The Evening World Prints Associated Press News.

BAYACROB has died for the good of a country for whose good he never did anything before.

Really, the Rev. THOMAS DIXON is in the greatest need of an adviser who can teach him the first principles of pulpit prudence, good taste and moderation.

The fatal umbrella thrust is again heard from this time at Lynn, Mass. Will it presently be necessary to put umbrella carriers under bonds to keep the peace?

It must be painful consolation which the Tory papers of Great Britain draw from the likelihood that the Liberal majority in Parliament will be "small and unruly."

BISMARCK is indeed powerful with the people of Germany. But love of country is more powerful. The ex-Chancellor must take care not to try his strength to a reckless extent.

Even fools' luck does sometimes seem to discriminate between fools. Else why yesterday one bridge jumper at St. Louis should have perished at once, while the other escaped injury?

Politics and bad blood caused a treble fatal affray on an Alabama excursion steamer. When a man buys a round-trip ticket for a day's pleasure jaunt in miscellaneous company he will do well to leave his politics at home.

In the loss of the schooner Tilton, for which Uncle Sam will have to pay, the Government gun-provers at Sandy Hook may read an expensive lesson on the necessity of taking absolute care in their practice work with the big shells.

That same general ignorance which has produced conditions favoring the spread of cholera in the affected provinces of Russia has led to cholera riots in Astrakhan, the people not understanding the meaning of the sanitary measures which the authorities sought to enforce.

Brooklyn's trolley cars made a field day of it yesterday. There was a collision, which incomprehensibly failed to kill anybody, and there was the killing of an eight-year-old boy, who couldn't dodge a car under his headway. The lengthening of the list of trolley accidents is phenomenal and full of warning to crowded cities in which the idea of introducing the dangerous overhead system has been broached but not yet carried out.

THE SITUATION AT HOMESTEAD.

Gov. PATTON has ordered out the entire National Guard of the State of Pennsylvania, on the requisition of Sheriff McCLEARY, to restore law and order at Homestead. This was the first official call for aid made on the Governor by the Sheriff of Allegheny County, and the response has been commendably prompt.

Every indication warrants the hope that the locked-out workmen will receive the State troops, not only without resistance, but with a glad welcome. The confident belief that another armed force of Pinkertons was gathering for a raid on Homestead has kept the men in a state of dangerous excitement for some days.

Resistance to the State authorities should not be even thought of. Besides, the workmen have at all times declared that they would not attempt to use force against the regular authorities. There is good hope, therefore, that with the arrival of the regiments at Homestead all danger of further violence will be removed and the way made easier to compromise or arbitration.

"NOTIFICATION DAY."

It is a good idea to make the ceremony of notifying the President and Vice-President of their nomination a public affair. The notification is a mere formality. Mr. HARRISON knew very well that he had been nominated at Minneapolis before a crowd of highly respectable gentlemen stood in a semi-circle before him in a parlor of the White House and gave him official information of the fact.

Every friend of humanity, every man and woman who knows what discomfit and weakness the best beings should find their hearts prompting them to this time to help along the Evening World's Sick Babies' Fund and aid in barring the progress of the usual Summer destroyers of little ones' lives.

Trist the progressive brute to invent new forms of cowardly revenge upon people whom he dares not attack openly. The latest act in this line is that of an Atlantic City omnibus driver, who, to gratify his spite, gave a live crab for a plaything to the baby of a neighbor.

BRIDES AND ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

There is a queer sort of person in Meiningen, Thuringia. He refused to marry a couple because the bride wore myrtle and orange blossoms. He called the floral gariture "heathen tomfoolery," and when the priest refused to remove it, he went into a frenzy and violently tore the flowers from her costume.

An American bride wouldn't give up her orange blossoms so easily. She would go to the altar with cabbage leaves in her corage, bunch grass in her hair and festoons of garden peas on her process train if she wanted to get married in that rig, too, in spite of parson, police, posse comitatus or State militia if she had made up her mind to it.

Menzt will not participate in the World's Fair. The fact that it would cost 7,000 marks to take part formed an objection. The amount mentioned is about $1,800, American money. Menzt is immense in its economics.

AGONY IN THE CRADLE.

The Story of a Mulberry Street Baby's Awful Sufferings.

An "Evening World" Physician Striving to Save Its Life.

Contributions Recently Received for the Sick Babies' Fund.

All letters containing money for the Sick Baby Fund should be addressed to the cashier of the New York World, Post-Office Building, No. 100 Broadway, New York.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Table listing names and amounts for the Sick Babies' Fund, including Mrs. B. H. Miller, $10.00, and others.

A STRAY LETTER.

It is singular how often letters of importance will go astray. A letter of congratulation written by Mr. CLEVELAND to his associate on the Democratic ticket, Mr. ADLAI E. STEVENSON, on the evening of the day on which the latter received his nomination at Chicago, has just turned up, bearing the Bloomington (Ill.) delivery postmark of June 25.

AND BABIES ARE THE VICTIM.

The death rate for this city last week was 28.44 for every 1,000 of the population. The preceding week it was 24.13 for every 1,000. The increased mortality came with weather conditions that were rather favorable to Summer ailments.

Investigation of the causes of death shows that diseases peculiar to childhood are dominant. The little ones are already going down in hundreds with the usual complaints of the warm season.

Every friend of humanity, every man and woman who knows what discomfit and weakness the best beings should find their hearts prompting them to this time to help along the Evening World's Sick Babies' Fund and aid in barring the progress of the usual Summer destroyers of little ones' lives.

Two Letters.

One of our readers has sent us the enclosed letter and money, which we take pleasure in sending to you for the benefit of your Sick Babies' Fund. EDITORS OF THE "EVENING WORLD."

A Brooklyn Fair.

The children of Jefferson Avenue, between Stuyvesant and Reid avenues, Brooklyn, held a lawn party at 454 Jefferson Avenue, which was a great success, resulting in an addition of $60 to the Sick Babies' Fund. OLLIE WICK, BERTIE WICK, BELLA WICK.

Pansy Club's Big Success.

Please find enclosed check for $40.31, being the proceeds of a fair and entertainment held at 454 and 452 West 116th Street, Brooklyn, on Wednesday afternoon, July 6, by the Pansy Club for the benefit of the Sick Babies' Fund. Officers: Edith Neuhaus, President; Nettie Neuhaus, Vice-President; Natalie Hodgman, Secretary; Nettie Neuhaus, Treasurer; Jennie Neuhaus, Miss Neuhaus, Miss Neuhaus, Florence Odell, Eleanor Sanford.

His Hundred Escape.

During a session of a West Virginia court a dandy was tried for cutting a white man with a razor, says an exchange. His counsel wished to prove that the white man was the aggressor and that the dandy was physically unable to defend himself without a weapon. Being duly sworn, "Uncle Jim" was asked whether he had ever been injured in any way.

Sublime and Ridiculous.

She—When we are married, George, we will go to Italy and enjoy our dolce far niente where the cool air from the Alps blows through the pine-granite-trees. He—And I shall pack and live in New Jersey—just think of it!

At Atlantic City.

"I hired a baby carriage from you, didn't I?" "Yes, sir." "Well, sir, I've been thinking, and I'm at least twenty years old. That's no baby carriage."

Why He Stole It.

Mamma severely rebuked Johnny, what made you steal that baby carriage? Johnny—My appetite.

Knapp's Root Beer.

Knapp's Root Beer Extract, all dealers. 25c.

COFFEE FRITTERS.

Cut some stale bread into neat and rather thick slices, and soak them in very strong, freshly made coffee.

GOOD CALIFORNIA WINES.

Table Wine, 75 cents a gallon. Port and Sherry, 80 cents a gallon. Champagne, 1.00 a gallon. Brandy, 1.00 a gallon. Cognac, 1.00 a gallon. Whisky, 1.00 a gallon. Rum, 1.00 a gallon. Gin, 1.00 a gallon. Liqueur, 1.00 a gallon. Soda Water, 1.00 a gallon. Beer, 1.00 a gallon.

The Girl in Galluses.

A Greenpoint girl has written to ask me if I wear suspenders. I should say not, Miss Greenpoint! They may be galling enough for some female folks, but they don't suit me. As Artemus Ward used to say, they're not my style.

Dusting Goes On Forever.

A distracted housekeeper who found her baluster rails always grimy hit upon a happy idea.

To Be Worn at the Seaside.

This charming seaside costume has the petticoat of old blue flannel bordered with a band of white embroidery over this a skirt of lighter blue wool with black cross-stripes; this has a jabot on the right side lined with white flannel.

Orange Ice.

A very nice orange ice is made in this way: Put a quart of water and three-fourths of a pound of sugar in a porcelain-lined saucepan over a moderate fire.

Sick-Room "Don't's."

Don't tipple. A tipple will soon times cause more disturbance than a carefully squared placed totality, says Good Housekeeping.

The Gossip Corner.

The Carr's throne is said to be worth four times as much as Queen Victoria's.

A Lovely Lace Bonnet.

A lace bonnet that challenges admiration has a pliance crown in stiff wired net hidden under rows of gray and pink baby ribbon.

New Things in Jewelry.

Silver gilt funnels are only recently shown. More turquoise are seen than any other stones.

The Homely Girl.

When we say a girl is homely we mean that she is the reverse of beautiful, unmistakably plain and sometimes painfully so.

Song of the Merry-Go-Round.

Did you ever ride on the merry-go-round? My eyes, how it flies!
