

LOCKOUT ON TO-DAY.

Clothing Manufacturers Close Their Doors at 3 P. M. They Rely Upon the Knights of Labor for Support.

Cutters Claim to Hold a Card That Will Cripple the Trade.

The three-cornered fight between the clothing manufacturers and the United Clothing Cutters on the one hand, and the United Clothing Cutters and Knights of Labor on the other, has now reached its crisis.

The manufacturers, trusting in the support which has been promised them by the Knights of Labor, say that they will not yield one iota to the garment-cutters in this fight.

The United Garment-cutters, however, maintain that even should the manufacturers be enabled by filing the suit to keep their shops running it is within the power of the United Garment-cutters to cripple or even paralyze the whole clothing trade of New York.

By prevailing upon all tailors belonging to the Federated Tailors Union, the United Garment-cutters are also members, to strike at once in every part of the city.

It is not till the 1st of April, however, that the garment-cutters will already be considered to have lost the fight.

At the present time, however, there seems to be little hope on the part of the United Garment-cutters that the Knights will even attempt to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

Secretary White, of the United Garment-cutters, says that he is sure of the support of the Knights of Labor, but that they are not yet ready to do anything to help them.

COUPLE HANGED IN EFFIGY.

Citizens' Displeasure at a Married Man and a Miss. Unless the Dummies Are Removed Acts of Violence Are Feared.

SMITHTOWN, N. J., March 25.—Effigies of a man and woman, hanged back to back, dangled in front of the First Presbyterian Church, at Morris avenue and Main street, Springfield, caused many citizens of that quiet village to assemble in front of the church this morning and publicly express their displeasure at the effigy.

The effigies were discovered at 2 A. M. by a watchman who was on duty when he found them hanging from the top of the church steeple.

The effigy of the woman is said to represent the young unmarried woman to whom it is alleged, the young husband was recently married.

The affair is talked of all over the village, and as the telegraph company has been advised of the matter, they will probably remain in their present position to-morrow, and be kept up for several days.

This, it is feared, may excite the people to acts of violence towards the effigies, and are watching for developments.

FATHER TREACY HOLDING OUT. Bishop O'Farrell in Talk to the Parishioners Who Adhere to Him.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—Rev. Father Treacy is still in possession of the parish of St. Joseph's in this place, while Deputy Sheriff Harrison has the keys of the church and refuses to allow either Father Treacy or Father Leahy to enter.

It is expected here to-morrow to explain the situation to the parishioners, and to call upon them to support his action in refusing to recognize Father Leahy, who was sent to Swedenborg to succeed Father Treacy.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—The Legislature will on Monday adopt the suggestion of Thursday night's meeting and pass a resolution calling upon the governors of all the States and Territories to appoint commissioners to meet on the first Monday in June, 1893, in a convention to be held at the capital of this State to take such action as may be necessary to avoid future coal strikes.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—The Legislature will on Monday adopt the suggestion of Thursday night's meeting and pass a resolution calling upon the governors of all the States and Territories to appoint commissioners to meet on the first Monday in June, 1893, in a convention to be held at the capital of this State to take such action as may be necessary to avoid future coal strikes.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—The Legislature will on Monday adopt the suggestion of Thursday night's meeting and pass a resolution calling upon the governors of all the States and Territories to appoint commissioners to meet on the first Monday in June, 1893, in a convention to be held at the capital of this State to take such action as may be necessary to avoid future coal strikes.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—The Legislature will on Monday adopt the suggestion of Thursday night's meeting and pass a resolution calling upon the governors of all the States and Territories to appoint commissioners to meet on the first Monday in June, 1893, in a convention to be held at the capital of this State to take such action as may be necessary to avoid future coal strikes.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—The Legislature will on Monday adopt the suggestion of Thursday night's meeting and pass a resolution calling upon the governors of all the States and Territories to appoint commissioners to meet on the first Monday in June, 1893, in a convention to be held at the capital of this State to take such action as may be necessary to avoid future coal strikes.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—The Legislature will on Monday adopt the suggestion of Thursday night's meeting and pass a resolution calling upon the governors of all the States and Territories to appoint commissioners to meet on the first Monday in June, 1893, in a convention to be held at the capital of this State to take such action as may be necessary to avoid future coal strikes.

ST. PAULI, Minn., March 25.—The Legislature will on Monday adopt the suggestion of Thursday night's meeting and pass a resolution calling upon the governors of all the States and Territories to appoint commissioners to meet on the first Monday in June, 1893, in a convention to be held at the capital of this State to take such action as may be necessary to avoid future coal strikes.

FIREBUGS IN MILWAUKEE.

Seven Big Fires in a Week and Three More Started Yesterday. Insurance Men Threaten to Withdraw—The City in Terror.

MILWAUKEE, March 25.—Firebugs, real or imaginary, are terrorizing the city, and the entire detective force scoured the city and vicinity last night for incendiaries.

Insurance men are thoroughly alarmed and say that the leading companies intend to withdraw from the city until confidence is restored.

Milwaukee has been scourged by fire since the 24th of the month, and the city is in a state of terror.

All the fires have been in business blocks and many have been of mysterious origin.

It was learned to-night that a stranger was seen to leave the Ingham building shortly before the fire started.

In addition to the two fires, an unsuccessful attempt to burn the Wadsworth's company plant was discovered just in time.

HARRIET HUBBARD AYER ESTATE. Her Family Pray that a Committee of the Person Be Named.

An application was made to Justice Lawrence in Supreme court, chambers, to-day by lawyer Charles Brooke for the appointment of a committee of the person and estate of Mrs. Harriet Hubbard Ayer, of Concord, N. H., who died recently.

Mr. Brooke stated that all the parties who had an interest in the property of Mrs. Ayer were recently declared insane and are now in an asylum.

Mr. Brooke stated that all the parties who had an interest in the property of Mrs. Ayer were recently declared insane and are now in an asylum.

Mr. Brooke stated that all the parties who had an interest in the property of Mrs. Ayer were recently declared insane and are now in an asylum.

Mr. Brooke stated that all the parties who had an interest in the property of Mrs. Ayer were recently declared insane and are now in an asylum.

Mr. Brooke stated that all the parties who had an interest in the property of Mrs. Ayer were recently declared insane and are now in an asylum.

Mr. Brooke stated that all the parties who had an interest in the property of Mrs. Ayer were recently declared insane and are now in an asylum.

Mr. Brooke stated that all the parties who had an interest in the property of Mrs. Ayer were recently declared insane and are now in an asylum.

CARRINGTON'S MAD FREAKS.

He Demanded a Doctor and Then Smashed a Cab Window. At the Police Station He Flooded His Cell with Water.

Daniel Carrington, a laborer, of 229 East Seventh-street, is in the Bellevue Hospital insane asylum to-day awaiting examination as to his sanity.

At midnight, while Hackman Peter Dunsan, of 208 East Houston street, was standing at Third avenue and Twenty-third street, Carrington rushed up to him and exclaimed, "Get out of here!"

He jumped into the cab and Dunsan drove to Lexington avenue. Just as he was turning the corner the man in the cab put his fist through the window, shattering it.

While the two were having an argument, a policeman came along and arrested Carrington. He resisted at first, but he was bound in the cab and driven around to the East Twenty-second street station.

His right wrist was severely cut from breaking the cab window and after the wound was dressed he was locked up in a cell.

Some time later the doorman found Carrington's cell overflowing with water. He turned the water on. When the doorman found Carrington was climbing up the bars in his cell.

TO PROSECUTE STATE OFFICERS. Nebraska's Governor to Make Charges Against Attorney-General.

Lincoln, Neb., March 25.—It was learned last night from a reliable source that Gov. Crombie has determined to take active steps in the prosecution of the state officers who are now under a cloud.

On Thursday the Governor called Attorney-General Hastings into his office and laid before him the choice of resigning or going before the Legislature and defending himself against a warrant of impeachment preferred by the Governor.

Hastings refused to resign, and Gov. Crombie then stated that he would proceed to impeach him.

Hastings is connected with the other members of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings in the frauds at the various State institutions, on which the charge is made.

Hastings is connected with the other members of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings in the frauds at the various State institutions, on which the charge is made.

Hastings is connected with the other members of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings in the frauds at the various State institutions, on which the charge is made.

Hastings is connected with the other members of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings in the frauds at the various State institutions, on which the charge is made.

Hastings is connected with the other members of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings in the frauds at the various State institutions, on which the charge is made.

DID HIS PRISONERS LEAVE?

Probably no man ever found himself in a more embarrassing and pitiable as well as ludicrous position than did Charles Brohm, of Catskill, N. Y., when arraigned at the Tombs Police Court this morning with the tag end of a three weeks' dalliance with drink still visible on his front.

It was a little over three weeks ago when Mr. Brohm temporarily abandoned his duties as keeper of the Greene County Jail at Catskill, and returned to Washington to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

Brohm had saved up his earnings for that express purpose ever since Mr. Cleveland relinquished the Presidential chair to Mr. Harrison in 1889, in the firm belief that he would be called upon to see to it personally that Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated in a manner befitting the great and glorious occasion.

SUICIDE STILL A MYSTERY.

Police Watching for Mrs. Stevenson's Alleged Husband. Nothing Learned About a Strange Note from the Imperial Hotel.

PARIS, March 25.—President Carnot has signed a decree raising the French Legation at Washington to the rank of an Embassy, and bill making the necessary provision to meet the increased expense attending the change has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies.

This news follows the announcement made this morning that Queen Victoria has raised the British Minister at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, to the rank of an Ambassador.

Such changes in the titles of foreign representatives at our National capital have long been talked of, and a law has been passed by Congress authorizing President Cleveland to raise to the rank of Ambassador our own representatives at the courts of those nations where such precedents shall be set.

Under this law the American Ministers to France and England may now become Ambassadors.

PARIS EXPELS HERR BRANDES. Berlin Correspondent Who Accused Carnot's Son Must Go.

PARIS, March 25.—A writ of expulsion has been issued on Herr Brandes, the Paris correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, who was the alleged author of the article quoted in the Enquirer, alleging that Ernest, the son of President Carnot, had received a share of the Panama bribery money.

These letters, which are written by me, are all the discoveries addressed to me. I know you will open them and see what is in them. I am calm and deliberately taking my life. No one is to be accused of such a crime.

He is a fraud and New York would take care of him. He is a robber and a swindler. LIZZIE WILSON.

Three sealed letters addressed to "My Boy," Mr. Fred A. Ahnett, 318 Sixth Avenue, City, and Mrs. Lizzie Wilson, 151 Liberty Street, New York, were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

A FRENCH AMBASSADOR NOW.

President Carnot Follows the Lead of Queen Victoria.

PARIS, March 25.—President Carnot has signed a decree raising the French Legation at Washington to the rank of an Embassy, and bill making the necessary provision to meet the increased expense attending the change has been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies.

This news follows the announcement made this morning that Queen Victoria has raised the British Minister at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, to the rank of an Ambassador.

Such changes in the titles of foreign representatives at our National capital have long been talked of, and a law has been passed by Congress authorizing President Cleveland to raise to the rank of Ambassador our own representatives at the courts of those nations where such precedents shall be set.

Under this law the American Ministers to France and England may now become Ambassadors.

PARIS EXPELS HERR BRANDES. Berlin Correspondent Who Accused Carnot's Son Must Go.

PARIS, March 25.—A writ of expulsion has been issued on Herr Brandes, the Paris correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, who was the alleged author of the article quoted in the Enquirer, alleging that Ernest, the son of President Carnot, had received a share of the Panama bribery money.

These letters, which are written by me, are all the discoveries addressed to me. I know you will open them and see what is in them. I am calm and deliberately taking my life. No one is to be accused of such a crime.

He is a fraud and New York would take care of him. He is a robber and a swindler. LIZZIE WILSON.

Three sealed letters addressed to "My Boy," Mr. Fred A. Ahnett, 318 Sixth Avenue, City, and Mrs. Lizzie Wilson, 151 Liberty Street, New York, were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table. They were also lying on the table.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

A Serious Point Definitely Settled. It is a Question Which Interests Women as Well as Men.

The Matter Just Now One of Special Significance. Two prominent business men say the same thing. Owing to the high position they occupy in the business world, their word may be taken by all as the absolute truth.

F. M. PIGOTT, Esq., is a well-known resident of 140 W. Va., and his words have no uncertain meaning. "For some months," he said, "I had been troubled with nervous dyspepsia and palpitation of the heart, with symptoms of nervous weakness and paralysis.

I had taken treatment from some of our best physicians, but they did not cure me. I had continued to fall in weight, until I weighed 140 lbs., when I was induced by our druggist, H. B. Oeden, of Harris, to try Dr. Greene's Nervine blood and nerve remedy.

"I was surprised at the benefit I received from the use of this medicine. All those very distressing troubles have left me, and I actually gained 10 lbs. in 13 days. I am now using the second bottle of the Nervine, and weigh 170 lbs. This is the best remedy I have tried for the sick and cure suffering humanity."

Dr. Robert W. Buchanan maintains a good Berlin in Tombs cell No. 52, notwithstanding the approaching ordeal of a trial for poisoning his wife, Anna Buchanan.

Like Carlyle W. Harris, Buchanan is an interesting study. He is intellectual, smooth, suave. He speaks only in the kindest tones to the Tombs keepers, but, unlike Harris, he has not made a single friend among his keepers.

They united in saying that he is an unlovable fellow, cold, indifferent, always expatiating in his seeming tolerance on the subject of his wife's death.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.

It is a peculiar mouth, shaped like that of a fish, and it is not to be wondered at that he is so unlovable.