Closing of India Mints Causes a Further Drop in Silver.

Belief that It Will Work the Repeal of the Sherman Law.

Speculation Very Unsettled at the Stock Exchange To-Day.

Another drop in silver here and in London and complete demoralization of the foreign exchange market values at the Stock Exchange again this morning.

The great topic of discussion was of course the closing of the India mints to the free coinage of silver.

In London the price of bar silver took another dip, selling at 32d. per ounce against 36d. yesterday.

The bullion value of the standard dollar is now under 60 cents, and the tendency of the whole silver question is to derange the financial and commercial affairs all over the world.

The bankers do not care to deal freely in sterling exchange, as, in addition to the silver business, they do not know what the rate for money will be from one month to the next.

On account of the drop in silver, Ontario Mining shares broke 4-12 to 12-12.

President St. John, of the Mercantile Bank, and a silver man, says: "If this information is correct, the holders of millions of dollars of uncoined bullion in India are put in jeopardy."

Agent Townsend, of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Company, says: "I understand a very important matter is being debated and settled in the English courts here, and it will be the strongest opposition in England to the plan."

President Andrew of Brown University, one of the delegates to the Brussels Conference, says: "This scheme cannot bring relief to the colonies of India in England, although it will make foreign exchange a little more stable."

Ex-Gov. Morgan G. Bulkeley, of Connecticut, who is at the Murray Hill Hotel, said this morning: "I do not think the stoppage of the mints in India will have any immediate effect on the silver question here, for I do not think that there will be any immediate increase in importation of uncoined silver."

"A better opinion can be expressed about the present Administration made known its policy on the coinage of silver."

change at 1s. 4d. provided an automatic means of preventing the closing of the mints and the violent disturbing of exchange rates.

There should be no mistake, the Viceroy said, about the facts. It was not proposed to substitute gold for the silver currency. No attempt would be made at present to fix a legal-tender price for gold.

On the other hand, the Viceroy expressed the Government's sense of the gravity of the step it was about to take. Personally he was averse to all attempts to force the Government's sense of the gravity of the step it was about to take.

EDITOR SCHENCK MERCIFUL.

His Assailant, Mrs. Cronheim, Promises to Leave Staten Island.

NEW BRIGHTON, S. I., June 27.—Mrs. Mary Cronheim, a sequestering young woman, who lives at West Brighton, S. I., was arraigned in Justice Acker's court this morning, charged with having assaulted Editor Adolph Schenck, of the German Staten Islander, a semi-weekly newspaper published at Stapleton.

The last issue of Editor Schenck's paper gave a detailed account of Mrs. Cronheim's assault upon an agent for an insurance company, who had called on her to make a collection.

CAN'T TELL THE BAGS APART.

Importer Brewer Contradicts Exporter Collins's Testimony.

Fairchild Commission Continues Its Work in Jute and Burlap.

The Fairchild Investigating Commission continued its examination of the jute bagging question again this morning.

Nicholas Brewer, a bag importer and dealer, of 78 Pearl street, in this city, said he had been in the business for thirty years.

He contradicted the testimony given by James R. Collins yesterday in regard to distinguishing marks on foreign and domestic bags.

Mr. Brewer said he had never paid any duty on returned bags which had been taken to his port unless it was found that the California exporter, who had originally used them, had been paid a drawback on them.

In fact, there was at the present day no distinction whatever between California and California bags, and he did not believe that there was an expert in the world who could tell them apart after they had once been used.

Mr. Brewer surprised the Commission by saying that he did not know of a single manufacturer of burlap in the United States.

When asked to examine the sample bags usually known as "one and a half" and "two and a half" he said he was unable to distinguish some difference between them.

James Watson, a broker in jute bags and burlap, testified that a cotton thread in the selvage was not a distinctive feature of the Calcutta burlaps.

MORPHINE IN HIS MEDICINE.

Oesterlich Nearly Died After Taking Some of It.

Yet Physician and Druggist Claim There Was No Harm in It.

It will require a searching investigation on the part of the police of the East Fifty-first street station to satisfy the friends of Jacob Oesterlich, a tailor, of 866 Second avenue, that he was not nearly poisoned to death yesterday by morphine compounded in a prescription.

Oesterlich had been ailing for several days with an intestinal malady, and yesterday he called on Dr. Silliman, of 306 East Fifty-first street, and got a prescription, calling for five grammes of morphine and 100 grammes of Fairchild's essence of peppermint.

Oesterlich had the prescription compounded at W. A. Quinn's drug store, at 258 Second avenue, only a few doors from his home.

The patient showed signs of coma late in the afternoon, and at 9 o'clock, when he took the third teaspoonful, he was seized by a terrible tremor.

Dr. McAuliffe suggested that Oesterlich be taken to Bellevue Hospital, and an ambulance was called. When it came the patient's friends would not allow him to be moved.

"I saw Oesterlich and attended him," said he, and must say that it is a strange case. The man had all the symptoms of narcotic poisoning, among which was coma.

"There was no error made in it," he stated. "I am positive of this, for I foreknew the medicine and I attended to it personally."

"The patient could have taken the whole amount of essence of peppermint and it would do him no harm."

HE ATTACKED LAWYER ADAMS WITH A LOADED WHIP.

His Wound Slight—Mount Kisco People Terrorized.

MOUNT KISCO, N. Y., June 27.—A shooting affray occurred here this morning, in which Lawyer A. J. Adams and Sylvester G. Sherwood, an unfortunate and alleged lunatic, figured.

As he attempted to strike Adams, the latter drew a revolver and fired a shot in the ceiling to frighten Sherwood.

Deputy Sheriff Quimby was summoned to take the insane man into custody.

While coming from his house before the shooting Sherwood stopped every child he met on the road from New Castle toward the village.

Sherwood is subject to fits of insanity, and has been sent to the Foulton asylum several times during the last ten years.

REPUBLICANS AT SARATOGA.

Blare of Bands, Show of Badges and an Address by Col. McAlpin.

SARATOGA, June 27.—Republican League delegates took possession of this place with a hurrah this morning.

The delegates gathered in groups and discussed the probability of Col. McAlpin being induced to resign as President, and of the respective chances of James B. Townsend and J. H. Jewell for Secretary in place of John E. Hodges, who declines to take the place again.

Among the arrivals were Col. E. A. McAlpin, President of the League; Congressman Rowell; Hon. James P. Townsend, C. C. Shays, E. B. Harper, A. B. Humphrey, Secretary of the National League, and a dozen other delegates.

MICHAEL SCHWAB, ONE OF THE PARDONED ANARCHISTS.

"Justice to the living has come at last," he said, "but Gov. Altgeld cannot put life in the murdered dead. His decision and proclamation are exactly in line with what we have been claiming for seven years."

"It was prejudice that convicted the martyrs who were hanged, and the same prejudice that made victims of the men who have just been pardoned."

"We in New York are jubilant," he said, "because an injustice has been righted, and to show our appreciation to Gov. Altgeld's action we will hold a mass-meeting next week. We are now looking for a hall large enough to accommodate those who wish to attend, and as soon as we secure that, speakers will be selected."

"Will any of the pardoned men be present?" Herr Most was asked.
