FOLLOWING A DANBURY CLUE.

The Escaped Murderers Said to Have Been Seen There.

Byrnes and His Men Are Watching This City Closely.

DANBURY, Conn., April 26.—Keeper Joseph Eaton and Detectives McNeil and Jackson, of Sing Sing, have been scouring the country in this vicinity for the escaped murderers, Fallister and Hohl, since their escape from the prison here last night.

The apparent clue was furnished by an old woman, who lives in a shanty about a mile from the Amawalk station.

The woman says that on Friday morning two men answering the description of the missing convicts knocked at her door and asked for food.

In relation to the escaped murderers, Hohl and Fallister, from Sing Sing Prison, it can be said that there is no letting up in the search for the missing men, as far as the New York police are concerned.

Notwithstanding the strong assertions that the men successfully crossed the Hudson River at Haverstraw in all the storm that morning, it is believed that Supt. Byrnes has a contrary opinion.

It is reported that the men were seen in the city of Danbury, N. Y., on the 24th inst.

Many Persons Injured and Great Havoc Done in Oklahoma.

Winds Perform Strange Freaks in Their Ravages in Missouri.

MOORE, O. T., April 26.—The country west and southwest of here was swept by a terrible cyclone last evening. Great damage was done, but how much will not be known until telegraphic communication is restored.

Among the dead are J. O. Connors and his whole family consisting of five persons, Mr. Hanks, H. C. Clements and a child of Henry Bateman.

Tom Weaver had his arm broken and was otherwise injured and is in a serious condition. Three members of Mr. Hanks' family were perhaps fatally injured.

Phillip Dyer's house was moved twenty feet. His little baby, in the second story, miraculously escaped serious injury.

Although the cyclone lasted but a minute or two, the wreck left in its wake was dreadful.

BELTON, Mo., April 26.—The tornado Monday evening destroyed houses, hay racks, fences, cattle, trees and fences. No lives were lost, but several persons were badly bruised.

Alex. Litchcap and three children and D. McLeland and two children and Louis Levy took refuge in the lighted cellar.

"THE NAVAL REVIEW AS I HAVE FOUND IT."

The Committee Selects a Position for the Governor of the State.

AN ALDERMAN UNSEATED.

Democratic Plan to Gain Control of the Board in Jersey City.

Charge that the Act Was Illegal Made by Republicans.

Jersey City is so wrought up over the tangled state of political affairs that little else is talked of anywhere.

The Board of Aldermen decided last night, by a vote of 7 to 3, to unseat Alderman Lahey, Republican, of the Fourth District, and appointed a special election for May 8, to choose his successor.

The next Board of Aldermen, which will organize at the first meeting in May, will stand: Republicans, 7; Democrats, 6; Alderman Patrick Norton, who was elected as a Democrat, but who was a Republican candidate for Freeholder at the charter election on the 11th inst., has shown a tendency to affiliate with the Republicans.

With a Democrat in Lahey's place and Norton representing the Democrats, the Board would be Democratic by 7 to 6.

The Board adjourned last night until Friday night, when it is said that an attempt will be made to expel Alderman Norton, though on what grounds it is not said.

It was charged last night against Lahey that he was not a resident of the ward he represented. The fact is he has moved into it since his election.

The Republicans say that the alleged expulsion of Lahey is illegal, because a two-thirds vote of the full Board is necessary. This would require nine votes.

They also said that before expelling a member must have a notice and a hearing. They say, with confidence, that the Mayor has power to fill vacancies in the Aldermanic Board until the next charter election.

It was quiet at the City Hall this morning. Mayor Wanser arrived unusually late, and was then busy in his private office. The Finance Board's office was open, but the Board did not meet.

CRAVEN'S ELEVEN TRUNKS.

They Appear in Cleveland with the Earl and His Bride.

CLEVELAND, April 26.—The Earl of Craven and bride, who are on their wedding trip, arrived in the city last night, and are stopping at the Hollenden.

They are attended by an English valet and maid servant, and carry enough baggage to supply an opera company.

There were eleven trunks and boxes, and half as many hand-pieces directed to their rooms last night, and the hotel people did not know whether there were any more to arrive or not.

Their apartments were handsomely decorated with cut flowers, American beauty roses predominating, a fact which the American Countess was quick to recognize and with which she expressed much delight.

The Earl and Countess will remain in the city for several days.

NEW YORKER HELD UP IN CHICAGO.

Drummer McCarty Robbed of His Watch and a $250 Pin.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Charles McCarty, a New York traveling salesman, stepped from a Michigan Central train at the new depot of the Illinois Central Railroad Company at Twelfth street last evening, and, walking briskly, he was stopped by a man on Clark street.

The man, wearing a top hat and a dark coat, held a revolver in his face, relieved him of his gold watch and chain and a diamond pin which he valued at $250. They then made their escape.

SHOT AT HIS TORMENTORS.

Four-Year-Old Eddie Goldsmith Wounded by an Old Man.

NEWARK, April 26.—Louis Washer furnished bail this morning on a charge of shooting Eddie Goldsmith, a four-year-old boy, who lives with his parents near Washer's furniture store on Pine street. Washer is seventy-six years of age and was so placed by the Mayor that he ran out of his store and fired an old revolver. The bullet missed these three at all, but struck the little boy, who was not a dangerous wound and the bullet was easily extracted.

Mrs. Dorsey Discharged. COLLEGE POINT, L. I., April 26.—Mrs. Kate Dorsey has been discharged by Justice Smith, before whom she was arraigned charged with attempted suicide. Her face was disfigured and her head was a mass of bruises. She said her husband had teased her unmercifully two weeks ago, at which time she jumped out of a second-story window with the intention of killing herself. She was taken to the Fishing Hospital, but released a few days ago, since when she has been in the custody of Constable John P. Strabel.

DR. ROBERT W. BUCHANAN. At 11.15 there was a stir in the courtroom. The officers hurriedly forced the assembled crowd into seats, and three minutes later Foreman Trede entered the courtroom, followed by the other eleven jurors.

Most of the men were smiling, though some of them had bloodshot eyes, and two of three were sullen and morose in expression.

At 11.30 the Recorder entered, and, after Clerk Davenport had called the roll, Foreman Trede reported.

In response to the inquiry of a clerk as to whether they had agreed upon a verdict the Recorder asked: "Gentlemen, what testimony do you desire to hear?"

The foreman said a part of the testimony of Drs. McIntyre and Watson, and Juror Thomas E. Franceville, the eleventh in the box, added:

"The portion relating to respiration to the condition of the eyes and regarding atropine."

Metaphor McLaughlin read nearly all of the testimony of the witnesses indicated. Juror Clifford F. Seagrave had the stenographer read the 1,000 typewritten questions put to Mrs. Peabody and Thompson down to the qualifying statement of Dr. Thompson in reply to the question: "What was the cause of Mrs. Buchanan's case (pathological, chemical, etc.), before deciding the cause of her death?"

Juror Seagrave said that was fair enough, and then the foreman said another juror wanted to hear the acquittal and see for himself, whether he agreed with Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, the pathologist for the case, who had testified that the cause of death was a heart stroke against a stone, fracturing the skull.

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated McMillen, and Judge Tighe would have discharged him to go to his home. He was ready with his inquisition papers. The return day was fixed for May 2.

W. E. D. STOKES ARRAIGNED.

To Plead to the Indictment for Criminal Libel on Monday Next.

William E. D. Stokes and William R. Martin, ex-partner with Edward S. Stokes in the Hoffman House, were called to the bar of Part I of the General Sessions court, today to answer to an indictment for criminal libel, against the late Dr. Robert W. Buchanan.

The indictment was returned by a grand jury against them by the Grand Jury on complaint of Edward S. Stokes.

The charge grows out of the publication of a letter at the time of the recent litigation. The defendant's lawyer asked for delay to examine the indictment and papers, which are quite voluminous, and Monday next was fixed for the pleading.

Scows Still Abounding. The seven mud scows belonging to the Street-Cleaning Department marine fleet, driven ashore on South Beach a few days ago, are still stuck in the sand. As the tide came in, the scows were being pushed out, and it is expected that they will be bumped where they lie in order to get them out. Commissioner Brennan yesterday sent a wrecking apparatus to rescue them.

PARADE OF THE WARSHIPS.

The Most Brilliant Naval Display Ever Seen in This Port.

THIRTY-FIVE VESSELS IN LINE.

Majestic Movements of the Magnificent Fleet in the Lower Bay.

WATCHED BY THOUSANDS.

Hundreds of Pleasure Craft Flock Behind the Procession.

The greatest naval display ever witnessed in the harbor of New York was attended by as perfect a day as could be imagined.

When day broke over the lower bay this morning it revealed in all its glory the peaceful armada, which crept in by Sandy Hook from Hampton Roads under cover of yesterday's fog.

Most of the ships were new to New Yorkers, but the Brazilian Aquidaua, the French Archon, the Russian and the Italian Cassanusa were remembered by many of the spectators who had seen them in port, the latter three having participated in the Columbian naval parade last fall.

So many American cruisers, however, had never been seen in this port at the same time, and with the added foreigners to-day's display made one never to be forgotten.

The Crowd at Fort Hamilton. While the air was clear and bracing it was a terrifically hot day for outdoor sightseers on the Fort Hamilton bluff. By 9 o'clock fully 3,000 people were swarming over the parapets of the fort and securing other available points of vantage.

The site of the big Grand View Hotel, recently destroyed by fire, naturally afforded an uninterrupted view of the Narrows, but an enterprising patriot with more enterprise than patriotism, except as exemplified by the Fort Hamilton bluff, had erected a huge viewing stand, and charged an admission of 25 cents.

The proprietors of the beer garden annex along the bluff front also charged similar prices for chairs from which to view the parade, and with the hot sausage men prepared to get rich.

Probably they would have done so had not an unforeseen event occurred. This was the delay of the Brooklyn City Railway Company's Fort Hamilton line in getting its patrons to the terminus.

At 9 o'clock, owing to the increased number of cars put on that line, the power gave out, and from that time on the cars came along aggravatingly at a snail's pace.
