

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1893.

TO-MORROW'S HOUSE AND HOME DAY.

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.

EIGHT PAGES.
EULALIA'S RECEPTION.

The Infanta Given a Gracious Welcome to the Shores of America.

TRANSFERRED TO THE ISABEL.

A Big Fleet of Pleasure Craft Goes Down the Bay to Meet Her.

ROYAL SALUTE FROM GUNS.

Escorted by the Dolphin, the Spanish Warship Steams by the Liberty Statue.

The reception given to-day to the Infanta Eulalia, the representative of the Queen Regent of Spain to the Columbian Exposition and the guest of the United States of America, on her arrival at this port was decidedly informal, but it was hearty and it was characteristically American.

PRINCESS EULALIA.

It was informal because the programme for the movements of the Princess was not definitely known. Efforts had been made to gain her acceptance of an invitation to remain in New York a day or two, at least. This committee consisted of Arturo Cuyas, Consul General Balduino and S. Mallet-Provost, and part of their duty was to formally invite the Infanta to attend the ball to be given on May 26 at Madison Square Garden in her honor, or at such other date as she might select.

The rooms reserved at the Hotel Savoy are fourteen in number and occupy the whole second floor of the house. The Princess's sleeping-room is the one at the corner of Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, overlooking the park and the Plaza. It is upholstered in lavender, olive, green and red, and embroidered and finished in white and gold.

Spanish Officers Gather Early.

At 10 o'clock, East River, the dock of the Company Transatlantica Espanola, to which the Reina Maria Christina belongs, there was a scene of unusual bustle and activity this morning. At 6 o'clock Spanish naval officers, resident in full-dress uniform, began assembling at the pier to go down the bay to meet the Infanta.

Among these dignitaries were Senior Arturo Balduino, Senior Arturo Cuyas, Senior Mallet-Provost, Vice-Consul Castro, and Senior J. M. Ceballos, agent of the Spanish line.

royal pleasure yacht, having been placed at the disposition of the Princess Eulalia and her suite.

A Pretty Scene in the Lower Bay.

A perfect day had dawned upon the good ship Reina Maria Christina. The May sun glistened and glided on the rippling waters of the lower bay.

The three vessels, the Reina Maria Christina, the Spanish cruiser Infanta Isabel, and the United States steamer Dolphin, riding at anchor, there presented a picturesque and beautiful sight. They were profusely decorated.

By a singular oversight, the American flag was not among the hundreds that flew to the breeze from the Spanish vessels.

At 9:30 o'clock the Spanish vessels weighed anchor and passed inside the Hook, preceded by the Dolphin, which had been awaiting their movements. The Dolphin led the way through the ship channel, saluting with her big cannon.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

The Infanta Eulalia and her husband stood on the bridge of the big steamship, drank in the scene and gazed at the sea on a pretty landscape scene as can be found in any harbor in the world.

They died in the boat.

Blood Clots Found in the Skiff Used by Thiele and Pallister.

Thomas Pallister's body is still in its grave in Calvary cemetery. But it may yet be disturbed. Yesterday, Money is to confer with the city's cemetery officials at the Military street branch office of the Association this afternoon, when the question of Pallister's privilege of remaining in consecrated ground will be finally settled.

The people who have been theorizing about the manner of death met by the escaped murderer have a new starting point for their guesses today. It is the fact, owner of the rowboat in which it is supposed Pallister and Kozel embarked on the Hudson on the stormy night when they broke jail, has, with the aid of a reporter found blood clots and particles of lead in the bottom of the boat. The clots, of the center seat, the clots were three-quarters of an inch long and fragments of flesh and bone of four bones that looked very much like hairs were mixed with it. Other smaller blood spots were found on the floor of the boat, and made by bullets were discovered in the gunwale of the port side of the boat. The boat was found on the river about one mile from the city.

These revelations would seem to settle one thing—namely, that both of the men were killed in the boat. But who did the killing? That question is still involved in mystery, and it is a question that will be kept open by the coroner's jury for a while yet.

Family Half Starved.

A Case of Destitution Discovered by the Brooklyn Police.

The Brooklyn Commissioners of Charities and Correction were notified today of a particularly sad case of destitution discovered by the police of the Thirteenth Precinct last night.

Philip Sabin, forty years old, his wife Lena, and their six children, the eldest of whom is but three years of age, were found starved in two little rooms on the top floor of 515 Park avenue.

Eight weeks ago Sabin, who is a laborer, was compelled to quit work because of pulmonary trouble and rheumatism. Mrs. Sabin, who is ill also, has been three weeks ago, and since then both she and her husband have been in bed unable to move.

With both parents ill the care of the family has devolved upon the eldest child, a boy named Harry, who is but three years of age, and under her mother's direction she has pawned nearly everything of any value that she possessed.

Officer Greenman, of the Vernon avenue station, who was notified of the case by a neighbor, says that the family had no lamp, the glare from an electric light on the corner being their only illumination.

The immediate needs of the family were supplied by the police, and the Charities Commissioners will look into the case.

Another Scheme of Dwiggins.

Bonds of an Investment Company Held as Assets by His Bank.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 19.—Another link in the chain of the remarkable financial chain came to light yesterday. Aside from his Columbia National Bank, his chain of village banks in the Central States, and his United States Loan and Trust Company, of Oxford, he organized a concern called the Northwestern Farm and Investment Company, of Indianapolis.

It has no office here, but it was incorporated, and has for its President E. C. Atkins, a wealthy manufacturer of this city. The company issued a number of $500 ten-year debenture bonds, paying 7 per cent interest, and according to the records of the bonds, were "secured by a lien on a contract for the sale of certain lands in the State of Indiana."

The bonds were distributed about among the county banks in the Dwiggins chain, and are held by them as part of their assets.

The other officers of the company were J. M. Starbuck, Secretary, and Pierre Gray, son of the Minister to Mexico, Attorney Atkins and Gray, the only resident officials, refuse to answer any questions about the concern.

Mrs. Minnie Potter Will Die.

Doctors at Bellevue Say She May Not Live Twenty-four Hours Longer.

Mrs. Minnie Potter, who was known at the Everett House as the niece of Col. David C. Houston, who died at St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday, has been removed from the alcoholic ward at Bellevue to the female medical ward. Dr. Strong said this morning that he did not think she would live twenty-four hours, and that she would die.

SIAM TO SEND A LEGATION.

To Be Represented by a Former Minister to England.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The Secretary of State has received official information of the purpose of the Government of Siam to establish a Legation at Washington, and that the Legation will be placed in charge of it by a former minister to the United States.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE GEARY LAW.

He is awaiting trial for complicity in Columbian Frauds.

Henry D. Southard, the wealthy contractor, who erected the grand stands for the county officials in Brooklyn during the Columbia celebration, and today is awaiting trial for complicity in alleged fraudulent bills to the county amounting to $6,000, was arraigned before Justice Walsh, in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning, charged with insulting Miss Wilson, a pretty young woman, of 139 Livingston street, and caught her around the waist.

For some time ladies in Livingston street have complained of being insulted while mailing letters late at night. They could give no accurate description of the man, and the police were unable to catch him.

Late last evening Miss Wilson went to mail a letter to her fiancé. The nearest box in the street is opposite Southard's house.

As she was about to drop the letter in, she says, Southard rushed across the street and caught her around the waist. She screamed lustily for help, and her cries were heard by the other boarders at the house.

Three or four men caught hold of Southard and called the Policemen inside, locking Southard up in the First Precinct station.

Miss Wilson was carried to her room in a half-fainting condition.

Several of Miss Wilson's fellow-boarders tried to obtain the name of the offender who had been insulted to appear in court this morning with a view to identifying Southard, but the State Department had been carrying on these annoyances for a long time. Their efforts were unsuccessful.

At 4 o'clock this morning Southard was taken to the County Jail, where he was held by Henry W. Bernard, of 34 West 12th street.

When arraigned before Justice Walsh he appeared to be very much agitated, and he was unable to give any account of the charge, but Officer Onsbrough explained the case.

Southard denied the charge, but said he was slightly intoxicated at the time and was sitting in front of his house when the policeman corroborated this fact and Southard was allowed to depart, after paying a fine of $5.

Southard has been before the public many times. His one child, a daughter by his first wife, died when she was but a few months old. His second wife, who is now living with him, left him three times. She is now living in Monticello, Sullivan county, and it is said Southard is about to bring suit for a divorce.

SAILED WITHOUT ITS CREW.

Vessel Gets Off a Rock While Its Men Are Waiting for It to Sink.

PORTLAND, Me., May 19.—The captain and crew of the schooner Alice M. Leiland, stone-laden, that came ashore so mysteriously at Otton Island last Saturday, arrived here to-day.

The schooner struck a ledge about half a mile from the Seal Islands, near Matinec, Supposing she was going to sink, the crew took to the boat, intending to lay by till daylight.

In the meantime the vessel came off the ledge and sailed away, fetching her way on Otter Island. The crew landed Saturday on one of the Seal Islands, rowed from there to Vineyard Haven and came here on the steamer.

Fall Out of a Window.

Joseph Moore, thirty years old, of 515 West Third-second street, fell out of a third-story window at his home shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. He sustained several injuries, which necessitated his removal to Bellevue hospital.

"Twice Told Tales" are often entertaining, and that is the case with the story of Old Dominion cigarettes. Photo in every package.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE GEARY LAW.

He is awaiting trial for complicity in Columbian Frauds.

Henry D. Southard, the wealthy contractor, who erected the grand stands for the county officials in Brooklyn during the Columbia celebration, and today is awaiting trial for complicity in alleged fraudulent bills to the county amounting to $6,000, was arraigned before Justice Walsh, in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning, charged with insulting Miss Wilson, a pretty young woman, of 139 Livingston street, and caught her around the waist.

For some time ladies in Livingston street have complained of being insulted while mailing letters late at night. They could give no accurate description of the man, and the police were unable to catch him.

Late last evening Miss Wilson went to mail a letter to her fiancé. The nearest box in the street is opposite Southard's house.

As she was about to drop the letter in, she says, Southard rushed across the street and caught her around the waist. She screamed lustily for help, and her cries were heard by the other boarders at the house.

Three or four men caught hold of Southard and called the Policemen inside, locking Southard up in the First Precinct station.

Miss Wilson was carried to her room in a half-fainting condition.

Several of Miss Wilson's fellow-boarders tried to obtain the name of the offender who had been insulted to appear in court this morning with a view to identifying Southard, but the State Department had been carrying on these annoyances for a long time. Their efforts were unsuccessful.

At 4 o'clock this morning Southard was taken to the County Jail, where he was held by Henry W. Bernard, of 34 West 12th street.

When arraigned before Justice Walsh he appeared to be very much agitated, and he was unable to give any account of the charge, but Officer Onsbrough explained the case.

Southard denied the charge, but said he was slightly intoxicated at the time and was sitting in front of his house when the policeman corroborated this fact and Southard was allowed to depart, after paying a fine of $5.

Southard has been before the public many times. His one child, a daughter by his first wife, died when she was but a few months old. His second wife, who is now living with him, left him three times. She is now living in Monticello, Sullivan county, and it is said Southard is about to bring suit for a divorce.

SAILED WITHOUT ITS CREW.

Vessel Gets Off a Rock While Its Men Are Waiting for It to Sink.

PORTLAND, Me., May 19.—The captain and crew of the schooner Alice M. Leiland, stone-laden, that came ashore so mysteriously at Otton Island last Saturday, arrived here to-day.

The schooner struck a ledge about half a mile from the Seal Islands, near Matinec, Supposing she was going to sink, the crew took to the boat, intending to lay by till daylight.

In the meantime the vessel came off the ledge and sailed away, fetching her way on Otter Island. The crew landed Saturday on one of the Seal Islands, rowed from there to Vineyard Haven and came here on the steamer.

Fall Out of a Window.

Joseph Moore, thirty years old, of 515 West Third-second street, fell out of a third-story window at his home shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. He sustained several injuries, which necessitated his removal to Bellevue hospital.

"Twice Told Tales" are often entertaining, and that is the case with the story of Old Dominion cigarettes. Photo in every package.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE GEARY LAW.

He is awaiting trial for complicity in Columbian Frauds.

Henry D. Southard, the wealthy contractor, who erected the grand stands for the county officials in Brooklyn during the Columbia celebration, and today is awaiting trial for complicity in alleged fraudulent bills to the county amounting to $6,000, was arraigned before Justice Walsh, in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning, charged with insulting Miss Wilson, a pretty young woman, of 139 Livingston street, and caught her around the waist.

For some time ladies in Livingston street have complained of being insulted while mailing letters late at night. They could give no accurate description of the man, and the police were unable to catch him.

Late last evening Miss Wilson went to mail a letter to her fiancé. The nearest box in the street is opposite Southard's house.

As she was about to drop the letter in, she says, Southard rushed across the street and caught her around the waist. She screamed lustily for help, and her cries were heard by the other boarders at the house.

Three or four men caught hold of Southard and called the Policemen inside, locking Southard up in the First Precinct station.

Miss Wilson was carried to her room in a half-fainting condition.

Several of Miss Wilson's fellow-boarders tried to obtain the name of the offender who had been insulted to appear in court this morning with a view to identifying Southard, but the State Department had been carrying on these annoyances for a long time. Their efforts were unsuccessful.

At 4 o'clock this morning Southard was taken to the County Jail, where he was held by Henry W. Bernard, of 34 West 12th street.

When arraigned before Justice Walsh he appeared to be very much agitated, and he was unable to give any account of the charge, but Officer Onsbrough explained the case.

Southard denied the charge, but said he was slightly intoxicated at the time and was sitting in front of his house when the policeman corroborated this fact and Southard was allowed to depart, after paying a fine of $5.

Southard has been before the public many times. His one child, a daughter by his first wife, died when she was but a few months old. His second wife, who is now living with him, left him three times. She is now living in Monticello, Sullivan county, and it is said Southard is about to bring suit for a divorce.

SAILED WITHOUT ITS CREW.

Vessel Gets Off a Rock While Its Men Are Waiting for It to Sink.

PORTLAND, Me., May 19.—The captain and crew of the schooner Alice M. Leiland, stone-laden, that came ashore so mysteriously at Otton Island last Saturday, arrived here to-day.

The schooner struck a ledge about half a mile from the Seal Islands, near Matinec, Supposing she was going to sink, the crew took to the boat, intending to lay by till daylight.

In the meantime the vessel came off the ledge and sailed away, fetching her way on Otter Island. The crew landed Saturday on one of the Seal Islands, rowed from there to Vineyard Haven and came here on the steamer.

Fall Out of a Window.

Joseph Moore, thirty years old, of 515 West Third-second street, fell out of a third-story window at his home shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. He sustained several injuries, which necessitated his removal to Bellevue hospital.

"Twice Told Tales" are often entertaining, and that is the case with the story of Old Dominion cigarettes. Photo in every package.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE GEARY LAW.

He is awaiting trial for complicity in Columbian Frauds.

Henry D. Southard, the wealthy contractor, who erected the grand stands for the county officials in Brooklyn during the Columbia celebration, and today is awaiting trial for complicity in alleged fraudulent bills to the county amounting to $6,000, was arraigned before Justice Walsh, in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning, charged with insulting Miss Wilson, a pretty young woman, of 139 Livingston street, and caught her around the waist.

For some time ladies in Livingston street have complained of being insulted while mailing letters late at night. They could give no accurate description of the man, and the police were unable to catch him.

Late last evening Miss Wilson went to mail a letter to her fiancé. The nearest box in the street is opposite Southard's house.

As she was about to drop the letter in, she says, Southard rushed across the street and caught her around the waist. She screamed lustily for help, and her cries were heard by the other boarders at the house.

Three or four men caught hold of Southard and called the Policemen inside, locking Southard up in the First Precinct station.

Miss Wilson was carried to her room in a half-fainting condition.

Several of Miss Wilson's fellow-boarders tried to obtain the name of the offender who had been insulted to appear in court this morning with a view to identifying Southard, but the State Department had been carrying on these annoyances for a long time. Their efforts were unsuccessful.

At 4 o'clock this morning Southard was taken to the County Jail, where he was held by Henry W. Bernard, of 34 West 12th street.

When arraigned before Justice Walsh he appeared to be very much agitated, and he was unable to give any account of the charge, but Officer Onsbrough explained the case.

Southard denied the charge, but said he was slightly intoxicated at the time and was sitting in front of his house when the policeman corroborated this fact and Southard was allowed to depart, after paying a fine of $5.

Southard has been before the public many times. His one child, a daughter by his first wife, died when she was but a few months old. His second wife, who is now living with him, left him three times. She is now living in Monticello, Sullivan county, and it is said Southard is about to bring suit for a divorce.

SAILED WITHOUT ITS CREW.

Vessel Gets Off a Rock While Its Men Are Waiting for It to Sink.

PORTLAND, Me., May 19.—The captain and crew of the schooner Alice M. Leiland, stone-laden, that came ashore so mysteriously at Otton Island last Saturday, arrived here to-day.

The schooner struck a ledge about half a mile from the Seal Islands, near Matinec, Supposing she was going to sink, the crew took to the boat, intending to lay by till daylight.

In the meantime the vessel came off the ledge and sailed away, fetching her way on Otter Island. The crew landed Saturday on one of the Seal Islands, rowed from there to Vineyard Haven and came here on the steamer.

Fall Out of a Window.

Joseph Moore, thirty years old, of 515 West Third-second street, fell out of a third-story window at his home shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. He sustained several injuries, which necessitated his removal to Bellevue hospital.

"Twice Told Tales" are often entertaining, and that is