Madison Square Garden the Centre of Fashion Now.

Gen. Castleman's String from the Blue Grass Region.

Mrs. Fobbs Was the First Woman Rider in the Ring.

With a rabbit-foot in his hand as a mascot and his lungs inflated to the limit Bugler Hayes, at 9 o'clock this morning, opened the ninth annual exhibition of the National Horse Show Association with three blasts on his bugle that echoed and re-echoed through the Madison Square Garden.

ADMIRING A FOAL

Such valuable horseflesh, such noble looking animals, have seldom before been exhibited for admiration of every one. Society is sometimes supposed to have unlearned the annual horse show, but that is only because society people show good judgment in going to see the exhibition.

These are the kind of horses he thinks Americans should have. They are likely to be the kind of horses that will be the pride of the city's loss of reputation as a city of life.

AMONG THE HORSES. Other well known gentlemen who seemed to be in the usual way of doing duty were John G. Heckler, Frank W. Sanger and Lawrence Kip.

At 11 o'clock the veterinary surgeon issued a bulletin to the effect that all horses were in good condition. Judging began in the afternoon and was continued as follows: 2 P. M.—Judging eleven pairs of harness horses, class 10.

COLUMBIA A QUEEN.

The New Cruiser Starts Out as a Record-Maker.

Speed of 19 to 20 Knots in a Long Run to Boston.

She Beats the New York's Time Going to Her Official Trial.

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—The new cruiser Columbia arrived here at 4 A. M. to-day from the Delaware breakwater.

The Columbia left Delaware Breakwater at 4 P. M. on Saturday, with Huller Cramp and the Naval Board of Directors on board.

The Columbia was then steaming 20 knots. She kept on her course for the Boston light and soon left the Vesuvius and Dolphin astern.

The Columbia's trip from Philadelphia to Boston, results in a new naval record for the run at sea.

RUSSELL SAGE WINS.

Judge Bookstaver Dismisses Delia Keegan's Suit.

It Is Barred by the Statute of Limitations.

She Wanted $100,000 for Breach of Promise.

Judge Bookstaver, of the Court of Common Pleas, to-day dismissed the action which Delia Keegan brought through J. Baptiste Marshall to recover $100,000 from Russell Sage for breach of promise of marriage.

The Judge says the action on the plaintiff's own showing is barred by the statute of limitations. He says it appears that the promise, as alleged, was made twenty-three years ago, and was to have been performed in a reasonable time.

He says that one year has been held to be a reasonable time. The action is barred six years from the time the cause of the action would have accrued by the lapse of the reasonable time after the alleged promise.

The Judge says that aside from this lapse of time the action would have accrued immediately when Sage married another. He married on Nov. 24, 1869, subsequent to the alleged promise.

Delia is a tall, raw-boned woman, not at all beautiful. She brought this suit at the plaintiff to the plea of Sage that the action is barred, as was directed by Judge Pryor, is sham and false.

SHOT PART OF HIS HEAD OFF.

Minner Pulled the Trigger of a Shot Gun with His Big Toe.

Ill and Out of Work He Put an End to His Troubles.

Oscar Minner, fifty-four years old, a journeyman tailor, committed suicide at his home 625 East Twelfth street, in a novel manner this morning.

He lived with his wife, two sons and one daughter on the top floor of the four-story tenement mentioned. For three months he has been out of work, ill and despondent.

His wife went out washing this morning and all his children was at work when Minner resolved to end his misery. He took down a rusty old shot-gun, which he had hidden in a closet.

On either side and across the street are big six-story double tenements, and the report of the gun was heard and the smoke seen ascending hundreds of feet into the air.

WHO GOT THE MONEY?

Large Amounts Alleged to Have Been Paid for "Protection."

Sensational Testimony in the Uplington-Keenan Suit.

Witnesses Not Permitted to Mention Any Names.

Judge Truax faced a crowded courtroom in Part IV. of the Supreme Court when the case of George P. Uplington against ex-County Clerk John Keenan was continued, this morning.

In spite of the denial of Col. Bliss, who, in opening for the defense, denied that there would be any exposure, or that any money had been paid for "protection," the public are still inclined to believe that a sensation will be the outcome.

He denied, however, that this had any relation whatever to Mr. Keenan. On the contrary, he charged that the family matters which he did not care to go into.

GEN. M'COOK MAY BE LEADER.

He Is Charged with the Embezzlement of $15,000.

When the steamship Werra arrived at Quarantine this morning she was boarded from the revenue cutter by Detective Heideberg, of Inspector McLaughlin's staff, and Detective Wood, of the Chicago police, and Special Officer Corwin, of the Chicago Tribune.

They were after L. A. Hilliard, a cabin passenger, who embarked at Gibraltar. Hilliard is twenty-three years old. He was the cashier of the Chicago Tribune, until he fled in September last, when it was discovered that he had embezzled $15,000.

According to R. W. Patterson, of the Chicago Tribune, Hilliard was a high roller in the Windy City and spent over $8,000 of the stolen money in the World's Fair restaurant.

When he left Chicago he went direct to Spain, where he cut a swell with the balance of his stolen funds. The Tribune caused to be printed and circulated throughout the world pictures of him. By one of these pictures he was recognized in Seville. Hilliard attempted to compromise for $8,000.

He was met at Quarantine by a friend named H. Eaton, an artist on the Tribune, who tried to induce him to make restitution. Detective Heideberg arrested Hilliard, landed him at Tompkinsville, took a coach to St. George, and thence by ferry-boat came to New York.

Hilliard was taken to Police Headquarters and locked up.

LANGE AND HIS WIFE ON TRIAL.

Charged with an Attempt to Defraud Insurance Companies.

Minnie Lange and her husband, William F. Lange, of 94 Evergreen avenue, Brooklyn, were put on trial in the Court of Sessions, Brooklyn, this morning on the charge of attempting to defraud the John Hancock Life Insurance Company out of the face value of $125,000.

Lange, who was a saloon-keeper, at 66 Gerry street, took out a policy on his life last March, and in June he went to Germany.

When Lange returned from Germany in September he was arrested. Heideberg, who was in charge of the case, also held policies in the New York Life Insurance Company for $1,000, and was insured for $1,000 in the Order of Good Friends. None of the insurance money was paid to his wife.

He Is Mentioned as a Moses for the Republican Party.

It is Thought He Could Unite Discontented Faction.

When the name of a new leader of the local Republican party was mentioned this morning, it is that of Gen. Anson G. McCook, ex-Secretary of the United States Senate.

Gen. McCook is in business in this city and will take up his residence here permanently in a house that he has bought. He is President of the New York Law Journal Company, with an office at 308 Broadway.

Gen. McCook was active in New York politics over ten years ago, but since his return to Washington he has dropped out of sight in local affairs, and his reconstruction at this time was a surprise to the politicians.

He was appointed Commissioner of Jurors in 1881, and stayed there until 1884. He was also Commissioner of Weights and Measures, and had always been a friend of Keenan.

His memory was very defective as to his transactions with Uplington whenever Uplington was in New York. He lived with his wife, two sons and one daughter on the top floor of the four-story tenement mentioned.

On either side and across the street are big six-story double tenements, and the report of the gun was heard and the smoke seen ascending hundreds of feet into the air.

LAST EDITION GRAND JURY MAY AGT.

Judge Moore Calls Attention to the Election Frauds.

Paramount Duty to Make a Thorough Investigation.

Suit for $25,000 Damages to Be Brought Against McKane.

John J. McKane's conduct on election day is likely to be investigated by the Grand Jury now in session in Brooklyn.

The November Grand Jury, which was sworn in last week, assembled before Judge Moore, in the Court of Sessions, this morning, to receive the Court's charge.

After giving the jury the usual instructions regarding ordinary criminal cases, Judge Moore said: "Many charges have been made that illegal votes were cast at the recent election and that many persons registered illegally."

"This is a matter of the most supreme importance and demands the closest attention of the Grand Jury. It is your duty to investigate this matter carefully and to make every man who has violated the elective franchise answer to you for his crime."

"It is also your duty to indict every person who aided or abetted in such a violation of the law, and to make every person who has been guilty of violation of the Excise law should be punished as the most dangerous criminal."

"You must conduct your investigation on legal evidence and find indictments only on a basis of legal evidence. If in the course of your investigation you need instructions you may come into court and I shall be glad to advise you."

"You first will take up the full cases, and prosecute these other cases afterwards." Lawyers Treadwell and Catlin this morning presented the papers in a suit to be brought against John J. McKane, the Gravesend "boss."

The suit is brought by Herbert S. Worthley to recover $25,000 for injuries which he received at Gravesend Nov. 1, 1902. The plaintiff alleges that McKane, as President of Board of Police of Gravesend, neglected his duties, and himself instigated and incited others to the assault.

All the arrangements for the big mass-meeting at the Brooklyn Academy of Music to-night were completed this morning by the Committee of Eight, which is putting evidence in shape that may be disastrous to Boss McKane.

It is promised that the meeting will be a most successful one. McKane, as President of Board of Police of Gravesend, neglected his duties, and himself instigated and incited others to the assault.
