

HE WORE SHERIFF'S BADGE.

But Henry Mack Fleaded Guilty of Shoplifting.

Mrs. Scott, His Companion, Looked Like a Sunday-School Teacher.

Henry Mack, thirty-five years old, who said he lived at 35 Varick street, New York, and Mrs. Mary Scott, fifty-three years of age, who said she lived at "board a boat," were sent to jail for fifty days by Justice Tigue, in the Butler Street Court, Brooklyn, this morning.

HIGGINS'S JURY COMPLETE.

His Trial for Murder Begins in Earnest To-Day.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., June 22.—A jury was obtained this morning in the case of Harry Higgins on trial for the murder of Benjamin Arnold in the Queens County Court of Oyer and Terminer at this place.

DID GERTIE CUT HER OWN BRAID?

Police Inclined to Believe "Jack the Hair-Cutter" a Myth.

The police of the Clymer street-station, Williamsburg, assert with more or less positiveness that Gertie McBride cut off her own braid of hair.

STRIKER HELD FOR ASSAULT.

Patrick Rowley and Another Attacked a Sugar-House Foreman.

Patrick Rowley, of 185 Wythe avenue, Williamsburg, was held in the Lee Avenue Court to-day on a charge of assault.

POSTMASTER SULLIVAN ILL.

His Condition Again Reported to Be Serious.

Word was sent to the Brooklyn Post Office this morning, that Postmaster Sullivan was seriously ill again.

CONY ISLAND, L. I., June 22.—The strike among carpenters employed erecting the stage and scenery in Pat's Inclosure at West Brighton has been settled and the men are working as usual.

MOTORMAN CARROLL IS NOT HELD.

Thomas Carroll, motorman of trolley car 625, of the Brooklyn city railroad, was discharged by Justice Tigue in the Butler Street Court to-day, as no one appeared against him.

Mrs. Oakley Keeps the Watch.

A party in the Circuit Court, Brooklyn, this morning decided that Mrs. Mary B. Oakley was entitled to retain her husband's watch.

Another Victim of the Trolley.

Mrs. Charlotte Patten, twenty-eight years old, of 175 Eagle street, Greenpoint, who fell off the trolley on her recent night, has fractured her skull.

ANDREW BARTHELOMEW DIED IN THE HOSPITAL THIS MORNING.

Austin Corbin May Be Indicted for the Parkville Horror.

Andrew J. Bartholomew, one of the victims injured in the Manhattan Beach Railway wreck at Parkville Tuesday evening, died this morning in the Norwegian Hospital, Brooklyn.

Bartholomew was one of the last of the injured to be removed from the scene of the accident. He lost considerable blood before he was found pinned down under one of the derailed cars.

His left leg was cut off just above the knee and his right foot was almost cut off at the ankle. He was badly cut about the face and head.

He was thirty years old and a farmer at Seelye Creek, near Elmira, N. Y.

At the other hospitals in Brooklyn where a number of the injured were taken after the accident it was said this morning that the patients were doing as well as could be expected.

The only person who is not expected to live is Nicholas Foster, who is lying at his home, 20 West Ninety-fifth street, New York, suffering from internal injuries.

The authorities have about come to the conclusion that Quimby, whose body was said to have been taken away in a wagon by two men, is a mythical personage.

Quimby was said to have won $5,000 on the races, and, so the story went, the men who took him away in a dying condition, abandoned him somewhere along the road and decamped with the money.

Lawyer Towns, of Brooklyn, was said to be a friend of Quimby, but this morning Mr. Towns denied that he knew anybody by that name.

It is reported that Brooklyn is carrying on an investigation that may lead to the placing of the blame where it should be, following a fair trial.

In speaking of prosecuting the persons whose negligence caused the loss of life, District-Attorney Ridgway, of Brooklyn, said:

"I do not believe the accident was caused by a broken axle, but that it was due to criminal negligence of some person to be determined by the jury."

In speaking of prosecuting the persons whose negligence caused the loss of life, District-Attorney Ridgway, of Brooklyn, said:

"I do not believe the accident was caused by a broken axle, but that it was due to criminal negligence of some person to be determined by the jury."

Richard Fagan was the first witness called by the prosecution. He was one of the men on duty at the Symonds Stove Works at the time of the murder.

He said the strikers made their headquarters in McGuire's shanty, near the works, and that the strikers entertained bitter feelings against the men who were employed as watchman at the works to prevent strikers from entering the premises.

He said he was not present in the shanty at the time of the murder, but when he returned he found that Arnold had been killed by Higgins.

Quimby met June 22.—Every Utican who attended the Suburban race has counted on the presence of such man as Judge Quimby ever lived here, and there is not the least shadow to sustain the story that any witness in the former resident of this city was killed in the accident at Parkville.

No Official Inquiry Yet Made.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., June 22.—General Superintendent Blood, of the city railroad, said to-day that the company had not yet held the official inquiry regarding the accident at Parkville, but admitted that he had taken the affidavit of a number of passengers regarding the accident.

He said he would make every effort to secure the release of Switchman McGarry, while having furnished a surety bond, and that the company needed the services of McGarry.

Major McGrath and Secretary Price are both certain that there will be a meeting of the Executive Committee next week, at which a statement might be forthcoming.

The fair caused something of a delay in straightening out the details.

ELERY PAYS HIS FINE.

Police and Justices of Hackensack Will Not Strike Now.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 22.—Arthur Ellery, the son of Stock Broker W. P. Ellery, a member of the Oranite Field Club and of the Hackensack Amateur Dramatic Association, who was arrested two weeks ago for riding his bicycle down a road without a lantern, has paid his $10 fine to Justice Cumming.

The ordinance was passed by the Improvement Commission, of which Mr. Ellery's prospective father-in-law, M. E. Clark, is a member.

Young Ellery thought the influence of the latter could cause Justice Cumming to drop the case, but threatened strike on the part of the policemen and the justices of the peace caused the Commission to refrain from meddling in the matter.

All the other young men arrested on the same charge, but threatened strike, will be ordered to pay their fines to-day.

Three Months for Peaking His Son.

Daniel Sullivan, of 23 Oak street, was sentenced in Special Sessions to-day to three months imprisonment for cruelly beating his eleven-year-old son.

Weather Forecast.

Local forecast for thirty-six hours ending at 8 P. M. Friday: Generally fair, with occasional showers to-night, followed by fair and cooler on Friday; winds becoming northwesterly.

The following record shows the changes in the temperature during the morning hours, as indicated by the thermometer at 777 Broadway.

2 A. M. ... 71 S. A. M. ... 70 9 A. M. ... 71 12 M. ... 77

TOLLS WHAT HE KNEW ABOUT THE CONTRACT FOR THE GRAND STAND.

Bank Accounts Admitted at the Trial of Alderman McKee.

When the trial of Alderman William McKee was resumed this morning in the Court of Sessions, Brooklyn, Judge Moore announced his decision on the question of allowing the people to introduce testimony showing the condition of the bank accounts of James H. Pigot and Patrick Ross, who are charged with grave robbery, that if James and Pigot conspired to rob the city the evidence could not be used against McKee.

Judge Moore decided that the testimony should be allowed to go in, in reference to the question varied some yesterday," said Judge Moore to-day.

He said that he had decided, with grave robbery, that if James and Pigot conspired to rob the city the evidence could not be used against McKee.

Assistant District-Attorney Clark read a transcript of Ross's account with the Kings County Bank from October, 1921, to May, 1922. It showed that Ross had deposited $2,800, and following day a withdrawal of $2,800, and the balance was $0.00.

Mr. Hazard said he could only estimate the cost of the grand stand after an inspection of the plans and specifications.

"Assuming that you know the cost of the materials and the cost of the labor, what would be a fair profit on it?"

"I would put on about 10 per cent," the witness replied. The cost of the materials and labor is said to be $100,000.

On cross-examination the witness said he had not been in the building business for years, and that he could not give an accurate estimate of the profit on the grand stand.

District-Attorney Ridgway then announced that the testimony for the people was closed.

Lawyer Rosenberg then opened for the defense, and said that he would show by the testimony of witnesses that the grand stand was fair and reasonable.

Myron C. Rush, a builder, testified that in the building found at the plaza was worth 75 per cent more than $100,000, and at $75 per cent more than $100,000, and at $75 per cent more than $100,000.

On cross-examination, District-Attorney Ridgway asked him:

"You said that the materials and labor cost $152,220, how much profit would you charge?"

"I would charge 10 per cent," the witness replied. "That is, $15,222.20."

Mayor David A. Hoody then took the stand. He testified that in March, 1922, the contract for the grand stand was awarded to the firm of James H. Pigot and Patrick Ross.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

GOODNESS BETWEEN ICE MEN.

Preparing for a Bitter Fight Against the Trust.

"Deacon" Richardson May Take a Hand with the Machine.

The retail ice dealers in Brooklyn are preparing to organize a bitter fight against the Ice Trust, which has already increased the price from $2 to $2.50 a ton, wholesale.

The increase was made by Millionaire Morse, who recently purchased the Ridgewood Ice Company, of Brooklyn.

Mr. Morse further says that in July the price will be increased to $3 a ton, wholesale, and an advance thereafter of 50 cents a month.

This will bring the retail price up to about 50 cents a hundred within the next two months.

Meantime "Deacon" Richardson is watching the fight with a good deal of interest, as before long he expects to take a hand in it.

"Deacon" Richardson makes the new venture in that if there was a contract with Ross, it is entirely immaterial, and of no consequence whatever what disposition was made of the money after he received it.

Assistant District-Attorney Clark read a transcript of Ross's account with the Kings County Bank from October, 1921, to May, 1922.

It showed that Ross had deposited $2,800, and following day a withdrawal of $2,800, and the balance was $0.00.

Mr. Hazard said he could only estimate the cost of the grand stand after an inspection of the plans and specifications.

"Assuming that you know the cost of the materials and the cost of the labor, what would be a fair profit on it?"

"I would put on about 10 per cent," the witness replied. The cost of the materials and labor is said to be $100,000.

On cross-examination the witness said he had not been in the building business for years, and that he could not give an accurate estimate of the profit on the grand stand.

District-Attorney Ridgway then announced that the testimony for the people was closed.

Lawyer Rosenberg then opened for the defense, and said that he would show by the testimony of witnesses that the grand stand was fair and reasonable.

Myron C. Rush, a builder, testified that in the building found at the plaza was worth 75 per cent more than $100,000, and at $75 per cent more than $100,000, and at $75 per cent more than $100,000.

On cross-examination, District-Attorney Ridgway asked him:

"You said that the materials and labor cost $152,220, how much profit would you charge?"

"I would charge 10 per cent," the witness replied. "That is, $15,222.20."

Mayor David A. Hoody then took the stand. He testified that in March, 1922, the contract for the grand stand was awarded to the firm of James H. Pigot and Patrick Ross.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

He said that he had no objection to the money necessary, but this proposition was not encouraged by the public.

SHE IS AFTER DR. ZIMMERMAN.

He Is Charged with Abandonment and Refusal to Support.

His Pastor Accused of Being Instrumental in the Desertion.

The wife of Dr. Edwin Zimmerman, of 142 Perry street, has secured a warrant from the Jefferson Market Court for the arrest of the doctor on a charge of abandonment.

She claims she was deserted last April, and that, although her husband had a practice worth $50 a day, and a fortune of over $20,000, he has since then contributed nothing to her support.

Mrs. Zimmerman claims that the trouble with her husband began last Summer while she was in the country with her daughter, a young lady of about twenty-one. The doctor grew lonely, she thought, while she was away, and to pass the time visited certain women.

So attached did he become to them, she says, that when she returned he called her madam and otherwise treated her as a stranger. She also alleges that Dr. Tinker, pastor of the Perry Street M. E. Church, of which Dr. Zimmerman is a member, and Dr. Shattuck, of 24 West Fourteenth street, had been instrumental in leading her husband astray.

Dr. Shattuck told an "Evening World" reporter that Dr. Zimmerman had been abandoned from home by his wife's delectable and quarrelsome ways.

He did not believe the doctor had started out at a M. M. with a fortune of $20,000, as Mrs. Zimmerman claimed, however, that her husband is in the city and that she saw him on a street car yesterday.

Other Victims of the Naphtha Explosion Are Rapidly Recovering.

The relief from the "sizzard" of the past three days that New Yorkers experienced to-day was welcome.

Forecaster Dunn predicted this morning that the temperature that began with 68 at 8 A. M. would this afternoon gradually rise, although it might fall several degrees short of yesterday afternoon's record.

Humidity, which, during the first two days was more to be feared than the co-partner, heat, to make the populace sweeter, has at last asserted itself.

At 12 o'clock the thermometer registered 90 per cent, as against 82 yesterday at the same time.

Farmer Dunn promises without fail a more permanent relief to-night, which, he says, will begin with showers, to be succeeded by clear weather which will last over Saturday and probably Sunday.

The weather continues generally warmer over the Lake regions and Mississippi States, and the warmest place in the country this morning was at Fort West, Fla., where the people were languishing in a temperature of 81 degrees, while at Winter Garden, Va., the thermometer registered only 14 degrees above freezing point.

At 12 o'clock the thermometer at the Weather Bureau registered 74 and was gradually rising.

MAX JUDD DENOUNCED.

The Consul-General's Firm Said to Oppose Organized Labor.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—The Executive Committee of the Garment-Workers' Union met in Druids' Hall last evening and scored Max Judd, the cloak manufacturer, and Consul-General to Vienna.

Said a member of the firm to which "The men making this statement are capable of swearing to anything. We have no objection to anything being said before the unions, as we do not wish to antagonize organized labor, but we do not wish to fall under its ban," done nothing to libel under its name.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—The Executive Committee of the Garment-Workers' Union met in Druids' Hall last evening and scored Max Judd, the cloak manufacturer, and Consul-General to Vienna.

Said a member of the firm to which "The men making this statement are capable of swearing to anything. We have no objection to anything being said before the unions, as we do not wish to antagonize organized labor, but we do not wish to fall under its ban," done nothing to libel under its name.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—The Executive Committee of the Garment-Workers' Union met in Druids' Hall last evening and scored Max Judd, the cloak manufacturer, and Consul-General to Vienna.

Said a member of the firm to which "The men making this statement are capable of swearing to anything. We have no objection to anything being said before the unions, as we do not wish to antagonize organized labor, but we do not wish to fall under its ban," done nothing to libel under its name.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—The Executive Committee of the Garment-Workers' Union met in Druids' Hall last evening and scored Max Judd, the cloak manufacturer, and Consul-General to Vienna.

Said a member of the firm to which "The men making this statement are capable of swearing to anything. We have no objection to anything being said before the unions, as we do not wish to antagonize organized labor, but we do not wish to fall under its ban," done nothing to libel under its name.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—The Executive Committee of the Garment-Workers' Union met in Druids' Hall last evening and scored Max Judd, the cloak manufacturer, and Consul-General to Vienna.

Said a member of the firm to which "The men making this statement are capable of swearing to anything. We have no objection to anything being said before the unions, as we do not wish to antagonize organized labor, but we do not wish to fall under its ban," done nothing to libel under its name.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—The Executive Committee of the Garment-Workers' Union met in Druids' Hall last evening and scored Max Judd, the cloak manufacturer, and Consul-General to Vienna.

Said a member of the firm to which "The men making this statement are capable of swearing to anything. We have no objection to anything being said before the unions, as we do not wish to antagonize organized labor, but we do not wish to fall under its ban," done nothing to libel under its name.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—The Executive Committee of the Garment-Workers' Union met in Druids' Hall last evening and scored Max Judd, the cloak manufacturer, and Consul-General to Vienna.

Said a member of the firm to which "The men making this statement are capable of swearing to anything. We have no objection to anything being said before the unions, as we do not wish to antagonize organized labor, but we do not wish to fall under its ban," done nothing to libel under its name.

BARGAIN THIS WEEK.

EXTENSION TABLES. EXTRA LOW PRICES. A CHANCE SELDOM OFFERED.

Jordan, Moriarty & Co. 155, 157 AND 159 EAST 23D ST.

FURNITURE, CARPETINGS, &c. ONLY $4.28.

Accommodation. Satisfactory arrangements made with purchase.

COOLER WEATHER PROMISED.

Farmer Dunn Says the Wave Will Arrive To-Night.

Ninety Per Cent. of Humidity Means the Breeze To-Day.

50 Styles to Select From. SPECIAL NOTICE.

1,000 SAIL DUCK ETONS. $2.98, value $6.00.

1,000 PILOT DUCK ETONS. $2.45, value $5.50.

1,000 FRENCH CHAMBRAYETONS. $3.59, value $6.00.

1,000 Cool All-Wool Cloth Finish FLANNEL ETON DRESSES (Navy and Black). $3.98, value $6.50.

1,000 our celebrated all-wool ENGLISH STORM SERGE ETONS. $4.98, $5.98, $6.98 to $10.98.

HILL & CO., Sixth Avenue, between 11th & 12th Sts.

VERY PROUD OF HER TRIPLETS.

But Mother Alice Will Not Show Them for Several Days.

HAGGERTY FINALLY HELD. But No One Will Swear He Jumped From the Bridge.

In spite of all the dragnets that have been cast over the Fourth Ward since man has not yet been found who saw Haggerty jump from the Brooklyn Bridge.

This fact came out at the adjourned examination in the Tombs Police Court this morning, when Police Commissioner Martin and his assistants, including Chief Clerk, were present.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

Justice Martin, however, concluded to hold Haggerty for four Special Sessions in $300 bail, which was furnished.

HILL & CO.

259 & 261 6th Ave., Between 10th and 12th Sts. FRIDAY and SATURDAY BIC SPECIAL SALE WARM WEATHER.

Eton Dresses.

Slip Covers, made to order, all complete, of good quality Damask, at 8.75 and upward for a complete suit.

Blankets thoroughly scoured (and rebound, if necessary) at 79c. pair.

Curtains Cleaned—Nottingham lace, 44c. pair; all other lace, 65c. pair.

Blanks made to order at 2.75 each and upward. We can promise delivery in three days from day the order is placed.