

Published by the Press Publishing Company, 11 to 65 Park Row, New York.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 25.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE EVENING WORLD

(Including Postage): PER MONTH..... 30c PER YEAR..... $3.00

Vol. 33..... No. 11,420

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second class matter.

BRANCH OFFICES: WORLD UPTOWN OFFICE-1267 Broadway, between 31st and 32nd sts., New York.

THE WORLD will not, under any circumstances, hold itself responsible for the return of unsolicited manuscripts or pictures of whatever character or value.

NEARLY FIFTY MILLION "WORLDS."

During the four months of the campaign THE WORLD printed and circulated 48,183,317 newspapers, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Month and Circulation. July: 11,779,526; August: 12,048,984; September: 12,507,295; October: 11,847,512; Total: 48,183,317; Average per day: 391,734.

The average daily circulation of THE WORLD for the four months of the Presidential campaign in the last four elections is as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Year and Circulation. 1880: 33,000; 1884: 91,537; 1888: 277,474; 1892: 391,734.

The Evening World Prints Associated Press News.

It is between football and baseball that the game of Congress finds its opening.

Whatever may be said about the college football teams, no one can accuse them of being duds.

The turkeys who were left draw a long breath to-day. It is now the Christmas goose's period of torment.

The Panama Canal swindle has a direct and injurious connection with American interests and rights in Panama.

The Evening World and Yale were ahead, as usual, in the matter of good reports from the football field.

Football and Thanksgiving are over. There is nothing to distract your mind from the Christmas-Free Fund.

It is in order to recall with what impartiality on the day previous to the great football game THE EVENING WORLD predicted that the better team would win.

There has been a noticeable lull in the business of making up the next Cabinet since the President-elect contributed an expression of his opinion on the subject.

A 17-pound Democratic pudding was sent at Richmond yesterday. But big as it was it didn't begin to furnish the plums that will be given out at Washington a few months later.

One of the best appreciated landmarks on record has occurred in Washington State. It revealed a pile of $20 gold pieces which had been hidden by an unfortunate who died without having traced the banks.

Bishop Fitzgerald is right. There is room for all the political parties. Moreover, there is a demand for them all. Every party has its use to the nation, though one or two may overrate the scope of their utility.

Crusaders in Norwich have torn down the posters of a travelling show, which they felt could not be countenanced even by defenders of the nude in art. Better anchored billboards, they thought, than so much nakedness in lithography.

It is still contended by misguided partisans that the Republican voters of Massachusetts cast enough ballots for Halle to elect him, but failed in their good intentions through ignorance of the proper method of casting a ballot. Such a plea in defense is worse than no defense at all.

Minister Frenkel, at Berlin, in speaking at the Thanksgiving celebration of yesterday, took pains to emphasize the idea of his own position, which was that he had been sent to Germany not as the representative of the United States or of the American people, but as the representative of the Administration, and especially of the President who appointed him.

CHEER THE CHILDREN.

Do Not Let Their Christmas Be a Dark One.

Thousands Await Anxiously the Arrival of Santa Claus.

"Nell Nelson" Again Appeals to the Charitable.

THE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The Evening World..... $100.00 There is a knowledge..... 112.48 N. Y. Z..... 1.00 Mrs. A. G. B..... .50 The Mother..... .30 Little May..... .20

Letters containing money for the Christmas-Free Fund should be addressed to the "Nell Nelson" Appeal, c/o "The New York World," 11 to 65 Park Row, New York.

AGAIN, MR. BLAINE'S HEALTH. Mr. Blaine's health is again a matter before the public, and one which does not fall of its old degree of interest.

What a glorious Thanksgiving Day it was to be sure! Wasn't it good to be alive? Didn't the merry sunshine make your heart glad and send your spirits a-kiting?

When Jack Frost nipped your nose and tried to catch you by the ear didn't you feel as though you had wings on your heels?

And, tell the truth, now, didn't you feel like tossing your cap up in the air and skipping the tra-la-las?

The slightest report of Mr. Blaine's illness sets the wires to Washington throbbing with inquiries. Every printed word regarding the condition of the ex-Secretary is eagerly read. He is still, even in his retirement, a part of the history of the times.

ALL TOGETHER FOR THOSE TREE. Now to boom the Christmas Tree-Fund, all hands! It's only thirty days to the greatest holiday on the calendar.

Now to boom the Christmas Tree-Fund, all hands! It's only thirty days to the greatest holiday on the calendar. Short enough time, this, to get everything in order for the bewildering and delight of those children of the very poor.

You know the pathos of the situation. You have been told many times of the little ones who can have only such a Christmas as the generous ones more prosperous than they will give them.

NO MINUTE LEGS IN ST. LOUIS. The young men of St. Louis do not care for the minut. They haven't minute legs, and they aren't afraid to say so.

This fact has just been flaunted to the public by a number of St. Louis young men who set to the laughing of the minut into the terraced arena.

What you suppose he had for dinner? How do you think he celebrated? Dined on sea bass, roast little pig, partridge, said, mince pie, cheese, fruit and black coffee, after the manner of the good housewife.

Think he ate salted walnuts, chocolate cake, tongue and red apples later in the evening when company called to see his grand-aunt? No, several times not company is in the habit of calling at homes where there is no dinner the last Thursday in November.

Gov. McKinley's executive clerk reports ghostly rappings in the Governor's office. If he were superstitious, he says, he would attribute them to the spirits of executed murderers who unsuccessfully applied for pardon or commutation.

A woman, a justice of the peace and an inspector of election in this State was a citizen of Canada up to a few days ago. Amnerion could have done her more for this enterprising gentleman than his own nerve and the oversight of his neighbors accomplished.

WORLDLINGS. An Australian inventor has devised a new rifle from which an insect as 120 shots a minute can be fired.

There were 3,508 church churches in the United States in 1891. Most of the churches were now displayed in the streets of New York, as made in Newburgh, which for years has been the center of the toy-making industry.

In that desolate part of California known as Death Valley the thermometer sometimes registers 123 degrees of heat.

The game of billiards was invented in France towards the end of the fifteenth century.

'T WAS A GOOD MATINEE DAY.

Despite Other Attractions the Theatres Did Well Yesterday.

Corbett is Interested in Bronson Howard's "Aristocracy."

Now Comes the Great Costello-Greggains Battle.

Caswell Won Two Cups at Westchester Yesterday.

The theatres did very nicely yesterday, although the matinees, in some cases, were not so largely attended as they might have been. People flocked to the popular price houses, but the gilt-edged attractions, with the exception of "Aristocracy" at Palmer and one or two others, were somewhat neglected.

John Stetson's company, which is to present William Seymour's adaptation, entitled "The Crus of Society," will include Joseph Haworth, Harry B. Maur, J. Frank Sherry, Cuyler Hastings, David Elmer, Joseph Foster, Carrie Turner, Helen Kinnaird, Jane Edwards, Edith Proctor, Miss Lovejoy and Miss Henning.

According to an English authority, after the first performance of "King Lear" at the Lyceum Theatre, London, Henry Irving made a speech. After this speech a little gallery boy shouted out: "Why didn't you speak your part like that, and then we might have understood you."

There were other ways of being "sporty" yesterday besides going to the football game, which was a very successful one.

The Suburban Harriers held their cross-country run over the Englewood five-mile course, which was won by Herman Jaene as the winner in 20m. 28s.

The Business of Morris and Essex counted the check of the year under the auspices of the Essex County Hunt Club.

Besides offering purses for pugilistic battles, the Essex Hunt Club also has a number of sports in the immediate future.

There is one of Harry Miner's latest. Why are Edwin Knowles & Co. of the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, like the Rev. Dr. Talmage? Because they are both "big game" without any of the usual accessories.

Here is a story about Hammerstein. His troubles with the Fire Commissioners are well known, and everybody thought that the opening of the new Manhattan theatre was a relief.

During the last week of the Lilliputians at the Union Square Theatre, the tenth anniversary of their organization is being celebrated.

The author of "The Middleman" has been passing remarks about modern audiences and modern plays. Of course, he said, every play is a failure, and the lighter the play, the better it is.

In the new play that will open the Empire Theatre in January, Helasco has had a laborer Franklin Fyles, the well-known glib and witty. Messrs. Helasco and Fyles have worked at the play for more than a year.

No Wonder He Won. The following ingenious composition has been sent by an EVENING WORLD reader:

Peace at Any Price. (From Trunk.) Mrs. Joken—John, I want a new dress.

Little May's Dime. I send 10 cents for the Baby Ruth Christmas Tree, but I have lost it and have lots of pretty things on it.

Everybody Should Contribute. I enclose 50 cents for the Christmas-Free Fund. Everybody should remember the poor children during the holidays.

Don't Imagine. That because we keep our Stockings and Gloves in repair free we charge more than other people for them.

Why? Pearlina—the only Washing Compound ever imitated.

Richard. 70 West 23d Street.

GOSSIP OF RING AND FIELD.

Now Comes the Great Costello-Greggains Battle.

Caswell Won Two Cups at Westchester Yesterday.

The first is a tasteful souave, intended for wearing over a walking dress. It is made in shot velvet, in lovely shades of olive green and old rose.

Now that the slugging contest par excellence of the year—the football match between Yale and Princeton, has been fought and won, the adept in the knowledge of things pugilistic turns his thoughts to the null race: Monday night at Coney Island between Greggains and Costello.

There will be a warning-up bout prior to the Greggains-Costello affair, between the bantams, Dan McBride and Con Sullivan.

An effort is under way to bring about a temporary truce between Jack McAuliffe and Mike Daly on the subject of the Island Athletic Club.

The Islanding got between Billy Myer and Jack McAuliffe, set down for Dec. 10 in Chicago, is off on account of a serious injury to Myer's leg.

There were other ways of being "sporty" yesterday besides going to the football game, which was a very successful one.

The Suburban Harriers held their cross-country run over the Englewood five-mile course, which was won by Herman Jaene as the winner in 20m. 28s.

The Business of Morris and Essex counted the check of the year under the auspices of the Essex County Hunt Club.

Besides offering purses for pugilistic battles, the Essex Hunt Club also has a number of sports in the immediate future.

There is one of Harry Miner's latest. Why are Edwin Knowles & Co. of the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, like the Rev. Dr. Talmage? Because they are both "big game" without any of the usual accessories.

Here is a story about Hammerstein. His troubles with the Fire Commissioners are well known, and everybody thought that the opening of the new Manhattan theatre was a relief.

During the last week of the Lilliputians at the Union Square Theatre, the tenth anniversary of their organization is being celebrated.

The author of "The Middleman" has been passing remarks about modern audiences and modern plays. Of course, he said, every play is a failure, and the lighter the play, the better it is.

In the new play that will open the Empire Theatre in January, Helasco has had a laborer Franklin Fyles, the well-known glib and witty. Messrs. Helasco and Fyles have worked at the play for more than a year.

No Wonder He Won. The following ingenious composition has been sent by an EVENING WORLD reader:

Peace at Any Price. (From Trunk.) Mrs. Joken—John, I want a new dress.

Little May's Dime. I send 10 cents for the Baby Ruth Christmas Tree, but I have lost it and have lots of pretty things on it.

Everybody Should Contribute. I enclose 50 cents for the Christmas-Free Fund. Everybody should remember the poor children during the holidays.

Don't Imagine. That because we keep our Stockings and Gloves in repair free we charge more than other people for them.

Why? Pearlina—the only Washing Compound ever imitated.

Richard. 70 West 23d Street.

HOUSE AND HOME.

Now Comes the Great Costello-Greggains Battle.

Caswell Won Two Cups at Westchester Yesterday.

The first is a tasteful souave, intended for wearing over a walking dress. It is made in shot velvet, in lovely shades of olive green and old rose.

Now that the slugging contest par excellence of the year—the football match between Yale and Princeton, has been fought and won, the adept in the knowledge of things pugilistic turns his thoughts to the null race: Monday night at Coney Island between Greggains and Costello.

There will be a warning-up bout prior to the Greggains-Costello affair, between the bantams, Dan McBride and Con Sullivan.

An effort is under way to bring about a temporary truce between Jack McAuliffe and Mike Daly on the subject of the Island Athletic Club.

The Islanding got between Billy Myer and Jack McAuliffe, set down for Dec. 10 in Chicago, is off on account of a serious injury to Myer's leg.

There were other ways of being "sporty" yesterday besides going to the football game, which was a very successful one.

The Suburban Harriers held their cross-country run over the Englewood five-mile course, which was won by Herman Jaene as the winner in 20m. 28s.

The Business of Morris and Essex counted the check of the year under the auspices of the Essex County Hunt Club.

Besides offering purses for pugilistic battles, the Essex Hunt Club also has a number of sports in the immediate future.

There is one of Harry Miner's latest. Why are Edwin Knowles & Co. of the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, like the Rev. Dr. Talmage? Because they are both "big game" without any of the usual accessories.

Here is a story about Hammerstein. His troubles with the Fire Commissioners are well known, and everybody thought that the opening of the new Manhattan theatre was a relief.

During the last week of the Lilliputians at the Union Square Theatre, the tenth anniversary of their organization is being celebrated.

The author of "The Middleman" has been passing remarks about modern audiences and modern plays. Of course, he said, every play is a failure, and the lighter the play, the better it is.

In the new play that will open the Empire Theatre in January, Helasco has had a laborer Franklin Fyles, the well-known glib and witty. Messrs. Helasco and Fyles have worked at the play for more than a year.

No Wonder He Won. The following ingenious composition has been sent by an EVENING WORLD reader:

Peace at Any Price. (From Trunk.) Mrs. Joken—John, I want a new dress.

Little May's Dime. I send 10 cents for the Baby Ruth Christmas Tree, but I have lost it and have lots of pretty things on it.

Everybody Should Contribute. I enclose 50 cents for the Christmas-Free Fund. Everybody should remember the poor children during the holidays.

Don't Imagine. That because we keep our Stockings and Gloves in repair free we charge more than other people for them.

Why? Pearlina—the only Washing Compound ever imitated.

Richard. 70 West 23d Street.

HOUSE AND HOME.

Now Comes the Great Costello-Greggains Battle.

Caswell Won Two Cups at Westchester Yesterday.

The first is a tasteful souave, intended for wearing over a walking dress. It is made in shot velvet, in lovely shades of olive green and old rose.

Now that the slugging contest par excellence of the year—the football match between Yale and Princeton, has been fought and won, the adept in the knowledge of things pugilistic turns his thoughts to the null race: Monday night at Coney Island between Greggains and Costello.

There will be a warning-up bout prior to the Greggains-Costello affair, between the bantams, Dan McBride and Con Sullivan.

An effort is under way to bring about a temporary truce between Jack McAuliffe and Mike Daly on the subject of the Island Athletic Club.

The Islanding got between Billy Myer and Jack McAuliffe, set down for Dec. 10 in Chicago, is off on account of a serious injury to Myer's leg.

There were other ways of being "sporty" yesterday besides going to the football game, which was a very successful one.

The Suburban Harriers held their cross-country run over the Englewood five-mile course, which was won by Herman Jaene as the winner in 20m. 28s.

The Business of Morris and Essex counted the check of the year under the auspices of the Essex County Hunt Club.

Besides offering purses for pugilistic battles, the Essex Hunt Club also has a number of sports in the immediate future.

There is one of Harry Miner's latest. Why are Edwin Knowles & Co. of the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, like the Rev. Dr. Talmage? Because they are both "big game" without any of the usual accessories.

Here is a story about Hammerstein. His troubles with the Fire Commissioners are well known, and everybody thought that the opening of the new Manhattan theatre was a relief.

During the last week of the Lilliputians at the Union Square Theatre, the tenth anniversary of their organization is being celebrated.

The author of "The Middleman" has been passing remarks about modern audiences and modern plays. Of course, he said, every play is a failure, and the lighter the play, the better it is.

In the new play that will open the Empire Theatre in January, Helasco has had a laborer Franklin Fyles, the well-known glib and witty. Messrs. Helasco and Fyles have worked at the play for more than a year.

No Wonder He Won. The following ingenious composition has been sent by an EVENING WORLD reader:

Peace at Any Price. (From Trunk.) Mrs. Joken—John, I want a new dress.

Little May's Dime. I send 10 cents for the Baby Ruth Christmas Tree, but I have lost it and have lots of pretty things on it.

Everybody Should Contribute. I enclose 50 cents for the Christmas-Free Fund. Everybody should remember the poor children during the holidays.

Don't Imagine. That because we keep our Stockings and Gloves in repair free we charge more than other people for them.

Why? Pearlina—the only Washing Compound ever imitated.

Richard. 70 West 23d Street.

A SUNNY NATURE.

Now Comes the Great Costello-Greggains Battle.

Caswell Won Two Cups at Westchester Yesterday.

The first is a tasteful souave, intended for wearing over a walking dress. It is made in shot velvet, in lovely shades of olive green and old rose.

Now that the slugging contest par excellence of the year—the football match between Yale and Princeton, has been fought and won, the adept in the knowledge of things pugilistic turns his thoughts to the null race: Monday night at Coney Island between Greggains and Costello.

There will be a warning-up bout prior to the Greggains-Costello affair, between the bantams, Dan McBride and Con Sullivan.

An effort is under way to bring about a temporary truce between Jack McAuliffe and Mike Daly on the subject of the Island Athletic Club.

The Islanding got between Billy Myer and Jack McAuliffe, set down for Dec. 10 in Chicago, is off on account of a serious injury to Myer's leg.

There were other ways of being "sporty" yesterday besides going to the football game, which was a very successful one.

The Suburban Harriers held their cross-country run over the Englewood five-mile course, which was won by Herman Jaene as the winner in 20m. 28s.

The Business of Morris and Essex counted the check of the year under the auspices of the Essex County Hunt Club.

Besides offering purses for pugilistic battles, the Essex Hunt Club also has a number of sports in the immediate future.

There is one of Harry Miner's latest. Why are Edwin Knowles & Co. of the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, like the Rev. Dr. Talmage? Because they are both "big game" without any of the usual accessories.

Here is a story about Hammerstein. His troubles with the Fire Commissioners are well known, and everybody thought that the opening of the new Manhattan theatre was a relief.

During the last week of the Lilliputians at the Union Square Theatre, the tenth anniversary of their organization is being celebrated.

The author of "The Middleman" has been passing remarks about modern audiences and modern plays. Of course, he said, every play is a failure, and the lighter the play, the better it is.

In the new play that will open the Empire Theatre in January, Helasco has had a laborer Franklin Fyles, the well-known glib and witty. Messrs. Helasco and Fyles have worked at the play for more than a year.

No Wonder He Won. The following ingenious composition has been sent by an EVENING WORLD reader:

Peace at Any Price. (From Trunk.) Mrs. Joken—John, I want a new dress.

Little May's Dime. I send 10 cents for the Baby Ruth Christmas Tree, but I have lost it and have lots of pretty things on it.

Everybody Should Contribute. I enclose 50 cents for the Christmas-Free Fund. Everybody should remember the poor children during the holidays.

Don't Imagine. That because we keep our Stockings and Gloves in repair free we charge more than other people for them.

Why? Pearlina—the only Washing Compound ever imitated.

Richard. 70 West 23d Street.

Green and bronze tints. Three velvet buttons, covered with lead embroidery, may be seen on either side.

The second is of royal blue velvet, delicately embroidered in a combination of gold and topaz. The souave is plaited round the shoulders in a very full rich-trill. A wide blue satin ribbon is drawn through the back of the bodice and knotted round the waist in front, so that it falls with long loops and ends over the skirt. The front is fastened in a very quiet fashion, with a large bond and eye made of gold tulle.

Blue satin ribbon is drawn through the back of the bodice and knotted round the waist in front, so that it falls with long loops and ends over the skirt.

The Duchess of Bedford. The Duchess of Bedford, whose recent observations about the prevalence of the drinking habit among women in England created so much comment, is a sister of Lady Henry Somerset, and like Lady Somerset, has long taken deep interest in temperance work.

For many years the Duchess has been working among the poor, and among a section of the poor whom a less sympathetic generation than our own would have called the "undeserving" poor.

Two cups of yellow corn meal, one cup of flour, two ounces of butter, three eggs, one cup of cold milk, one cup of boiling milk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder or a half teaspoonful of soda and a teaspoonful of cream of tartar.

There are fourteen colored female teachers in the public school service of New York City. Two private kindergarten and several day and evening schools are also supported by colored women.

Take a pint of well-ripened cranberries and boil till tender in half a pint of water. Strain, squeezing out all the juice, and then put on a fire and add a pound of sugar to a pint of the juice.

A giran pail with white cushions, whose softness came from their sheer lawn covers, edged all around with a doubled ruff of soft wool, gave a touch of freshness to an apartment recently seen.

Canopied beds are being regarded with much disfavor from a sanitary point of view; in particular those high post ones whose close curtains make an almost airtight chamber for the sleeper.

Canopied beds are being regarded with much disfavor from a sanitary point of view; in particular those high post ones whose close curtains make an almost airtight chamber for the sleeper.

Canopied beds are being regarded with much disfavor from a sanitary point of view; in particular those high post ones whose close curtains make an almost airtight chamber for the sleeper.

Canopied beds are being regarded with much disfavor from a sanitary point of view; in particular those high post ones whose close curtains make an almost airtight chamber for the sleeper.

Canopied beds are being regarded with much disfavor from a sanitary point of view; in particular those high post ones whose close curtains make an almost airtight chamber for the sleeper.

Canopied beds are being regarded with much disfavor from a sanitary point of view; in particular those high post ones whose close curtains make an almost airtight chamber for the sleeper.

HOUSE AND HOME.

Now Comes the Great Costello-Greggains Battle.

Caswell Won Two Cups at Westchester Yesterday.

The first is a tasteful souave, intended for wearing over a walking dress. It is made in shot velvet, in lovely shades of olive green and old rose.

Now that the slugging contest par excellence of the year—the football match between Yale and Princeton, has been fought and won, the adept in the knowledge of things pugilistic turns his thoughts to the