BATSMAN AT BIG ODDS.

Laura Gould Colt Wins the Autumn Selling Stakes.

Special to the Evening World. SHEPHEARD BAY RACE TRACK, Sept. 8.—The card of races at Sheepshead Bay today was not very attractive, and as a consequence there were many empty seats in the grand stand. The attendance was very slim. Friday, however, is generally a bad day for racing associations. That portion of the public with speculative proclivities generally wait for a Saturday, when racing associations provide their best cards and large fields afford a medium for good betting.

The opening event was a dash of seven furlongs of the selling-plate order. Dugonek was made the choice, and the talent played him heavily. He ran prominently for six furlongs, and then, to the talent's disgust, quit like a cur.

Batman, a long-deferred good thing, was out loose, and landed at odds of 10 to 1 in easy style. Fred Tarral, second choice, had hard work to get the place. It was only a successful Providence that saved him from falling from his horse during his acceleration. Helen Rose was third.

The second event was the Flight Stakes and a most interesting event. Kingston, Dr. Hasbrouck and Fairy all celebrated separately. Kingston was the favorite, and he won, hard pushed by Dr. Hasbrouck and Fairy, the trio being headed apart. Dugonek rode with poor judgment, and Dr. Hasbrouck, his horse was carrying 127 pounds, and he laid away with him waddled undegreedly when won. Instead of racing, he was a waddler.

The third race was the Autumn Two-Year-Old Selling Stakes, and it was a very interesting one. Laura Gould colt and Kinnie were heavily backed. The talent picked them pretty near right, for they were in the front of the race. Laura Gould colt won handily from Kinnie. Laura Gould colt was a good winner, but the complete lack of a colt, who was favorite, was a poor third.
