SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE EVENING WORLD (including postage) PER MONTH $0.10 PER YEAR $1.00

Vol. 84 No. 11,706

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class matter

BRANCH OFFICES: WORLD UPTOWN OFFICE-1507 BROADWAY, between 31st and 32d sts., New York.

THE WORLD'S AVERAGE CIRCULATION PER DAY FOR AUGUST, 1893, 406,989. FOR JULY, 1893, 393,033. An Average Gain Per Day of 13,956.

The sun shines for the Cup defenders. This is the year of record-breaking in speed.

The Senatorial toga cannot cover the sin of dereliction.

Do you know what is meant by "coining the silver?" It is an old way to pay new debts.

Three deaths from careless driving in the streets of New York in two days is three deaths too many.

A bride and groom at Elmira took their wedding trip in a balloon. Looking possibly, for the airy castles of their courtship period.

There is no call for patience with the silver question. The Senate Affairs have gone beyond a question of free speech and the right to an honest debate.

Train-robbers have now reached the point that a lone bandit attempts to hold up a train in Kansas, and falls only because his horse stumbles at a critical moment.

Is it just for the police authorities to withhold from the rolls of fame the names of the new "coppers" who arrested Inspector Alexander Williams as a "fly-mug" at the ferry station?

Customs receipts yesterday were the lowest on record since the days of "before the war." This is a proof that the people of this country are not importing foreign goods.

The American liner New York has achieved a victory of about three hours in a race with the Teutonic in the matter of delivering mail matter at London.

Mayor Boody refers to Brooklyn as "one of the most interesting cities in all the world." It is so, and it only needs an absorption into the inevitable "Greater New York" to render it also one of the best governed and most prosperous.

It has been alleged by Southern Senators that the South is against the repeal of the Silver Purchase act. "The World" has begun a policy of States to see how true this is.

Now that the question "Who?" has been answered with regard to the Birmingham murder victims, the question "Why?" comes to the front.

All of these reports that the financial situation of this country needs looking after must be mistakes. The Senate does not consider the situation serious enough to compel the Senators to wake up an hour earlier in order to begin business.

President Steiway, of the Rapid Transit Commission, insists that there is still serious business talk that an underground railway. What the people ought to have seen long ago is a serious business move towards Rapid Transit of some sort.

Imagine the United States Navy instituting a revolt over such a matter as a Presidential veto of a bill making the Vice-President ineligible to the Presidency.

It is a question whether motherly love does not lead beyond motherly discretion when, as in a Jersey City case reported to-day, it induces a woman to don masculine attire and seep the salence for her straying son. The adventure of this mother led only to her own mortification. Such a result would be only too apt to follow any like endeavor.

THE SULLIVAN COUNTY ROBBER.

The Shawangunk Mountain murders are at present an impenetrable mystery. That two women have been found dead at the foot of the mountain in Sullivan County; that the man Halliday has suddenly disappeared, and that the woman Halliday is accused of being the criminal and is suspected of having also killed her husband and concealed his body, is all simple enough.

One thing, however, appears to be certain. The Halliday woman is unquestionably crazy, and it seems that she has been under restraint for insanity. About eighteen months ago she was a victim of a violent attack of insanity, which made it certain that she was not in her sound mind.

This seems to have cost two, if not three, lives. When will it be deemed that it is unsafe to set a lunatic free, without any restraint, upon an apparent "cure?"

KEEP UP THE FUND.

There is not a rich man in New York who would not think it ridiculous to be told that because he has had a good dinner to-day he would not need an equally good dinner to-morrow.

Much more ridiculous it is to suppose that many of the suffering men, women and children whose cravings are appeased one day by a loaf from "The World's" Free Bread Fund, will not require another loaf the next day to fight off the fiend of hunger.

The fund has now reached 54,583 loaves. Thousands of people are fed daily. But many of these people, unless they obtain work, will require another loaf to-morrow, and others who are driven at last to appeal for relief will be added to the number.

The fund for saving the lives of the babies of the poor grows steadily. There is great need of it.

But for the aid rendered through "The Evening World's" generous readers hundreds of innocent children would suffer and die in the crowded tenements.

"THE OTHER MAN."

There is laughter in Fred Horner's farcical adaptation, "The Other Man," now running at the Garden Theatre.

It flocks the tressomeness of the place, and it is impossible to avoid laughing when the dapper Sir, Fountaine, forced by the usual illogic reasons to assume the identity of "Champion," is compelled by his superior officer in the military camp to paint a picture.

The sketch he evolves convulses the audience with a sort of juvenile glee. The sketch is the kind of thing children draw on their slates, and the shock of seeing it seriously done by a long gentleman like Joseph Holland produces laughter, it is good to know.

The rest of the farce is in the mood of the exception of a few episodes in the camp scene. The American theatre-goer will hardly appreciate this, however. In this country little is known of the dreaded vint-hull-jours of military service.

Now the Pastimes are wondering why before, at any time during the day, of other clubs in the city are not stopped. As far as order is concerned, no fault could be found with the games.

Propos of the Pastime Athletic Club, the annual election of trustees was held last night and these were elected: W. P. Wilson, 15 cents; Arthur H. Harbison, 1 P. Minous, M. Munde, H. C. Johnson, A. Dempsey and John Hurek.

DIDN'T KNOW WILLIAMS.

A New Policeman Arrests the Inspector on Suspicion.

The brand-new policeman who, in the belief that Inspector Williams was a confidence man, green-goods operator and generally suspicious character, arrested him Tuesday night and took him to the station-house, has been chaffed about it so much that he threatens to resign unless the "funny business" is stopped.

The "cop" was appointed a few months ago. He was full of "old Thunderbolt" ideas, and he had the girl applied at the same service bureau of the big city's Woman's Exchange, and thus secured a place at general housework. She worked hard and faithfully, was not "afraid of" anything, knowing that her fingers would be no less skillful with the brush for having been well seasoned in glove work.

Neither was she at any expense for board and lodging, and before many months she had saved sufficient money out of her wage to start upon her art career. All of which is no fairy tale, but a chapter from the life of a genuinely determined young woman who has relied upon to get on under whatever circumstances or conditions.

This travelling dress is of checked woolen. The skirt, slightly flared, is brought up behind the shoulders, and is open on one side over a square of the same material, being joined by buttoned flaps.

Prof. Briggs's Family. Mrs. Charles H. Briggs, wife of the celebrated professor, is an accomplished musician, as are her two daughters. All three studied at Leipzig and have attained much attention by their musical ability.

Velvet will be everywhere seen this fall and on every possible article of attire—plain, ombred, striped, shot, plaided and in mirror effects, reflecting many lights.

Dr. Brown-Sequard recommends the following as the best way to overcome susceptibility to taking cold from getting the feet wet: Dip the feet in cold water, and let them remain there a few seconds.

Wrap fish in cloth, cover bottom of steamer with sliced potato, add two small chopped onions, and fish to top of all. Steam till done. Remove bones from fish, put in pan layer of buttered crackers, then potato and onion, then seasoned fish. Pour rich milk over, and simmer till done.

This season for greens begins with Sept. 1, and woodcock, snipe, plover, reed birds and wild ducks all come along during the month, all gaining in quality as the days go by.

Now move the patient over to the fresh side and make the other, drawing out the folded part of the sheet. Take the clean upper sheet and spread over the covering already on the bed. If the patient is not too ill to hold the upper part of the sheet, she can do so; if she part of the sheet, she can do so; if she part of the sheet, she can do so.

HOUSE AND HOME.

This Is Not a Fairy Story. A charming young girl from the South came, alone and moneyless, to a big Northern city to study art.

The girl applied at the same service bureau of the big city's Woman's Exchange, and thus secured a place at general housework. She worked hard and faithfully, was not "afraid of" anything, knowing that her fingers would be no less skillful with the brush for having been well seasoned in glove work.

At a lawn party at a Summer resort one day last week the lemonade table came in for most generous praise. Throughout the hours of the entertainment the huge bunch bowl, packed with ice, ladled forth a rich, refreshing drink that never weakened into the insipid clear sour water that lemonade is apt to become after the first hour.

The wonderful blouse that has taken such hold on the female taste this season is to continue in favor, so 'tis said. During the advancing of new things blouses will be worn in silks, satins, velvets, furs, as well as in gauze, chiffon, dotted Swiss and lace.

Among the numerous styles of jackets to be worn over these are those reaching such hold on the
