

ing World' reporter yesterday examined the records of bills, warrants and vouchers showing that Fiss & Doerr have sold to the city during the five months named heretofore ash-cart horses as follows:

Table with columns for date and amount. Rows include March 12-18, April 12-18, May 12-18, June 12-18, July 12-18, August 12-18, September 12-18, October 12-18.

These, together with smaller sales of one and two horses in each lot, total nearly $70,000 in the seven months.

In addition to these horses sold the Street-Cleaning Department at $250 per head, Fiss & Doerr have sold eight horses to the City of Newark...

Some inquisitive taxpayer who should know better will be likely to inquire, "Has there been a 'divvy' of the $250,000, and if so, who are the men who profited fraudulently by the deal?"

With these facts and figures in hand an "Evening World" reporter has been obtaining a liberal education in the horse business, and discovers that $250 is an enormous price for the city to pay for ash-cart horses...

On Nov. 27 a young man named J. T. Coles, who said he represented the municipality of Newark, stepped into the horse stables of Fiss & Doerr at 147 1/2 and 148 East Twenty-fourth street, and with a little air asked for Mr. Fiss.

"Why, certainly," said the affable Mr. Fiss, and can sell you 200 horses of the first kind for two-thirds of their value, and let me tell you we can sell horses as cheap as the next in New York. Come this way and I'll show you some of our stock."

"Do prices vary at different times in the year?" asked the particular and insistent Mr. Coles.

"Most certainly," responded Mr. Fiss and his manager in chorus.
