VIKING COMING IN.

Reception Commtee Welcomes the Norsemen at City Island.

Crowds on Shore to Get a Glimpse of the Strange Craft.

Police Patrol Boat Will Accompany the Viking to Her Berth.

CITY ISLAND, N. Y., June 17.—The Viking ship was sighted by the signal tower operator here at 12:45.

She was about ten miles to the east and was rapidly making for this place. The tug Fuller, which was towing her, had both flags set, and there were also flags on the Viking. Both vessels presented a pretty appearance through the glass.

A half hour later the Laura M. Starin, with flags flying, came up from the city with the Reception Committee on board and escorted

THE VIKING SHIP.

While eastern of the Miantonomoh and inquired if the Viking had been sighted.

The lookout on the man-o-war saw the Viking coming down the Sound, and that fact was communicated to the startin. The latter then headed for the Sound, and at 1:30 reached the Viking just east of Execution Rock.

A flotilla of small craft put out from here to greet the vessel, and they were joined by the steamers Chauncelar and Crystal Stream loaded down with people and flying the Norwegian flag at the fore.

Preparations were hurriedly made aboard the Miantonomoh to salute the Viking when she would arrive, and the officers crowded on the after deck and watched the progress of the little ship through their glasses.

The Viking reached Hart's Island Point at 1:55 o'clock, being towed rapidly along, with the Laura M. Starin and small craft following.

Her sail was set, and as she rounded the point a chorus of steam whistles began. Each of the vessels saluted the ship, and the flags of all nations were run out of the Miantonomoh.

When the little vessel was near the mark, a salute of welcome was fired.

At 1:55 o'clock the Viking was off this place, surrounded by boats of all descriptions. The tug which had her in tow cast off her lines, and she glided smoothly down the Sound towards the Miantonomoh, abreast of the Gov. Flower, Health Officer Jenkins's boat.

The steamboat Morrisania was anchored and the crowds on board waved their handkerchiefs.

When the Miantonomoh fired her first gun the crowds on the different boats waved their handkerchiefs frantically and cheered. The flag at the fore of the Viking was dipped.

The Viking made a detour and came to a halt abreast of the tug Fuller, while the other boats circled her.

The Viking seemed to have a large crowd aboard.

At 2 o'clock the Viking and welcoming vessels were still off the island, making preparations for the trip to New York. The Miantonomoh's salute consisted of twenty-one guns.

SAYS FIELD IS STILL INSANE.

Dr. Andrews Makes a Broader Statement of the Case.

BUFFALO, June 17.—Dr. Judson B. Andrews, Superintendent of the State Insane Asylum, made a fuller statement to-day concerning Edward M. Field. Dr. Andrews said:

"Mr. Field was sent here by Judge Van Brunt to remain until he becomes of sound mind and understanding. When that time comes it will be my duty to make a report of the case. This I cannot do at present, as in my opinion, Mr. Field is insane.

"He is here at the expense of the County of New York, and is not a private patient. He has been employed in various capacities and has been granted such liberties as are necessary for the improvement of health and maintenance of order.

"It must be remembered that this is no prison for criminals, but a hospital for the care and treatment of the insane. There is a difference in the treatment of a patient who is suspected of insanity and the treatment of one who has become insane from other causes, except as the individual cases require.

"In regard to the charges made by different experts, I can only say that in the examination of the case, every one is welcome to his own opinion. Dr. McLane Hamilton, who seems so certain in his opinion, and has been given the District-Attorney's office until Monday, June 20.

"Hamilton was reported as still in a critical condition, and as yet no application for bail has been made. Ellison is still in jail.

ELLISON NOT EXAMINED.

The examination of Frank Ellison, who assaulted Broker William H. Henriques, set down for to-day in the Jefferson Market Police Court, was adjourned by agreement between Lawyer Charles Brook, counsel for Ellison, and the District-Attorney's office until Monday, June 20.

Henriques was reported as still in a critical condition, and as yet no application for bail has been made. Ellison is still in jail.

NEW YORK'S MODERN WELCOME.

Nothing Primitive About the Greeting to the Norsemen.

It would possibly have been more consistent if Godhamites had gone out in primitive style to meet the Norwegian sailors, but whenever doing anything of a hospitable nature New York has the reputation of being literally up to date. NO SUNDAY CLOSING.

World's Fair to Be Open Every Day in the Week.

Circuit Court of Appeals Decides Against the Government.

Says the Local Directory Is in Full Control at Jackson Park.

CHICAGO, June 17.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has unanimously decided in favor of open Sunday at the World's Fair.

The court holds that the local directory is in full control, and that the Government has no standing.

The attempt on the part of the Government to enforce Sunday closing followed at once the vote of the World's Fair Directors on Tuesday, May 2, deciding for a seven-day fair.

United States Attorney Mitchell was in Washington, and conferred with Attorney-General Olney. Returning, Mr. Mitchell filed a bill for injunction May 23, the suit being entitled "The United States of America vs. the World's Columbian Exposition, H. N. Higginbotham, D. H. Burnham, Edmund Rice, George R. Davis and David Tucker." This is the suit on which the appeal was taken.

Without action, the suit went over Sunday until arguments could be heard. A decision in favor of the complainants was rendered by Judges Woods and Jenkins, sitting on the Circuit bench, while Judge Grosscup dissented.

Application for a superadeas, pending hearing on an appeal, was made by the defendants, and Chief Justice Fuller granted the order last Saturday, staying the effect of the Circuit Court decision until an appeal could be heard.

This week Justices Fuller, Bacon and Allen have been hearing the appeal.

PUT PEPPER IN HER MOUTH.

Mrs. Grenus's Charges in Her Suit for Separation.

Says She Was Ill-Treated by Her Husband, the Scene-Painter.

On Monday morning Lawyer George J. Gru, counsel for Mrs. Lizzie Grenus, will apply to the City Court, Brooklyn, for an order requiring Arthur Grenus to pay his wife alimony and counsel fee pending trial of her action for a limited divorce.

Grenus, it is said, owns considerable real estate. He is a scene painter, and earns $4 a day at the Sea Beach Palace at Coney Island.

Mrs. Grenus is a pretty Scotch woman. Her mother died in the old country about twelve years ago and she came to America several years later.

While living in Baltimore she was induced to join the chorus in a spectacular production of "The Last Days of Pompeii." There she met Grenus, who she left the chorus when it went to Boston, but received letters from Grenus, in which he protested his love for her.

She came on to Brooklyn and on April 20, 1892, they were married in the Seventeenth Street Church.

In her suit for separation Mrs. Grenus alleges that her husband began to ill-treat her a week after they were married, and since April 30 he has not provided her with proper food.

In the month of September, she says, he grasped her in his arms and stuffed his fingers into her mouth, causing great pain and suffering, and during the same month, she says, he threatened to make it hot for her by putting up money to secure witnesses who would falsely swear against her character.

She alleges he struck her in the mouth, cutting her lips, and charges him with having asserted her three times since the wedding—once weeks after the nuptial knot was tied; again in July, and again in October.

She alleges he struck her in the mouth, cutting her lips, and charges him with having asserted her three times since the wedding—once weeks after the nuptial knot was tied; again in July, and again in October.

It is understood that she denies the charges.

STRIKE AT DALY'S IN LONDON.

Because Non-Unionists Were Decorating Miss Rehan's Boudoir.

LONDON, June 17.—A rather lively affair occurred to-day at the theatre built in this city for Augustin Daly, the New York theatrical manager. The structure is almost completed, and it is Mr. Daly's intention to open it June 27.

The contractor employed a number of men who did not belong to a union to decorate the boudoir intended for the use of Miss Ada Rehan. The unionists employed about the theatre decided to strike unless the non-unionists were discharged.

The "black-legs" were not discharged, and to-day the unionists attempted to drive them from the building, but were themselves ejected.

The strike will not cause any delay in opening the theatre.

CONY FLAME-SWEPT

Fireman John Madden Loses His Life—Several Injured.

Two Blocks on Surf Avenue Burned Away This Morning.

Big Elephant Saved by Hard Work—Loss About $60,000.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Two blocks in the most thickly settled portion of the island were swept away by fire, which broke out at 1:30 o'clock this morning in Fleischmann's bakery, on Surf avenue, opposite the Bath Beach and West End Railroad station.

In a seven buildings were burned to the ground.

John, alias Big, Madden, a member of Hose Company No. 1, of the Coney Island Fire Department, was burned to death, and several other firemen escaped death by the merest chance.

The flames were discovered by a couple of belated visitors, who had missed their train last night. An alarm was turned in at once. When the local fire department arrived it was seen that outside help would have to be summoned or the whole of the business part of the village would have to go.

Accordingly a call was sent out for the departments at Gravesend, Bath Beach and Sheephead Bay.

The danger was spread of the flames was augmented by the high winds which seemed to blow from the four points of the compass in turn.

Before the firemen could get fairly to work the flames had communicated to the Marion House on the west and with L. Gottlieb's dry-goods store on the east. It took about fifteen minutes after that for the whole block to be blazing.

PLED FOR THEIR LIVES.

The inmates of the building did not wait to gather up their effects, but fled to the street in all stages of undress.

Many of the guests in the Marion House, managed by Mrs. John Meyer, narrowly escaped with their lives.

The buildings were all of wood, and burned like tinder. After Edward Kuhns, New York House, caught, it was thought that the fire could be checked at that point, but the wind carried the sparks over to the roof of Holzer's brewery next door, and soon it was seen that it would have to go, too.

It was while fighting the fire here that Madden lost his life. He, together with John Lockwood, spread of the flames was augmented by the high winds which seemed to blow from the four points of the compass in turn.

Before the firemen could get fairly to work the flames had communicated to the Marion House on the west and with L. Gottlieb's dry-goods store on the east. It took about fifteen minutes after that for the whole block to be blazing.

SPECTATORS FLOCK TO THE SCENE.

Every train that came to the island this morning brought crowds of sightseers, every one of whom confidently expected to see most of the west end wiped out.

In this, however, they were disappointed, owing to the efficient service of the Coney Island Fire Department. Although nothing but a mass of smoking ruins remained, and these were rapidly being obliterated by the loads of wet sea sand hurled in, there was plenty to interest the sightseers.

All the Coney Island natives that had not turned out during the wee sma' hours when the fire broke out were standing around and making various comments on the cause of the fire, and the proverbial luck of the hoodoo elephant in escaping wind, fire and flood, and the general luck of the island, anyhow.

Prominent among these gossips were many of the "serio comico" male and female, that infest the island during the summer season, particularly the locality known as "the Bowery."

The imitators of Lottie Collins, Lola Fuller and other exponents of popular songs and dances, to be witnessed "free of charge, step right in, beer and incidentals extra," were out in full force.

Many of them appeared to have been on the scene since the fire broke out, and the prospect of perfect execution of their "turns" during the afternoon and evening seemed somewhat dubious.

JOE JEFFERSON GETTING WELL.

His Three Sons Say There Is No Cause for Anxiety.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 17.—Joseph Jefferson is about well again, although he is still confined to his room at the Mellen House. Strict orders have been given not to disturb him even by the presentation of a card.

His three sons answered the questions of a reporter this morning. They said that Jefferson was suffering only from an attack of indigestion, and is now comfortable and on his sure road to recovery.

They are making arrangements to go with him Monday morning to his summer home at Buzzard's Bay, and they assured the reporter that there is not the slightest cause for alarm because of his sudden illness.

THROAT CUT IN A BARBER SHOP.

John Henry's Attempt to Commit Suicide Unsuccessful.

John Henry forty years old, attempted to commit suicide at 11 o'clock to-day by cutting his throat with a razor while in the barber shop at 253 First avenue.

He was arrested and taken to the East Eighty-eighth street station.

Henry lives at 140 East One Hundred and Tenth street. It was reported at the station that he is not seriously injured.

THE U. S. S. Monongahela Arrives.

The United States steamship Monongahela, from Newport, R. I., arrived at the Brooklyn Navy-Yard to-day.

WANTED TO GET RID OF HER.

Mrs. Thomas L. Savin Accuses Her Husband of Cruelty.

His Mother Has an Income of $12,000 and Doesn't Like Her.

and that this was his chance and he was going to take advantage of it.

The following day Mrs. Savin took her two-year-old child away from the house to his parents in Baltimore, where she still lives, for her gentleman friend. He left the house, and she believes that it was his intention to keep her a prisoner in the house if possible.

On June 3, about 1 o'clock in the morning, she further alleges, he came into the bedroom and, while she was asleep in bed, and pulling the bedclothes from her, asked her why she did not get up, and she, in a fit of rage, struck him with a hairbrush.

Mrs. Savin declares that her husband's charges are entirely unfounded, and she seeks to regain the custody of her child and a separation, and asks the Court to grant her a support in keeping with the income which her husband makes.

Judge McAdam declared that the child would have to be brought into court when the case is tried next week.

Mrs. Savin further alleges that the child had been stolen from its mother and that it should be returned to her. He also alleged that she had been induced to leave her husband because of his cruelty, and that there was not the slightest proof of her infidelity.

HELD FOR STEALING BONDS.

Guinevan Emptied a Valise in the House of Auditor E. P. Phelps.

Frank Guinevan, thirty-one years old, a painter, of 2075 second avenue, was held in $1,000 bail by Justice Ryan in the Tombs court this morning on a charge of grand larceny.

On June 11 Guinevan was painting in the house of Edward P. Phelps, at 121 East Eighty-ninth street. Mr. Phelps is auditor of the Metropolitan Police Department, at 57 Wall street. He had a number of papers in a valise with some clothing. Among these were four bonds of the New York and Putnam Guaranty and Trust Company's stock, valued altogether at $4,300.

After Guinevan left the valise was missed and Mr. Phelps, immediately informed Inspector Mitchell of his loss. Guinevan was arrested at Fourteenth street and Third avenue on June 15 and his bonds and stocks were found in his possession.

Mr. Phelps values the value and contents of the valise at $4,300, and was grateful in his thanks to Detective Connor and Nugent for the recovery of his property.

SAYS HE'S GLADSTONE'S COUSIN.

Well-Dressed Young Man Arrested for Intoxication.

A neat appearing young Englishman answered to the call of the clerk this morning, in Essex Market Court, and gave his name as Charles E. Gladstone, and admitted he was guilty of the charge of intoxication.

He then electrified the court by stating he was a second cousin of England's "Grand Old Man."

He had been working in Montreal, he said, and was on his way home. He was wandering around and, being lousesome, took too many drinks.

The policeman found him lying on the sidewalk at 11th and Madison streets, with a slight redness in the face, and discharged him.

THE BENNETT MEDAL.

The lowering skies and threatening drops of rain in the morning hours were not enough to dishearten the firemen nor their hosts of friends and admirers, and preparations were made in hundreds of families to make the day one of outing and merry-making in Riverside Park, along the edge of which, in Riverside Drive, the ceremonies occurred.

THE STEPHENSON MEDAL.

Mayor Gilroy, the Fire Commissioners, most of the municipal officials and a host of citizens reviewed the department from the grand stand erected for the purpose opposite Seventy-seventh street, and the Mayor presented the Bennett medals for conspicuous acts of bravery and the Stephenson medals to the commanders of those companies which present the best equipment.

People began to gather in the city's most inviting park during the forenoon, carrying umbrellas, like prudent people, but full of faith that Dame Nature would grow cheerful and smile upon the men whose lives are devoted to the salvation of other lives and the vast properties of the city.

There were fifty-eight engine companies, twenty-two hook and ladder companies, three water towers and three fire-boats, but only twelve companies could be spared for the afternoon's parade, the rest of the Department remaining on duty for the protection of the city.
