an Atlantic City omnibus driver, who, to gratify his spite, gave a live crab for a plaything to the baby of a neighbor. The little one lost a finger from the mutilation inflicted by the crab and had its under lip badly torn. The driver left town just in time to escape being a target for the revolver practice of his victim's father. It is to be trusted that his escape from all punishment will not be lasting.

Cashier JAXON, of the Rothschilds' Frankfurt establishment, has expressed the gratitude of the other employees of the great house. Alarmed by the ascending grade of that low-salaried accountant the bankers have increased the pay of other men, hoping to remove one source of temptation to dishonesty. More than likely the step will, as it is meant to do, yield profit both ways.

Gorlitz, in Prussian Silesia, sets an example to the world. A broker who failed for 1,500,000 marks, the failure chiefly affecting small depositors, has been sentenced to six years in prison for fraudulent bankruptcy and embezzlement. A general following of this precept would largely reduce the list of bank failures among the commercial nations.

The Texans have decided to abandon the proposition to have Texas properly represented at the World's Fair at Chicago, and their Commission raised for that purpose is practically dead. What is the trouble? Was the experience of the Texas delegation to the Chicago Convention such as to disgust the whole State with the greedy and grimy city?

Queen VICTORIA should not allow herself to feel angry over the defeat of her son-in-law in his attempt to get into Parliament. On the contrary she should rejoice that the British voters are independent enough to express their real sentiments without being influenced by royal favor. The defeat of LOUISERIE is the triumph of the voter.

The Pratt estate can well afford a $200,000 manse, and the best kind of a monument is none too good for the man who gave the Pratt Institute to Brooklyn. But the best kind of a monument is not a pile of useless granite, and the memory of PRATT would be preserved quite as lastingly and more appropriately by a memorial charity.

Meutz will not permit, as in the World's Fair, the fact that for $12,000,000 marks to take part for forfeit on the Town Council could not overlook. The amount mentioned is about $1,800,000 American money. Meutz is immense in his economies.

There are thousands of charitable people who have subscribed to THE EVENING WORLD'S SICK BABIES' FUND, and they would feel good to know that the money they have given is applied daily in hundreds of cases to the relief of distress of the kind that has been here presented. They are assisting in the grand Christian work of diminishing some of the world's misery. They are helping to take the sting out of poverty and to give the mother of the baby born and struggling and want an equal strength and chance in the fight against disease with the mother of the child born and reared amid plenty.

There are thousands who have not yet contributed to the Sick Babies' Fund. Does not the doctor's story reach their hearts and teach them that they have an equal duty with those who have already given to the Fund? It is hoped that this moment will find them in a generous mood, that human love will conquer any doubts or any hesitation that may beset them, and that they will aid in what is a noble and something in aid of the child's health, and that they will do a fine—very small sum—will do good—and that sum can afford it may count their donations by the dollars if they like.

Wonderful

Joseph A. Knapp, a reliable farmer of Mt. Royal, York Co., Pa., says that a running snake broke out on the face of his neighbor, Milton A. Kunkel, who he was 5 years old. He could not walk. Two years ago Milton A. Knapp, they learn, was a short time the more leaved, but he was perfectly healed, and he is now a healthy, active man. Mr. Knapp says: "We had a snake bite little short of a miracle."

MOOD'S PILL'S cure habitual Constipation

Generous Employees.

Included please send subscription list together with check for $12.00, the amount subscribed in aid of THE EVENING WORLD'S SICK BABIES' FUND for the employees in our several departments. Willing you the best of success in the continuation of your noble work.

Why He Stole It.

Mamma (severely)—Johnny, what made you steal that cake? Johnny—My appetite.

Knapp's Root Beer.

Bottled sunshine, Sparkling, clear, "Here she goes!" It's Knapp's Root Beer.

GOOD CALIFORNIA WINES.

Table Wine, 75 cents a gallon. F. and S. Berry, 100 cents a gallon. Delivered free to any residence. Send for price list. F. and S. BERRY & CO., 1000 1/2 Ave., near 51st St.

Goldstein, 10 cents each; E. Lippman, 15 cents each; S. Hyman, C. Mitterler, 10 cents each; Baran, Davis, 5 cents; A. Glikson, 25 cents; H. A. Miller, 10 cents.

Edna's Treat. Included $1 for Sick Baby Fund. My treat on my fifth birthday. EDNA E. H. Wishes It Was More.

Accept this trifle, $1, from a sympathizer who wishes she could offer more for this worthy object. Mrs. B.

Bessie's Savings. Bessie loves a little baby and sends part of her Fourth of July money to help.

Her Birthday Gift. I will be nine years old to-morrow, and there being so many sick children in your city, I want you to help the Sick Babies' Fund in remembrance of my birthday. ROSE HILL.

A Poor Woman's Mite. Please find included $1 for the Sick Baby Fund, hoping it will help some poor little lot to get through the summer. A POOR WOMAN.

Stereotype Contributors. Included please find $1 for the Sick Baby Fund, subscribed by the employees in the Stereotype Chapel of THE EVENING WORLD. W. J. HILTON, chairman.

Agnes's Collection. Included please find $1.10 for the Sick Babies' Fund, collected from some friends and little Miss Madeline, five years old.

Agnes's Collection. I am twelve years old, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

A Stenographer's Gift. Included please find $2 for the Sick Babies' Fund, which I read in THE EVENING WORLD, I am not wealthy or I would send more. May it do some little good. A STENOGRAPHER.

Girls in One Street. I send you the enclosed $2 from my class of little girls in the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church, Rutgers, N. J. Will you kindly use it for the Sick Babies' Fund? LITTLE ARTHUR SINKHEIMER, 253 South Eighth street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Two Letters. One of our readers has sent us the enclosed letter and money, which we take pleasure in rightfully giving to the benefit of your fund for Sick Babies. EDITORS OF THE "CHRISTIAN UNION."

A Brooklyn Fair. The children of Jefferson avenue, between Stuyvesant and Field avenues, Brooklyn, hold a lawn party at 654 Jefferson avenue, which was a great success, resulting in an addition of $100 to THE EVENING WORLD'S SICK BABIES' FUND. OLIVE WEIL, MAMIE KARKY, BEATRICE HICK, BELLA BECK.

Pansy Club's Big Success. Please find enclosed check for $40.81, being the proceeds of a fair and entertainment held at 602 and 602 East One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street Wednesday afternoon, July 7, by the Pansy Club of the benefit of the Sick Babies' Fund. Officers: Edith Nehrbas, President; Nellie Nehrbas, Vice-President; Natalie Hodgman, Secretary; Nellie Mann, Treasurer. Members: Edith Nehrbas, Nellie Hodgman, Edith Oehl, Eleanor Sanford.

His Narrow Escape. During a session of a West Virginia court a dandy was tried for cutting a white man with a razor, says an exchange. His counsel wished to prove that the white man was the aggressor and that the dandy was physically unable to defend himself without a weapon. Being duly sworn, "Uncle Jim" was asked whether he had ever been injured in any way.

"Yes, sah."

"Well, sah, it was down in Chattanooga. 'S a wukkin' down dah, an' I come fell off a derick-ful sixty feet. I broke dis hyah leg, an' I fractured dis hyah arm in two places, an' I knocked out dem two teeth, an' my collar bone was broke, an' I had three ribs broke; dis hyah was torn off, an' my hatter was sweved on agin; an' de fact is, gentlemen, ef I hadn't been for a pile o' bricks dat sort o' broke my fall I'd a been liable to be hurt serious."

Sublime and Ridiculous. (From Frank.) She—When we are married, George, we will go to Italy and enjoy our dolce far niente where the cool air from the Alps blows through the pine-tree groves. He—And then come back and live in New Jersey—just think of it!

At Atlantic City. (From Dick.) "I hired a baby carriage from you, didn't I?" "Yes, sah."

"Well, that vehicle you sent me is at least twenty years old. That's no baby carriage."

Probably. (From Peck.) "Kipling says New York reminded him of a pig trough."

Really? These New Yorkers must have made him feel quite at home."

Why He Stole It. (From Harry Lee.) Mamma (severely)—Johnny, what made you steal that cake? Johnny—My appetite.

Knapp's Root Beer.

Bottled sunshine, Sparkling, clear, "Here she goes!" It's Knapp's Root Beer.

GOOD CALIFORNIA WINES.

Table Wine, 75 cents a gallon. F. and S. Berry, 100 cents a gallon. Delivered free to any residence. Send for price list. F. and S. BERRY & CO., 1000 1/2 Ave., near 51st St.

The Girl in Galluses.

A Greenpoint girl has written to ask me if I wear suspenders. I should say not, Miss Greenpoint! They may be gallus enough for some female folks, but they don't suit me. As Artemus Ward used to say, they're not my style.

Dusting Goes On Forever.

A distracted housekeeper who found her dustpan ralls always grimy hit upon a happy idea. She made a couple of pouches of rich brocade and hung one just behind the newel post of her staircase, and the other on the landing where the rail fitted against the wall.

To Be Worn at the Seaside.

This charming seaside costume has the petticoat of old blue flannel bordered with a band of white embroidery; over this is a skirt of lighter blue wool with black cross-ripples; this has a jacket on the right side lined with white faille.

Carving Down the Figure.

If you think you are too stout and would like to reduce your figure, first make up your mind to some self-denial. Eat bread, cakes, pastry and sweetmeats. Treat with neglect potatoes, turnips, macaroni, peas, rice, butter, cheese, cream and jellies. No liquid food at meals. Sparingly indulge in hot-water. Give up the warm bath. Two meals a day and plenty of exercise. Five miles at a stretch if possible. Eat raw meats, game and poultry, sea food, soft boiled eggs, fresh grapes, cherries, toast, lettuce, spinach and cress.

Negligee Jacket.

White wool is the material used for this negligee jacket. Two and one-half yards of double width will do.

The Use of "Mrs."

The title Mrs. was in olden times applied to unmarried as well as to married women and to young as well as to old. Sir Walter Scott spoke to Joanna (unmarried) as Mrs. Joanna Balfour.

A Lovely Lace Bonnet.

A lace bonnet that challenges admiration has a pinched crown fit stiff wired with a band under rows of gray and pink baby ribbon.

New Things in Jewelry.

Silver gilt funnels are only recently shown. More turquoise are seen than any other stone.

New card cases are covered with the silver tracings.

The alligator finish is given to the bowl of large spoons.