

HER FUNERAL TO-DAY, COUNTRIES OUT OF IT.

Mrs. Harrison's Body Now Speeding to Its Grave in Indiana.

Impressive Services Held in the White House East Room.

Favorite Hymn of the Dead Woman Sang by Sweet Boy Voices.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The funeral services for the remains of Mrs. Harrison were conducted at the White House at 10 o'clock this morning in the East Room in the presence of the family, immediate friends and many notable persons. They were beautiful and impressive, but were chiefly characterized by their simplicity.

Except the small number of people at the exterior of the mansion, police guards were stationed at the gates to keep back the throng of people who gathered to the number of several thousands on the sidewalks bordering the northern lawn.

Inside the north end of the house connecting the hall and adjoining rooms with the East Room were thrown open. Near the center of the East Room the casket was supported by two pedestals, with the head to the north, and it was covered with beautiful flowers.

The great room was nearly filled with chairs and sofas, arranged in semi-circles. Its main aspect was outward toward the exterior of the mansion. Police guards were stationed at the gates to keep back the throng of people who gathered to the number of several thousands on the sidewalks bordering the northern lawn.

Near the head and foot of the casket stood tall palms reaching nearly half way to the ceiling. At the head of the casket was a large floral arrangement on a base covered with ivy. At the foot had been placed a large wreath of red and purple violets.

There was so at the head a large wreath of white and pink roses and palm leaves, the tribute of the clerks in the Executive office, and at the foot another wreath made up of chestnut-leaved and scarlet roses.

Wreaths and garlands of beautiful and fragrant flowers surrounded the casket on every side in such quantities that it had the appearance of lightly resting upon a mound of blossoms.

One of the most elaborate of the floral pieces was sent by the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Washington. It was a large wheel, the insignia of the Society, in white and colored blooms.

The ushers for the occasion were Commander Cowles and Lieut. Clover of the Navy; Lieut. D. A. Pray, of the Army, and S. D. Miller, son of the attorney-general. They had arranged that the first row of seats at the foot of the casket should be occupied by the family, and the remainder by the employees and servants of the house.

The first row on the north was assigned to the Cabinet and Private Secretary Hallard, the second to the Supreme Court, and the remaining rows to other friends without specification.

Just before 10 o'clock Mr. Blaine entered, accompanied by Mrs. Blaine and his daughter, Harriet. The ex-Secretary was seated beside Gen. Proctor, his old colleague in the Cabinet. Mr. and Mrs. Whitehall had entered about the same time and were seated in the same row.

In the Green Room adjoining and opening into the East Room were stationed the boys of the choir of St. John's Episcopal Church, who furnished the funeral music.

The reason for the inclusion of this Episcopal choir in the service is because it was a service touching. It was a feature in the service at the funeral of Mrs. Tracy held in the East Room two years ago, and Mrs. Harrison was so much impressed by it, and so struck by the beautiful hymn "Lead Kindly Light," that she caused this hymn to be sung and played at the White House at least once nearly every Sabbath. Because it was so dear to her the hymn was chosen for her funeral service to be sung by the same sweet vocal voices that had first attracted her attention to it.

Rev. Drs. Hamlin and Bartlett officiated, and the service lasted about three-quarters of an hour. The remains were then taken to the Pennsylvania Railroad station and started for Indianapolis on the special train leaving at 11:40 o'clock.

The honorary pallbearers were, as previously announced, Vice-President Morton and members of the Cabinet.

JENKINS WILL APPEAL.

But Miss Carlake is satisfied with Her Verdict for $7,500.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 23.—Counsel for Dr. Morac C. Jenkins, against whom a verdict was rendered yesterday for $7,500 in a case of promise said brought by Miss Emma L. Carlake, says that the case will be appealed.

Miss Carlake's lawyers say that the verdict is in every respect a just one, and that they are confident that it will stand and that Dr. Jenkins will have to pay up.

For the Yale-Princeton Game.

There will be a meeting of the Council of the University Athletic Club at the clubhouse this afternoon at 4.30, to make final arrangements for the management of the football game on Thanksgiving Day.

LABOR MEN WANT TO KNOW. Judgment at the Republican Party's Call on Erick and Carnegie for Funds.

The significance of the visit of ex-National Republican Chairman H. E. Jones to Chairman Carter, a few days ago, was explained today by Walter Delgenovese, secretary in charge of the labor bureau at Democratic headquarters.

BE SURE TO REGISTER. Four Months in the County is One Good Reason.

An error which has obtained wide circulation is that six months' residence in the county is a necessary qualification for an intending voter who desires to register.

The law, as stated in chapter 1, title 1, section 10 of the Election Code of the State of New York, prescribes the oath which must be taken by an applicant for registry, who must swear that he is twenty-one years old or over, a citizen of the United States by birth or naturalization.

EX-MAJOR CLEVELAND SAYS. New Jersey's Democratic Majority Will Be Larger Than in 1888.

The talk about the possibility of New Jersey's going Republican is ridiculed by ex-Major Charles Cleveland, of Jersey City.

"The Republicans are only making a big bluff," said he, "in carrying New Jersey."

"I remember that nine years ago they talked about the same way. General and a number of the Republican leaders of that year were elected our Democratic candidate for governor by an increased vote of the people."

"Now, when they begin their tragicomic talk about carrying the State, I remind them about nine years ago when they were elected in the State, but they will vote for Cleveland."

There was a time when Senator John Sherman, of Ohio, was a free trader, or, rather, expressed free trade views. The following portion of a speech delivered by him is taken from the Journal of the United States Senate of July 9, 1860.

Every advance towards a free exchange of commodities is an advance of civilization. Every restriction upon the free exchange of commodities is a step towards barbarism. Every obstacle to commerce is a tax upon civilization and a step towards barbarism.

His Defection from Republicanism Said to Be Logical and Patriotic.

The Journal of the Knights of Labor, in its last issue, contains this comment on Judge Greisbach's defection from the Republican ranks:

Some one has written his political and economic beliefs will be expressed that he should have his connection with the Republican party. For a long time he has been a member of the party, and he has been a member of the party, and he has been a member of the party.

Living Odds on Cleveland.

Billy Edwards has made speeches at the Hoffman House that created something of a panic in the Republican camp when the news was widely known to the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Sudden Death of a "Spelunker."

N. S. Leyman, of New Rochelle, was engaged to speak at a Republican meeting in Jersey City tonight. The committee of Arrangements telegraphed this morning asking if they could rely on him, and the answer came back:

"N. S. Leyman died last night."

Stevenson's Letter Not Ready Yet.

Vice-President Cleveland said this morning that he had another conference this morning with ex-President Cleveland regarding the letter of acceptance.
