

WAS MCCLOSKEY HIT?

He Says Alderman Rogers Gave Him a Bad Pain in the Neck. "Big" John Morris Says He "Didn't See No Blow Struck."

FIFTEENTH DISTRICT POLITICIANS SAY IT WAS ONLY A WORDY WAR.

"Did Alderman Rogers strike McCloskey?" McCloskey says he did, but there seems to be some doubt about it in the minds of Fifteenth Assembly District politicians.

"I had been to the Lodge and dropped into Samuel Nelson's saloon, at Thirty-third street and Eighth avenue. After I had been there fifteen minutes or so, in comes the Alderman and one or two other men."

"Then we got to talking over the election. Rogers and I have always been good friends, but not intimate like, you know. Well, he commenced saying that I didn't hold my own in the Alderman's caucus. I said I was in the caucus behind the National ticket in the election district."

"I'm beginning to feel worried over this thing and I'm going to have a physician. This morn'g five days I've had to lie on my back, and I think it's a stroke."

"McCloskey, whose given name is James, is a painter, whose shop is at 437 West Twenty-sixth street. He is fifty years of age. His wife is thirty-five and has three children. He is a man of about thirty years of age, and wears his whiskers like Mayor Grant. His eyes come as near snapping as blue eyes could when he spoke of the Alderman."

"I was standing there," says Morris, "and there wasn't no blow even aimed. Of course how could they be? We'd have prevented it. We wasn't going to see anything like that. Both of these people are friends of mine and I wouldn't see anything like that happen."

"Of course not. McCloskey didn't get it in the neck while he was in the saloon. Morris says that both men were sober and that it was only a war of words. The Fifteenth Assembly District politicians say it was only a wordy war."

TURNED THE "COUNT" LOOSE.

De Mitkiewicz Freed of the Charges Made by Lawyer Tomes. Col. Shepard on the Tombs Court Witness Stand.

"Count" Eugene de Mitkiewicz, the famous promoter of Chinese concession schemes, appeared at the Tombs Police Court this morning for examination on the charge of obtaining $1,700 under false pretenses from Arthur L. Tomes, of 502 Clarkson avenue, Brooklyn.

"The 'count' came on from Washington, D. C., where he has been living recently, last night and surrendered himself to Police Justice Grady, who paroled him to the custody of his counsel, Charles W. Brooke.

"This action saved him from being arrested, for Detective Sergeant Hrus, of Police Headquarters, was on duty this morning with a warrant sworn out by Mr. Tomes Sept. 29 last, and was ready to serve it.

"As de Mitkiewicz had surrendered himself, Justice Grady countermanded the warrant. Soon after 11 o'clock the 'count' walked into Justice Grady's backroom accompanied by counsel Brooke and Col. Robert Christie, of Washington, also his attorney.

"Lawyer Charles E. Burke, Mr. Tomes's counsel, asked for an adjournment because some of his witnesses were not present. Notable among the absentees was Col. Philip J. Shepard, who, according to the report of de Mitkiewicz, represented to Tomes as backing his Chinese concession schemes and would repay money which Tomes had advanced to the 'count.'

"Lawyer Burke wanted an attachment issued for Col. Shepard if the examination was to proceed, but the court declined to grant his request. Mr. Tomes, the complainant, was the first witness called.

"Mr. Tomes testified to mortgaging a house to secure $1,700 for de Mitkiewicz to promote his Chinese concessions. This was in November, 1901, and the transaction took place in the law office of Burr & DeWitt, 206 Broadway, in the presence of Col. William P. Burr.

"De Mitkiewicz, the witness swore, then told Col. Shepard that he would reimburse him for every cent he advanced, and in consequence Mr. Tomes handed over the money. Col. Burr corroborated Mr. Tomes's testimony and swore to paying $450 out of his $1,700 directly to de Mitkiewicz, and sending the remainder to de Mitkiewicz's agent, in Chicago, Lawyer Millard Jones. Col. Burr also heard the conversation between Col. Shepard and de Mitkiewicz, and on cross-examination he said that de Mitkiewicz said he had been offered a large sum of money to refuse him anything.

"Meanwhile Col. Shepard had entered the courtroom. He wore a shiny plain suit with a sack coat and high silk hat. He was called to the stand, and for some unaccountable reason a witness instead of being sworn.

SHE WANTS $10,000 BALM.

Pretty Frances Kane's Suit Against Policeman Leonard. Her Thanksgiving Wedding Day Still Postponed.

There was a crowd in the City Court room this morning, drawn by the announcement that Judge Newburger would begin the trial of Miss Frances Kane's suit against Policeman Leonard, of the East Eighty-sixth street station, for $10,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage.

Miss Kane is a very pretty girl of twenty one. She is a sister-in-law of Policeman John Hyman, and the suit was begun three years ago through Policeman Hyman, who was appointed her guardian.

In 1887, she says in her complaint, she was living with her father at 1724 Columbus avenue and attending school, being only seventeen years old. Her sister knew a policeman attached to the East Eighty-sixth street station, and he, on Christmas Day of that year, brought Policeman Leonard to call on her.

"The trial of the suit was delayed by one cause and another, until yesterday it was called by Judge Newburger. Policeman Leonard's counsel then made answer that Leonard admitted the betrayal of Miss Kane, but stated that another man was implicated.

"Lawyer Hummel, for Miss Kane, declared that the defense was outrageous, and demanded that the trial go on immediately. The court granted the request, and the trial was begun at 10 o'clock this afternoon.

"There was considerable disappointment expressed by the curious onlookers when Judge Newburger announced, shortly after the opening of court, that the case would not be taken up until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

"The business community is chiefly interested in the suit, as the rates applied to New York are now applied to Chicago, and an excursion rate, if they choose to do so, will be granted to the railroad. These conditions will be granted by the railroad."

WILL READING BE A WIDER?

Intimation That It Wants the Rapid Transit Franchise. President McLeod Said to Think Favorably of It.

Wall street was much interested this morning in a despatch from Boston which alleged that President McLeod, of the Reading and Boston and Maine systems, had intimated that the former corporation was preparing to bid for the control of the electric trolley underground road, the specifications of which have just been made public.

President McLeod, it is said, declined to discuss the matter further, but declared that information on the subject would be made known at the proper time.

"The scheme is of colossal proportions," he said, "and may mean the creation of a big corporation to compete with the New York Central for the control of rapid transit in this city."

"It also looks as if the Reading was trying to get into the heart of New York."

"The business community is chiefly interested in the suit, as the rates applied to New York are now applied to Chicago, and an excursion rate, if they choose to do so, will be granted to the railroad. These conditions will be granted by the railroad."
