2 O'CLOCK. LANGLEY'S TURN NOW

The Millionaire Trying to Disprove His Wife's Charges.

Hotel Clerk Vail's Strong Evidence in His Favor.

Crowds at the Trial of the Clubman's Wife's Divorce Suit.

The third day of the trial of the suit for absolute divorce brought by Mrs. Mara Belle Langley against her husband, William H. Langley, the millionaire wool merchant and well-known clubman, opened in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, this morning, before Justice Landan and a jury and the usual big crowd of spectators.

The prospect that the millionaire defendant would go upon the witness stand to deny the charges against him drew many of his club friends to the court room, which was filled to the plaiting's side of the case was finished yesterday with the examination of Daniel T. Ames, an expert on handwriting, who swore positively that in his opinion the signature "W. Langley and lady," which appeared on the United States Hotel register, was written by the same hand that endorsed checks drawn to the order of Langley's firm.

The first witnesses sworn for the defendant were William E. Hogan, of Troy, and David N. Carvahlo, well-known experts in handwriting. They declared that they had compared the handwriting in the register and some of Mr. Langley's acknowledged writing, and they were positive that "Langley" and "Langley" were not written by the same hand.

The entire case, it would seem, turns upon this point. Langley came into court this morning, accompanied by his lawyers, Messrs Parsons, Gaynor and Truax. He is of medium height, very stout, with a rosy red face and long blond mustache.

Mrs. Langley occupied her usual seat beside her counsel, ex-Judge Reynolds and E. C. Root. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Shepard.

The Hotel Clerk a Witness. The proceedings opened with the examination of Erastus M. Vail, clerk in the United States Hotel since June 28, 1891.

Q. Have you seen the entries in the register bearing the name of "Langley"? he was asked. He testified that he was at the desk when the entries of Oct. 23, 1891; Dec. 16, 1891; Jan. 18, 1892; Mar. 29, 1892; and Aug. 8, 1892, were made.

Q. Where did you first meet Mr. Langley? A. In Lawyer Reynolds' office.

Q. Did Mr. Langley make any or all of these entries? A. No, sir; none of them. I am positive of that.

Cross-examined by ex-Judge Reynolds: Q. Are those marks each side of "Room 11" in your writing? Yes, they were private marks meaning that the room had been vacated.

Q. Do you remember what kind of a looking man registered as "Langley"? A. Tall and dark. I think he was in the habit of coming to the hotel.

Q. Was it a frequent occurrence for people to come to the hotel and stop for a short time? A. Sometimes.

Q. Did Mr. Herdell send you to Miss Ely's school to see Marguerite O'Grady? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And she would tell you nothing? A. No, sir.

Q. And you told her you thought her very mean? A. No, sir.

Q. If she would not testify in this suit you would put her in a way so that she would not have to work for two years? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What time Oct. 21 was it that "Langley" registered? A. After 10 o'clock in the morning.

Customs of the Hotel. Q. Is it usual for people to stop at the hotel for an hour or so during the day? A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you keep rooms 5, 6 and 7 for them? A. Yes, sir. They are kept there. There are beds in rooms 5 and 7.

FOUR OF HIS WIVES AWAIT HIM.

Caldwell Made a Business of Marrying and Re-wedding.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 25.—J. H. Caldwell, with several aliases, was in the United States Court today charged with marrying the same woman.

It has been learned that he has a wife and seven children in Carrollton, Ky., another at Owensboro, Ky., and another at New Albany, who only lived with him two weeks and borrowed $750 from her to start a shoe store at Shelbyville, Ind.

There he met a Grace Green and took her to Dalton, Ga., where he deserted her. He next left wives at Cadiz, O.; Mayville, Ky.; Columbus, O.; and Ripley.

He proposed also to a Mrs. Poor, of Cincinnati, a rich widow, and he succeeded in securing her out of several hundred dollars.

It is likely Caldwell will be taken to Leavenworth, Ind., where indictments are pending against him for embezzlement. Four of his wives and several children are there awaiting his coming.

BAREFOOT MISSION HOME.

Dedication To-day of the House in West Twenty-Fourth Street.

An event of interest to charitable disposed people occurs at 59 West Twenty-fourth street this afternoon. It is the dedication of the house at that number to the use of the bumpy foot barefoot mission.

Four years ago Tello d'Aperry, a lad of twenty years, conceived the idea of assisting the poor of New York by collecting old shoes, having them repaired and giving them to whoever applied for them.

His work is done in a quiet way, and although a large number of people have never heard of the mission, at its Christmas entertainment there were 1,700 pairs of shoes given away.

POINTERS ON THE RACES.

Not a Really Good Race on the Guttenburg Card To-day.

The Three-Year-Olds Are Well Matched—Morning Betting.

The fields in the several events at Guttenburg to-day are of fair size, but better selected and more evenly matched. The absence of first-class horses is remarkable for there are any quantity of good ones in and about the track.

The two-year-olds in the second event will probably furnish the best race of the day, for they are well-matched and should go well in the four-and-a-half-furlong dash.

The entries and selections, together with the betting, as quoted in the pool-rooms this morning, are as follows:

First Race—Purse $400, of which $50 to second, for three-year-olds, horses entered to be sold for $1,000 to carry full weight. If not sold, allowed for each $100 to $100 six and a half furlongs.

Van Wart, 107 3 to 1 and even

BRIDE AND GROOM LOCKED UP.

St. Louis Millionaire's Daughter Runs Away to Wed a Jockey.

Miss Conley Evaded Pursuers, and Is Now Mrs. John Mooney.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—A wedding reception, in honor of the marriage of Miss Sadie Conley, of St. Louis, and John Mooney, a jockey at Hawthorne, was arranged by Detectives Dick and Egan, of the Central Station, last evening. The bride and bridegroom were arrested while receiving the congratulations of friends and taken before Capt. Shea, who ordered them locked up for the night.

Miss Conley is the daughter of William Mooney, the St. Louis representative of R. C. Long & Co. He is a millionaire in the best society circles of St. Louis, and his family have always moved in the fashionable West End. Mr. Conley and his family have always moved in the fashionable West End.

It was a case of love at first sight. A proposal of marriage was accepted by Miss Conley, but as she had foreseen, her parents would not give their consent to the union. Last Monday she eloped from St. Louis and was met by her lover in this city yesterday morning.

Two hours after her flight the Chicago police were notified to watch the Alton street car arrival here, as it was supposed she had taken that train. Miss Conley and a friend of Mooney left Chicago from this lot. Van Wart looks to be the best of them, and he may win, with Malachi second and Nabonecolt third.

$680,000 TOO MUCH.

Mayor Chapin's Offer for the Long Island Water Company.

Commissioners Appraise the Whole Property at $570,000.

The report of the Commission appointed by the Supreme Court to determine the value of the franchise and plant of the Long Island Water Supply Company was filed in the County Clerk's office in Brooklyn this morning.

The Commissioners appraise the plant and franchise at $570,000. They find that the land owned by the Company is worth $77,500, the buildings, fixtures and fifty miles of mains at $292,500. The franchise alone is estimated to be worth $200,000.

About two years ago Alfred C. Chapin, then Mayor, with Comptroller Jackson and Auditor Rutan, offered the Company $1,250,000 for its franchise and plant. Certain taxpayers protested that the sum offered was much more than the value of the property, and William Ziegler, one of the wealthiest property-owners in Brooklyn, brought an action in the Supreme Court against the Mayor and Comptroller and Auditor to restrain them from purchasing the water Company's property at the figure named.

As a result the present Commission, which is composed of E. W. Bliss, Hiram W. Hunt, Edward M. Shepard, Charles E. Emery and Edward Rowe was appointed by Mayor Chapin to determine the value of the property.

Their report shows that the Company was offered $1,000,000 more than it was worth. The Long Island Water Supply Company secured a franchise to purvey water in the town of New Lots, and when that town was annexed to the city of Brooklyn in the Twenty-sixth Ward, the Legislature directed that the city should purchase the franchise and plant from the owners.

The city is not allowed to purvey water in the Twenty-sixth Ward until it acquires the franchise and plant from the owners. In valuing the franchise at $200,000 the Commission takes three things into consideration.

First.—That it has the exclusive right to purvey water in the Twenty-sixth Ward.

Second.—That this right may be taken away by the Legislature at any time.

Third.—That the franchise is a valuable asset to the city, and that the rights of those who have invested their money in it should be protected.

No reference is made in the report to the excessive valuation placed upon the property by Mayor Chapin.

This report is a majority report, signed by Commissioners Emery and Rowe.

They concur with the majority report except where it is stated that the franchise, they claim, is undervalued by the other Commissioners.

A nameless citizen has offered to be one of ten to give $100,000 each for the Cathedral.

While the magnificent Cathedral is being built in the Twenty-sixth Ward, good churches are marvelling at recent manifestations of extreme liberalism.

Recently he startled the Low Church party by accepting an oratory, with the title of "The Church in the Future," on his own use at the See House, and now the High Churchmen are marvelling to see the Bishop of the diocese invited to participate in the dedication to-morrow night of the Judson Memorial Church, in Washington square.

The Bishop's friends and admirers are glad to see that the Bishop is indicative of the breadth and liberality of his mind.

Schellenberger Threw a Lighted Lamp at His Sister-in-Law.

Otto Schellenberger, a tinsmith, twenty-three years old, who has been in the insane asylum on Blackwell's Island, caused untold excitement in the tenement at 206 Avenue C.

A early this morning. He came down from Blackwell's Island about a year ago, and has since been living with his sister-in-law, Mary Schellenberger, at the above address.

He was out last night and came home about 2 o'clock this morning, and he couldn't open the front door, so he began to kick at the door until Mrs. Catharine Katch, the janitress, heard the noise and came down and let him in.

He began to abuse his sister-in-law, and she called for help. He then threw a lighted lamp at her head, and she fled in terror. The lamp struck her on the forehead and set her hair on fire.

THERE ARE 130 DEAD.

No Hope of Any Rescues at the Fortschritt Mine.

Those Not Killed by Explosion Suffered by Fire-Damp.

VIENNA, Jan. 25.—All hope of rescuing alive the men who were entombed by the explosion of fire-damp in the Fortschritt mine, at Dux, Bohemia, yesterday, has been abandoned.

An investigation of the list of employees reveals the fact that 130 men lost their lives in the disaster, as it is generally conceded that those who were not killed by the explosion must have been suffocated by the after-damp.

The mine is being cleared of the wreckage as rapidly as possible, but the work is necessarily slow. Every effort will be made to recover the bodies of the dead.

Many pitiable and heartrending scenes were witnessed about the mouth of the shaft when it was announced by the mine officials that beyond a shadow of a doubt every man in the mine was dead.

No explanation has yet been made as to how the explosion occurred.

RECEIVED THE HALF MILLION.

But the Benefactor of St. John's Cathedral Remains Unknown.

Treasurer J. Pierpont Morgan of the trustees of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, reports that he has received the sum of $500,000 from some unknown person.

This is the anonymous contribution to the building of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine which was made public a month ago, but about which, at the time, it was reported that the donor was a nameless citizen.

At a meeting of the trustees at the See House, in Lafayette place, yesterday, Mr. Morgan reported that the balance of $170,000 had been paid for the Cathedral site, and that $300,000 remained available in the treasury.

It was resolved to go on with the building of the choir as rapidly as contributions could be secured, and to accept $500,000 and will seat 2,500 people.

Dean Hoffman, Samuel D. Babcock and J. P. Roosevelt were appointed a Building Committee.

FIRE IN THE FIVE A'S CLUB.

Started by Two Cats Fighting in the Barber Shop.

Fire in the Five A's Club.

A fight between two cats was the direct cause of a fire this morning in the Five A's Club, first at 43 West Twenty-eighth street, the same room being attended with fatal results.

The fire started in the basement of the brownstone club-house, where Barber John Gullotta and his assistant, Joe Bino, gather in shoelace by shaving the theatrical artists who compose the membership of the Actors' Amateur Athletic Association of America.

It was about 3:30. Gullotta and Bino were cleaning out the barber shop, separated from the kitchen by a board partition.

On an oil-stove next to the shaving-room, a can of hot water simmered merrily, in anticipation of shampoo for weary, and possibly aching, histrionic heads.

In one of the barber chairs a huge out of the Thomas persuasion, dozed peacefully as the ten actors in room upstairs slept soundly.

Unannounced, unexpectedly and suddenly, the window shades on the kitchen, in search of trouble, lit up.

With a defiant wave of his propulsive-like tail, the cat in the chair leaped into the arena and let go his powerful right paw, which he curled instantly all was confusion and cat fur.

Gullotta and Bino looked on in disbelief. The cat in the chair leaped into the arena and let go his powerful right paw, which he curled instantly all was confusion and cat fur.

Suddenly the Kilkenny snuff landed from the floor to the little shelf where the window shades on the kitchen, in search of trouble, lit up.

BE READY FOR A COLD WAVE.

Prophet Dunn Promises an Era of Freezing Weather.

Frigidly Sweeping Towards Us from Montana and Minnesota.

Weather Prophet Elias Dunn stepped out of the instrument of the Equitable Building this forenoon, and said: "Do you know we are going to have a mighty cold spell before long?"

Mr. Dunn looked cold, though it was forty degrees above zero. He added: "This is balmy, compared to Montana, where they are shivering their breath in an effort to keep their noses above zero."

The prognosticator continued in a cheerfully frigid way: "We will have a cold wave here within twenty-four hours. It is now in the Missouri Valley, and it has things about all its own way in that region, sending the bubble in the thermometer down all the way from ten to forty degrees."

"It can assure you the cold wave will be much modified ere it reaches New York, and yet we will have some freezing weather."

To prove that he was not fringing with the truth, Mr. Dunn showed a slick-looking instrument which he held in his hand. This instrument in this city at 8 o'clock this morning recorded 40 degrees above zero, while the thermometer at St. Louis, Mo., recorded 25 degrees below zero.

He said that a snowstorm had moved away from the Lake regions and had succeeded in clearing the air of the cold wave. The weather in the States is generally fair to-day. The general prognosticator said he said: "I'll try and keep this stock of snowballs on hand. I fancy them very much at this season of the year."
