

BARON WINS AN HEIRESS.

He Is Penniless and Horsey, but Will Wed Miss Sherman.

She Is the Daughter of the Kentucky Racing Man.

Baron F. Grunbaum has captured an American heiress. He is to wed Miss Sherman, of Gallatin, Tenn., the daughter of the famous horse-breeder of Lexington, Ky. She is about nineteen years old, very handsome, and is said to have an income in her own right of $2,000 a year.

The Baron met her at Hot Springs, Ark. Their acquaintance began in a romantic way. The Baron was not slow to press his suit.

The marriage is to take place at St. Patrick's Cathedral, on Fifth avenue, on the afternoon of Friday, Oct. 20. A special dispensation is to be obtained from the Vatican.

Miss Sherman is the daughter of the late John Sherman, a prominent racing man.

Baron Grunbaum's life has been an eventful one. He has attracted considerable notice in this city since he first came here three years ago.

On his first visit he was received with open arms by the Four Hundred. His mustache, and his companionship with the nobility of Europe obtained for him an entrance into New York's most exclusive society.

and soon was reduced to the plebeian condition of a horse breeder.

Baron Grunbaum's father was a wealthy Austrian nobleman. Young Grunbaum was about thirty years old, was in the suite of the Austrian Emperor when he went to Vienna on a steeplechasing tour.

He once sued the proprietor of the Hotel Victoria for $20,000 for an alleged insult.

Before coming to this country Grunbaum led a gay life, and his father disowned him. His father was a wealthy Austrian nobleman.

Young Grunbaum was about thirty years old, was in the suite of the Austrian Emperor when he went to Vienna on a steeplechasing tour.

He has the reputation of being a duelist. He is said to have engaged in four duels in Austria and two in Paris, one of the latter with the son of De Gaulle, the fighting Deputy of the French Chambers.

The Baron carries Derouille's pistol bullet in his body. Grunbaum went to England and ran in sixty steeplechases, forty of which he won.

He was a guest of Lord Spencer, Master of the Picheley House. Afterwards he went to France and to the various Irish lords of sporting blood.

He returned to England and followed the races. At the end of the season he lost $100,000 to the bookmakers, having lost $50,000 at the Liverpool Grand National Steeplechase.

His father, who was a wealthy man, almost ruined in paying the debt, and refused to further recognize his son.

Then Grunbaum came to America. After the marriage the Baron is to take his bride to Europe, and will visit his father at Graz.

Capital and Patience. These make a queer combination apparently, but they have been of the utmost importance in the furniture and carpet trade for many months.

For instance, practically all of the customers of the Cowperthwaite concern, on Park Row, near Chatham Square, have lately asked extensions of time, and the firm needed a great deal of both capital and patience to grant it.

Some smaller dealers have been forced to the wall, and others have been forced by their own necessities to push their customers to extremes.

But the old Cowperthwaite house have let everybody pay them when convenient, and so made money when other firms were losing.

When you buy household goods on credit you take the chances of the future, and it is safest to have a strong old firm to lean on.

If you have agreed to pay $5 a week and cannot pay over $2, you would be in a bad fix if your sellers either could not or would not be accommodating.

FIVE NEW STEAMSHIPS.

Hamburg-American Line Will Have More Freighters.

The Hamburg-American Packet Company has just made contracts for the construction of five large steel twin-screw steamers for transatlantic freight and passenger traffic.

Three of the new steamers will be built by Harland & Wolff, of Bremen, and two by Blohm & Voß, of Hamburg. The steamers will be 402 feet long, 25 1/2 feet beam, and 23 feet depth.

These new steamships will have all the latest improvements in steamship engineering, such as double bottom with water-changers, two sets of screws, and shafts and screws.

The Hamburg-American Packet Company now owns a fleet of 43 express and other mail steamers. When these five new steamers are completed the company's total tonnage will be over 250,000 tons.

Struggling for Wife and Children.

Hood's Restored Health.

Mr. Edward Scollin, Philadelphia, April 7, 1893.

C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Heat dashed from the calves of my legs up through my thighs and body; my left arm and hand felt as though on fire, and my head ached as if it would split when I stood down. I had great pains in my back around the base of the spine. I continued through all this to work to my work, feeling that if I must again go down I would do so.

Struggling for My Family. I have always been athletic, but I had lost all strength, and my strength failed me. I was on the point of giving up. I had read much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, and concluded to give it a trial. Before I had taken half a bottle my appetite became so voracious that I would be compelled to eat between meals.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has now fully restored my strength and general health. That terrible nervousness is entirely gone. I feel as hearty and vigorous as ever. The pains in my back have greatly decreased." Edward Scollin, 1502 Union st.

MUST HAVE PURE ELECTIONS.

Ex-President Harrison Bemoans the Federal Election Bill's Fate.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Ex-President Benjamin Harrison arrived in this city last night to attend the National meeting of the Legal League. Over the afternoon ride to his room at the Grand Pacific Hotel he chatted freely about the repeal in the House of Representatives of the Federal Election Bill.

"We are awaiting the word of disbandment," he said, "in breaking away from the National Law. The people of this country will not submit to a show of force by the Federal Government. Above all this we must have pure elections."

In his message to Congress I said, and I repeat it here, that I would not support any bill that would not provide for the election of the President and Vice-President by the people of the United States. I would not support any bill that would not provide for the election of the President and Vice-President by the people of the United States.

Had I received an answer to my message, I would have received the electoral vote of Tennessee by a majority of 300 or more.

William Turner Found. The three-year-old colored boy who was reported as having been killed on the 25th of August, was found by a general alarm was sent out from Police Headquarters, has been found James Turner, the boy's mother, called at the West 23rd street station last night and said that an old woman had met her on the street and took her to a house in the Hundred and Twelfth street, where she found the boy.

Under which Hatfield's father of the will in the case of the boy's mother, and the boy's mother, called at the West 23rd street station last night and said that an old woman had met her on the street and took her to a house in the Hundred and Twelfth street, where she found the boy.

He is missing and his relatives suspect foul play.

The family of Carl Stralucke, the missing Treasurer of the German-Krieger Bund, and the German-American Schutzen Bund, are still in the dark as to his whereabouts. He disappeared on Saturday night, and his accounts are alleged to be about $2,000 short.

This may be due to his disappearance. He was seen in the saloon of Louis J. Krist, at 26 East Fourth street. He spent several hours there playing pinochle, and appeared to be in a jovial mood.

The police and his friends have made a tour of the hospitals, but no trace of him can be found. Mr. Stralucke's daughter said this morning that she had gone over his bills and found that they had all been paid. Her mother, she said, was prostrated over her father's absence and they suspected foul play.

The members of the two societies will meet tonight and examine the books which were in Stralucke's possession. The missing man had been treasurer of the Schutzen Bund for ten years. It is a benevolent society of about 700 members. At the last meeting of the society his accounts were considered correct.

This was on Friday night. On the following morning he left his home, and when he did not return on Monday his wife informed the officers of the society.

The books of the Schutzen Bund show a deficit of $1,200. To them Stralucke had given a check of $1,000, which will only leave a trifling over $200. The Krieger Bund's loss is about $1,500, which will leave a deficit of $500.

It is not probable that either society will take any action in the matter, but it is said that he is four days from home, and that he is in the hands of some one who went on his bond will prosecute him.

SAYS HE WAS TWICE ARRESTED. Gracie's Queer Story Following an Early Morning Visit.

Some time after 4 o'clock this morning Police-warden of the East Twenty-second street station arrested Thomas Gracie, thirty-four, of 25 East Third-street, in a room at 311 Third avenue on complaint of Abraham Fisher, of 22 East 10th street.

Fisher said he was awakened at 2:30 this morning by a noise in his bedroom window. Gracie said he thought it was Napoleon's bust, and went away over the roof of a rear story. Gracie said he was in the room at 311 Third avenue on complaint of Abraham Fisher, of 22 East 10th street.

HEIR TO $20,000 IS MISSING.

Hatfield Thinks His Stepson Has Been Kidnaped.

Inquiry today has done little towards clearing up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of twelve-year-old Fred Hatfield, heir under a will to $20,000.

Mrs. Dora A. Wilson, of 25 Ninth street, Brooklyn, and Mrs. Lucilia K. Cook, of 41 Lexington avenue, this city, are sisters of the boy's stepfather. He thinks that they have kidnaped "Fred."

Both women are indignant that any such charge should be brought against them. The boy's stepfather, Charles W. H. Hatfield, is an employee on the "E."

He lives at One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, and is a native of New York. He says through his counsel, lawyer Henry Knox of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, and Park avenue, that when his mother died she willed to him the house and real estate No. 25 East Tenth street, Boston, valued at something like $20,000.

Under which Hatfield's father of the will in the case of the boy's mother, and the boy's mother, called at the West 23rd street station last night and said that an old woman had met her on the street and took her to a house in the Hundred and Twelfth street, where she found the boy.

We offer complete lines of our celebrated genuine all-wool natural gray stockinet made upon the system prescribed by Prof. Dr. G. Jaeger, at our low

“JAEGER” UNDERWEAR

ANTI-MONOPOLY PRICES.

Another Important Advantage of OUR “Jaeger” Underwear is in the New Improved

Seams, equal to “Regular Made,” which cannot be obtained from our competitors.

All factors considered, viz., the quality of yarn, the skill of manufacture, the perfect smooth seams, the genuine natural gray undyed wool, the strict adherence to the “Jaeger” system and the moderate charges make OUR underwear conspicuously of the highest rank and the most advantageous for the consumer.

The President of the Dr. Jaeger's S. W. S. Co., testified in court under oath that his company sold as genuine “Jaeger” goods, underwear which contained dyes; was not made of Stockinet, and was not natural gray; and which, therefore, was not according to the system as taught by Prof. Dr. G. Jaeger.
