

WARDEN BROWN REMOVED.

Supt. Lathrop Puts Principal Keeper Connaughton in Charge.

REPORT OF AN ALLEGED CAROUSAL AT TARRYTOWN THE CAUSE.

The Superintendent Refuses to Be Interviewed, but the Deposed Warden Talks Freely—He Brought Witnesses from Tarrytown, but Their Evidence Did Him No Good—Duration to Take Charge on Monday.

State Supt. of Prisons Lathrop yesterday dismissed Warden Brown and made Principal Keeper Connaughton warden pro tem until the arrival of Warden Durston next Monday. This announcement was the second sensation of the day which disturbed the serenity of the sleepy village. The first was a sensational story published in a New York newspaper, alleging that Warden Brown was extremely convivial and fond of frequenting guests at the point of a revolver, and that on Tuesday evening he created a disturbance in the Franklin House at Tarrytown.

FINDS HER MOTHER HANGING.

The Little Girl Calls the Butcher, Who Saves the Woman's Life.

PATERSON, April 28.—Nine-year-old Agnes Wiley ran into Fred Henzel's butcher shop at No. 14 Hip Van Winkle avenue a few minutes before 9 o'clock this morning and exclaimed: "Mr. Henzel, mamma has hanged herself with a rope, and she is dead!"

The butcher followed the little girl into her house and found Mrs. Wiley suspended from the hinge of the closet door. A clothes-line two feet long encircled her neck and both ends were fastened to the hinge. The butcher cut the rope. When the woman fell she began to act like a madman. A crowd of women had assembled in the yard and the butcher called upon them to assist him, but they were afraid to enter the room.

The butcher followed the little girl into her house and found Mrs. Wiley suspended from the hinge of the closet door. A clothes-line two feet long encircled her neck and both ends were fastened to the hinge.

LAST DAY OF CAPTIVITY.

Convict Banker Harper to Be Set Free in Columbus To-Night.

OVER FIVE YEARS IN THE OHIO STATE PENITENTIARY.

Originally Sentenced to Serve Ten Years for Weakening the Fidelity National in Cincinnati by Using the Bank's Wheat Which Did Not Materialize—Paroled by Harrison.

CINCINNATI, April 28.—E. J. Harper, the convict banker, will leave the Ohio Penitentiary a free man to-morrow at midnight. He will not tarry long in Columbus, but will proceed from the prison to the depot, and there take the first train for Cincinnati, it being his desire to take his Sunday breakfast in the city or his former municipal triumphs. His loyal little wife, who has been waiting most anxiously in Hartwell, a suburb of this city, will accompany him from Columbus.

Harper entered the penitentiary on Dec. 13, 1887, and has consequently served five years and over four months. The original sentence of United States Judge Sage was ten years, which, reduced for good behavior, would have expired in June, 1891.

For some months Harper has shown signs of ill-health. It is the verdict of the prison physicians that he is the victim of Bright's disease and that he cannot live longer than one year. Upon these representations President Harrison, just before the expiration of his term and after having repeatedly refused to interfere with the sentence, ordered that the term of imprisonment expire May 1, 1893. It is the intention of Harper to locate in Cincinnati as an iron broker with considerable capital capital of him.

Harper's career in prison has been a remarkable one. When he was received he was not subjected to the indignity of having his hands cuffed from the wrists. These he wore in the secretary's office, where he worked, and he carried the keys for the prison. He has been a half-dozen times out of the penitentiary, and has been selling the birds for $2 and $10 each. He has been employed in the penitentiary as a bookkeeper, and has been a successful one. He has always worn the striped prison dress, and has never worn a suit, but he has successfully objected to wearing the prison cap.

Harper has gathered quite a little outfit of furniture, for which he will soon have no use, and shows a thrifty nature by offering it for sale. His prison record is exceptionally good, but he is not liked so well by the officials, while careful to observe the rules, Harper could not conceal his proud, imperious disposition and often let it plainly be seen that he would not be treated and that there was no willingness in him.

Previous to the disastrous failure of the bank he was the owner of a large estate in the secretary's office, where he worked, and he carried the keys for the prison. He has been a half-dozen times out of the penitentiary, and has been selling the birds for $2 and $10 each. He has been employed in the penitentiary as a bookkeeper, and has been a successful one. He has always worn the striped prison dress, and has never worn a suit, but he has successfully objected to wearing the prison cap.

THOMPSON TO BE APPOINTED.

At Last They Decide on a Street Commissioner in Elizabeth.

The long controversy the Street Commissioners of Elizabeth, N. J., has agitated the politicians of both parties since last January, is about to be settled. Ex-Sheriff N. K. Thompson, the janitor of the State House at Trenton, is to be appointed. Mr. Thompson, several months ago, got the caucus Democratic nomination, but when it came to electing him some of the members bolted and his chances were ruined.

For the past few weeks some great but effective wirepulling has been in progress in the interest of Mr. Thompson, and yesterday it was found that all difficulties had been overcome and the way had been made clear to elect him.

The bolted members, it is said, were given to understand that if they persisted in their opposition to Mr. Thompson, they would be removed from the list of eligible names. Mr. Thompson, however, was successful.

School Commissioner John Connaughton, of Trenton, N. J., will be elected Deputy State Commissioner. The deal may also involve the election of a State Commissioner to the office of the State Commissioner of Prisons.

WILL BOSOVAN BE RETIRED?

The Matter Will Now Be Settled by the Police Board.

Whether Chief Bosovan, of the Holocene Police Department, will be permitted to retire on the retired list on Oct. 1st, or will be determined to-day at a special meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners. It is said the chief is anxious to be retired and that an effort will be made to grant his request before Mayor-elect Fagan assumes office Monday next.

Mayor-elect Fagan is opposed to the retirement of Chief Bosovan. He says it is a scheme to provide a snug berth for an active politician.

It is doubtful if the chief can be retired. Mr. Bosovan is a member of the board of police, and it is said yesterday that the scheme to place him on the retired list will be abandoned, owing to Mayor-elect Fagan's opposition.

ELECTRIC CARS IN ELIZABETH.

The Company Applies to the Council for a Franchise.

The Elizabeth and Plainfield Street Railway Company has made application to the Council of Elizabeth, N. J., for a franchise to run an electric road through the city. The plan is to run the road through Orchard street, but some of the property-owners object to the trolley system. It is more than likely their opposition will be withdrawn.

TRANSFERRED TO PAY DEBTS.

The Essex Public Building Committee Announces Its Decision.

The Essex County Board of Freeholders held a meeting yesterday afternoon. Freeholders Leary, Shannon and Peck were absent. It was voted before Freeholder Carnutt made his appearance.

The facts set forth in The World four weeks ago about the Public Buildings Committee having exceeded its appropriation were repeated in the Essex County Freeholders' meeting yesterday afternoon. The public buildings committee had exceeded its appropriation by $12,000 from the incidental fund to the extent of $10,000. It has also exceeded its appropriation by $2,000 from the incidental fund to the extent of $10,000. The committee has also exceeded its appropriation by $2,000 from the incidental fund to the extent of $10,000.
