STABBED HIS ENEMY AND RAN.

Georgi Then Told His Mother and Said He Would Kill Himself.

Sceptical Detectives Think He is Hiding Among Relatives.

Detective Sergeants Carroll and Doyle, of the Nineteenth Precinct, Williamsburg, are searching for Carmine Georgi, a twelve-year-old Italian, who may have to answer a charge of murder. Georgi lives at 112 Withers street, and is a leader among the Italian boys of the neighborhood. A good many Germans live on the street, and there is constant warfare between the young Germans and the young Italians.

The leader of the Germans is Richard Schroeder, sixteen years old, of 110 Withers street. There has been a good deal of rife feeling between the two, and on several occasions they have fought, but each time Schroeder won on account of his superior size and strength.

Schroeder was standing on the sidewalk in front of his home last night talking to several friends. Finally they all left him and he went to his house. At this moment young Georgi, who had been standing in his own doorway, side up behind his enemy and plunged a knife into his back.

When Schroeder dropped to the sidewalk, Georgi ran with the knife and ran into his house. He told his mother that he had killed "Dime" and was going to kill himself. Then he knifed her and ran out of the house. He has not been heard of since.

"I know he has committed suicide," said Mrs. Georgi to-day. "That Schroeder boy has loitered my boy for a long time, and I suppose Carmine lost his temper at last and stabbed him."

Schroeder was taken to his home and an ambulance surgeon from St. Catherine's Hospital was called, who pronounced the wound serious. The detectives who are at work on the case do not believe young Georgi has committed suicide, but think he is hiding with relatives.

HAD A WIFE IN ALBANY.

James Pruden, of Brooklyn, Arrested for Bigamy.

Police Supt. Campbell, of Brooklyn, sent Detective Con Mahoney, of the Brooklyn Central Office, to Albany to-day to take James Pruden to Brooklyn. It is expected that Mahoney will get back with his prisoner to-night.

Pruden is wanted for bigamy. His wife, Mrs. Rose Pruden, of 376 Union street, has been looking for him for two years. Mrs. Pruden learned a few days ago that her husband was in Albany. She went there and found to her astonishment that Pruden was living with another woman, who, it is alleged, has married. The second wife has a child a few weeks old, of which Pruden is the alleged father.

Mrs. Pruden, No. 1 has two children. Wife No. 2 is said to be a pretty Brooklyn girl, whom Pruden took to Albany some time ago. Pruden is a waterman for a New York dry-goods house.

MOTORMAN REILLEY HELD.

His Trolley-Car Crushed Out a Little Lad's Life.

Motorman James Reilly, of 56 Dupont street, Brooklyn, who was in charge of trolley car 2113, of the Myrtle avenue line, which crushed the life out of Louis Helz, eight years old, of 104 Clason avenue, was held in $3,000 bail by Justice Haggerty in the Myrtle Avenue Police Court this morning for examination next Thursday.

The child was playing marbles early last evening at the corner of Clason and Fushing avenues. One of his marbles rolled out between the car tracks. He attempted to recover it, and just as he stooped to pick it up the car came along at a fast rate of speed and struck him on the chest. He was thrown several feet. He fell across the tracks. His head struck the ground with much force.

Motorman Reilly put on the brakes and tried to stop his car, but he was too late. The lad was instantly killed. When picked up blood was gushing from his neck and a pool of blood was almost upon the boy.

Pedestrians who saw the accident declare that the motorman neglected to stop his going into the car was almost upon the boy.

The boy was the son of Mrs. Mary Helz, a widow. Mrs. Helz, who was fainting when her son's mangled corpse was brought home.

PETTY THIEVES ACTIVE.

Several Complaints to the Brooklyn Police This Morning.

Thieves entered the rooms of Mrs. Hulda Patterson, 31 Amity street, Brooklyn, last night and stole clothing and jewelry worth $50.

Sneak-thieves entered Michael Maucery's rooms on the third floor at 213 Central avenue early this morning and carried off a gold watch and $20 in money.

The home of Edward H. Haggood, 2 Hamilton street, was forced open during the night and robbed of a pocketbook containing $50.

Charles J. Land, of 232 Carroll street, asked the police this morning to look for his seventeen-year-old son, Theodore, who disappeared yesterday. Mr. Land says that $20 of his money disappeared at the same time.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGonigle, of 138 Clermont avenue, told the police this morning that a gold watch and $20 in money, her daughter Augusta at Myrtle avenue and Bridge street last night of clothing worth $15.

CITIZENS APPEAL FOR HELP.

Money Wanted for Campaign Purposes in Brooklyn.

The Citizens' Union of Brooklyn sent a circular to-day appealing to taxpayers and voters to contribute campaign funds. Among other things the circular says:

The Citizens' Union needs money to carry on its work, and it asks every good citizen who has an interest in the outcome of our fight for a regenerated city to help according to his needs. No contribution will be too large to be effective, and none too small to be welcomed. No dollar is spent without your aid, and no dollar is lost. Contributions may be forwarded to Charles O'Connor, Treasurer, Chairman of the Finance Committee, William P. Ferguson, Chairman of the Campaign Committee, or Robert Stewart, in charge of headquarters, Germania Building, 570 Fulton street.

Bill Nye, the humorist and comedian, returned to New York to-day from his tour of the Alleys from Bremen and Southampton.

COFFEY TO SALOON-KEEPERS.

Registration Below Last Year and He Wants a Change.

Rumor That Saloon Men Have Secretly Declared for Schieren.

At Democratic headquarters in Brooklyn this morning there was a long conference between some of the Kings County leaders called for the purpose of devising some means of bringing out the "regulars" to register in the Twelfth Ward, which is practically owned by Michael J. Coffey.

Mr. Coffey reported that he had sent out a circular in the ward calling upon saloon-keepers in his bailiwick to meet him in secret at the Twelfth Ward Club last night.

Only a few of the saloon-keepers answered the call and there was considerable dissatisfaction expressed among them about the circular, as it was understood that they were to be asked to contribute handsomely to the campaign fund. When the meeting was called last night an "Evening World" reporter was present.

Mr. Coffey, addressing the meeting, said that he did not propose to ask for more contributions, as they had already contributed in another direction. He requested that the saloon-keepers had done towards protecting their interests, and explained that there was a large falling off in the registration of the ward this year. He said that the ward was 1,500 votes behind the first two days of last year's registration and 1,500 behind the corresponding two days of this year's registration.

He appealed to the liquor dealers to go among their friends and persuade them to register and vote.

This morning Mr. Coffey said he could not explain the falling off in the registration of the Twelfth Ward, and hoped that the other leaders would suggest some plan to remedy the deficiency.

Circulars similar to those distributed by Mr. Coffey are being sent to all the saloon-keepers in Brooklyn.

It was rumored this morning that the majority of the liquor dealers in the city had secretly declared for Schieren, and that the Democratic leaders are worried over the turn of affairs.

NEW JERSEY.

HELD UP BY A GANG OF TRAMPS.

After Being Robbed a Negro Waits for a Chance to Get Even.

Pretending to Forage for Food He Calls the Police.

A gang of eleven tramps, all young men, have been tried before Judge Hudspeth, in the Hudson County Court of General Sessions, on an indictment for highway robbery. The complainant was Washington Reeves, colored, of Richmond, Va., who had come to New York on a schooner.

The prisoners were described on the court records as Frank Wilson, Hugh Bailey, James Mack, John Wright, Frank Burke, Herbert Hyne, Charles Conway, Samuel Tennent, Frederick Cunningham, Patrick Smith and Henry Lee. Nearly all admitted that on Sunday forenoon, Oct. 8, they left a drinking saloon in Park Row, this city, and went in small parties to a tramp rendezvous under the Pennsylvania Hallway, treating work, adjoining the walls of the Jersey City cemetery, at the foot of the hill. There they passed the day in drinking.

Reeves testified that in going down Cortlandt street he came in contact with two of the gang, paid their fare over the ferry, and on arriving in Jersey City gave them 20 cents with which to get something to eat.

Just at dark Reeves says he walked up Newark avenue, when near the trelliswork Lee, one of the prisoners, jumped out, caught him by the throat and knocked him down. Two more came out, one flourishing a knife and threatening to cut his throat, saying, "That's the way we do around here."

Then they robbed him of $1. They were going to take his hat and coat, but when he wanted to join the gang and go to Philadelphia they let him alone.

After staying awhile in the tramp camp Reeves volunteered to go out and forage for food. Instead of doing this he went to the Third Precinct Station-House and told his story. A posse of police captured the eleven tramps, while several others of the gang escaped.

All of the prisoners were fully identified by him. Ten of them went upon the witness stand and told their stories. They admitted that they were at that point all day, intending to beat their way southward on the railway, but that the negro was robbed.

Frank Burke swore that he was asleep and so drunk that afternoon that he did not know what was going on.

The case was given to the jury, and in fifteen minutes the jurors returned with a verdict of guilty against ten of the gang. Burke was acquitted. The prisoners were remanded to await sentence. They can be sent to State prison for fifteen years each.
