

DISPUTE OVER A GRAVEYARD.

Serious Discussion in the Congregation Chasari Zedek.

Proposed Removal of Bodies from an Old Cemetery the Cause.

The Congregation Chasari Zedek is said to be divided against itself, and grave fears are entertained that the present discussions may culminate in an open and lasting rupture between the two factions of this ancient body of worshippers.

Two years after the congregation was formed in 1838 two lots were bought by it in Eighty-eighth street, near Madison avenue, and converted into a burying ground.

In 1860 a suggestion was made to remove the dead from this cemetery to a more capacious one in Bayside, L. I.

The plan of removal was favored by the younger members of the congregation, but the older members opposed it bitterly.

It was urged by the former that a builder, who was getting up a house in a lot adjacent to the cemetery, had loosened the foundations of the old building, and that a portion of which toppled over upon the graves.

This faction claimed also to have received sanction from Chief Rabbi Joseph for the removal of the dead, and were said to be negotiating for the cemetery with those who opposed the disinterment.

The chief rabbi then wrote out his denial in Hebrew, and was questioned by those who were in favor of the removal.

MYSTERY OF A COAT.

Identified by Mrs. Doyle as the One Worn by Her Husband.

The mystery of a coat was partially unraveled to-day at Police Headquarters.

On the morning of Nov. 18 a black coat was found at the corner of Broadway and West Street, which was a ticket for Grand Central, Rockland County, N. Y., on the steamboat Chrysanthe.

The coat was taken to the Property Clerk's office at Police Headquarters, and this morning Mrs. Maggie Doyle called at Headquarters and made inquiry for her husband, Frank Doyle, who was a bricklayer in the yard of Patrick Brophy at Grand Street.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

The coat was shown her and she identified it as the one worn by her husband when he came down to work in the yard of the steamboat Chrysanthe, so he could return that way in case he spent all his money there.

TABLES TURNED ON TYLER.

His Pretty Wife Begins a Suit for Divorce from Him.

She Alleges Cruelty, Non-Support and Unfaithfulness.

Corra Parsons Tyler, the alleged "Daring Chia" of Mortimer F. Taylor's scathing love epistles, according to the complaint of the husband, George C. Tyler, in his suit for $100,000 damages from Mr. Taylor, has filed a new phase of the case in a counter suit for divorce, in which she charges brutality and infidelity.

Mrs. Tyler has retained Lawyer John D. Townsend as counsel, and the summons and complaint were served upon Tyler as he was sitting out on the Broadway House last evening for Lancaster, Pa., where he was to begin a theatrical engagement.

The complaint recites that Tyler rendered to her that he had a lucrative theatrical business, but that after marriage she discovered that this was untrue; that he was a gambler of the lowest instincts, and that she discovered his unfaithfulness shortly after their marriage.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

She alleges that he frequently failed to provide her with money for her support, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children, and that he refused to let her employ a nurse to take care of her children.

REV. WILLIAMS'S CONFESSION.

For Moral Reasons He Left the Church of the Ascension.

Hints of a Scandal in the Fashionable Parish.

Members of the fashionable parish of the Church of the Ascension, at 36 Fifth avenue, are considerably stirred up over the announcement of Rev. Dr. E. Winchester Donald, who preached his farewell sermon last Sunday, that Rev. F. L. Williams, one of his assistants, was no longer connected with the church of the Ascension or even with the Protestant Episcopal Church in general.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

The announcement was something of a shock to the members of the parish, to whose spiritual wants Mr. Williams had ministered during the summer while Dr. Donald was away on his vacation.

He had succeeded Mrs. Miss Hudson Gates, and his retirement, earnestness and able manner made him wonderfully popular. He was thirty years old, a bachelor, by birth an Englishman and had recently graduated from the University of Toronto.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

Dr. Donald gave no reason for Mr. Williams's sudden departure, but intimated that it was because of wrongdoing on the part of the young divine.

VERY MUCH PUT OUT.

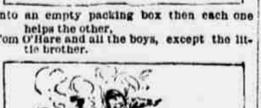

From a Pack of Paper Cigarettes is Found by Tom O'Hare, Which His Brother Willie Knows They Will Not Let Him Share.

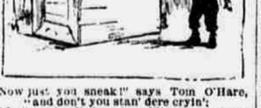

A pack of paper cigarettes is found by Tom O'Hare, which his brother Willie knows they will not let him share.

Tom O'Hare and all the boys, except the little brother.

Now just you sneak! says Tom O'Hare, and get out of his house. I'll see you home a-lyin'.

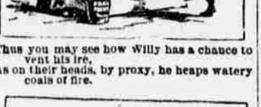

Then Willie has a happy thought, the while he goes and tells the storeman his boxes are on fire.

Thus you may see how Willie has a chance to vent his ire, as on their heads, by proxy, he heaps watery words of fire.

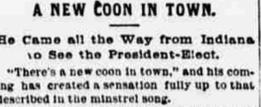

He came all the way from Indiana to see the President-Elect.

There's a new coon in town, and his coming has created a sensation fully up to that described in the minstrel song.

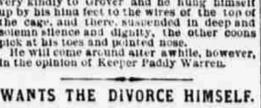

This coon is from the Blue Jeans State, and he is registered at his hotel as "Grover Cleveland, Selma, Ind."

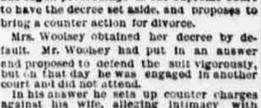

ALL THE WAY FROM INDIANA. His Cousin arrived yesterday, a gift from a red-hot Cleveland Democrat, Eldon Cannaday, of Selma, who is a breeder of fancy poultry. I have for the first time, a turkey like in this first street by being cross and grumpy, and his banishment to the Central Park Zoo was decreed.

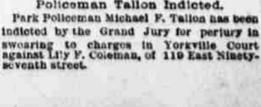

WANTS THE DIVORCE HIMSELF. Mr. Woolsey seeks to have his wife's Decree Set Aside.

Edward J. Woolsey, of Lexington avenue, whose wife obtained a divorce last Monday, has begun proceedings in the Supreme Court to have the decree set aside, and proposes to bring counter-claim for divorce.

A Brilliant Wedding in the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Policeman Tallon Indicted.

FROM THE WORLD OF LABOR.

Furniture workers report that the prospect for winter work is extraordinarily good.

Michael J. Dougherty has been elected Secretary of the Central Labor Union No. 6, 214, A. S. of L.

The Cleveland (O.) Central Labor Union has decided to send a delegate to the coming convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Joseph F. Suchanik, President of the South West Central Labor Union, is one of the candidates for the Legislature of Indiana.

Miss S. E. Fuller, of this city, is the first woman to receive a government contract for engraving. She is a practical wood engraver, and prepared the first manual of instruction when the Republic was young.

The Western Stone Company, Joliet, Ill., has granted the nine-hour work-day, and the workers are very happy.

Discussion upon the advisability of joining the International Association of Machinists by the members of the Central Labor Union No. 6, 214, A. S. of L.

Another conference is to be held next Friday at the Building Trades Club, 117 East Twenty-third street, between representatives of the Board of Working Delegates and the employers of the electrical workers.

Work was resumed this morning by the Italian marble mosaic workers who struck last week. They are now working on Twenty-third street.

The Washington (D. C.) Federation of Labor Unions has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The Municipal Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

The National Protective Association has issued an appeal to the labor organizations of the United States asking them to support the proposed law of Aug. 1, 1892, by strictly enforcing it.

Drawn Very Clearly and Distinctly

Separating Dr. Copeland's New Lung Treatment from the Alleged Discoveries of Enthusiasts.

In the midst of all its testimony regarding the wonderful success of the Lung Treatment, there are two things which it is necessary to make clear.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

SEVERE METHODS OF LOCAL TREATMENT FOR CATARRH AND CATARRHAL DEAFNESS, AS PRACTICED BY SOME ALLEGED SPECIALISTS, ARE MORE TO BE DREADED THAN CATARRH ITSELF.

A CASE COMES UNDER OUR OBSERVATION, IN WHICH THE PATIENT WAS RENDERED TOTALLY AND HELPLESSLY DEAF, HIS EAR DRUM BEING RUPTURED BY THESE CLUMSY OPERATORS.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.

It is true that among the hundreds who have tried this treatment, there is not one who has not found relief and help, while it is true that there has not been a dissenting voice among the patients, and that from them, as well as from thousands of relatives and friends, come words of praise and wonder which have no equal in the history of medical practice.