Is at the TOP and we shall KEEP it there.

It is sold to the consumer by the maker at nearer its COST to make than any other FIRST-CLASS SHOE made.

WAITING FOR CHANGE.

A Pleasant Little Instance of Wife's Foresight.

Time—Fifteen minutes before the train is due to leave.

Place—The jewelry store.

Husband discovered looking at his watch impatiently, says Quips.

He—We haven't a moment to spare, dear, and we must catch the first train.

She—But I am waiting for the change.

He—Will be here directly.

He—We ought to start right away.

He—I'm so sorry, but we must wait.

I gave the clerk a $10 bill.

He—Yes, if it's that much we'll have to wait for it, but it's very important that I catch that train to close up that deal with Jones. The option expires in an hour and I'll lose several hundred if I miss it.

She—This waiting is really aggravating, but the change will surely be here in a moment.

He—They're unconscionably slow.

She—Ah, here it comes at last.

She thrusts it in her purse and both start for the door. By tremendous exertion they succeeded in reaching the station in time to see the train move out.

He—There, confound it, waiting for that train has knocked me out of $300 at the lowest calculation.

She—Oh, I'm so sorry, dear.

He—So am I. By the way, how much did that menage change amount to, anyhow?

She—Let me see. I paid for that necklace I got a month ago; that was $80.

He—Anything else?

She—Yes; that set of spoons we gave Mrs. Taddles on her silver wedding. That amounted to $5. That makes $85, doesn't it?

He—It does. Go on.

She—Then there was a ring for Lulu and one for Ida. The children had been promised them, you know.

He—Exactly. How much were they?

She—Two and a half each. Ninety-one dollars and 50 cents.

He—Anything else?

She—Yes, there was a dear little butterspoon at $2.50.

He—(grimly)—The total is $98.50 now. What else?

She—Well, I got a cute little stick-pin that I really needed, for $1.25.

He—Ninety-nine seventy-five.

She—And 20 cents' worth of silver polishing powder. What does that come to?

He—How much change ought there to be going out of a $10 bill?

She—(making a desperate but ineffectual effort to keep calm)—Five cents.
