

THIS VICTIM A BABE.

Madeline Wash Killed by a Brooklyn Trolley Car.

Run Down and Mangled in Front of Her Home.

The Motorman, Patrick Reardon, Arrested for Homicide.

Another little girl fell a victim to the Brooklyn trolley this morning. Madeline Wash, twenty-three months old, the youngest daughter of Charles Walsh, a clear dealer, of 296 Smith street, was run over by trolley car 285, of the Smith street line, and was instantly killed.

The accident which occurred to-day has been expected by the people living in the neighborhood. There are many little children on the block, but the trolley motorman run their cars very recklessly, and never stop except to take on a passenger.

The Washes moved over from Leonard street, Williamsburg, two weeks ago. From the first day they were in their new home, the children were injured by the trolley cars, and they often warned the little ones not to venture beyond the curbside.

Mrs. Walsh was eating his breakfast back of the store shortly before 9 o'clock, when the little girl ran out on the sidewalk. A hand of street music began playing on the opposite side of the street, and the little girl started across to hear them.

She had not reached the car track when the trolley car came rushing up the grade and struck her.

Her little body was thrown under the car and dragged ten feet. Then the car passed clear over it.

The car was going so fast at the time that the motorman was unable to stop it until after it had passed over the body.

The motorman and conductor went back and looked up the mangled corpse, and were carrying it to the sidewalk when the terror-stricken parents came out to meet them.

When the trolley car came rushing up the grade and struck her, Mrs. Walsh had been standing in the rear of the store and saw her child run down before her eyes.

An ambulance was summoned, and the surgeon who responded to the call said that the girl had been killed instantly. Her right leg had been cut off at the thigh and her head broken.

There were also many bruises about the body. The point where the accident occurred is about 150 feet above Sackett street, and on an embankment which is reached through Sackett street and it is the duty of the motorman on the Smith street line to stop the car at a full stop before reaching the corner.

Mrs. Walsh, the mother of the dead girl, says the accident occurred as she observed the rules; he could not have failed to see the girl in the street, and she could not have been going so rapidly.

The motorman was allowed twenty minutes to explain the accident, and then he was taken to the police station. Mrs. Walsh will make a rigid investigation.

Six people have been killed by trolley cars in Brooklyn since June 20.

ANDREWS GRINDING HIS AXE.

The Commissioner Expects to Begin Chopping This Evening.

Commissioner Andrews is getting ready to swing his axe. He expects to have the reports he called for yesterday on the efficiency of his laboring force by this evening. Then the weeding out of useless timber will begin.

Mr. Andrews has called for information from 115 foremen, and he expects to be in all respects capable, and who will be retained. Those who have shirked or neglected their duty and those who from physical disability or other causes are unfit to perform a full day's work will be to go.

It will be interesting to know how many are suffering from physical disability, as the law provides that none but able-bodied men and healthy men shall be employed.

The Commissioner has a hard task before him. He is expected to keep the streets clean, and at the same time cut down the expense of the city by a deficiency of $75,000 or $100,000 at the end of the year.

Consolidated Traction Company Wins Again.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 2.—Chancellor McGill has denied the second application of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company for a permanent injunction to restrain the consolidated Traction Company from extending its tracks across the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road at the Roswell avenue crossing. Three years ago, when the Traction Company attempted to construct its tracks across the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company stopped them by securing a temporary injunction from the Federal court.

The Traction Company now goes ahead with the building of its road.

FINES FOR FAIR DIRECTORS.

Imposed for Contempt in Closing the Show on a Sunday.

An Appeal Taken—Guilty Parties to Furnish Bond.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Judge Stein, of the Superior Court, this morning decided that the World's Fair directors and officers who had been directly responsible for closing the Exposition gates Sunday, July 23, had violated the injunction granted in the Clingman petition, and were consequently guilty of contempt.

He ordered that Directors Gage, Hutchinson, Hennrich, McNally and Kertig should be fined $1,000 each and stand committed to jail until the fine was paid.

In the case of Director Victor F. Lawson, the Court held that the officer had voted in violation of the injunction, and was not intentionally guilty. In view of this mitigating circumstance a fine of $100 was imposed.

Director General George H. Davis was held less directly responsible and was fined $50 with the same provision regarding payment.

Messrs. Massey, Forbes, St. Clair and Highinbotham were regarded by Judge Stein as instruments for the execution of the directors' ruling, and were discharged.

Attorney Eddy, representing the Fair Company, moved for an appeal from the Court's ruling, which Judge Stein granted.

The directors and other officers were all in court.

Pending a hearing in the higher court the parties found guilty will be held in bonds for the faithful carrying out of the court's decision.

The Court placed no restriction on the liberty of any of the parties pending the making of the bonds. Judge Stein said, however, that he would expect the bonds to be placed on file to-day or to-morrow.

BAD OUTLOOK FOR THE FAIR.

Attendance Must Be Largely Increased to Pay the Way.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—The World's Fair is feeling the financial squeeze. A new committee has been appointed, with greater powers than the Council of Administration. It has been formed to cut expenses.

President Highinbotham refuses to approve the committee, and there is a heap of trouble. The daily expenses are still $18,000, and the Directors want the amount cut.

The managers find themselves reckoning only how they may be able to pay their debts. All thoughts of reimbursing stockholders or taking up the bonds of the city seem to have been abandoned.

This conclusion is reached on the following estimate of resources and liabilities, which is considered by conservative directors reasonable.

Liabilities—Twelve months' interest at 4 per cent, on $4,444,500; $286,700; operating expenses, at $15,000 a day, $1,170,000; indebtedness, $1,000,000; debtore bonds, $4,444,500; total, $6,881,200.

Resources—From gate receipts, at an average of 100,000 daily attendance, $3,000,000; from concessions, $1,500,000; savings, $800,000; estimated profit on souvenir coins, $250,000; total, $5,350,000.

An additional resource is some material on the grounds not counted in the above table, the estimated value of which is $300,000. Should this be realized, the table shows a deficit of $1,231,200, or $11,000,000 of stock and Chicago bonds.

To reach this figure it has been figured necessary to put the average daily attendance henceforward at 100,000. This figure is 25,000, or 33 per cent, in excess of the average attendance up to Aug. 1. The outlook is bad.

FOUND DEAD IN THE YARD.

Did McArdle Jump, or Was He Thrown from the Roof?

He Had Been Drinking on the Housetop with Two Companions.

The mangled body of Hugh McArdle, a young man, twenty-five years old, who lived with his widowed mother at 38 East Fifty-ninth street, was found on the flagging in the yard at the rear of the tenement-house 237 East Fifty-ninth street, at 5:30 this morning.

Whether the young man's death was accidental, or whether he was pushed off by his companions is a matter of conjecture.

McArdle and two of his companions, Robert Trainor and John Wise, were known to have been on the roof together during the evening. They took turns "rumbing the crowbar," and enough mixed ale was carried to the roof to make a party of three. They were completely quiet, however, for it was only at frequent intervals that their voices were heard by the tenants below.

Several of the tenants were in the yard as late as 11 o'clock. The body was not there then.

Mrs. Zimmerman, the janitress, discovered it this morning. She at once notified the people in the first and second floors, and sent her husband for a policeman. Officer Michael responded to the call, and went in a hurried call to the Presbyterian Hospital. An ambulance, with Dr. Hainbridge, was at the scene within half an hour, and an examination showed that death resulted from a compound fracture of the skull and that life had been extinct for about five hours.

The police at first were inclined to believe that McArdle fell off the roof while asleep, but on further investigation formed another opinion. The body struck about eight feet from the building, and must have cleared the fire-escape, which extends to the roof. If he had fallen he would have fallen on the top platform.

No trace of Trainor or Wise could be found this morning, though they were thoroughly searched by the police. These two young men seem to have been the only companions of McArdle met his death, and every effort will be made to find them.

ITS WATER CONTAMINATED.

A Central Park Well Ordered Closed by the Board of Health.

A well in Central Park, just north of the upper tennis court, near the east water tank, was ordered closed by the Board of Health, whose chemist has found that the water drawn from it contains a considerable amount of sewage.

This well has been patronized freely by visitors at Central Park, and the water drawn from it is used in the vicinity of Ninety-sixth street, outside of the grounds.

The Board of Health was first called to the matter by Dr. E. C. Janeway, who reported that he had been called to attend to a patient who had been at work on a complete analysis of it. A partial investigation of the water showed the presence of a large amount of sewage and other deleterious substances. On the strength of the partial analysis the well was ordered to be closed.

ATTACHED FOR $124,500.

Collin Campbell Wants His Commission for Raising $600,000.

Morgan & Ives, on behalf of Collin Campbell, have obtained from Justice O'Brien, of the Supreme Court, an attachment against the property in this State of Thomas S. Bullock and Victor A. Wilder, upon a claim of $124,500 for commission.

Campbell says that in 1890 the defendants agreed that if he would aid them in raising $600,000 to carry out the contract of the Nassau National Bank in Monterey and Mexican Gulf Railroad Company, they would give him 2-1/2 per cent of the value of the bonds.

They raised over $600,000. The bond issue was $720,000, and Campbell demanded $182,000 in bonds, but was refused. He therefore sues for $124,500, the market value of that amount of bonds.

Names Forged to Charges Against Assistant Engineer Verrill.

Col. Henry M. Robert, of the War Department, is holding an investigation at Fort Wadsworth to-day into a charge that the superintendent directing the work there, Assistant Engineer Verrill, discriminated against Democrats in employing men on the fortifications.

Thus far the facts elicited are not damaging to Mr. Verrill. Of the score of names mentioned in the statement sent to the War Department no less than ten were found to be forgeries. Three of the men whose names were signed to the document being unable to write.

Similar charges were made against Mr. Verrill last year, but then it was the Republicans who said the Democrats were being favored.

In the Yorkville Court this morning Justice Burke fined Charles Beebe, seventeen years old, of 425 second avenue, $10 for assaulting Morris Beck, thirty-six years old, of 207 East One Hundredth street, who, Beebe suspected, was stealing a dead baby.

He grabbed hold of Beck. There was a scuffle between the two, and a large crowd gathered around them. Beck was walking very fast, and the baby was asleep. Beebe noticed that Beck was in a hurry, and called to his friends.

IT WAS TIM CAMPBELL'S DAY.

The Oriental Club's Excursion Was Swagger, Not Gigantic.

Every East-Side Politician of Prominence Was Present.

It was Tim Campbell's day in the Fifth Assembly District to-day. The annual outing of the Oriental Club, of which the distinguished statesman is President, was on, and no event since the same last year has been looked forward to with greater interest and pleasurable excitement by the better, richer and more influential element of the district that is bounded by the Hovey, Grand and Stanton streets and the East River.

The multitude of friends and admirers of the well-known Congressman were all in a state of flutter this morning over the fact that the Orientals' excursion to College Point was to start from the foot of Broome street, and the way in which they rowed down the dock and filed the big barge and steamer was enough to warm the cockles of any statesman's heart.

Diamonds there were by the bushful, worn by all the distinguished, great siders, and the densely laden boats started up the East River to Willow Point. Beck noticed the child, and exclaimed, "There's a dead kid in the wagon!"

He grabbed hold of Beck. There was a scuffle between the two, and a large crowd gathered around them. Beck was walking very fast, and the baby was asleep. Beebe noticed that Beck was in a hurry, and called to his friends.

Police Commissioner John C. Sheehan's Pequot braves astonished the natives on the west side again to-day. They turned out for their first annual outing, and made a finer appearance than they did when they went to Chicago to attend the Democratic National Convention last Summer.

Every man wore a Pequot hat and good clothes. The start was made from the club-house in West Twenty-fifth street at 8 o'clock. The members and their guests marched to the foot of West Twenty-second street, and boarded the iron steamboat Cuyana for Donnelly's Grove, College Point.

The day's pleasure consists of clam eating in every style, match games of lacrosse, quoit, foot races and other contests between Pequods and representatives of all the other Tammany organizations in the city. Breakfast was served at 11 o'clock. Dinner was announced for 5 o'clock.

The party will leave College Point at 7 o'clock and arrive at the Twenty-second street dock about 8:30.

Long Island City Canines Said to Have Been Brought Over Here.

A Load of 121 Stray Animals Disposed of for 50 Cents a Head.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Aug. 2.—A novel swindling business by dog-catchers, by which the public treasuries of New York and Long Island City have been defrauded out of considerable money, was unearthed to-day.

Some time ago John Sullivan was appointed poundmaster of Long Island City, and he took charge of the dog-catchers of Long Island City. The poundmaster receives a salary of $50 per month, while the dog-catcher is paid a fee of 50 cents for each dog captured. The dogs are supposed to
