

1,300,000 newspapers were printed daily in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City during May, and of this number The World printed 445,051 per day.

The Evening World

"Circulation Books Open to All."

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, JUNE 6, 1910.

THE WORLD prints 80 per cent. of all the advertisements printed in New York newspapers.

PRICE ONE CENT.

PRICE ONE CENT.

Saturday and Sunday = World's House and Home Days.

LAST EDITION EIGHT PAGES.

THEIR BABE BURIED.

Tiny Carolina Bauer Saved from the Potter's Field.

Poverty Drove the Mother with the Body to the Police.

"The Evening World" Enables the Parents to Lay It in a Grave.

Through a narrow, dingy hallway that led from a "poor man's avenue" to a tumble-down rear tenement-house, up a pair of stairs and into a low-ceilinged "parlor" 10 feet square.

Here a little mother, wringing her hands in a helpless, agonized beseechingly up into the caller's face with great hazel eyes, dry with a tearless grief, was pleading for the body of her little girl, who had been found in a gutter.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

The County Physician issued a certificate, died of convulsions, the mother was notified of the sudden death in his hall, and the body was taken to the Potter's field.

ELLISON'S ASSAULT.

Steps Taken This Morning for the Clubman's Arrest.

Broker Henriques Said to Be in a Precarious Condition.

He May Lose an Eye and Possibly His Life.

Broker William H. Henriques, who was assaulted by Frank Ellison, in Thirty-ninth street near Park avenue, last night, was in a precarious condition this morning and grave fears were entertained for his recovery.

Lawyer Charles Stewart, of 233 West Thirty-seventh street and a witness of the assault, called at the Jefferson Market Police Court this forenoon.

The lawyer made a statement to Justice Grady, and the witness, who is one of the hostlers who pulled Ellison away from Mr. Henriques's prostrate body, made an affidavit, both of which were taken by the warrant clerk.

The arrest of Ellison was therefore expected at any time.

A member of the Henriques family told "The Evening World" reporter this morning that Mr. Henriques had been unconscious most of the night, and that although apparently moving regained the faculty of comprehension was unable to move without extreme pain or to talk at any length.

Mr. Webster, the oculist, who bandaged Mr. Henriques's wounds last night, called again at the Henriques residence this morning and made an examination of the left eye, into which Ellison had jabbed the tip of his umbrella while his aged victim lay motionless on the pavement.

"It is probable," Dr. Webster told the anxious members of the family, that the eye may be saved, but the other wounds are very serious, and should have attention without delay, as he may become delirious at any moment.

Dr. Wyncoop, the family physician, was at court this morning, and he stated that Ellison called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

Dr. Wyncoop called at 12:30 and remained until 1:15. He told the family that Mr. Henriques had been struck on the head, and that the bone was badly bruised and concussion of the brain might result.

LAIDLAW'S POSITION.

Was He in a Place of Safety When Sage Grasped Him?

That Is the Question, Says the Court, in the $50,000 Suit.

The Plaintiff's Case Ended with Testimony as to His Hurts.

There was a big crowd, in spite of the incalculable heat, in Part II of the Supreme Court Circuit this morning to listen to the testimony in William R. Laidlaw's suit for $50,000 damages against Millicent Russell Sage, who, he claims, used him as a human buffer to ward off the murderous dynamite bomb of Norcross, the Boston crank who wanted $1,000,000 from the capitalist.

Mr. Sage was not in court when the trial was resumed this morning. At the opening of court Col. E. C. James, counsel for Mr. Sage, moved that the testimony of Dr. Whitney Laidlaw, a physician, be stricken out on the ground that the physician's opinions were founded upon expert statements of the plaintiff to Dr. Whitney.

Ex-Judge Noah Davis opposed the motion and the court reserved decision until later in the trial.

Henry F. Langhart, confidential clerk for Woodgood & Co. and a member of the Stock Exchange, who has known Laidlaw for seven or eight years, said that previous to the explosion of the dynamite bomb Laidlaw was a strong, healthy athletic man.

He was both sage and Laidlaw in a neighboring drug store shortly after the accident. Mr. Sage was very much excited, inasmuch that an attending physician said:

"Mr. Sage, keep quiet. You are not in the least hurt."

The witness said that Mr. Sage's face was badly hurt, but only slightly injured. Laidlaw, however, was covered with blood.

He got into a carriage and was about to take Laidlaw home, but concluded to send him to St. Vincent's hospital.

Since the accident Mr. Langhart said that Laidlaw had been a physical wreck and unable to prosecute his business. Instead of a strong, athletic man, he had become weak and nervous.

Dr. Deane O'Shea, at the time of the accident House Surgeon at St. Vincent's hospital, testified to Laidlaw's injuries. He found wounds on the head, neck, arms and back that were wounds and burns contused, and very painful.

In the back he had a half wound, two and a half inches deep, extending inward and upward. Another wound had penetrated an artery, which died very fast.

From at least eight wounds Dr. O'Shea had extracted foreign substances such as dirt, glass, iron and a piece of canvas, which had penetrated two inches into the body.

In his opinion, Laidlaw sustained an injury to his ankle which would be permanent.

The doctor advised that the accident was a strong, athletic man, he had become weak and nervous.

Dr. Deane O'Shea, at the time of the accident House Surgeon at St. Vincent's hospital, testified to Laidlaw's injuries. He found wounds on the head, neck, arms and back that were wounds and burns contused, and very painful.

In the back he had a half wound, two and a half inches deep, extending inward and upward. Another wound had penetrated an artery, which died very fast.

From at least eight wounds Dr. O'Shea had extracted foreign substances such as dirt, glass, iron and a piece of canvas, which had penetrated two inches into the body.

In his opinion, Laidlaw sustained an injury to his ankle which would be permanent.

The doctor advised that the accident was a strong, athletic man, he had become weak and nervous.

Dr. Deane O'Shea, at the time of the accident House Surgeon at St. Vincent's hospital, testified to Laidlaw's injuries. He found wounds on the head, neck, arms and back that were wounds and burns contused, and very painful.

In the back he had a half wound, two and a half inches deep, extending inward and upward. Another wound had penetrated an artery, which died very fast.

From at least eight wounds Dr. O'Shea had extracted foreign substances such as dirt, glass, iron and a piece of canvas, which had penetrated two inches into the body.

In his opinion, Laidlaw sustained an injury to his ankle which would be permanent.

SIGNS OF THE SEASON.

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

Are here. Prepare to shoot the man Who asks you, "Ain't it warm?"

The palm leaf fan, the tennis shirt, the Coney Island swarm

ANOTHER NEW HEAT RECORD.

This Is the Hottest June 6 for Ten Years.

At 12 O'clock the Thermometer Registered 92 Degrees.

Another weather record has been smashed, as not in ten years have long-suffering New Yorkers been compelled to endure such heat on a June 6 morning.

How far the thermometer will rise before the cool wave which Farmer Dunn promises will strike here is problematical, but the way it started this morning indicates that it will go away up into the nineties.

The climb which it made yesterday was nothing to the manner in which it started out this morning. After reaching 81 yesterday, and then sticking off a bit, it put on a renewed spurt, and at midnight it registered 77 on top of the Equitable Building, and it kept dodging up and down until 4 o'clock, when it had dropped to 72. It was then that the jumping up process began in earnest, and at 8 o'clock it stood at 77 again.

At that hour it was 5 degrees more than was registered at the same time yesterday, and it was away over every other June 6, save in 1883, when it registered 88 degrees. At 9 o'clock this morning it had climbed up to 82, and half an hour later two more indications marked had been passed, and the mercury was evidently still bent upon climbing.

At 11 o'clock the thermometer in front of Perry's pharmacy registered 85 degrees.

At noon the thermometer at the Weather Bureau registered 88 degrees, and in front of Perry's pharmacy 92 degrees. At the same hour yesterday it registered 82 degrees at Perry's pharmacy.

Next to Boston this was the hottest place in this section of the country this morning. In the former place the humidity was sweltering to the tune of 81 degrees in the shade at 10 o'clock. This was the highest point reached in the Middle Atlantic or New England States.

"Just now," Farmer Dunn said to "The Evening World" reporter, "the warm wave is taking the form of a cyclone, and all places west of the Allegheny mountains are in from ten to twenty degrees cooler than here. In New York, it is 82, St. Louis, 84, while the coolest place in the country in Cheyenne, Wyo., where the thermometer only registers 62 degrees.

There were heavy showers all over the country east of the Mississippi, and some light local showers here last night. We will have nice, cooling showers this evening, and you can promise New Yorkers cooler weather for some time afterwards.

Wherever this happened to be a thermometer, it was surrounded by a crowd of people, and the appearance seemed to make every one feel warmer.

Collars began to wilt almost as soon as a block had been walked, while handkerchiefs looked as if they had just been taken from a wash tub. The car horses suffered most and many of them dropped from exhaustion and heat. In many cases death put an end to their sufferings.

That moment districts also suffered to a shocking extent. Not a breath of air seemed to be stirring in the closely cramped quarters.

The following cases of heat prostration were reported to-day:

WILLIAM J. MORRIS, retired merchant, 923 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, overcame while at work on the new Seaside Hotel, Rockaway beach.

Prostrations in Brooklyn.

JOHN CULLEN, thirty-three years old, of the North Portland avenue. Taken to the Brooklyn Hospital, Overcome at the corner of Clinton and North Portland streets.

WOMAN, unknown, about twenty-nine years old, taken to Presbyterian Hospital, Overcome in front of 1064 Third avenue.

FANNIE SATSKY, thirty-two years old, of 228 East 104th street, taken to the same hospital, Presbyterian Hospital, Overcome at 1064 Third street.

BERNARD DIAN, seventy-three years old, of 309 East 104th street, taken to the same hospital, Presbyterian Hospital, Overcome at 1064 Third street.

Prostrations in Jersey City.

One man died while waiting there for an ambulance, and the other six are in Jersey hospitals.

The men themselves are all from the fearful work assigned them on arriving at Stroudsburg, and they tell a tale, which, if true, would demand a full explanation on the part of the contractors.

George Thompson, one of the men, acted as spokesman for the others in telling an "Evening World" reporter of their experience.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

HARDSHIPS, NOT DYNAMITE.

There Was No Explosion at Stroudsburg, Pa., Yesterday.

The Men Are Suffering from Ill-Treatment and Overwork.

The physicians attached to Bellevue Hospital have not diagnosed the cases of the four men brought to that institution from Chambers Street Hospital late last night.

The men formed part of a party of eleven laborers who had returned from Stroudsburg, Pa., yesterday, where they had been at work on a railroad.

At first it was thought that they had been victims of a dynamite explosion, but it is now known that there was no explosion whatever.

What makes the case peculiar is that all of the eleven were ill on arriving in Jersey City. One man died while waiting there for an ambulance, and the other six are in Jersey hospitals.

The men themselves are all from the fearful work assigned them on arriving at Stroudsburg, and they tell a tale, which, if true, would demand a full explanation on the part of the contractors.

George Thompson, one of the men, acted as spokesman for the others in telling an "Evening World" reporter of their experience.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

He said that he was in a cot in Ward 25 of the hospital, and had the appearance of an intelligent man.

MASONS OF HIGH DEGREE HERE.

The 112th Convention of the Grand Lodge of the State.

About eight hundred delegates from 728 Masonic lodges met at the Masonic Building, Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street, at 2 o'clock this afternoon to attend the opening session of the One Hundred and Twelfth Convention of the Grand Lodge of New York.

Many men prominent in Masonic affairs are in town, among them being Grand Master James Ten Eyck, of Albany; Senior Grand Master Warden John Hodge, of Lockport; Deputy Grand Master Frederick A. Burnham, William A. Sutherland, of Rochester; John J. Gorman, of Buffalo; William I. Chambers, of Ithaca; William M. Morgan, of Saratoga; Charles W. Strasser, of Albany; C. E. Hyde, of Syracuse; Christian Witter, of Rochester; Charles E. Palmer, of Schenectady; Edgar C. McDonald, of Tonawanda; Townsend Scudder, of Glen Head; George H. Raymond, of Buffalo; Frank J. Larmon, of Ithaca; Lemuel Skinner, Herman G. Carter, of Albany; John Hodge, of Lockport; George Skinner, John Hodge, Edwin D. Woodhull, of Monroe; Marshall B. Hice, of Schenectady; Charles Melius, of Greenburgh; Edward Treuheit, of Utica; Herbert W. Greenland, of Troy; Clayton B. Scott, of Oswego; Charles W. Chapman, of Buffalo; Charles W. Stead, of Albany; Nelson Sawyer, of Ithaca; and Alexander T. Goodwin, of Utica.

The afternoon session was devoted to the reading of reports and the annual address of Grand Master James Ten Eyck.

To-morrow the annual election takes place, when it is expected there will be the usual lively contest for the office of Grand Grand Master, from which the higher officers succeed.

The candidates are Charles M. Wickard, of Waterville, and Charles E. Hyde, of Syracuse.

The opponents of Mr. Wickard are representatives of the "ring" of the metropolitan district, out of which by the terms of the constitution, the Junior Grand Master must be elected this year.

VERAGUS WAS TO BEAR THE PRINCESS'S TRAIN AT VALPARAISO, IND.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 6.—The Eulalia special arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning. The run from Pittsburgh was made without incident. The Princess returned here at 10 o'clock last night, and was still sleeping when the train arrived here.

Word was received that the Duke of Veragus and party would board the train at Valparaiso, but it could not be learned that they had been invited to meet the Princess.

There seemed to be no indication that they would have a very warm reception.

VERAGUS WAS TO BEAR THE PRINCESS'S TRAIN AT VALPARAISO, IND.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 6.—The Eulalia special arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning. The run from Pittsburgh was made without incident. The Princess returned here at 10 o'clock last night, and was still sleeping when the train arrived here.

Word was received that the Duke of Veragus and party would board the train at Valparaiso, but it could not be learned that they had been invited to meet the Princess.

There seemed to be no indication that they would have a very warm reception.

VERAGUS WAS TO BEAR THE PRINCESS'S TRAIN AT VALPARAISO, IND.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 6.—The Eulalia special arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning. The run from Pittsburgh was made without incident. The Princess returned here at 10 o'clock last night, and was still sleeping when the train arrived here.

Word was received that the Duke of Veragus and party would board the train at Valparaiso, but it could not be learned that they had been invited to meet the Princess.

There seemed to be no indication that they would have a very warm reception.

VERAGUS WAS TO BEAR THE PRINCESS'S TRAIN AT VALPARAISO, IND.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., June 6.—The Eulalia special arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning