have more to say than any one else when it comes right down to business, and who usually manage to have their own way when any trouble arises.

Fitch's Committee on Watch.

Congressman Ashbel P. Fitch's committee is also on deck in the new Federal Building, and is keeping a close watch on Mr. Davenport and his aides to see how the game is being worked and to solve a good many mysteries connected with his six-year office if they can.

There is plenty of money waiting in the shape of ball bonds for those who are unfortunate enough to fall victims to the Davenport dragnet, as was told yesterday in THE EVENING WORLD.

$2,000,000 Ball Ready.

The amount in which Democratic bondsmen have already justified is nearly $2,000,000, which is something unheard of in the election annals of this city.

This, however, would only be enough to bail out about one-third of the hundred prisoners at $1,000 each, as the surety is obliged to justify in twice the amount of the bond.

Look Out for Forged Pastors.

One thing which voters are looking out for carefully to-day is the deception which has been attempted in the use of forged pasters and posters that are more than four inches wide.

THIS BAR WAS NOT CLOSED.

Two bluecoats are on duty at each voting precinct in the city, and will be until 6 o'clock to-morrow morning, or whenever the count of the vote shall have been completed.

This will keep about two-thirds of the force continuously on duty at the polls, while the remainder will have all they can do to watch the rest of the city. This means very little sleep or rest for the uniformed force during the next twenty-four hours.

The police have the hardest work of any of those who are on duty at the polls, for they are not only responsible for the keeping of the peace, but they must have an eye on the marshals and the sheriff's deputies and Davenport's supervisors, as well as on the sheriff's deputies, so that their job is by no means an easy one.

They have all received their instructions from Supt. Byrne, through their captains and sergeants, and know just what to do in an emergency.

Even Davenport himself would be shown no greater favor than a plain, ordinary citizen should he attempt to violate the law.

South Dakota's Electoral Votes Said to Be Safe for Weaver.

FROM PARTY HEADQUARTERS.

Harrison Will Get the News by Special Wire from New York.

Cleveland Will Get Bulle- tins at His New Home in Fifty-first Street.

The following dispatches from Indiana and Illinois were received by the Democratic National Committee this morning:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.
S. P. Sherrin, New York: Everything all right in Indiana. We have reliable information that the only hope of the Republicans in few States and all their efforts will be concentrated there.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 8.
S. P. Sherrin, New York: No change in the situation since you were here. Everything is in as good shape as is possible. No breaks in our ranks in Northern counties that I can hear of.

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Nov. 8.
W. R. Hartley, New York: The vote in this State will be close. But if the men that have polled the various towns of the State have done their work with any degree of accuracy, Illinois will go Democratic. Wall is best bet. Wisconsin, Tennessee and Michigan that South Dakota is safe for Weaver, and Richardson and Fuller are equally sanguine of Iowa.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 8.
D. M. Dickinson, New York: I will carry the State ticket with a plurality sufficient to assure the Cleveland Electors, but I shall be satisfied with moderate figures for the plurality. The twenty-two counties in which the State are highly satisfactory at the last moment, but I discount them in forming my opinion.

WENDELL, N. D., Nov. 8.
Denver, Colo., Nov. 8: Harrison will lose Colorado. Two Democratic Congressmen and the State Legislature are assured.

FRANK P. ARBUCKLE,
Chairman Democratic State Committee.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 8: Harrison will carry one electoral vote in Oregon, and probably all.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Nov. 8: You can safely rely on the defeat of Harrison's interests in Nevada.

R. P. KRATZING,
New Haven, Conn., Nov. 8: Vote in New Haven up to 11 o'clock extremely large and decidedly very favorable to us. CLINTON B. DAVIS.

Mr. Cable is the Democratic National Committee man in charge of Western Branch Headquarters in the absence of Chairman Dickinson. Mr. Wall is the National Committee man from Wisconsin and Mr. Richardson the National Committee man from Iowa.

No Reports of Violence.

No reports of violence or disorder had been received at either the Democratic or Republican headquarters from any part of the city, state or country up to 11 o'clock this morning.

Advice was given to the effect that the election was going on quietly, and that a full vote was being polled.

The indications at the hour mentioned were that the vote would be unusually large in the State, nearly up to the full enrollment.

Special Wire to the White House.

President Harrison is in direct communication with the Republican National Committee by private wire which is run from headquarters, 518 Fifth avenue, into the White House. Complete returns from all over the United States will be received at Mr. Carter's bureau.

Nine operators will receive the news over the wire, and a force of clerks will be kept busy tabulating the figures. A very message will be duplicated to the White House.

Public Bulletins for Democrats.

The returns will be for the use and information of the Committee only, but at Democratic National Headquarters, the Fifth avenue, bulletins of the result will be displayed in the front of the building by stereopticon on a large screen.

The committees on duty at Democratic Headquarters this morning were Messrs. Smalley and Sheerin. Chairman Hartley went to Philadelphia on an early train to vote, and was expected back at noon.

New posters are being used. There has been no disturbance reported.

In the second.

A heavy vote and a large number of arrests tell the story in the Second Assembly District this morning. One or more arrests are reported from nearly every election district. The local light is a hot one.

Third Assembly District.

Jacobus's marshals made several raids in the Third Assembly District this morning.

Third Assembly District.

Jacobus's marshals made several raids in the Third Assembly District this morning.

The Presidential election of 1892 is passing into history to-day, and the start was made in the most approved Democratic fashion, as far as least a weather is concerned, and that counts for a great deal.

Farmer Dunn predicted it yesterday, and it came in good earnest. The lowering clouds that overhung the sky all day broke towards morning, sending down a deluge of rain, that flooded the country roads, and that is bound to play havoc with the fair weather vote in the country districts at least.

Preparations for getting out the vote were completed yesterday by the leaders of both great parties, even to the finishing touches, and there was nothing left for the managers to do but to watch the casting and counting of the vote and await the final result.

All the interest and anxiety of the past three months' campaign will be crowded into the next twelve hours, and when the returns finally begin to come in and first indications of the outcome of the long struggle are apparent excitement will be strained to its highest pitch.

Delivering the Ballots.

Voting began in the 1,137 polling places in this city promptly at 6 o'clock this morning.

The police force had been on the jump for hours before daylight bringing from the various precinct stations, where they had been stored in readiness, the big bundles of ballots and ballot-boxes, and distributing them to the inspectors in the different election districts. This was a good two hours' work.

Then there were the forces to be arranged for the battle. Each party has a larger army at the polls to-day than was ever before known in the history of Gotham, and with all this array of force to protect the voter in his rights it hardly seems possible that any one who is entitled to cast a ballot will be prevented.

Jacobus's Men Out Early.

On the Republican side of the line, backed up by Federal authority, are the 6,000 or more of Jacobus's men who are scattered broadcast over the city. They were out early. There are two or more of these men at every polling place, and in some precincts a dozen or more are scattered about with orders to keep their eyes on Johnny Davenport's supervisors and be ready to nab a prisoner whenever the signal is given.

Davenport's Hirelings Loaded with Warrants.

Besides these, Davenport has a horde of men sworn in as special deputy marshals, who are assigned exclusively to his service, and are going about to-day with their pockets stuffed full of warrants for the arrest of alleged illegal voters. There are said to be 5,000 of these warrants out, and it is fully expected that the knowledge of this fact will deter many persons from voting.

Deputy Sheriffs to Watch the Marshals.

On the other hand, deputy sheriffs with commissions from Sheriff Gorman are on hand in many election districts to keep tabs on the marshals and protect the liberties of the voter where this may be necessary, and see that disturbances and disorderly conduct do not mar the serenity of the day.

And There Are the Police.

Finally, there are the police, who really begin to fill up about 8 o'clock this morning, and an hour later twenty men had experienced the humiliation of having their rights to vote questioned by John L. and his minions.

Commissioners Shields and Deuel were on hand early, the former taking room 47 in which to hold court, and Commissioner Deuel holding forth in room 43.

The Commissioners had not long to wait before the stream of deputy marshals began coming in with prisoners.

Lawyers Leventritt, Hotchkiss and Wheeler were on hand ready to furnish bail from the $2,753,000 fund furnished by Tammany Hall.

As fast as the cases were heard by the Commissioners the prisoners, if not discharged, were taken up to room 73, where bail was fixed.

Where there was the slightest excuse for the deputy marshals rushing the prisoners down to the cage.

Some of the deputies had only one prisoner, while others had several.

There was some little confusion at first over the question as to who the alleged illegal voters should be arraigned before. But as there was no rule in regard to this the prisoners were hustled into the room that was reached first.

The Unlucky First Man.

The first man to be arraigned was Michael Sullivan, of 35 Bowers, who was arrested by Deputy Marshal Conger at the polling booth at 38 Division street.

Sullivan was charged with illegal registration in the First Election District of the Third Assembly District.

Examined by Commissioner Deuel, Sullivan said that he was a natural born and had lived off and on at 35 Bowers for the last three years. He was now working along shore unloading the schooner D. H. Coffin.

He denied any intention of breaking the law, but was held in $500 bail for an examination on Nov. 10. Bail was furnished and Sullivan was allowed to go, Sullivan had cast his vote before he was arrested.

Charles O'Neill the Next.

Charles Z. O'Neill, of E. Bowers, was the next to be arraigned. He had, he said, lived at that address for thirty-two days and showed letters addressed to him there bearing postmarks of over a month ago.

O'Neill declared that he had been arrested for false registration on Oct. 30, and when brought before Commissioner Shields then had been discharged after proving that his name was on last year's registry list.

It was a clear case of wrong arrest and O'Neill was discharged. He left the building, saying that he would go back and vote.

Then Joseph Costello held court for alleged illegal registration in the Twenty-ninth Election District of the Tenth Assembly District. Costello has lived in New York all his life, but had been in the City Hospital laid up with rheumatism for the last five weeks. He was registered from the hospital. Commissioner Deuel held Costello in $500 bail for examination to-morrow.

George Jacobs, the cashier of the White Elephant saloon, was next arraigned. He lived, he said, at 121 West Twenty-third street, and had worked eight months in his present job. As there was no evidence to show that Jacobs had not a per. oct. right to vote, he was discharged to-morrow.

George Rachedian, of 9 Canino street, was charged with illegal registration in that he moved out of his election district on Nov. 8. Rachedian was discharged.

Jacob Selzer, of 71 1/2 West 114th street, as held in $500 for 12 miles on Thursday, as it was Democratic National Committee. Ex-Secretary Whitney, Daniel Lamont, his former private secretary, and other intimate friends will be with Mr. Cleveland.

AT REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS.

Cheering Despatches Received by National Chairman Carter.

Dulness is the order of the day at Republican headquarters. Very few persons are there. Chairman Carter received a telegram from Warner Miller that Herkimer county would increase its Republican plurality by 300.

A despatch from Lincoln, Neb., said that a heavy vote was being polled in Nebraska.

A Syracuse telegram said that Onondaga county would give the 6,000th ballot for Harrison.

Joe Manly telegraphed senator Hale at Augusta, Me., that West Virginia and Idaho will go Republican.

ELECTION DAY UP THE STATE.

Generally Perfect Weather, and a Full and Early Vote.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEWBURGH, Nov. 8.—Weather fine. Vote will not be far behind registration.

ITHACA, Nov. 8.—A perfect day for election, sun shining brightly. Roads somewhat muddy, but large vote reported coming out all over this section. One-third of the vote of this city was in the boxes before 6 o'clock.

SCHENECTADY, Nov. 8.—The polls in this city were opened at 6 o'clock, and at 6 o'clock nearly a third of those registered had voted. The weather is superb.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 8.—The weather is dark and cold. Main or snow expected. Heavy vote being polled. Country roads in bad condition.

ALBANY, Nov. 8.—Weather fine. Large vote being polled.

TROY, Nov. 8.—Beautiful day, sunny and mild. Indications that almost every vote registered will be polled.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 8.—Day cloudy but mild. Voting during forenoon. Large vote and promises large gains over preceding year. Republicans claim 5,000 in the county and Democrats 4,500. Much use of pasters in the city.

NEWBURGH, Nov. 8.—The weather is raw, with threatening rain or snow. Vote being polled rapidly in the city, but in the country the roads are very heavy.

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—Weather summer-like. News from the towns show the vote coming in.

BINGHAMTON, Nov. 8.—Weather here bright and mild, but a heavy rain last night put country roads in bad condition. Indications of a heavy city vote.

LOCKPORT, Nov. 8.—Day cloudy and chilly. Large vote being polled.

HEPPOLO, Nov. 8.—The weather is cloudy, with a cold wind. During the forenoon a very heavy rain fell in the upper districts, while in some of the east side districts it was light.

SEVEN arrests this morning for illegal registration. Robert Killebrew, special United States Marshal, of the Hudson County, of the Nineteenth Ward, dropped dead of heart disease.
